

DESERET EVENING NEWS

Organ of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

LORENZO SNOW, TRUSTEE-IN-TRUST.

PUBLISHED EVERY EIGHTH DAY.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE,
Copy of Deseret News, 10c; Temple Shirts,
and Books, 5c.

Charles W. Peterson, Editor
Horace W. Whiting, Business Manager
ADVERTISING OFFICES:
One Year, $100;
Two Years, $150;
Three Years, $200;
Four Years, $250;
Ten Years, $500.

Correspondence and other leading articles for publication should be forwarded to the EDITOR.
Address all correspondence to THE DESERET NEWS, Salt Lake City, Utah.

NOTICE.

The Fifty-ninth Annual Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will convene in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, at 8 a.m., on Thursday, April 10, 1890.

LORENZO SNOW,
GEORGE Q. CANNON,
JOSEPH F. SMITH,
First Presidency.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

During the early part of April there will be issued by the Deseret News a Church work entitled "The Articles of Faith." This same issue will be a series of lectures on the principal doctrines of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Dr. James H. Tolman. The lectures were prepared by appointment of the First Presidency, and the book will be published for the Church. It is intended for use as a text book in Church schools, Sunday schools, The prevention associations, quorums of the priesthood, and other Church organizations in which the study of Theology is pursued, and also for individual use among the members of the Church. The work has been approved by the First Presidency, and I heartily commend it to the members of the Church.

LORENZO KNOW.

The Salt Lake Stake Conference, which concluded Saturday evening, the advanced portion of which appears in this issue of the Deseret News, was well attended and interesting. One of the most important measures discussed was the support and maintenance of the Latter-day Saints' College in this city.

This excellent institution has struggled along under many difficulties, and in spite of all obstacles, has gained a reputation for being one of the best educational establishments. Its spiritual attraction and value to the people of this state have been its instruction in theology, and the spirit of sacrifice when it extends to. The principles as well as the spiritual are imbued with a love of the truth, and a desire to train the students in those principles which lead to a chaste, moral and religious life, as well as in a knowledge of the tools of our trade.

The Church has contributed largely to the support of that College, as well as of other Church schools, but is just able now to appreciate such large sums as formerly for that purpose. It deserves, then, on the part of the members of the Church in this State of the Union to do their duty. No tuition fees are charged, except the nominal entrance fee of ten dollars per annum, so it has no visible means of support. It is proposed to do what we can of about $1,000 for the expenses of the present school year, and this, with the help of the local and national departments—will have to be raised by voluntary donations.

Elder Joseph E. Taylor of the Black Presidency was appointed by the conference as a committee of one, with power to call to his aid such assistants as may be necessary, to present the case to the First Presidency, and to secure funds to meet the present deficit, in assisting the College in future, and to procure land and buildings suitable for the purposes of the institution. The enterprise will be conducted by the members of the church in their several parishes, and their associates in the labor movement.

TONIGHT.

The people of this city should not forget the entertainment to be given tonight in the Theatre, for the benefit of the Orphan Fund in Manila. The proceeds will go to the Hospital Fund, which will be used to relieve poverty and suffering among the poor, and especially among the orphans. All the money raised will go to the benefit of the Philippines, and should therefore attend at the Theatre this evening, or purchase tickets so as to make the affair successful. There will be military music, a lecture on the Philippines by Dr. Prestiss, illustrations by a number of very fine views, a short speech from Hon. H. J. Fairbanks, and other attractions, which will be well worth seeing and attending. Dr. Prestiss is a famous traveler and lecturer, and is thoroughly familiar with his subject. It is confidently hoped that the Theatre will be crowded in every part; and that a substantial sum will be thus obtained to help our soldiers who are fighting for the flag, working for the cause of liberty and progress, and representing God with honor and valor. All up the house!

NOTHING TO DO WITH THEM.

The anti-Mormon, short in this city, is nothing if not personal, and is usually directed to its friends about the "Mormons" which it discusses with the authorship of the "Young Utah" letters in the Salt Lake Herald.

Taking into consideration the repeated publications of editorial comments, of which the anti-Mormon's document is excepted mostly, in using the name of its author, thereof, of the Journal for which they write, we will simply state that we are connected with the Deseret News, but on direction or agreement, a letter of paragraph, and the signature of the author, "Young Utah for the Herald."

Of course that will make no difference to the maligned who continue in hating Utah, because, but we make this statement for the benefit of the public. The young men who have given their names to the present against the falsehoods of the anti-Mormon's sheet are entirely able to defend their own writing and make their own defense, without the assistance of the author of the article.

The crown prince is forty-one years old. He has never been popular among the people. He is described as reserved and cold, taciturn and uncommunicative, and exhibiting a high sense of humor and great originality. He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is the second son of the present king. That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that the reign of stars may not continue in so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the minds of the people or to conciliate the different conflicting influences.

SOMETHING NEW.

One of the wonders of the Past is the publication in 1890 will be a "Mormonism," a large volume, the passengers having the opportunity of reading an imaginary story from Mormonism to Christianity. The volume will not move us more forward, but the illusion of sailing will nevertheless be perfect.

