AMERICAN.

WIRED FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGON, 23.—A question is raised before the French-American claims commission to which considerable interest attaches. It was recently agreed between the diplomatic representatives of the United States and France that the case of Isaac Taylor against the French Republic should be withdrawn on the ground that it was excluded by the treaty organizing the commission, as a case already adjudicated. It was at the same time agreed that if upon examination any cases against the United States should be found falling within the same class as the Isaac Taylor case, they should be withdrawn. On calling the docket when the case of Perdreauville against the United States should be reached, counsel for the United States declared it was suspended under the agreement in regard to the Taylor case. Counsel for France then moved that the cases which counsel for the United States contended came within that class should be proceeded with. The discussion was ended by the commission calling for the correspondence between the two Governments. Counsel for the United States further contended that the proper course was to have left the Taylor case as well as the other cases to the judicial determination of the commission, and not undertake to dispose of them diplomatically.

The committee investigating the affairs of Architect Hill met this morning. As neither witnesses nor accusers were present, they adjourned till Wednesday. Hill filed his answer to the specified charges.

Pension Commissioner Dudley has issued a circular directing all special pension examiners to give public notice that they are not authorized to collect money for fees or expenses of pensioners, or applicants for pensions; also that all special examiners are provided with certificates signed by the Commissioner of Pensions, the Secretary of the Interior, and bearing the seal of the Interior Department. Without such certificates, all persons claiming to be pension examiners are frauds. This circular is the result of complaints reaching the Pension Office of swindles perpetrated by persons having no authority to act. The Pension Commissioner asks that responsible persons report to his office all cases of the above nature, with description of the alleged examiner.

DEATH AND DISASTER.

Cyclones, Flames and Fatalities.

JACKSON, Miss., 23.—Further reports of the destruction by the cyclone are coming in. Beauregard was entirely swept away. Suffering is very great; assistance is necessary.

On the N. & C. railway, the town of Tillman was destroyed; several killed and wounded. On the V. & M. railway, the town of Lawrence suffered terribly.

Reports from other places and from the country, show the storm caused wide-spread destruction. The telegraph lines are blown down for miles.

St. Louis, 23.—Specials from New Orleans about the cyclone which destroyed Wilson and Beauregard, Miss., yesterday, give no additional particulars, but they say Beauregard is in Copias County, on the N. O. St. Louis & Chicago Railway, 45 miles west of Jackson; population, 400 to 500. Wilson was a more important place on the same road, one mile from Beauregard, a summer resort for the people of New Orleans; population 7,600. It had a large cotton and woolen factory employing 600 hands.

Montgomery, N. Y., 23.—A snow storm set in this morning.

Hutchinson, Ks., 23.—A cyclone passed near this city Saturday morning, doing considerable damage, tearing down a number of barns, demolished the house occupied by an old man and wife named Anderson, injuring both quite seriously. Mrs. Anderson was blown into a tree 40 feet away. Another house near by was treated as badly, and a girl had a leg broken. Mr. Anderson may die. A heavy rain accompanied the wind. Wounded—Albert G. Price and child, mortally; their house fell on them; J. O. Williams, killed.

New Orleans, 23.—Times Democrat West Point special: A terrific gale from the Northwest struck the town yesterday afternoon accompanied by torrents of rain, and the largest hail ever seen here. The court house, cotton exchange, and numerous other buildings are unroofed, and materially damaged. No lives lost.

Larned, Ks., 23.—Lowery Bro.'s powder magazine containing about 1,500 pounds of powder, situated a quarter of a mile from the city, exploded this afternoon killing instantly Chas. L. Goodrich. James Zeigler, a comrade, was with him duck hunting at the time, and escaped uninjured. The explosion shook buildings and broke windows about half a mile distant. Part of the railing of Pawnee bridge was torn away. It is supposed that Goodrich fired a shot into the door of the magazine, causing the disaster. His body was blow some distance.

Montreal, 23.—The Canada Manufacturing Company's premises, and stationery store of J. L. Carson & Co., Notre Dame Street, were destroyed by fire this morning; loss over $60,000.

Washington, 22.—The wife of solicitor General Phillips, died last evening of apoplexy, while making arrangements to go visiting.

Captain Bushrod P. Taylor, of the Navy, is dead.

The Catalogue of Crime.

NEW YORK, 22.—Peter Ratel, coachman, was killed this morning by James Martin, in a drunken quarrel.

Edward Hodgeman, bar-tender, fatally stabbed Michael Mehan this morning.

Kansas City, Mo., 22.—Journal's Salina, Kansas: In Cambria township, on Friday night, Oscar Bennett shot and killed Elmer Reagle in a quarrel about a woman.

New Orleans, 22.—Policeman John Coffey was killed by Alfred Gossett, a negro. The officer shot Gossett; the latter is not expected to live.

Boston, 23.—The Governor to-day sent an order to the State Board of Health, instructing them to assume all the powers and duties of the board of trustees of the State Almshouse at Tewksbury, to take effect at once. The Governor also sent an order summarily removing the board of trustees.

