

STAGNATION IN WOOL MARKET

Notwithstanding Optimistic Tones Of All Interested There Are No Sales.

BALES ARE NOW STACKING UP.

Eastern Dealers Only Abiding by Early Contracts as They Have Some Of Last Year's Fleeces Left.

Notwithstanding the optimistic tones of the wool handlers during the past few weeks, there is no denying the fact that there is a stagnation in the wool market, that it is impossible at this time to see the end of. There are half a dozen eastern buyers in town right now, and none of them report anything doing in the way of new purchases. Many of them were through the country in January, at which time a great deal of the wool clip was contracted for at an average price of 30 cents per pound, and the amount thus contracted for is being taken by the dealers' representatives, but no more. Thousands of sacks of wool are being piled up at the various shearing camps with no buyers in sight. And no relief seems imminent until the owners of the wool see fit to reduce their demands in the matter of price.

HELD FROM LAST YEAR.
The condition in the wool market is that much wool is being held over in the dealers' hands from last year, and they have sufficient to supply the demands of the manufacturers without buying and storing a year ahead. The manufacturers of woolen fabrics are reported as buying on a purely cash account, and the dealers do not propose to keep paying the high prices asked by the growers and store and pay interest on the money for a year or two. It is claimed that before any extensive buying is done, the owners will have to reduce their demands by at least two or three cents on the pound. Meanwhile shearing goes merrily on, with no particular apprehension on the part of the growers, who are probably in as good a position to hold their wool as the dealers are to refuse to buy it, and developments in the situation are being watched with great interest.

WALKER RESIDENCE GOING.

Preparations Under Way to Clear Site For Newhouse Hotel.

The J. R. Walker residence, on the corner of Main and Fourth South streets, will soon be a thing of the past, as the contents are being removed preparatory to the raising of the building. It was erected by J. R. Walker, who, about 40 years ago, and until recently was one of the finest residences in the city.

The ground, 165 by 330 feet was recently purchased by Samuel Newhouse, who paid therefor the sum of $225,875, the former owners retaining the right to remove the building and its furnishings. It is the intention of Mr. Newhouse to erect a magnificent hotel upon the corner, the plans for which will be given out upon his arrival from Europe.

LAI TO REST.

Impressive Services Attend Obsequies Of Late Bishop Geo. H. Taylor.

Largely attended and deeply impressive were the services over the remains of Bishop George H. Taylor. The obsequies were held in the Assembly hall, and the body of the house was filled with relatives and friends, who met to do honor to the memory of a good man. The Temple choir, C. J. Thomas, conductor, assisted by members of the Fourteenth ward choir, furnished music for the occasion, the selections being "We have met dear friends of old," "Responsive," and "Some sweet day," Miss Edith Grant and the choir sang "The Beautiful City." The opening and closing prayers were by Elders Rodney C. Badger and Henry P. Richards, respectively, and the grave in the city cemetery was dedicated by Patriarch John Smith.

The speakers in the order named, were Bishop John M. Whitaker, President Frank Y. Taylor, President Nephi L. Morris, Elder Heber J. Grant and Presidents John R. Winder, Anthony H. Lund and Joseph P. Smith. The service in the highest possible terms of the life and labors of Bishop Taylor.

A committee representing the Y. L. M. E. A. of the Fourteenth ward received and arranged the flowers and floral designs, which were many and beautiful. A number of Relief society workers rode in a large drag at the head of the procession from the Assembly hall to the cemetery.

STILL ANOTHER BOLD BURGLARY

Mrs. Mason, Alone in the Dark, Discovers Two Men in Bathroom.

POLICE KEPT CASE QUIET.

Second Story Men Also Visit Residence Of Manager W. L. Jennings Of Orpheum.

Another case of the police trying to suppress news of criminal operations in this city was brought to light today. Cases of theft and burglary reported to the police are noted on the "sneak book"—sometimes—and the book is carefully guarded. Why cases are kept secret no one but the police seem to know. Perhaps this has been suggested before, if the facts were made public the burglar might discover that he had committed a crime.

On a dark night, while the city was in darkness for a time, two attempts at burglary were made on east Third South street, between Main and State streets. The places selected by the burglars were the residence of Mrs. Mason and the residence of Manager W. L. Jennings of the Orpheum theater.

