

D. & R. G. office in this city, to have the train stopped there for that purpose.

We have been shown the hat and cane of Elder Gibbs, which were brought home and delivered to his friends by Elder Robinson. The hat is a manilla, bruised and blood-stained; the cane is a light-colored stick with a gnarled handle, said to have been cut by Brother Gibbs on the battle-field of Shiloh, where fell the Confederate General, Albert Sidney Johnston, who led the United States army to Utah in 1857. Elder Robinson gives the following account of his visit to the scene of the massacre of his fellow-laborers:

He was in Humphries County, adjoining Lewis, when he heard of the assault on them, but was told that they were only wounded. "Thinking they might need care, yet realizing the danger, and without awaiting instructions, he discarded his customary clothes, put on an old pair of pants and held them up with a belt, and put on heavy shoes, an old hat and a calico shirt, and set out. He represented himself as a native of the country traveling on his way to Mississippi. When he got within about three miles of Conder's house, he ran across two men and began talking with them about the assassination. He then learned that they were two of the party who had been engaged in the brutal murder of his brethren; and that they were then guarding the road. They were, he supposes, expecting the arrival of Elder Roberts after the bodies, and were waiting to kill him should he appear.

He passed on to the house of Conder, where the massacre occurred, and there made himself known to Mr. Conder, from whom he learned the details of the affair which are substantially as published heretofore. Mrs. Conder was shot in the thigh and her knee is injured so that it is feared she will be lame for the remainder of her life. If gangrene does not set in her recovery is reasonably certain. She and her husband feel as well as possible under the circumstances. Elder Robinson remained at Conder's the greater part of the night, and when he left the next morning he saw the horses of the two men with whom he had conversed, still tied to the same place as on the night before, but two negroes were on the watch, doubtless having been placed to guard while the white assassins took breakfast. He learned where the bodies were, and finding he could do nothing, returned.

A week after the assassination, the bodies were recovered by Elder B. H. Roberts, who went in disguise to the Conder farm for that purpose. They had been buried the day following the killing (Monday) by members of the Church in that vicinity. Elder Roberts was assisted by Brothers Church, Coleman and another. "On the way back, and while intending to take the direct road the party got lost for the time being, and thus providentially missed a mob which was lying in wait, intending to murder those who had secured the bodies and were thus trying to send the remains back to relatives that they might be interred where they had lived. The party had kept the strictest secrecy, Elder Roberts making himself known only to Mr. Garratt, the gentleman who had assisted Elder Thomson to escape at the time of the massacre at Conder's house."

The excitement is quieting down a little in Tennessee, but the Elders have been instructed to move away from the parts where outrages have been committed, and await further instructions. That the spirit of murder and cruelty is still abroad, the following telegram received by President John Morgan last evening, fully attests:

CHATTANOOGA, Aug. 22, 1884.

Pres. John Morgan:

Matters more quiet. Mobbing has taken place in Lawrence County, this State. Elder J. J. Fuller, of Provo City, was whipped on the 17th inst.

B. H. ROBERTS.

Pursuant to announcement, memorial services in honor of the martyred Elders, will be held at the Tabernacle in this city, and all over the Territory, at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, the same hour at which services over the remains will take place at Kanarra and Paradise.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, AUG. 25.

Missionary Meeting.—The Home Missionaries of this State are hereby notified that their regular monthly meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, the 27th inst. in the Social Hall at 7.30 p. m. JOHN Q. CANNON, State Clerk.

The President's Party.—Presidents Taylor and Cannon and party, left Logan to-day by rail for Collinston, and will hold meeting this evening at Washakie.

To-morrow, meetings will be held at Portage and Malad, on Wednesday at St. John, Samara and Cherry Creek, and on Thursday the party will drive to Collinston and come by rail to Salt Lake, arriving here by the evening train.

Judge Zane Arrived.—Judge C. S. Zane, Utah's future Chief Justice, accompanied by his family, arrived in Salt Lake Saturday evening, and is stopping for the present at the Walker House. He will take the oath of office as Chief Justice of Utah Territory, on Monday, the 1st of September, the day his resignation takes effect at Springfield, Illinois. Judge Zane is a gentleman of stately and venerable appearance, a little above medium height, and is perhaps approaching 60 years of age. We bid him and his family welcome to the scene of his future labors.