Victoria, B. C., 23.—Dispatches received from the main land say the Chill Indians have risen against the Chinese miners, killed two and driven the rest into their lodge house which the Indians surrounded and when the messenger left were assaulting it. More of the Chinese are probably massacred.

Chicago, 23.—General Sheridan received intelligence this morning confirming the skirmish between a detachment of cavalry and Creek Indians, and the driving of the savages over the Canadian border.

Ottawa, 23.—Policemen are still on duty at Rideau Hall. Their presence starts sensational rumors. Some men are on duty nightly. The government is said to contemplate an increase of the Dominion police force to 100 men, and to establish a Dominion detective bureau.

Denver, 23.—On Saturday, ex-Senator Tabor went before the grand jury and obtained an indictment against Wm. H. Bush for the alleged embezzlement of $2,000 while manager of the Tabor Grand Opera House, which he resigned Friday. Early this morning Tabor attached Bush's interest in the Windsor Hotel for $20,000 claimed to be due. Both assert that the cause of the difficulty lay in Chicago grain transactions. Unsavery developments are expected.

FOREIGN.

British Briefs.

LONDON, 23.—Coleridge, Lord Chief Justice of England, returned a decision in favor of Charles Bradlaugh in the action brought against Newdegate, member of Parliament for Warwickshire, for maintaining suit against Bradlaugh in regard to the latter's sitting and voting in the House of Commons without taking the oath of allegiance.

The Times says: The Government has obtained information in the course of recent inquires that the enrolled members of the Fenian organization in the United Kingdom number 15,000, and these besides the distinct off-shoots of the Fenians, such as Vigilants and Invincibles. There are besides secret organizations affiliated with the American dynamite party. The police have accurate information regarding the movements of the conspirators, and it is expected further developments will be made.

Soldiers were suddenly called into service on Friday to protect the lower ward of Windsor Castle. The ward is now being patrolled constantly.

Portsmouth, 23.—Letters have been received by the officers of the branch here of the Bank of England of threats being made of the destruction of that building by dynamite. Detectives have in consequence been detailed to watch the bank.

Dublin, 23.—It is stated that a prisoner now in Kilmainham jail gave evidence to the authorities which throws complete light on the subject of inquiry to be opened today, by Curran, divisional magistrate of the metropolitan police, into the murders here during the past year, of persons who have turned informers.

Kelley, alleged Phœnix Park murderer, in whose case the jury failed to agree, was again placed on trial to-day.

Allyn, who identified Carey at the inquiry at Kilmainham as one of the four men whom he saw in Phœnix Park May 6th last, testified to day that Kelly was not one of the men. Adjourned.

The real name of Featherstone, one of the alleged dynamite conspirators, is Edmund O'Brien. Kennedy stated that he has turned informer, and is giving information to the authorities touching the doings of the conspirators.

MARICOPA STAKE CONFERENCE.

MESA CITY, April 15, 1883.

Editor Deseret News:

The quarterly conference of the Maricopa Stake of Zion was held here April 7th and 8th, with President A. F. Macdonald presiding. The most of the Stake and Ward authorities were present and proper reports presented to the people. The General and Local Authorities of the Church were unanimously sustained in their several callings.

The following subjects were spoken upon with force and vigor, viz:

Blessings obtained through obedience to the Gospel, contrast between those who love truth and those who are in error, the growing tendency in the world to commit murders and other crimes, the pride of the age in disbelieving the Bible, the necessity of living up to our profession as Saints and not being excused for direlection of duty, mission of Joseph Smith; laboring among the Lamanites, and making a strenuous effort towards securing them a place of worship, and the necessity of the brethren set apart to that mission, being zealous.

It was a pleasant reunion of the Saints; many principles of the Gospel were evolved, and while being a rest from temporal affairs, it was also a spiritual feast to those loving the truth of the Gospel.

Under the careful guidance of our President, Zion prospers in this part of Arizona, and it is our earnest wish for success to attend others as it does us.

Your brother,
JNO. P. BUSH,
Stake Clerk.

JUAB STAKE CONFERENCE.

NEPHI, April 23, 1883.

We have just closed one of the most interesting and instructive conferences ever held in the Juab Stake.

The Primary Stake Association held their Conference on Friday, at 10 a.m., and it was a most pleasing sight to see the smiling faces of the little ones, indicating the pleasure they felt in listening to the songs and recitations of the members, and instructions of others.

The Relief Association held their Stake Conference in the afternoon, and the reports from the Presidents of the Ward Associations showed that they were in a prosperous condition.

At 7.30 in the evening, the Priesthood of the Stake assembled and received instructions from Prest. Pearman and Counselors, who in a plain, forcible manner, showed each officer of the Priesthood his duty, and pointed out the terrible effects of drunkenness and impurity of life.

On Saturday morning the Bishops reported their several wards to be in good condition, increasing in faith and good works.

President Pearman hoped we should meet with prayerful hearts prepared to receive the councils of God through his servants.

Afternoon.

Apostle F. M. Lyman, Elder Abram H. Cannon and President W. Woodruff occupied the afternoon instructing the Saints, subjects: Works as well as faith necessary, educating of the young first in the faith of the Gospel, then there is no danger of infidelity.

Evening.

