CROPS ARE SUFFERING.

Those on Dry Farms Damaged Most by Continued Dry Weather.

Section Director Hyatt of the local weather bureau has issued the following for the current week: Dry and windy weather with warm days and cool nights prevailed during the week. In consequence of the continued lack of moisture, ranges and dry farm crops are suffering severely and water is becoming scarce. The snow-drifts in the mountains have now almost entirely disappeared and irrigation canals and ditches are getting low, but it is thought that the present supply of water will be generally sufficient to mature crops. Insects are reported as doing considerable damage to vegetatio southern part of the state The harvesting of fall wheat, barle and rye continues. The yield of the first-named crop will be short, while the others will be about the average. Early spring wheat and oats are in go condition and heading rapidly. Cutting has already begun with yields fully up to the average being reported. 'second crop of alfalfa is being gather but is considerably below the first cre both in quality and quantity, owing the long-continued dry weather. Corn and the carly planted is in silk and tassel, with roast ig ears already on the market. ocets are in good condition where wat cred, but suffering severely for lack of neisture on dry farms. Apricots an arly apples are being marketed. ast-named fruit is small and the yiel light. Potatoes and tomatoes do not appear to be thriving as well as usual.

CANADA THE MODERN MECCA

Rush of Home Seekers Into the Northwest Territories.

SETTLERS LIVE IN TENTS,

They Arrive So Fast That the Deminton Government Has to Provide Temporary Quarters for Them.

Special Correspondence. Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, July 25 .ust outside this small but thriving village of wooden buildings, which scarcey a year ago was named on the map of the northwest territories, there is another fair sized village constructed of canvas. The reason for the existence of this tented settlement is that there ere not enough houses in Saskatoon or nough lumber here with which to build them to accommodate the fast growing population of this section. The Owellers in the tents are immigrants, mainly from the United States, seeking homes in this territory. The tents were provided by the militia department of he Dominion government, which is now offering free homes to intending

The situation in Saskatoon is being uplicated in scores and even hundred places throughout Manitoba, Alber a. Assinibola, Othabaska and Sa-catchewan. Indeed there is such an in flux of prospective settlers into the great northwest territories as to remin! one of the "boomer" days of Oklahoma with the exception that the northwest ern "invaders" are better behaved and more orderly and patient than the couthwestern "sooners." One never hears up here of crime traceable to the rush for land. This is perhaps measur-ably due to the fact that there are plen-ty of desirable farm sits for all comers, so that there is no necessity for the wild rush, with the attendant disor ders, that marked the opening of the homestead lands in Oklahoma and Indlan Territory.

A common sight of the Canadian northwest is the tented field, the rest-ing place of the immigrants who are trackling across the country to their new omes. Travelers on the Canadian Pa fic railway may see them dotted her and there on both sides of the mal-line between Winnipeg and the easter feethills of the Rocky mountains, distance of 1,000 miles. Thousands of "prairie schooners" are in evidence and the entire situation recalls the ploneer days of Kansas, Iowa and Ne strengthens and invigorates permanentbraska. Oddly enough, many of the those states are now seeking nev homes on the Canadian prairies. The have seen their old homes transform a wilderness into a garden, the holdings increase in value from a few cents to $75 or $100 an acre, and they have sold out at good figures and "hit the trait" for virgin land which the tilling of it. In some adventurous souls the pioneer spirit never wants on to the "great lone land" beyond the Caribou mountains, now silent and al-most tenantiess. They are the vanguard of civilization and are an portant factor in the settlement of ev ery new country.

The great bulk of the incomers ar from the United States, and they fair ly swarm in the towns of Winnipeg Regina, Moose Jaw, Edmonton and Cal gary, stopping briefly at these point on their way further north and wes Most of the American farmers coming into Canada enter at Portal, on the boundary, where the Soo line joins the branch of the Canadian Pacific rai way which connects with the ma line at Moose Jaw. Carloads of se ers' effects and stock enter Canadi the hundreds at that point, while large number of invaders are trekking found in any country.

During the month of May no less than 3,000,000 acres of land in Manttoba and Saskatchewan were purchased by one American syndicate, headed by Colonel A. D. Davidson of Davids Minn. This surchase topludes Duluth. Minn, This purchase includes the entire land grant from the govern-ment to the Canadian Northern rail-way, and the price of sale is understood to be $12,000,000. The company for which this purchase has been made is to be formed under the name of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan Valley Land company, and its operations in bringing settlers from the United States into Canada are expected to be a very big scale. At the rate at which American land ompanies, speculators, lumbermen, nited States have been buying up land Canada during the last year or two is quite possible that the time is not ar distant when the citizens of the neighboring republic will become actua proprietors of the great bulk of Cana-dian territory. In the best wheat belts of the continent, which are undoubted. situated in the Canadian northwes more than nine-tenths of the land has not yet been taken up, and the bulk of apparently going into American

WOULDN'T ROB HIS BROTHER.

A certain minister who was some what famous for his decided view on the temperance question, was walking soberly along a dusty road the other day, when a farmer with an empty wagon, save that it contained a gallon jug, overtook him and asked him if he wouldn't rice. The preacher, assenting, climbed into the wagon, and as bey jogged along toward the village the two fell into conversation,

The preacher had his suspicion conerning the jug, so he led the conversation around to the temperance ques-ion, expounding his views with condifficultie vehimence and with appropriate emphasis. He was somewhat surprised to find that the farmer agreed with him at every point. Still he had uspicions of the jug, and finally said:
"My friend, would you thind telling he what you have in the jug there?"

"Rum," answered the farmer,
"I feared so," continued the preacher "Now, my dear friend, you have quite agreed with me in all I have said on this great subject of temperance, and can you not pour out this accurse quor as a proof of your sincerity?

'But, I cannot understand'-"Wall," said the farmer, "you see I'd o it, only half the liquor in that jug longs to my brother "Then empty your half, my friend."