FOUND DOOR LOCKED.
About 11:50 o'clock Mrs. Mason heard footsteps on the roof. She was badly frightened but remained quiet. Hearing no further sounds she started to go into the bathroom, but to her surprise found it was locked. She listened and then heard two men conversing in a low tone.

Mrs. Mason quickly went to the telephone and called up her husband, who is a bartender. The latter called up police headquarters and a load of officers swooped down on the place. Of course, before the police arrived, the burglars had fled. They got into the bath room by way of a skylight, and in doing so wrenched a water pipe loose. Unable to secure anything at the Mason home they entered Manager Jennings' place and it is presumed they thought Mr. Jennings would take home the receipts at the theater. But in this they were badly mistaken, as Mr. Jennings keeps the money elsewhere.

It was fortunate for Mrs. Mason that she was at home when the thieves broke into the place. Otherwise they might have secured a great sum of money and several valuable pieces of jewelry and some diamonds.

EXPECTED THEM TO TARRY.
About the time the police had arrived on the scene, Mr. Jennings returned to his home and found a bunch of blueprints in the house searching for the burglars. The latter might have been among the crowd on the sidewalk giving the police the merry ha-ha for all they knew. After looking through the two houses the slouts wended their way back to headquarters and it is presumed the matter was noted on the "sneak book." Whether or not the officers expected to find the burglars waiting for them is not known. Certainly they did not leave their names and address and any second story man is presumed to know that, if he hears the clanging of the bell on a patrolman and the rattle of the wheels, there is something doing and it is time to "beat it."

WILL HANDLE LOVEY BOOK.

Ogden Elks Join With Junction City Press Club on Proposition.

The Ogden Elks have decided to join hands with the Junction City Press club in handling the Lovey book, and have appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions. The book is being prepared by a committee of the Salt Lake Elks and of the Salt Lake Press club, the object being to thus put into permanent form many of the western carols which made Lovey famous, and made also a ripple of laughter to spread over several states, and in addition, through this means to present Lovey's invalid mother with whatever sum can be raised. The following committee will assist the Elks in selling the Lovey book: Judge J. A. Howell, G. P. Meekes, W. D. Brown, F. W. Knisely, C. D. DeWolf and J. H. Knauss. The Ogden Press club will assist the Elks' committee in the work.

SUCCESSFUL SESSION.
Convention of Ladies of the Macabees Closes With Entertainment.

The triennial district convention of the ladies of the Macabees closed last evening, after a successful and enjoyable session. The evening entertainment was attended by 1,500, when the program as printed was carried out. At the afternoon meeting 46 women were initiated, and Mrs. Lucy Nelson of Ogden was chosen delegate to the national convention to be held in Chicago next July. The first prize of $10 for the largest delegation was awarded to Silver Hive of Ogden, which also won the $15 prize for the largest number of life benefit members. Presented in the initiating class, Hive No. 11 of Salt Lake was awarded $10 for having the second largest delegation presented. Hive No. 12 of this city was awarded $5 for life benefit members. The $15 drill contest prize was awarded to Banner Hive No. 11, and a $100 prize was awarded to the $100 prize. Mrs. Hollister and Miss West left last night for Denver to attend a district convention there. The visiting ladies declared they had found the order prosperous wherever they went.

HOLDUPS MAKE A GOOD HAUL

Masked Men Enter Miner's Saloon on State Street Early This Morning.

ROBBERS SECURE $294.50.

After Getting the Money They Backed Out of the Rear Door Into The Darkness.

At 2:45 o'clock this morning, two masked men armed with revolvers, quietly entered the Miner's saloon on State street and Victoria alley, and held up five occupants of the place. The robbers entered from the rear and did their work quietly and thoroughly. The command, "Throw up your hands," was immediately obeyed and while one of the robbers proceeded to collect what money he could find, the other fellow kept the inmates of the place covered with guns.

The cash register was opened and $20 extracted. The bartender was then ordered to produce and he did so to the tune of $150. From the other men the robbers secured $135. One was robbed of $50, another of $43 and the third of $12.

After getting the money the holdups cautioned their victims to remain quiet. They then slipped out of the back door and were soon lost in the darkness. The police were notified and are at work on the case.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—The engagement of the San Carlo Opera company ended with two performances yesterday, first the "Barber of Seville" at a matinee, the turn-out to which was meager, second at night, when "Faust" was given to an audience which, while it was brilliant and fashionable, still fell far below the expectations of the management.

