

COUNCIL CLOSES IN ON "CANDY BILL"

License of Disorderly Commercial Street Dive Revoked
Last Night.

MAN MAKES PITIFUL PLEA.

Says He Wants to Maintain Orderly House, but is Victim of Circumstances—"Red Light."

Like an echo of ante-bellum days was the plea made by "Candy Bill" McKenzle for the continuation of his saloon license before the city council last night. "Candy Bill" is a negro; he has conducted a saloon on Commercial street for several years, and it has been a noisy and disorderly house. In fact, several stabbing and shooting affrays, the last of which, not a week ago, proved fatal to Dick Hawkins, who was shot and killed by David Logan Thursday night, have occurred in "Candy Bill's" notorious joint, and the police decided to close up the place.

At a meeting of the council held a week ago, complaint from the police department came in against the place, and McKenzle, the proprietor, was notified to appear last night before the bar of the council to show cause why his license should not be revoked for maintaining a disorderly house. He appeared and was given the full freedom of the floor. He made a eloquent and almost pathetic plea that he be permitted to continue his business, saying that he was the victim of circumstances and while he had done everything in his power to maintain an orderly place, yet, being a "colored" resort, it was visited by a class of colored degenerates and "hon" heads, who were classed as undesirable by "Candy Bill," and against whom it was impossible for him to close his doors.

"CANDY BILL'S" PLEA.

"Councilmen and gentlemen," pleaded McKenzle, "I hope you will do me justice. I try to maintain a respectable place; I am a sick man, and have been under the doctor's care for five months; I try hard to make a living, and if you take my little place on Commercial street from me, my means of living and paying the doctor is gone. If the police officers will rid the town of the 'hon' heads' and men who are under the influence of drugs all the time and who carry big revolvers and in whose presence your life, or my life, is constantly in danger, I will conduct an orderly house."

Chief of Police Tom Pitt was called to tell the officers' side, and he said "Candy Bill's" place had long been disorderly and noisy, and that, despite numerous and continued warnings, the place grew steadily worse until murder was committed in the house last Thursday night. The chief thought it high time the place was closed, and said in justice to "Candy Bill" that he could not at all times help matters, and that his was not the place of a "hon" character, which the police department proposes to close.

TO CLOSE OTHER PLACES.

"Just as quickly as we can get at them," said Chief Pitt, "we are going to close all these disorderly joints, and McKenzle's is only the first one. Shooting craps has been the cause of most of the trouble," said the chief, and "Candy Bill" has allowed crap games in his cellar right along, against the repeated warnings of the department. "Shooting craps is part of a colored man's religion," said "Candy Bill" in reply to Chief Pitt's last assertion. "I have tried to have a clean place, but you don't turn a lot of cullud persons loose in this council chamber and in five minutes they'll be shooting craps," said the ebony-hued saloon-keeper.

A vote was then taken, resulting in a unanimous decision to close "Candy Bill's" saloon by revoking his license, and the colored man arose and hobbled from the room with a downcast look on his face.

COUNCIL ON RECORD.

The council reversed itself last night on the "red light" district removal proposition, and went on record as being opposed to the proposed removal. The matter came up in the form of a protest against moving the district west to the west side in the midst of a residence and school district, from the Democratic Woman's club of the city, signed by Mrs. H. J. Haywood, president, and Mrs. E. L. J. Hays, secretary. When the protest had been read, Councilman Stewart moved that it be filed, with other like protests, on the ground that the council could not take official cognizance of the existence of any evil in the city limits.

WOOD'S SHAKING UP.

Councilman Wood, who hails from the second, the district into which the removal is to be made, arose and said he thought it was high time the council was acting with some degree of intelligence in this matter. He said every member of the council knew about the proposed outrageous movement, and to pretend officially to know nothing about it was a farce. "I think it is high time the council was going on record as opposed to this move," said Councilman Wood, and I move that the petition be concurred in and the council now go on record as opposed to the proposed removal.

When the vote was called, every member of the council, including Stewart, who had moved to file the petition, and Martin, who is architect for some of the proposed new buildings, voted in favor of the council in the protest of the Woman's club.

TELEPHONE ORDINANCES.

Councilman Fernstrom introduced two ordinances, one giving the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company in unlimited franchise for 25 years in return for the payment of a one per cent gross earnings tax by that company, and the other providing that the Independent Telephone company be relieved of paying the telephone license tax in consideration of this already paying a one per cent gross earnings tax. Both ordinances were read the first time and referred to the municipal laws committee for further consideration.

