This is Maundy Thursday, a day specially observed by the ritualistic churches and the Scottish rite Masons. The Jews have a religious observance for different reasons, their belief being that it is the day of passover. The churches are holding special services, and the Masons will observe special exercises in Masonic hall.

The Salt Lake Real Estate association wired last night the following message to the Woodmen's convention at Los Angeles: "Woodmen of the World, Utah Headquarters, Los Angeles:—At our meeting held today we are pleased to hear of the success of the Utah delegation. This association will back all your promises for headquarters at Salt Lake City."

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. W. J. Dean, whose sad demise was announced in last night's "News," will be held at the Sugar Ward assembly room, Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. A fractious horse belonging to an assayer named Austin, broke loose from the postoffice last night, and after crashing into and badly damaging several rigs on West Temple and Second South streets, returned to the postoffice with additional further up the street, strewn the remnants of his own rig all over the thoroughfare, and then disappeared towards the south. No one was hurt, but the damage to the vehicle property was considerable.

The grand lodge of Odd Fellows decided yesterday afternoon to make the next annual session last three instead of two days. The per capita tax for the coming year was fixed at $1.50 instead of $1.00. As heretofore, Salt Lake was selected as the place for holding the next meeting, after a strong pull had been made for Provo, and the state assembly of the Daughters of Rebeccah will also be held here. Redding Grand Master Stroup was presented last evening with a grand master's jewel and a solid silver service, by members of his own lodge, Bingham No. 19, and Grand Secretary P. A. Simpson was presented with a fine turquoise ring bearing the Odd Fellows' device. This is Mr. Simpson's fourth term as grand secretary.

AMUSEMENTS.

The close of the Symphony orchestra season at the Theater last night drew the audience that such events usually attract—one not large in size, but thoroughly representative, appreciative, critical in a friendly way, and for the less severely classical, was plainly demonstrated by the enthusiasm which greeted the familiar Strauss waltz "Roses from the South," and though this came late in the evening it was a hearty recall. The orchestra's big number of the night, Haydn's symphony in four movements—which four, by the way, and which was detailed on the program—was well done, and the famous second movement, which gave many of the hearers their first idea of the source of a musical theme so popular as to have been almost vulgarized, was specially admirable. It is pleasant to say that the orchestra's very best work was done in one of the most difficult numbers, the accompaniment to Miss Ellerbeck's "concertstück."

The three soloists all scored heavily. Mrs. McGuire in an excellent performance on that rarely beautiful instrument the harp, and the Independent nervous to take time in her opening number to fully tune her instrument, her execution showed that she was rarely accomplished and in the second number, the divine Largo for harp and strings, her beautiful work hardly have been improved. She was called back to the stage and tendered a floral offering.

Miss Ellerbeck the pianist, accompanied by the full orchestra, did a rarely difficult piece of work in Chamblin's "concertstück," in a style equally brilliant and effective. Her rendition of the intricacies of the number, and the ease with which she mastered them, fully confirmed her high reputation as an artist. For a stormy recall she dashed off the beautiful Chopin waltz and after her opening number she was almost smothered with flowers.

Mr. McGuire, the singer of the evening, made an excellent impression in his rendition of "The Vision Fugitive," sung in French, his high notes being especially good. He had a great recall and ended in a tender fashion the ballad "The Night has a Thousand Eyes."

While the orchestra in places showed that it had had scarcely sufficient time for preparation, the horns in the "Fantasia" were uncertain, still on the whole the concert must be ranked as one of the best the men have given. The evening number "Bury with Me" overture, by Weber, was beautifully done and sent the audience home in good humor. The analytical notes by Mr. Squire Co-op were again greatly appreciated.

At the conclusion of the concert last night, the members of the orchestra assembled in the Green room. It had been expected that the president of the Symphony Orchestra, assisted by Rev. E. J. Goshen, would address them, but he being absent through illness, the secretary and treasurer of the association, Mr. H. G. Whitney, made a few remarks, congratulating the men on their progress and the artistic success of the season, and hoping they would come together in the fall and be strengthened by the addition of a number of other performers.

