EDITORIAL NOTES.

Ogden wants the Territorial Insane Asylum. The Junction puts in a claim for it. All right. Let it be built where it is most needed.

Vanderbilt's income is said to be four cents a second. Many other capitalists, such as editors, boast a similar amount, only it doesn't last out for as many seconds.

High water is one of the imminent probabilities. Precautions against overflows are now in order. As soon as the sun shines forth in its strength, the melting snow will have a "boom" stronger than any reported in the political world. Look out for it!

Houses shut up during a season may have much of their dampness absorbed if large bowls of chloride of lime, put within larger bowls, are placed in the rooms, all outside dampness being excluded. The lime absorbs the dampness and the water overflows into the larger bowls.

Immediately after the regular State Fair at Philadelphia next fall, there is to be a world's fair of sheep, wool and woolen fabrics, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society. It is to commence on the 21st of September. Prizes amounting to $40,000 will be awarded. Further particulars may be obtained by application to E. McKorkey, Secretary of the Society, at Harrisburg, Pa.

The custom of commemorative family gatherings is becoming very popular in this city. This is in the family of the Commodore. The family that propose to celebrate the anniversary of the founder of their line in the United States—Tristram Coffin, who died two hundred years ago next October. The Coffins will meet at Nantucket, Massachusetts. Such a large gathering of Coffins as is expected will no doubt be a very gay affair.

Of the 577 British Peers, 478 have seats in the House of Lords, 434 by personal right and 44 by election, 16 by the Peers of Scotland and 28 by the Peers of Ireland; while the 143 peers of which the holders are not legislators at present are distributed among the Peersess and the Peers of Scotland and Ireland. America counts a great many more peers than England, Scotland and Ireland combined, but many of them are without seats, even to their pantaloons.

The victims of dime novel literature are very numerous. Every day or two we read of boys leaving their homes in eastern cities to start west to hunt buffaloes, fight Indians, rob the mails or do some other desperate work described as heroic in the trashy novelettes of the period. Every parent should watch the reading matter that the children get hold of by buying, borrowing or begging. The pernicious stuff that is published by the dime novelists is to be burned, and the little folks supplied with interesting books of healthy moral tone.

Joseph Cook, of Boston, has opened his wide mouth and put his big foot into it again. This time it is an assault on Wm. Ellery Channing, whose name is held in affectionate esteem by many thousands of the American people. His centennial was celebrated on the 7th inst., Channing having first opened his eyes to the light of this world at Newport, April 7, 1780. Cook's attack on his character has disgusted hosts of fair-minded people outside of the ranks of Unitarianism, of which Channing was the founder. Cook goes no better very fast.

The large snow-fall of the past winter was not confined to the Rocky Mountain region. In Cashmere on the coast of Asia it was greater than in this part of the world. In certain places it moved continuously and uninterruptedly for ten successive days. The snow upon the level plains being from thirty to forty feet deep and in some of the mountain passes it was piled up to a height of 150 and 250 feet. The earth was torn from the hillsides and precipitated into the valleys in the spring by the weight of the descending avalanches. The destruction of wild animals was very great.

THE PUBLIC SHOULD BE PROTECTED.

Among the instruments of torture used by the religious bigots and pious frauds of medieval times, there was one that might be revived for use in the present day without causing much popular disapprobation. It was a framework in which those who adulterated food were placed for punishment. Their heads and hands were firmly fixed, and then the whole thing was let down by a strong rope into the river. The criminal was ducked until he promised to commit the offence no more, and then ducked once again, just to emphasize his promise.

The adulteration of food is increasing so fast that Congressional legislation on the subject is called for. The adulteration of sugar and syrup is now receiving much consideration, and the extent to which it is carried on is really surprising. Large firms are realizing immense profits by the sale of what is called "new process" sugar. The manufacturers do not conceal the nature of their wares. The "new process" sugar is a mixture of cane sugar with glucose, which is sometimes called "grape sugar," but is really not true sugar at all. Many of the retail dealers, however, and of the candy makers, pass off the spurious for the true. Syrup is said to be much more largely and frequently adulterated with glucose than is sugar.

There is a dispute as to the effects of glucose on the human body, some claiming that it is very injurious, others that it is harmless. But its sale for the real article is an imposition, a swindle which ought to be played under the ban and be severely punished. A law should be passed requiring every person, whether a wholesale or retail dealer, to specify on every package or receptacle in which the mixed article or the clear glucose is put up, the nature of the contents, and a heavy penalty should be imposed for infraction of the law.

