AS TO SUNDAY SALOONS.

Query as to Why Mayor Thompson Will Not Close Them.

To the Editor: I see by a morning paper that "Salt Lake saloons will continue to do business on Sunday," and that "the Mayor says that he will not attempt to close them." For the alleged reason that "we can't have a little heaven here on earth all at once."

Now, that is a frank admission for a mayor to make, if he did make it, and that he will continue to have "a wide open Sunday" for the present administration at least. His honor is further quoted as saying: "It has been my experience, as a result of observation, that there is more drunkenness in cities where saloons are closed on Sunday than in cities where they are kept open."

Personally, I challenge that statement. I do not believe it is, or ever was true, or that it ever will be, even if the "entertainers" are drawn," as the Mayor says. The contention that "men will carry liquor home with them on Saturday nights and drink more on Sunday than they would if they were permitted to enter the saloons at will on the Sabbath day," is begging the question, and also a misstatement of facts, as both experience and statistics will show.

The Mayor, having taken a decided stand in this matter, and Sheriff Taylor declaring that he is willing to rest on his oars, after having enforced the Sunday law in the county, leaves the best citizens of Salt Lake in that position where they must act for themselves. Now, who will take the initiative?