FOR NEW IMPROVEMENT.

The board of works was authorized to advertise for bids for the following improvements: Sewer extension No. 199, located between First and Fourth South streets and Second and Fifth West, and on Fourth South between Fifth and Eighth South.

Sewer extension No. 203, located between Tenth and Seventh east and Ninth South and Belmont avenue. Paving extension No. 47, on G street between South Temple street and First avenue.

The council took a recess until 2 o'clock today to examine the voting machines used in the recent bond election, in order that the records may be legalized in all respects.

We believe in the proper observance of the Sabbath, but not of laws that restrict the right of the individual citizen to indulge in innocent amusements and harmless recreation on that day.

We are in favor of the licensing of saloons and their regulation and control, but not of prohibition.

We believe in the subordination of the interests of individual citizens to the interests of the community, and we support the community in the maintenance of the personal rights and liberties of one class of citizens over the demands of another class or party who may desire to waive such personal rights and liberties for themselves.

ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

Teachers' Retirement Commission Elects Set of Officers.

The member of the Teachers' Retirement commission met in the board of education rooms Monday afternoon and a permanent organization was effected by the election of James T. Hammond as president, and L. P. Judd, secretary. Notices will be sent to all teachers in the city soliciting their membership. Teachers wishing the protection of the pension will agree to contribute 1 per cent of their earnings into the fund, as the salaries of Salt Lake's school teachers will aggregate $200,000 this year, there will probably be about 3,500 collected before the closing of the schools at the next vacation term next summer.

Those teachers who do not wish a membership in the organization will not be compelled to contribute 1 per cent, but teachers engaged in the future will accept their positions with that stipulation.

CADETS HAVE FIRST DRILL.

Captain Webb Pleased With Outlook For Coming Year.

The High school cadets had their first drill yesterday and drew from Captain Webb high commendation. He is pleased with the looks of the boys and with the outlook for the battalion.

Over 50 of last year's recruits participated in the examinations held for all second-year men who cared to rank higher than a private. The drill proper will set in, and from that time on the recruits will be under strict military discipline.

The hand roster will reach the forty mark this year. Considering the organization is but two years old it has made remarkable progress, and Prof. Christensen, who has worked with the boys, states that the outlook for the ensuing year is very bright, as the new men are all experienced, having served in other bands.

DEPOT BUILDER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Alone and Unknown. C. W. Mulligan Succumbs to Attack Of Appendicitis.

DISCOVERED BY F.A. WADLEIGH

Sent Here from Chicago to Take Charge of Construction, Mr. Mulligan Seized With Illness.

Not until F. A. Wadleigh, assistant general passenger agent, came to Salt Lake and made an arduous search for C. W. Mulligan, was it known about railroad exchange, that the superintendent of construction sent out here to begin work on the new depot, was dead. Mr. Wadleigh made the startling discovery after some trouble. The local offices seemed to know little about the whereabouts of Mulligan and the main offices in Denver wondered why they were not hearing from the superintendent of construction. The "News" was told yesterday that Mulligan had been taken sick and was sent east in a private car. Little information outside of this could be obtained but as the day progressed it was learned that Mulligan had not been sent east in a private car; found to be suffering from appendicitis he was taken to a hospital where he was found dead. This was Friday.

IS TAKEN ILL.

Mr. Mulligan came from Chicago a month ago to take charge of the construction of the depot. He was announced in the "News" at the time. For several weeks he did little as several assistants did not arrive. He took up his residence in a new street unknown to anyone and two weeks ago was taken ill. Doctors called were divided upon his complaint; some said he had an abscess of the liver, others thought he had a mild case of appendicitis and advised him to go to bed. Mr. Mulligan was eager to go on with his work and feeling better a few days later, left his room and went about his duties. He suffered a relapse and returned to his home, where he went to bed a very sick man. It was decided he had appendicitis and he was taken to a hospital. But the disease had too firm a hold by this time and he died Friday, as explained.

WAS STRANGER HERE.

Mr. Mulligan was 70 years of age and being a stranger in this city, was not an acquaintance with railroad men. Those at the place where he boarded did everything to help the sick man but knowing little about him did not notify the Rio Grande officials of his condition or his death. A telegram sent to relatives brought a son-in-law here but after death had come. A wife and several daughters are bereft by his demise. It seems that the old construction expert seldom took any notice of his affairs and immediately upon his arrival in this city dropped out of sight. Mr. Wadleigh was shocked and pained by his discovery.

