PRESS TRAIN AT PARK CITY.

Newspaper Men Are Investigating the Big Silver Mines.

SLEEP AT SALT AIR TONIGHT

Will Take a Raymond Ride Tomorrow and Also Listen to an Organ Recital.

Special Correspondence.

On the Union Pacific Press Special, Green River, Wyo., July 25.—The first day out of the newspaper men's special proved to be a joyous occasion in every sense of the word. With every comfort placed at the disposal of the press, the train was a most enjoyable one.

As the special steamed along the track, or stopped where the pilgrims romped over the rocks, three rocks at the chumunks or talked learnedly regarding the hills, elevations, curvatures and other railroad lore, those on board were compelled to feel that President McKinley could not have traveled in greater state—even the section hands lined the track and respectfully raised their tattered head pieces at stated intervals, until some of the humble scribbles became so awed up that they regarded their gallus buckles as every ten-mile post.

Before the tourists left Cheyenne "half-fellow-well-met" became chronic. The work of the press corps on the switch engine, who in the wee sma' hours indulged in some fancy back action, double shuffles in immediate proximity to the lumbering scribbles, to the accompaniment of a soul-racking bell, was forgotten. The impromptu bronco busting on the part of an earnest and ambitious scribe of Cheyenne's aristocracy effectively dispelled the last lingering scowl upon the features of the man who plaintively murmured "You have called me too soon; I must slumber again." The presence of the afore-said bronco buster's sister, graciously posing as an understudy to her energetic brother, also had the effect of adding to the charms of the railroading. So it was when Dining Car Conductor Lewis announced breakfast that the protocol was signed. In passing, next to General Passenger Agent Lomas, Conductor Lewis can own as much of the states of Wyoming and Utah as it is in the power of the pilgrims to deed him. It is not in the least a slight-mindedness or being puffed up with much vanity—and other things—that the following menu, printed on artistic and appropriately lettered card, is submitted—it is simply to demonstrate that Conductor Lewis is one of the popular men of the hour:

Punctuated thus at stated intervals of time was passed, while the fame of intellect never burned low in the observation car ahead. Possibly it might be suggested the maulers of public thought discussed economic questions or off-handly decided the fate of nations. No such thing.

"Hello, Jim."

"How's she going; say did you ever meet John on the road at Indianapolis?"

Do you remember that day when—

And then would follow a story, not necessarily for publication, but as an illustration of the newspaperman as human after all.

THE WAY THEY TRAVEL.

During the two days the travelers have been out on the road it has been effectively demonstrated that Supt. W. L. Park has solved the problem of comfort in traveling.

The on special is a very unique train to the casual observer. Even a self-respecting cow had to stand in the center of the track in the vicinity of the engine, which was the case in the petrified astonishment upon the approaching avalanche of care-free picknickers. From a front elevation there is an engine visible, from the back the big Baldwin is snugly tucked away behind the first two coaches. To all intents and purposes those riding in the observation car are taking a glorious trolley ride through the country. The passenger who rides in the ordinary coach of a regular train knows not the delight of looking straight ahead without having to rub the dust and cinders out of his eyes. Not a cinder smites you in the face, and the dust falls to rise.

Smoking of course is practically none over the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific as the entire track is galloped with the famous Sherman Hill blast which makes travel over the "Overland" a veritable pleasure.

The observation car, which has been reconstructed for this occasion, consists of an ordinary flat car furnished with tiers of seats rising one above the other from the front, a gangway on the right hand side, the whole being surrounded by a canvas roof.

The trip at the head of the train is a delightful experience, especially for the pilgrims from basking Kansas and scorching Ohio. For two days the train has been running under a cloud sky, which at stated intervals deposited moisture on the parched prairie, and those gentlemen on the front seats who through force of circumstances have been compelled to call in the professional services of the dentist to artificially replace missing molars are in dire peril of having the pure ozone which rushes past the flying train.

The spice of danger which is incident to the running of the observation car ahead of the train at a high speed also adds zest to the experience.

