

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

A. S. Hill has not yet been able to give bail, and is still in custody.

Belle Harris, the lady brought from Beaver, was taken to the Penitentiary to-day.

An account of a Farmington bigamy case will be found in our columns to-day.

Never jump at a conclusion, particularly at the conclusion of a sermon. Be more dignified.

J. H. Perry has received the June number of the Young Ladies' Journal. Thirty cents a copy.

Weir and Olson are prepared, at their premises, 28 Commercial St., to repair organs, accordions, violins, guitars, and all other kinds of musical instruments. See ad.

A Parson actor named Manchett recently broke ten paces of glass by the conclusion of his show. What a splendid feat! He would like to have a show when you want to attract the attention of a street-car conductor.

An Obolphysician says that the life, flu, cold and other wind instruments, if played vigorously, will cure weak lungs, but what is the use of having your lungs cured if, the first time you go out, some neighbor brains you with a club.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Gone South.—Presidents John Taylor, Geo. Q. Cannon and Wilford Woodruff, Apostle Moses Thatcher and other prominent brethren went south this morning, to attend Conference of the Sanpete Stake.

Broke Her Arm.—We regret to learn of an accident that occurred this morning, to Marshal Ireland's eldest daughter, Miss Edith, who had the misfortune to fall into the cellar at the family residence and break her arm. The injured limb was set by Dr. Hamilton.

Kanab.—Brother James L. Bantling, of Kanab, Kane County, is in town. He reports the farming prospects in that section good this season, but there will be no fruit crop, the germs having been killed by the severe frost.

No Bail Yet.—A. S. Hill, whose bonds were, on motion of District Attorney Van Zile, released yesterday from $3,000 to $5,000, had not, up to this afternoon, succeeded in finding anybody willing to be security on his bonds, so he still remains in custody. Should he not be successful to-morrow he will probably go to the Penitentiary.

The Railroad Dispute.—Trains commenced running yesterday on the D. and U. G. between here and Ogden. The U. G. have obtained a temporary injunction from the District Court to prevent the narrow gauge road from entering the Ogden depot grounds either by third rail or the C. P. track or otherwise. The arguments on the case were to be heard to-day at Ogden.

Opening Business.—Mr. Herbert Pembroke returned from the East last night. He represents the Graham Paper Company, of St. Louis. He is agent for several houses who manufacture type and printing materials, and for Sanborn's binding machinery. Besides having these agencies, he will open in premises a short distance south of Mrs. Dye's with a stock of stationery, and other goods in that line about the 1st of June.

A Roadmaker.—A short time ago the Driving Park Association, by W. S. McCormick, Esq., ordered, through Mr. H. R. Clawson, a roadmaker. It has arrived, and is a formidable affair, evidently capable of doing a tremendous amount of work, of wide variety, in double-quick time. It can harrow, or tear, cut, scrape or roll, all at once or separately, according to the circumstances and the desire of the operator. Just the thing in this kind of a country.

No More Wain.—Yesterday Mr. Arthur F. Barnes and Miss Elizabeth H. Hanson, were united in marriage, Counselor D. H. Wells performing the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mr. John H. Barnes, of the firm of Barnes and Davis, a good, solid, sensible young gentleman, who will make an excellent husband to the amiable, daughter of Mr. Charles Hanson, of the 20th Ward. The couple have our congratulations and very best wishes.

Imprisoned in the Penitentiary.—The lady named Belle Harris, the witness sentenced to fine and imprisonment, in the Second District Court, at Beaver, a few days ago, was brought to this city this morning, arriving by the 10 o'clock train. At 12 o'clock she was taken to the penitentiary, a building used for the confinement of criminals of the most heinous type. The penitentiary is infested by alleged convicts, and the period of incarceration is indefinite. This affair has the appearance of a judicial outrage.

The lady has a young infant boy, under a year old. This little fellow, by the harsh order of Judge Twiss, is made an inmate of a den of felons.

A Goodly Report.—At a recent meeting of the Deafest Hospital Association the report showed a membership of $45. The canvassing committee was honorably discharged. The report also showed that the funds derived from the payments made by and for patients amounted to about one-fourth of the means needed to meet the current expenses of the institution. The Church has made a donation of $500, and some of the wealthy citizens had subscribed generously. Among the latter Mayor Jennings had given over $500. Many of the poor had also donated out of their scanty means, their offerings being commendable and as good in principle as those of the rich, who were enabled out of their abundance to give larger sums. The Hospital was reported as being in a prosperous condition, and increasing its sphere of usefulness.

A GENUINE BIGAMY CASE.

BUT THE ACCUSED IS NOT A "MORMON" AND U. S. OFFICIALS ARE NOT ENTHUSIASTIC.

We have considerable information concerning an alleged bigamy case, in which Dr. Carrington, who, until a few days ago, had resided for some time in Farmington, Davis County, is the principal figure. In several respects this person has enjoyed an unenviable reputation. He is a married man, but he and his wife lived in constant strife, and a short time since concluded it would be better to live apart.