A conjoint Stake conference of the Y. M. M. I. A. and Y. L. M. I. A. was held. Am happy to say that these associations are not behind any others in the Territory. Prest. Woodruff and Elders Lyman and Cannon addressed the meeting. The fruits of which, I believe, will be seen hereafter.

Sunday morning, 10 o'clock.

The Sabbath Schools held their Stake conference. The reports from the Superintendents were very encouraging.

The Apostles and Elder A. H. Cannon occupied a portion of the time in giving instruction to the young.

Afternoon.

Meeting was addressed by Elder A. H. Cannon, giving instructions to the Seventies in reference to their re organization; read instructions from the First Presidency and a revelation from the Lord upon the subject.

Prest. Woodruff occupied the remainder of the afternoon; subject; celestial order of marriage, trials attending it and blessings following those who keep the law of God.

Evening.

Apostle F. M. Lyman spoke upon the same subject. Of all the laws of the Gospel he called this law the crowning law of God.

Prest. Woodruff followed, bearing testimony to the remarks of Apostle Lyman and to the truth of all the principles which the Prophet Joseph Smith had revealed to the children of men in this generation.

Our meeting houre was full to overflowing at every meeting during Conference.

THOMAS CRAWLEY,
Stake Clerk.

Value of Waste Soap Suds.

An Eastern farmer makes the waste suds and slops of the kitchen sink fill his cellar with turnips, besides adding greatly to his crop of apples and other fruit. He had planted a small orchard near his dwelling, and purposed, during its early growth, to cultivate turnips, cabbage, etc., on the same ground. His kitchen was a common one in which there was a large sink where most of the family performed their daily ablutions, where the women washed the dishes, and into which all the washing water, soap suds, slops, etc., were thrown. This waste formed an unsightly cesspool, some of which found its way under the kitchen and that which filtered through the soil outwards, produced a rank growth of weeds. These results annoyed the farmer, and he resolved to abate the nuisance. But instead of a sewer and pipes to carry off this waste to some lower part of the farm, he concluded that if weeds were made so powerful by these slops, useful products might be increased. So he and his sons took their axes and cut down a dozen or two tall, second-growth saplings, and soon converted them into small leading troughs by means of a narrow post-ax. They then made as many little benches or forms as they had leading troughs. The benches had a notch in the centre to suit the size of the saplings; and the benches were of unequal height. The highest brought the butt of the largest trough close under the sink spout, and the next a little lower, so that the water ran off rapidly to its place of exit. After these preparations he cultivated the land thoroughly in cabbages. He changed the place for the sink waste to fall every day, by moving a bench or two. His troughs would reach to the farthest corner of his lot. By a little watchfulness, he, or some member of the family, could see what part of the lot most needed this kind of irrigation. The order to the family was that all slops which were not needed in the swill barrel should be poured into the sink. The house and the family were thus rid of the nuisance of a cesspool and a rank growth of weeds, and quite a large lot and orchard were not only kept moist but the soil enriched. Cabbage grew large and abundant, but rutabagas and yellow turnips yielded 200 bushels more by this irrigation than he had been able to produce without it. The apple and pear trees put on new life and vigor, and the results were all better than any of the family anticipated. The general health of the family was improved and an air of neatness and cleanliness surrounded house, garden, and orchard that commanded the admiration of the neighbors. The improvements cost no outlay of money. All this was accomplished by a little extra care and labor; but which was bestowed in so brief a time that no other duties were neglected. This success suggested other improvements until the farm was recognized as a model one, and the family became more than ordinarily prosperous.

Hans Yager and the Butcher.

Hans Yager sent his boy to the corner meat store, yesterday, for a quarter's worth of steak. When the boy brought it home, Hans observed that there was more bone than meat. He became riled over the matter, and rolling up the stuff again in the paper, he wabbled off in great haste to the meat store, where the following took place:

"Ouf I vas a butcher, und you vas now one, and you sendt your leedle poy for dwendy-five cent meat, und you gif him fifteen cents pones und ten cents meat, you dinks dot vas right?"

"The rule is, 'when you buy land you buy stones, when you buy meat you buy bones.' It sometimes happens that there is more bone in one cut than another."

"Vell, den; ouf I sendt my boy another dime you gif him anoder cut."

"I have to give out as they come. I treat my customers alike."

"No sir-ee Bop! You make you mistake. You was no goot mans. You don'd to yerselve do like you hat yerselve do to odder peoples."

"I always try to do right by my fellow men."

"Dot might be drue, ober you don'd do right by yer feller schmall poy. Ouf mine frau gomes on dot shop she got goot meat; ouf I gom's on dot shop I got goot meat; ober ouf leedle Yacob comes he got efery dimes dwice so much pones as he got meat! How vas dose? You dinks I got me a big family, vot gan on pones lif? Maype you dinks I vant to schtand a pone yard! I dinks ouf I sendt leedle Yacob here for meat und safe der pones, I vont got me a pone yard so bigger as a whole town lot. Dot vas a vun mool meat shop anyhow. I make you bresent fen dem pones und I go to a dwo-mool meat schtore und git some meat."

And he wobbled out and off to a meat store kept by two men down the street.