Rock Railroad Meeting.—A poorly attended meeting was held at the City Hall, Saturday evening, to discuss the subject of the Rock Railroad, proposed for Second South Street. Mr. T. V. Williams was in the Chair, and Mr. N. V. Jones acted as Secretary. Speeches were made against the proposed railroad by Bishop R. T. Burton, Fred Auerbach, N. V. Jones, Hyrum Groesbeck and others, and an explanatory address in favor of it, by Hon. John W. Young, the main mover in the enterprise. A committee of seven was then appointed, with Bishop Burton as chairman, to protest before the City Council against granting the road a franchise.

Fatal Accident.—A valued correspondent writes from St. George, as follows:

"Brother John Traugott Graf, of Santa Clara, Washington County, while handling a wild mule, on the evening of August 16th, was kicked two or three times, a fatal blow striking the abdomen. After suffering extreme pain, he lingered until early on Monday morning, the 18th, when death came to his relief. He was born at Rebstein, Canton St. Gallen, Switzerland, January 24th, 1857; emigrated to Utah with his parents in 1860; located at Santa Clara in 1861, and when grown, won the esteem of the people by his upright course. He leaves a wife and children to mourn his loss."

The Motherless and Fatherless.—The orphan's excursion, gotten up by the Old Folks' Committee, assisted by a number of ladies, had a splendid time on Saturday. All of the 600 tickets were distributed to those who applied, provided they were entitled to them, and the different conditions of the little ones would fill a big page, if they were written out in detail. Scores had no fathers, the like number no mothers, while others had no parents at all. Many had fathers who were sick, others who were out of work—who did not provide much for home and so on. No questions were asked as to where they came from, or what their parents believed, and a large number were little fellows who were variously occupied in blacking boots, selling newspapers, running errands, etc. There must have been over 700 persons in all, on the train, and we noticed negroes, Hawaiians, and other nationalities among the number. Everything seemed to have been thought of that would contribute to their pleasure, and on their arrival at Black Rock, they were welcomed to the free use of the bath houses, steamer and other facilities. Valuable books and other presents were competed for by racing, and lemonade, cakes, candies and nuts were given out without stint. Dancing, bathing and feasting filled up the hours which seemed very short to many of the little ones. The Hawaiians gave some splendid examples of their abilities as swimmers, divers, etc. Some of the ladies also showed that they were fully at home in the briny deep. No accident occurred or unpleasant incident of any kind. The boys and girls all behaved themselves splendidly. The committee are under many obligations to the gentlemen who aided them, including Supt. W. W. Riter, Messrs. Douris & Anderson, Mr. Dahl, for use of steamer Whirlwind, the musicians and those who donated to help the cause. The excursion party arrived here at 4.30, happy and delighted. This is the first free "out" offered to the orphans of Salt Lake City, and we hope it will not be the last one.

BURGLAKS AT WORK IN PAYSON.

A News special from Payson is as follows:

The co-operative store was broken into by burglars at 11 p. m. Saturday, August 23. The young man who sleeps at the store at nights was at the circus, and did not get to the store till 11.15, when he found the back door broken open, from which volumes of sulphurous smoke were issuing. He immediately called for help, and on examination it was found that the safe had been blown open by means of gunpowder, and all the money therein, amounting to about $140, taken away. The burglars had drilled a hole into the lock, through which they had poured their powder. Their tools, consisting of drills and chisels, were left on the counter. The whole door was blown to pieces and the massive hinges were broken off. The outside plate was blown four or five yards, leaving its mark on the woodwork as it went along, and finally knocking off one of the props of the counter and leaving a heavy mark on the floor where it finally fell. No certain clue has yet been obtained by which to trace the robbers.

THE MARTYRS AT HOME.

THE JOURNEY OF THE REMAINS NORTH AND SOUTH.