Mrs. Carrington commenced suit in the Probate Court of Davis County for a decree of divorce from her husband, but while the suit was in progress Carrington applied to the lady's counsel to withdraw the complaint and allow him to be the complainant. On this offering to meet all expenses already incurred this was agreed upon, and Carrington began suit for a decree of divorce from his wife, employing Mr. Jos. Barton as counsel.

In the meantime, a sort of peace had been patched up between Dr. Carrington and his wife, and an apparent understanding was reached for them to let "by-gones be by-gones," and again live together as husband and wife. On Monday, May 7th, Carrington waited upon his attorney, told him he had concluded not to further prosecute proceedings for divorce from his wife, having made the matter all straight with her and that they intended to resume conjugal relations. In consideration of this fact he coolly requested the attorney to refund the fee he had paid him. As the legal gentleman had so far done the work for which he was retained, he failed to see the subject in that light and declined to refund, and the Doctor went away sorrowful.

According to the understanding obtained by Mrs. Carrington about again resuming amicable relations with her husband, she, during the absence of the Doctor, returned on Friday 11th, to her domestic hearth in Farmington. While she was there Carrington drove down to Bountiful, accompanied by Miss Mayfield, who is not quite eighteen years old, and the latter's aunt. The trio proceeded to the office of Justice Lewis Grant, the Doctor informing that official that he and Miss Mayfield proposed to get married. The Justice asked whether the girl was of age, and the trio responding in the affirmative, the ceremony was performed.

Not only did all this take place without Dr. Carrington having obtained a decree of divorce from his wife, but we need not say that it was an outrage upon the parents of Miss Mayfield, who are deeply grieved over the affair, and the father justly incensed. Carrington and Miss Mayfield did not return to Farmington, but stopped a day or two at Bountiful and finally came down to the city and put up at the White House.

Mrs. Carrington became aware of what had taken place, came to town, accompanied by her attorney, Mr. Charles E. Pearson, and on Wednesday called upon Deputy District Attorney E. T. Sprague, to enter complaint against the Doctor, charging him with bigamy, the case being, to all appearance, one of the clearest imaginable. The Assistant District Attorney, for some reason, did not seize on the case with the slightest degree of enthusiasm. He referred the complaining witness to U. S. Commissioner Gilchrist. This gentleman did not display a whit more zeal, but referred the party to Mr. Sprague. On being informed that he had already been applied to, he stated that however that might be it was his duty to make out the complaint, which, of course, was the fact.

Judge Sprague was again waited upon, the interview resulting in Mrs. Carrington's attorney having to make out the complaint himself, and the document was filed with Commissioner Gilchrist, who thereupon issued a warrant for Dr. Carrington's arrest.

The warrant was placed in the hands of a deputy United States marshal, who proceeded to the White House on Wednesday, and arrested Dr. Carrington. The officer, however, appeared to be infused with the prevalent absence of enthusiasm which appears to affect officials generally regarding this case—Carrington was permitted to remain where he was, without security further than his promise to appear before the Commissioner yesterday morning at ten o'clock. But the Doctor is not that kind of a man. He had no desire for an interview of that sort, so about eleven o'clock on Wednesday night he "folded his tent, like the Arab, and silently stole away," whether no man, of the genus U. S. official, knoweth. Neither does there appear to be, on their part, an overwhelming anxiety to discover the whereabouts of the fugitive.

We have been informed, with what truth we are unable to say, that the Doctor had intimated that, being a member of a certain secret fraternity, he did not feel very much concerned, and certain officials expressed themselves about the interested parties were about to take steps for prosecution, that they did not think there was much of a case.

It is currently stated that the Doctor carries on a branch of business in which no honorable man in the medical profession would engage, the nature of which it is not necessary to name. We were acquainted with these facts yesterday, but thought we would give an opportunity before publishing them to the libelous scribbles who make it a business to scrape up every piece of unsavory scandal with which they can in any way connect a Mormon, coloring it with their congenial spice of falsehood and holding it up as an out-growth of the system of the Latter-day Saints' religion, when the fact is that everything in the shape of wrong is opposed to its genius and spirit, and are departures from its requirements. But never a word from that source. They are as dumb as oysters on the subject.

What shape would this case have assumed had Carrington been a professed "Mormon?" Would a terrific howl have been raised? Would he have been allowed his liberty without security after his arrest? If he had escaped under any circumstances would there have been any vigilance displayed to accomplish his capture? How do the proceedings against Carrington agree with those against the lady, Belle Harris, who is a "Mormon," but is not even accused of any crime? We leave each to answer these questions for himself.

We learned to-day, since the foregoing was written, that deputy Marshal Captain Greenman had gone northward after Carrington, and will, in all probability, bring him back.

Decoration Day.—The Glee Club and Orchestra of this city, are managing a two days' excursion to Provo, on Decoration Day, which promises to be a very pleasant out, giving its patrons the privilege of remaining at Lehi, American Fork, or Pleasant Grove, and of returning on any train, either on Wednesday, May 20, or Thursday, 31.

As Provo is a very beautiful city, and is situated in a delightful country, affording lovely views of lake, river and mountains, and as there will be many attractions there on that day it is safe to predict that all who avail themselves of the low rate and make the trip will have a splendid time.

The fare for the round trip will be $1.75, and half-rate for children under 12 years.