"The Barber of Seville," long known as a classic of its kind, was rendered with a vigor and a dash, and in the part of Rosina, one of Patti's famous early roles, and with Signor Fornari in the part of Figaro the barber. In this unusual role, which called for the blending of the comical and the dramatic, that made the Nielsen famous, she was again the dainty and bewitching artist of the olden days, while her beautiful, high soprano voice was given full play in the delightful work with which the opera is crowded.

The two English numbers, one Ardit's "Kiss Waltz," the other "Auld Lang Syne," and was vociferously applauded. Signor Fornari is an excellent comedian and singer, and was an ideal Figaro. The tenor of the occasion was decidedly lame, and is evidently carried for exigencies only. At the evening performance, Madam Nordica as Marguerite had a reception that must have warmed the innermost recesses of her heart. Her singing throughout was of the finest, and all her methods approach the perfection point. It would be flattery to say that she is the ideal Marguerite of the famous story, for she has been years and her physique make that impossible, neither has her voice the electrifying clarity quality that so distinguished her a dozen years ago, but she is still so accomplished, she has so much of that rare quality, repose, and her tone retains so much of its richness, that it would be hard to imagine anything more completely satisfying than her singing of Marguerite's music. The familiar numbers, "The King of Thule," "The Song of Song," the quartet work in the garden, the tremendous climax in the church scene, and more than all, the dreamily exquisite beauty of the duet with the tenor in the third act, all held the audience spell bound during their rendition, and evoked the most tremendous sort of applause, and their close, Madam Nordica was called before the curtain again and again, and was tendered a beautiful floral offering.

The FLAVOUR'S THERE

See that you get it out.

The reason "mother's pies" tasted so much better than the kind you get at the restaurant, is because she took pains to make the pies "just right."

It's that way with

POSTUM FOOD COFFEE

Use four heaping teaspoonsful in each pint of water. Then boil it 15 minutes—after it has come to a boil.

It's as easy to make right as wrong and when made right you'll get a beverage that, with good cream, is delicious and has none of the headaches and nervousness you may be getting in your coffee.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

An inclination to be constipated is a common symptom of the American people. This is due to indigestion, and indigestion comes from indiscretion of diet. Let foods be daily eaten like ing after one of her notable scenes. She bowed her acknowledgments with all her old graciousness of manner, and seemed so delighted to greet her many old friends as they were to listen to her.

Sharing the honors with the star was the French tenor, Mons. Martin. As the opera was sung in his language with the exception of some of the lesser roles, who clung to their native Italian, M. Martin had full opportunity to display the best methods of the French school, and he established himself at once as an artist of high rank. His voice is clear, sweet and ringing, and his upper tones, rich and resonant. He sang the great number of the opera "Salve Dimorah," with exquisite feeling, and had some rare recalls for his work throughout the evening.

Senor de Segura gave a strong impersonation of "Mephisto," his acting being rather better than his singing. He has many excellent tones in his register, but hardly the bigness of voice throughout, to make the perfect feed for whom Gounod wrote his exacting music.

Madam Baldini was not more than passable in the role of "Siebel." Signor Galperin, the baritone, who was to have distinguished the role of "Valentino," but the singer's trouble was called upon. While he is an excellent artist and made the death scene very effective, his face is too much that of the comic singer to enable him to invest a part like "Valentino" with the proper sentiment. He also omitted the beautiful ballad that always distinguishes the role "Even Bravest Hearts May Swell."

One of the charming features of the evening was the work of the ballet, chorus and orchestra in the familiar waltz, "The Soldiers' Chorus," was also magnificently done, and the audience rewarded it with a great burst of applause.

There were several minor respects in which the presentation showed a lack of management, and these details have been so conspicuous from the beginning that they suggest the trouble is inherent. The first was the cheap and decayed appearance of the scenery, which was decidedly run down at the best. The gauze effect through which the tableau of angels supporting the form of Marguerite was seen, was nothing more than a series of pitched mosquito bar screens, with the scene predominant. The costumes of the chorus, too, were often most unpicturesque, while the members of the chorus themselves, in spite of their lung power, seemed largely picked from the gallery of the antique and curious.

The waits between the acts were something exasperating, and the rare beauties of "Faust" were made thereby, as it was well on towards midnight before the final curtain fell.