A local newspaper pointed out at once but as this appointment is in the hands of eastern officials no guess can be made here as to whom it will be. Upon the news of the death of the superintendent of construction activity on the new depot will begin at once.

GRANITE DISTRICT SCHOOLS.

All the schools of the Granite district opened for the season's work yesterday, with the largest enrollment in the history of the district. There were 387 more pupils this year than last year, the total being 4,212 to 2,816. Following are the enrollments for the various schools:

Ashton, 220; Boone, 43; Burton, 457; Carleton, 183; Davis, 102; Edison, 102; Forest, 401; Garfield, 111; Hawthorne, 153; Homer, 13; Irving, 206; Jefferson, 47; Madison, 57; Monroe, 141; Morse, 34; North, 81; Oakwood, 47; Plymouth, 244; Roosevelt, 244; Sherman, 36; Whitaker, 97; Wilford, 26; Woodstock, 113; Coonville, 19; high school, 70.

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum—No greater tribute could be paid to a knockabout comedy actor than that accorded at the Orpheum last night when the turn of Martinetti and Sylvester was well under way. As the clown made bone-breaking falls the audience went into convulsions, but when he got apparently inextricably mixed up in chairs and a table and fell into the orchestra pit, there was almost dead silence for the spectators expected to see him break his neck. "Boisterous Bumps" is certainly the best turn of its especial kind yet seen at the Orpheum.

The bill opens with the Musical Craigs, one of those adjuncts to vaudeville for 20 years past. The tramp bow car act of Fentelle and Carr which follows, arouses but mild enthusiasm, and it might be suggested that O. S. L. depot gag be retired permanently after such long and faithful service.

There is no better head-interest sketch in vaudeville than "The Tale of a Turkey." It is still entertaining but the death of Mrs. Kelly 18 months ago leaves a vacancy hard to fill. Alfred Kelly seems to sense this and scampers through his lines as though he had played the part of the impecunious actor 3,000 times, which he probably has. World and Kingston are back again with the same old act and "it isn't what they do; it's the way they do it" that still holds good. Miss Kingston's voice is as good as ever and the big hoarsey diamond still twinkles. The turn continues to make the same old hit with both floors.

The headliner, "Phantastic Phantoms," is a typical N. W. production which relies on lighting effects and costumes for the novelty. The best thing in the act is the acrobatic whirlwind waltz of the Ceballos. The dancing of the "chorus" however is emphatically ragged. The kinodrome and the Orpheum orchestra round out a distinctly hilarious evening's entertainment.

Grand—The audience at the Grand last evening was not a large one, but it is doubtful if there emerged from the house one dissatisfied person when the final curtain went down. "Calmie," a play seen so often in Salt Lake as to be a household story, was the bill, and from beginning to end it was played in a manner that left but little room for adverse criticism. Miss Keating and Mr. Jossey, in the leading roles, happily surprised even their most ardent admirers. Both have been steadily winning their way into the hearts of patrons of the house from the very opening night, and the unstinted applause with which they were received last night showed that they had more than made good in Dumas' exacting drama. First honors were rightfully accorded Miss Keating. When the lines demanded the highly emotional, she was not lacking in the least, and in tenderness and contrition she was no less in favor with her listeners.

The scenery and stage effects were very beautiful, and the support given the principals was in keeping with the entire performance. The company is well deserving of better patronage than it is receiving. A "Calmie" is a desirable class of plays, because the public likes better the lurid and sensational, would be a reflection on the theatergoers who have been wont to attend the Grand.

Lyric—While hardly up to the standard of last week's bill, the program at the new Lyric theater this evening is well worth seeing and furnishes an evening's wholesome amusement. The various acts are well balanced, the motion pictures being exceptionally good. Some of the amateur numbers are not so good, particularly is this so of the Auto quartet, the voices being indistinct. Probably the most interesting feature of the program is singing and dancing act called "The Glow Worm." As a whole, the program is quite entertaining.

The board of directors of the Commercial club are wrestling this afternoon with the question of how, when and where to raise $60,000 for the entertainment of the G. A. TRAMPS ORGANIZE IN SALT LAKE CITY

"The Hoboes' Mutual Protective Association" Is Rudely Dissolved by the Police.

WEARY WILLIE DUTY DETAILED

Captain and Lieutenants Only Elected And Members of the Novel Organization Are Assigned Tasks.