A similar requirement should be made to apply to all adulterated articles which are claimed to be suited to the public demand. It need be claimed by grocers in England that the public prefer coffee adulterated with chicory, and penny packages of adulterated coffee sold largely adulterated with the other and much cheaper product. But a law was enacted to protect the buyer, and when the mixed article was sold it was illegal to vend it without specifying that it was a mixture. If people choose to buy an adulterated article, they should have the privilege, but the public ought not to be exposed to the tricks in trade of the unscrupulous swindlers who palm off their cheap and often deleterious compounds for genuine.

A NEW FLYING MACHINE.

Nor long since we gave an account of Commander Schenck's scheme of reaching the North Pole by means of balloons, after a certain point was reached by the usual methods. As a result of this, a flying machine has been constructed, which has been named the "Flying Machine." It is a trip to the goal of the northern navigators' aspirations. Several machines of this character have been constructed, which have been named the "Flying Machine." It is a trip to the goal of the northern navigators' aspirations. Several machines of this character have been constructed, which have been named the "Flying Machine." It is a trip to the goal of the northern navigators' aspirations.

The lifting power is in a horizontally placed cylinder of gossamer cloth—fine linen, coated with India rubber. It is charged with hydrogen gas, made by the usual process of iron turnings and sulphuric acid. Broad bands extend over the cylinder, which is about twenty-five feet long and thirteen in diameter, narrowing towards each end. The bands are fastened to a light, strong rod, from which the car is suspended. The machine is shaped something like the skeleton of a catfish, with a small cabin at the front, a sleigh on the top of which is the operator's seat. In front of the seat is a cog-wheel, steel wheel about 10 inches in diameter, with double handles, geared to a four-bladed fan moving horizontally beneath the operator. It can be turned by the operator's hands. The blades of the fan are of strong wood, and each have a superficial area of about 50 square inches. The blades are set like those of a propeller, but that last a small screw which turns them. This constitutes part of the lifting and drawing down power. The gas raises 50 pounds of every hundred to be lifted; the fan takes care of the other pound. The operator, wishing to descend, reverses the wheel. From the front of the frame reach out two rods, which are connected by a flexible working fan, revolving 2,800 times a minute. It is exactly like the propeller of a steamship, except that it can be turned by the operator's hands. It is right to left and vice versa, and thus it becomes a rudder as well. It will send the machine forward or take it backward, and also change its direction. The two fans can be worked together or separately, the machinery being simple and quite within the control of the operator.

The builder of this air-ship claims that he can make headway against wind blowing at the rate of ten miles an hour, and has already made good speed against a six miles head wind. Whether the maker of the flying machine will start on a pleasure excursion to the Pole in his new propeller, or not, we are not inclined to state. We are rather loath to doubt the attempt, unless the Professor should go crazy over his invention.

AMERICAN.

LEADVILLE, 13.—The New Leadville special says, Sunday morning Lawrence Fitzgerald, a miner, was fatally shot by George Tatterall while quarrelling over a claim owned by Fitzgerald, which Tatterall attempted to jump. Sunday night a second murder occurred in the Coliseum Theatre. J. W. Overton, the proprietor, fatally shot Tim Nugent, a bar tender, while engaged in a quarrel.

Victory for the Telegraph Company.

OMAHA, 13.—United States Judge McCarty, to-day, filed in court his decision on the case of the Atlantic and Pacific and Western Union Telegraph Company against the Union Pacific and American Union Company in favor of the former. He decides that all the lines recently seized by the instance of Mr. Gould must be restored, that the only recourse of the railroad company to establish its claim is a court, and sets aside the $17,000 shares of stock received by it from the A. & P. Company when the contract was first made to be returned by these shares were of great value and very valuable now it is considered a great victory for the telegraph company. A long litigation is promised.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

WASHINGTON, 13.—A. S. Solomon and A. Simon Wolf, representing the organization of "Union of American Hebrews," have presented a memorial to the State of New York against the State's alleged present cruel discrimination to the injury of the Russian Jews, and asking that the Minister of the Interior be directed to cause St. Petersburg inquiries into the matter and take the necessary steps to aid in preserving their independence. It was advised that if the facts seemed to be as alleged the United States Government enter a respectful protest in the interest of religious freedom and suffering humanity.