What is that black object a mile ahead of the train? Surely it is a big mogul heading this way. Why does it not break there? Another fifty minutes and there will be sixty for many obituary notices for the press through-out the country. Toot! goes the whistle and "O.K." answers the big black engine ahead.

line ahead. Round the curve swings our train faster than ever, and passes the heavy flat train standing waiting the signal, with a side-slip and a jolt. Just the switch between a jolly crowd of good fellows and death. One mistake and the whole train, engine and passengers, would be hurled into the eyes of the engineer behind. But! Bang! goes the train through wayside stations, and passengers hang loose, which have taken the sidings with deference due to the members of "the brain trust," as the Cheyenne Leader lists the invaders.

SOME OF THE PARTY.

It is a distinguished party that is now heading for Park City and Salt Lake. There is a personality of beauty and continual joy. Herbert Adonis George, of George's Weekly. When he stands on the front platform arrayed in that ice cream suit and pipe, he shows the very epitome of their holes and the sand crickets cease their lay. Then, too, there is Col. George R. Caldwell, of Denver, the humorist of the Rocky Mountain News, who has been heralded by his press agent ahead of the train under the alliterative title of "The Lurid Liar of Lander." By acclamation the title has been changed, henceforth on the train he is known as "Bosco, the Snake Eater, Host Moon" for short. J. W. McCullough, the heavy-weight of the Omaha Bee, is also one of the party with a brand new series of reminiscences. But when it comes to an irresistible combination of Populist whippersnapper and after-dinner speaker, it is Wolfe, editor of the Lincoln Daily News, who is there with the goods. If the tourist wishes information on the geological strata of the country, Prof. F. W. Lane, of the University of Iowa, is always on hand, while the relative breeds of cattle passed on route generally is a matter of arbitration on the part of James M. Pierce, president and business manager of the Union Pacific, and the editor of the Railway Age, and W. W. Camp, of the Railway Review. H. M. Millan, the veteran New York newspaper man, now representing the Lincoln Daily News, is another distinguished member of the party.

The major portion of the male occupants of berths on the press special are under the thirty years of age mark, with just a sprinkling of gray and bald heads to leaven the bunch. There is one lone single lady on board in the person of Miss Edith Langdon of the Kansas City World. Her second thought, she is not overburdened with loneliness. Of married ladies there are three, whose rumor hath it have come west in order to see the sights and hear the superior construction had reported to him that he would have the line into Hailley by August 10, but Mr. Murray thought it would be nearer the 15th.

Mr. Murray further said the company was making an extension from Cuprum to Landore and Decorah, in the Seven Devils, and might make some other extension in that section. The company desired to give all possible facilities to the people there and would build wherever it was practicable and where there was business sufficient to justify the investment.

BOARD REORGANIZED.

President Snow at Head of Latter-day Saints' University Trustees.

Last evening at 6 o'clock the trustees of the Latter-day Saints' University met at the office of the president, Angus M. Cannon. The resignations of Justus H. Helms, J. Grant and Wm. A. Roster had been accepted a few days ago, the former because he is going to Japan, the latter because of business which calls him out of the city a good deal. The resignations of President Angus M. Cannon and Vice President John Nicholson were accepted; and the trustees proceeded to elect a new board of trustees. The board now stands: Lorenzo Snow, president; Angus M. Cannon, vice president; John Nicholson, Geo. H. Taylor, John C. Cutler, treasurer; Jos. S. Wells, secretary; Anthony H. Lund.

WANT REORGANIZATION.

English Stockholders in Central Pacific Filled to Action.

William Morhead, an English barrister who represents the British stockholders in the Central Pacific railroad, has arrived at San Francisco from Toronto to renew his previous efforts to secure a reorganization of the Southern Pacific company, which has been out of the Central Pacific since a case now pending in the United States circuit court be decided against the English stockholders. Mr. Morhead has been in the suit in the London court of equity.

The San Francisco Chronicle says that J. M. Hanford, paymaster of the Southern Pacific company, and one of the best men in its employ, is to be retired.

Smith is Promoted.