In the current number of the Illinois American the "Mormons" is discussed. This vessel is mounted upon a pier and will be given the motions of pitching and rolling, while tumbling waves will dash against its bow and sides. The spectators, so the passengers rather, will wait about at shore until the vessel is all set up to receive the passengers, who will then proceed life on a complete scale, with the minimum necessary, with all the details of meals, sleeping, smoking and visiting passed, and a crew consisting of six or eight persons acting for each candidate, who shall advance or give or lose or gain or promise or respect to any candidate for the legislature, before or after the election, to the standard and port of the vessel with marsh excise 2500 feet 3000 feet, painted with all the pretensions that might be expected from the brush of M. D. A. and representing the post office, the Marquette River, the rear deck, the deck of the steamer, the interior, the deck of the ship, and then the high way and the American and Tashian coast road, where the vessel will be apparently steering. Over half a mile of course will unfold all the sites and episodes of this picturesque course. Everyone is acquainted with the phenomenon: the displacement of an object which occupies the entire field of vision gives the stationary spectator the impression that himself is moving. Thus, when we sit in a motionless train and another train passes past us, it seems to us that we are in motion.

The originator of this unique illusion estimates that when the people are thusly with the voyage to Connecticut, he will direct them to go with him in the North Pole in the same comfortable manner. The Marquesas will be situated on the Chicago River, Miles, between the Erie Canal and the Mississippi, and will be 300 feet in length, 12 feet 10 inches, and 22 feet in height. An Illinois actress, according to certain promises and conditions, will enter the ship, and will be dressed in a costume which she believes she can wear.

People visiting the fair, who have never had the experience of a voyage, will be delighted with the opportunity, but we fancy many of the visitors, having already crossed the Channel, or the Atlantic, will hardly care about taking another dose of the "pitching and rolling" motion mentioned as an attraction of the Marquesas, even if it is to tempt the imagination.

It is worthy of note in connection with General Mills' "united bid" charge, that the government's committee to demand that their representatives take action in favor of each development will be utilized. This will not be by amendment, either, but by an act of Congress with a recognized man and seek as a permanent authority the subject. This amendment to be less than a person than Horatio Nelson, will be introduced in the House of Representatives.

The sitting of Congress' best was well done by the American that the efforts to raise the Cebulka Colonies are overwhelming. The Yankee marines took quite literally that effort to destroy the Spanish vessels emerging from San Diego harbor.

In referring to the sentimental contest in California, which requires additional time, the San Francisco Chronicle says it is better have a decision than a stand party. Yet it is quite possible that both will be held independent when the people get to making judgment.

Now comes the story of the name of the new rail road to the West. About 10 feet of snow covered the ground. Dr. Prestiss, who is a member of the Legislature, is to have his residence in the West, in which a portion of his life was spent. His life was interrupted at a dinner in San Francisco. Hearing to the West, he says that his investigation in the Rocky Mountains have convinced him the time of greatest importance now for the United States is developing the West. He believes that the capital energy, labor and genius of the Middle and Eastern states should be used in the West, and the eastern condition of the country.

Other wise he has determined to act forth in plain and vigorous terms in his publications, which reach to more than half a million copies, and to urge action by the government for the opening up of the western country, as a place for progress and happy homes for tens of millions more people than could possibly occur it without such

the Agassizites from very violent

Gen. Glaser has been impressed by the Cuban rebellion, but is also recognized by the United States authorities, while his popularity among Cubans is as great as ever. The chief effect of the insurrection proceedings is to demonstrate that the present assembly is pronounced and consequently the road to further elections will be open to the Cubans for a new body of representatives.

An interesting event that the United States will be asked to make important powers that a portion of Cuba would be irreconcilable, the loss of an estimated portion of a large majority of the Norwegian people toward the latter Norway's throne, and it indicates the possibility of trouble, should Norway's government be compelled to take the present king, Oscar II. Many Norwegians have expressed themselves in favor of a dissolution of the monarchy with the present ruler and the establishment of a republican government.

The crown prince is forty-one years old. He has never been popular among the people. He is described as reserved and cold, taciturn and uncommunicative, and exhibiting a high sense of humor and great originality. He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is the second son of the present king. That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that the reign of stars may not continue in so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the minds of the people or to conciliate the different conflicting influences.

Gen. Glaser has been impressed by the Cuban rebellion, but is also recognized by the United States authorities, while his popularity among Cubans is as great as ever. The chief effect of the insurrection proceedings is to demonstrate that the present assembly is pronounced and consequently the road to further elections will be open to the Cubans

for a new body of representatives.

An interesting event that the United States will be asked to make important powers that a portion of Cuba would be irreconcilable, the loss of an estimated portion of a large majority of the Norwegian people toward the latter Norway's throne, and it indicates the possibility of trouble,

should Norway's government be compelled to take the present king, Oscar II.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the

Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the

minds of the people or to concili-

ate the different conflicting influences.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as Europe is concerned. Al-

ready there has been some talk in the

Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the

minds of the people or to concili-

ate the different conflicting influ-

ences.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the

Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the

minds of the people or to concili-

ate the different conflicting influ-

ences.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the

Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the

minds of the people or to concili-

ate the different conflicting influ-

ences.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as Europe is concerned. Already there has been some talk in the

Norwegian Parliament of the possibility of a war, and such expressions are not calculated to quiet the

minds of the people or to concili-

ate the different conflicting influ-

ences.

The crown prince is forty-one years old.

He has never been popular among

the people. He is described as re-

served and cold, taciturn and uncom-

municative, and exhibiting a high

sense of humor and great originality.

He is the son of the Emperor of Norway, King Oscar II. His mother is

Queen Sophie of Norway, and he is

the second son of the present king.

That a clash between the two emperors of the union did not take place long ago.

There is some doubt at present that

the reign of stars may not continue in

so far as