Colonel Hatch telegraphs from San Francisco in relation to his recent engagement with Victoria's land of Indians, that Captain Carroll and seven men were seriously wounded, and the Indians were severely punished. It is probable that the effect of bringing them to terms. Collector Clark telegraphs from Atlanta, Ga., that a body of about 100 men, armed with rifles and shotguns, were burned out of the house of Deputy Collector Stewart, of Fannin County, and wounded his son. Commissioner Baum replied that the crime of assault to murder and arson were not offenses against the Internal Revenue laws, consequently the brigades must be dealt with by the State laws and not by the United States authorities. Collector Clark is authorized to render every assistance possible to the State officers in arresting the offenders.

The House committee on Indian affairs met to-day. The items in the appropriation bill have been greatly cut down. The committee will recommend a large increase in many items. The President transmitted to the House the report of Secretary Evans in relation to the Chinese emigration.

It is stated that Ben Hill will resign from the committee on elections in case the democratic majority of the Senate refuses to sanction him in the Kellogg case. Mr. Bartlett, Secretary of the Finance Club, says: He has been misrepresented and never admitted that he furnished his list of names for the circulation of the anti-Grant circulars. It is said if Vanderbilt should sell all his New York Central stock, he could become owner of one hundred million government bonds or about one-fourteenth of all in existence, as it is he owns more than one man ever held against this government, and amounts to as much as the entire annual expenses of the government some years before the war. The checks for interest which he will receive for interest every 90 days will amount to over half a million dollars, or over $5,000 a day.

The Vermont friends of Edmunds suggested to a representative of the State that he accept the leadership of the Vermont delegation to Chicago in order to present and press the name of Edmunds for the consideration of the delegates. The gentleman said to Edmunds, "If you desire it I will go." "My only wish," replied the Senator, "is that if you do go to make it known that my name is not to be presented to the convention."

NEW YORK, 13.—Simpson, Crawford & Simpson's dry goods establishment, 305 to 308, Sixth Avenue, was completely gutted last evening. The clerk was lighting the gas and set fire to the drapery in the show window. The loss is estimated at $200,000, insurance $180,000.

Democratic Follies.

It is admitted by the democratic leaders that nothing remains but to wait for the results of the democratic delegation to Cincinnati. Thurlow Weed and Hugh Hastings say the fight will give the republicans the State beyond doubt. The anti-slavery movement is proceeding on a heavy boom. Letters show that the convention at Albany next week will be an immense success.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, 13.—A conference of ambassadors will shortly assemble at Constantinople to consider the arrangement made between Turkey and Montenegro, which not being in strict accordance with the Berlin treaty, needs confirmation by the powers.

The St. Petersburg Official Gazette says: Eight more high officials have been placed at the disposal of Gen. Melnikoff.

In the Spanish Congress, Senor Argueros attacked the Cuban budget. Senor Cardorine, in the name of the parliamentary committee, defended the estimates. He reminded the house that during the past century Spain was engaged in three international wars and four great civil wars, the effect of which were felt in every part of the empire. Mexico advised to April 3d state that the congress met on the 1st. President Diaz, in his speech, referring to the United States, said the United States government had finally decided upon rescinding its order of June, 1877, thus paying homage to justice and international law, and removing cause of danger to peace between the two republics and the obstacle which prevented the economic development of both countries.

Dr. Thomas Joseph Brown, Roman Catholic Bishop of Newport and Member of the British Medical Association, is dead, aged 78. A formal consultation of liberal leaders will be held in London on Thursday.

IN MEMORIAM.

At an informal meeting of civil engineers, held yesterday to erect a call for the purpose, at the office of the United States Surveyor General, Salt Lake City, on the afternoon of Saturday, the 12th inst., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Whereas, after a long and lingering sickness, borne with fortitude and resignation, it pleased Almighty God to relieve from earthly existence, on Sunday, the 11th inst., our personal and esteemed friend, Frank Eastman, a highly cultivated, valued and long-remembered member of the profession; and Whereas, it is our duty to acknowledge in a public manner the esteem that we entertain for the departed, and our desire to relieve his early death; therefore, be it Resolved,

1st. That through the death of Frank Eastman, we lose a highly esteemed friend and neighbor, and a professional, an honorable, able and useful member.

2d. That we tender to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in their great and irreparable loss.

3d. That as a mark of our high respect and esteem for the deceased, the civil engineers of the Territory attend the funeral as a body.

4th. That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, be presented to the family of our deceased brother.

JOSEPH GOALSINSKY, Chairman. CHAS. P. BUCKLEY, Secretary. Salt Lake City, Utah. April 12th, 1880.

CLEAN THE STREETS.

Why can't the streets be kept clean? That's what our tax-burdened citizens would like to know. When the human system needs cleaning, take Mott's Liver Pills. Let the street commissioners try them.