A. H. Smith has been appointed general superintendent of the Lake Erie & Western railroad, succeeding P. S. Blodgett. Mr. Smith is already general superintendent of the Lake Shore road.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

A. J. Gregory of the Rio Grande Western reports heavy shipments of sheep from southern and eastern parts of Utah into Colorado.

C. P. Pruitt and L. W. Hahn of the Illinois Central freight department have returned from trips through the state, the former having been in eastern Utah and the latter about Sanpete county.

Rio Grande Western earnings for the third week in July were $92,700 as compared with $94,700 for the corresponding week in last year. During the first three weeks in July the total earnings have been $282,000, a gain of $43,600 over last year's corresponding period.

Superintendent Dunn of the motive power department of the Oregon Short Line is today testing a new firebox on the consumption of coal dust. The trial is being made on a freight train for the purpose of proving or disproving a claim that fifty per cent of the fuel is saved by superior combustion in what is burned.

As told in yesterday's "News," the Short Line is rushing more men to the front on the grade near Clover Valley Junction. It is possible that the Meadow Valley Wash grade which has been reached a struggle for possession may occur. The San Pedro people are already on the ground and propose to stay.

Tomorrow morning the Oregon Short Line will run out of this city en masse to all points in the north of Utah and in Idaho. Rates of less than half fare are in vogue for the occasion and the Short Line is offering a special advantage of them. A $50-rate to Yellowstone Park, which includes all expenses, is to be in operation on August 10th.

AN INFANT IS DROWNED.

Swept Into a Flame Before Its Mother's Eyes.

The sixteen-months-old baby of Mrs. William Johnson was drowned last evening before her eyes. The sight nearly drove her mad and had it not been for some men who were there to hold her she would have followed after her baby and gone with it into eternity. The fatality occurred on a street just above Sixth where one of the city's large water ditches goes over a bridge. The Johnson home there is a large frame and the little one had toddled out to the ditch bank and presently its mother heard a splash and running to the side of the ditch she saw her baby being carried to the mouth of the flame. She jumped into the water with a mad scream but she was too late. She saw her little one fade into the flame and in the paroxysm of her grief would have dashed herself in after it but some men who had been called to the scene by her screams dashed her out of the ditch and saved her from destroying herself. Albert Jackson, a neighbor, went to the mouth of the flame and at great risk of his own life, tried to rescue the child but it was impossible. Mrs. W. H. Lyman threw her bedding into the stream and succeeded in turning most of it into another channel. After about twenty minutes' work the baby was brought out and some say that it gasped and then expired. Drs. Flowers and Niles were called but all their efforts failed to resuscitate the infant.

The Johnsons just moved into their home a few days ago and were engaged in setting when the baby slipped out of the house and out of their home forever.

Among those who helped heroically to rescue the child were Mrs. W. H. Lyman, L. Johnson, A. Q. Jackson, W. H. Bywater and Robert Stuedden.

IDAHO TELEPHONE WORK.

General Manager Murray of Salt Lake Talks of It.

D. S. Murray, general manager of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company, accompanied by H. L. Thomas, agent of the company, is in the city, both being delegates to the mining congress, says the Boise Statesman. Mr. Murray stated yesterday that the Gold Belt line was completed to within four miles of Doniphan on Monday. The superintendent of construction had reported to him that he would have the line into Hailley by August 10, but Mr. Murray thought it would be nearer the 15th.

Mr. Murray further said the company was making an extension from Cuprum to Landore and Decorah, in the Seven Devils, and might make some other extension in that section. The company desired to give all possible facilities to the people there and would build wherever it was practicable and where there was business sufficient to justify the investment.

Wise Words from Wise Minds.

The family paper is pre-eminently the evening paper. Only a small percentage of any family has leisure to do more than to scan the morning paper, which comes into the household when the head of the family is rushing to prepare for work, the children are bustling off to school, and the housewife has her hands full of the usual morning duties. At night the day's events are over, calm broods over the household and the evening paper is taken up when all its contents can be heard, weighed and discussed. The evening paper is decidedly the paper for advertisers.—Common Sense.