The sale of seats is going on today for the Blanche Walden engagement, which opens tomorrow night in "The Straight Road." Judging from the comments of the metropolitan papers, a rare treat is awaiting our theatergoers.

Next week brings us the charming actress, Miss Annie Russell, in her big production of "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream," in which she appears as Puck.

Orpheum—The Orpheum bill is new complete with the addition of the delayed act, Lillian Shaw, vocal dialect comedienne. The violin playing of one of the Olcotts is essentially the feature of this week.

Grand—The bill of "Zorah" by the Leighton company, is drawing well, and the business promises to keep up prosperously all the week.

Lyric—The popular vaudeville bill at this house is drawing well. The usual double performances are given daily.

STATE AGENCY WAS A FAILURE

Mrs. M. B. Milner Now Brings Suit Against F. E. Stewart And Wife.

FALSE REPRESENTATIONS

Is the Claim of Plaintiff Who Has Already Brought Criminal Action Over Toilet Articles Agency.

Suit has been filed in the district court by Mrs. M. B. Milner against F. E. Stewart and his wife, J. D. Stewart, to recover the total sum of $1,240 being money advanced by plaintiff and also damages for false representations made by defendants in regard to a business transaction which they induced Mrs. Milner to take hold of. It is alleged that defendants sold to Mrs. Milner for $500 the state right to the sale of toilet articles manufactured by them, and that they represented that the goods were inventing with ready sales, and that they had received large orders from their agents all over the state.

By reason of these fraudulent representations Mrs. Milner purchased the state agency for the sum named and after working for four months found that the proposition was a total failure and she was out her money and labor. She now asks judgment for the $500 paid by her for the agency, $240 for her time and $500 as exemplary damages. About two weeks ago Mrs. Milner signed a complaint in the county attorney's office against Stewart charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses. He was arrested and released on bail but could not be found yesterday when the deputy sheriff tried to serve the summons in this case upon him.

OGDEN CASE REVERSED.
In an opinion handed down by the supreme court yesterday afternoon the judgment of the lower court was reversed in the case of Charles A. Jones, appellant, vs. Ogden City, L. J. Bucher and George A. Maule and the case was remanded to recover $2,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been caused by the negligence of defendants. It was claimed that Bucher was constructing a sidewalk in front of Maule's residence in Ogden and negligently left the material in the street and while Jones was driving one night his horse ran into the material, overturning his buggy and throwing him out and severely injuring him.

The lower court held that the evidence in the case was not sufficient to bind the defendants and instructed the jury to return a verdict in their favor, which was done. The supreme court holds that the evidence was sufficient to constitute a cause of action, and that the court erred in taking it out of the hands of the jury. Hence the judgment is reversed. The opinion was written by Chief Justice McCarty and concurred in by Justices Straup and Erick.

COURT NOTES.
Suit has been filed in the district court by the Utah Implement company against George W. Parsons to recover $121.50 alleged to be due on treasury notes and interest, and $22 attorney's fees. A writ of attachment was issued in the case by the court.

The case of Susie Clark and her four children against the Consolidated Mercantile Stores company has been compromised and settled by the payment of $1,055 to plaintiffs. Mrs. Clark sued to recover $5,000 as damages for the death of her husband who was killed in defendant's mine.

Judge Ritchie has rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff in the case of the Salt Lake Hardware company against the Utah Store Fixture company and the Utah Association of Credit Men, for the sum of $600. The action was brought to recover the value of certain merchandise sold by plaintiff to the Store Fixture company and afterwards seized by the Credit Men's association and sold.

A judgment in favor of plaintiff has been rendered by Judge Ritchie in the case of N. W. Clayton against Henry M. Dinwoodey, J. H. Moyle and W. N. B. Shepherd, executors of the will of Henry Dinwoodey, deceased, for the sum of $1,075.14. The action was brought to recover that amount which plaintiff was compelled to pay as taxes on real estate bought from Mr. Dinwoodey, the title to which was warranted as clear of all incumbrance, but on which the taxes for 1905 had not been paid.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S. Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Esteban Theater, Matanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement, but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Marti." In a letter to The Peru-na Drug Mfg. Co., written from Washington, D. C., Senor Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—Gonzalo De Quesada.

CATARRH OF STOMACH.—Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Columbia City, Ind., writes: "I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want without any of the distressing symptoms."