The Ogden Herald of Saturday contains an account of the arrival of the body of Elder Gibbs in that city and its transfer to the Utah and Northern train which was to convey it to the home of the deceased. The D. & R. G. train bearing the casket and the Elders accompanying it reached the Depot about five minutes to seven, and was met by a procession which had formed at the Tabernacle and marched down to the station to receive the remains. Fully 1,600 people took part in the procession, which wended its way along the designated course, the streets everywhere being filled with people. At the station a large multitude were in waiting, also at the Utah and Northern depot, where a draped express car was in readiness to receive the honored dead. The pall bearers transferred the casket from one train to the other, while solemn strains were played by the band, and suitable hymns were rendered by the choir. It was literally covered with flowers placed upon it by ladies as it was borne past them. The whole scene was very impressive, every mark of respect and sympathy being shown the dead and the mourners.

The train left Ogden at 8 p. m., and on reaching Brigham City was received by the band bearing torches and playing befitting music. Sister Madsen presented a handsome large cross, made of flowers, tied with white ribbons, having the words "with loving remembrance" printed thereon.

The Journal of Logan speaks of the proceedings in that city as follows: "The call of the Presidency of the Stake, though issued on such short notice, had the effect to draw out an immense concourse. The Plain City Brass Band, who arrived in Logan on an excursion yesterday afternoon united with the Logan Brass Band at the head of the procession. There was also a large turnout of Seventies, and other quorums of the Priesthood, and of the Y. M. M. I. A. and of citizens on foot and in carriages. As the procession moved along the street towards the depot the sidewalk on either side of it was thronged with a slow-moving, ever increasing multitude. The column reached the depot about half an hour before the train arrived and though there were probably three thousand people assembled at the depot, an impressive quiet prevailed. The torches in the helmets of the band, and of the firemen, shed a lurid light over the scene. The train was a double header and unusually long. One of the baggage cars was draped in mourning. This car was opened and from it was taken, by a number of young men from Paradise, the casket containing mortal remains of him whom the people had assembled to honor. On the casket lay some beautiful floral tributes and decorations. It was placed in a spring wagon which took its place in the procession immediately in the rear of the Brass Band which formed the head of the column." The column marched through some of the principal streets and then the vehicle containing the teams at the head of a long line of corpse from Paradise and Hyrum started for the home of the murdered Elder.

L. A. Bailey, Esq., of Nephi, writes that the body of Elder Berry came into that place on a special train Friday evening, at 5.30, where a large concourse of people were awaiting its arrival. The brass band discoursed an appropriate air as the cars came slowly into the depot. The engine outside and the cars inside were decorated with crape. After handshaking with the returned missionaries and the Elders who had charge of the casket that contained the remains, which was on the rear end on the outside of the car, the train slowly moved on after a halt of five minutes.

A Lawyer's Opinion of Interest to all.

J. A. Tawney, Esq., a leading attorney of Winona, Minn., writes: "After using it for more than three years, I take great pleasure in stating that I regard Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, as the best remedy in the world for Coughs and Colds. It has never failed to cure the most severe colds I have had, and invariably relieves the pain in the chest."

Trial Bottles for this sure cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases may be had Free at Z. C. M. I. Drug Store. Large size, $1.00.

KAMAS, Summit Co., Utah.

I feel well pleased with Dr. Plant's skillful treatment. In a little over two hours he removed a tape worm over thirty feet in length. Previous to that time my miserable sufferings were so intense that I cannot describe them. I feel it my duty to publish this for the benefit of the public.

WILLIAM M. LEMON.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: one so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal illness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed nights after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me."

HORACE FAIRBROTHER.

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effective remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried."

A. J. CRANE.

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL."

JOSEPH WALDEN.

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles."

E. BRADDOCK.

Palatine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

WORDS FAIL. "Words fail to express my gratitude," says Mr. ELLY CARTER, of Nashville, Tenn., "for the benefits derived from Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Having been afflicted all my life with Scrofula, my system seemed saturated with it. It came out in Pimples, Ulcers, and Matted Sores, all over my body." Mr. Carter states that he was entirely cured by the use of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and since discontinuing its use, eight months ago, he has had no return of the scrofulous symptoms.

All baneful infections of the blood are promptly removed by this unequalled alternative.