When four big and energetic policemen, led by Sergeant Henry Johnston, made a raid on a gang of hoboes, comfortably quartered in box cars on Twelfth South and Fifth West street early Monday morning, they brought to light some facts that are really interesting and, incidentally, broke up an organization that might have been called: "The Hoboes' Mutual Protective association." This may appear old, new, or strange, but it is a fact nevertheless.

For weeks the city has been infested by gangs of tramps and yegg men. Right here it might be well to explain what a yegg-man is. First of all he is a crook. He is an all-around crook. He is not the well-dressed, flashy appearing bunco man who, by the clever manipulation of cards or the old time lock trick separates you from your hard-earned cash, nor is he the haffies who mingles in good society and "society" value. He is not the professional crackman who uses the most modern burglary tools at night and steals about fashionable cars and spends money like a prince during the daytime.

DEFINITION OF A YEGG-MAN.

The yegg-man will do anything from stealing a piece of bread from a baby and "mooching" on the streets to blowing up a safe with nitro-glycerine or holding up a lone citizen. In other words, a yegg-man is a hobo crook. Every band of tramps has a yegg-man or two in it, and the congenial of weary Willies that has infested Salt Lake for several weeks, stealing, begging and sleeping in parks, barns and box cars, had its share of yegg-men.

The gang that was broken up yesterday morning by the police was well organized, but had but little time to obtain the desired results since its organization.

TRAMPS ORGANIZE.

According to the statements made by some of the patrolmen who assisted in the raid, a meeting was held recently by about 30 or 40 tramps at which it was decided to organize for mutual protection. A captain and lieutenants were elected by common consent, and a campaign outlined. One experienced hobo was selected as head of the gang and he was the recognized boss. In an absence one of the lieutenants gave the orders and handed out assignments to the lay members of the crowd.

Any member might steal or beg, but a ban was placed upon begging, and woe be unto the man who dared to work for a living, except such work as proved necessary in stealing or "mooching."

CAMP SELECTED.

This gang selected a camp which might be changed at any time in accordance with the wisdom of the leader or the sudden appearance of the police. On the occasion of the raid a number of boxcars were used as headquarters. Some weeks ago Pioneer Park and the north yards were the official meeting places.

The yegg-men went out and did what they could for the common comfort of the gang. Every morning men were selected to perform certain duties.

DETAILED DUTIES.

One hobo was given the job of bar-bor. His duty was to cut hair and shave. Another known as a somewhat expert with needle and thread acted as tailor for the gang. Another repaired shoes and so on.

In the morning the chief made a line up. One was detailed to hustle bread. Another to beg butter, and still another to hustle coffee, sugar and "mooches" or food.

While others furnished the daily supply of potatoes, matches, tobacco, cooking utensils and blankets and in fact any thing and everything needed in the camp. In a gang, such as existed in Salt Lake, the men took turns at this sort of thing so that a member had only about one day's "work" to do in a week. They also took turns in doing the "heavy" in the culinary department and "shooting the biscuits," that is, in this way, easy for all. Every man did his own laundry work. Those who were clever at steal-

Also Makes Speech Records for the Edison Phonograph

WE are now able to offer twelve Records made by William Howard Taft for use on the Edison Phonograph.

The selection of Edison Records by Mr. Taft as a vehicle for giving the telling points of his Speech of Acceptance the widest currency is another tribute to the genius of Edison and the Phonograph which he has made.

Some newspapers say that Taft is unwilling that Bryan should monopolize so useful a campaign ally as the Edison Phonograph. Whether that is true or not, here are the Edison Records made by Taft himself, giving his voice and inflection upon subjects of interest to every voter.

Whether you hear Taft speak personally or not, you can get almost the same effect by listening to these Edison Records.

BLIND ENTERTAINMENT.

First Session of Reading Class Held in Packard Library.

At the Packard free public library yesterday the first regular session of the reading class for the blind, which has been established in connection with the library, was held with excellent attendance. The class began at 1:30 o'clock and Mrs. Andrew S. Rowan, wife of Major Rowan of the fifteenth infantry, read newspaper and magazine articles to the attendance and talked upon educational methods employed to educate the blind.

Several small subscriptions have been raised for the cause and in a short time it is proposed to buy books and other forms of literature prepared for it. Many of them, however, are unable to read the raised letters, and Mr. Marie Hansen, a blind woman, will have the Braille alphabet ready for the turning of those by next week. The next meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock today and will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Williams.