Mr. Curtis Shepherd leaves for the east this afternoon and will be away a month, visiting friends in New York and Boston.

The next attraction at the Theater is the burlesque on "Macbeth," to be rendered by the pupils of the High school tomorrow night.

The advance sale for Lionel Barrymore in "The Other Girl" opens at the Theater tomorrow morning.

Next week at the Utahna, Manager Gourley has secured an attraction out of the ordinary in the person of the famous prima donna, Miss Sinigaglia. While English by birth she was married to the musical director of the Covent Garden theater, London, hence her Russian name. Her American tour is being managed by the direction of M. H. Curtis, the well known actor and manager, who gained fame as "Samuel of Posen."

It is certain to be needed sooner or later. For sale by all druggists."

BALL AT SALT LAKE.

Annual Excursion of the L. D. S. U. On Friday Evening.

The students of the Latter-day Saints' University have arranged for an outing at Salt Lake Friday evening. The main purpose is to have a grand ball, to which may be invited former students and friends of the school, for which purpose the gymnasium is not adequate. The students think that it will be more pleasant at this season to hold the ball at Salt Lake than in any city hall, as the atmosphere is cool and invigorating, while the pavilion, being now entirely inclosed with glass, insures comfort and safety against a possible storm or wind from the lake region. A special train will leave the Salt Lake depot at 5 p. m. returning before midnight.

George C. Parkinson Reports Conditions Favorable for Sugar Factories in Idaho.

PEOPLE THOROUGHLY AROUSED.

Field Work is in Charge of E. J. Merrill, Who Will Secure Necessary Acreage.

Special Correspondence.

Boise, Idaho, April 19.—In an interview with George C. Parkinson yesterday, it was learned that he has visited the entire district from Weiser on the west to Boise on the east, and reports the conditions looking to the installment of the two great sugar factories in the Boise and Payette Valleys, as being extremely encouraging.

The interest of the people is thoroughly aroused to the urgent need of such an enterprise and the beneficial results that would naturally ensue. "The business men's committee is devoting much attention to this work," says Mr. Parkinson, "and it is as well as the farmers generally, are feeling very much encouraged. Conditions at Weiser," he continued, "are now very satisfactory and the progressive and broad minded citizens of that place are lending a united effort toward the bringing about of this enterprise."

The committee has placed E. J. Merrill, formerly deputy state auditor, in charge of the entire field work of securing acreage. He has under him a large staff of men, and in the course of another month's time, have the required amount of acreage written up.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

A very destructive fire broke out yesterday forenoon in the vinegar factory and warehouse of the Allen and Wright Furniture Co., this city, and completely destroyed the building with all its contents. The firemen were soon on the spot, but were practically powerless in combating with the ravaging flames. The total loss is estimated at $25,000, about half of which amount was covered by insurance. The building contained 10 car loads of dried fruit, worth $10,000, 25,000 gallons of vinegar valued at $5,000, and furniture to the amount of $5,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

TO ADVERTISE IDAHO.

Steps Taken to This End by State Bureau of Statistics.

Boise, Ida, April 19.—Steps are being taken by the State Bureau of Immigration, Labor and Statistics to thoroughly advertise this state during the coming season. An special appropriation was made by the last legislature for the publication of a new edition of the work "The State of Idaho," consisting of 35,000 copies, for distribution at the Portland fair. Ex-Commissioner T. C. Eggleston, is at the present time in Chicago revising the work and seeing to its publication.

The present commissioner of immigration, Allen Miller, is now planning to have south Idaho well advertised and its wonderful resources brought to the attention of the visitors to the exposition in Portland. He has taken the matter up with some of the leading citizens of the southern counties and they are now at work preparing a joint pamphlet which will be officially published and distributed among the visitors on the incoming trains to the Portland fair, by placing a suitable person at some point east of the Idaho line to meet the trains and supply the passengers with the Idaho literature.

Without doubt, stop-over privileges will be granted the fair visitors so that they can stop off anywhere along the line and investigate conditions for themselves.
