Feeling of Resentment Among Members of His Suite at Outburst Against Him.

MINISTERIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Reichstag Leaders Defer Discussion Of it for Time Being-Opinions Of Some on Situation.

Berlin, Nov. 19 .- The emperor's mood. have always been an object of study from hour to hour by the members of his household, and they have been carefully, almost painfully, watched during recent days. The results of these observations, with a partial report of the emperor's conversations, have been transmitted to widening clreles outside the court, so that the upper bureaucratic and diplomatic officials are tolerably well informed as to the monarch's personal view on the events which have been so greatly agitating the country.

The prevailing feeling among the members of the emperor's suite is one of resentment at the popular outburst against him, and there is no disposition to sympathize with it or excuse it. The emperor is described as feeling that he did not, in the language of the note he authorized to be published in the Reich-senzeiger go beyond his eath which he authorized to be published in the Reich-sanzeiger, go beyond his oath which he took faithfully to observe the constitu-tion. He simply reaffirmed that pledge to Chancellor von Buelow while under criticism, which the Reichsanzeiger de-fines as exaggerated and incorrect. The emperor regards his hereditary and constitutional relation to Prussia and to the federated states as unchanged. A committee of party leaders of the to the federated states as unchanged. A committee of party leaders of the reichstag decided today to defer for a time in favor of important measures the discussion of ministerial responsi-bility and the recent utterances of the emperor. When the house takes up the subject Prince von Buelow will give the reichstag his personal deductions on his interview of Tuesday with the emperor.

imperor. In his address before the reichstag today on the new measure to increase the imperial revenues, the chancellor said that he believed the existing unfriendly feeling toward Germany could be overcome. Continuing on the mat-ter of foreign relations, he said that the parvenu was not loved anywhere, and that Germany, in spite of her ancient history, occupied the position of a parvenu among the nations of Europe. With reference to a question of the revenues, he declared that a borrowing policy was unworthy German progress and industry, but he added that, al-though able, the Germans were not willing to pay more taxes. He said that one of the most important questions of the moment was the abolition of the light policy followed up to the present bin policy followed up to the present by the government of the empire. A policy that had led to lower quotations on government securities than the prices of similar securities of other governments.

OPINIONS OF LEADERS.

A number of members of the reich-stag today expressed their opinions on the emperor's pledge. Herr, Mablas Erzberger, leader of the more liberal section of the Clerical party, said: "The declaration of the emperor does not give guarantees for the future." Heinrich Ernest Müeller, leader of the Moderate Badicals, said:

Taft enter-tains a vigorous determination that the forthcoming revision of the tariff shall be thorough, made in good faith and in accordance with the piedge of the party, is daily evidenced in the earnest-ness with which he talks on this sub-ject with his political calers. His interest goes to the extent of seeking detailed information regarding the personnel and prospective organiza-tion of the Sixty-first Congress. It is necessary for him as the nead of the party and responsible to the American people for the carrying out of its pro-mises to begin his work at once by in-suring, if possible, such an organization of the next Congress as shall make it possible for the legislative and execu-tive branches to work in complete har-mony. This is the problem which the presi-dent-elect admits is just now upper-most in his mind, and on which he is seeking light. In accordance with his announced determination yesterday to consult many party leaders upon many subjects, Judge Taft today talked with Representative Burton for an hour and a half. The announced details of this conference were that the speakership question, tariff revision, the monetary commission and the next cabinet had been discussed. Judge Taft said he had asked Mr.

Judge Taft said he had asked Mr. Burton to resume the conference Sat-urday. Mr. Burton is an announced candidate for the United States senate from Ohio. The president-elect was today visited by a delegation representing the Civil Service Reform association, and asked to consider the question of including fourth class postmasters in the classi-fied civil service.

A brief opportunity, which will be extended later, was afforded Gov.-elect W. E. Glasscock of West Virginia and Senator Scott of that state, to discuss political situations.

MODEL LICENSE LEAGUE TO HOLD CONVENTION

(Special to the "News.") (special to the "News.) Louisville, Ky., Nov .20.—The Na-tional Model License league is sending to leading men throughout the coun-try invitations to attend a convention to be held in this city Jan. 21, 22, 23, for the purpose of discussing the liquor problem. The invitation list contains the names of men who have achieved national prominence as fighters for renational prominence as fighters for re-

"The officers fof the league say that radical improvement in the methods of dispensing alcoholic beverages must be made if the liquor business is to re-main a legalized institution in a con-siderable number of states in the Union and they express a desire to hear the views of those who have plans calcu-lated to bring about the desired imlated to bring about the desired im-

The league is a national organiza-tion composed of about 800 distillers, brewers, winc-makers, wholesalers, re-tailers and collateral 'tradesmen and is conducting a national campaign in behalf of a model license law framed with the avowed object of elevating the trade by taking the liquor question out of polities and eliminating from the business the lawless element.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

Has a larger paid circulation than any other weekly publication in America.

The edition for this week is

One Million COPIES

This is, by far, the largest circulation ever attained by any weekly magazine in America. This edition requires the printing of more than 100 copies every minute of every hour of the twenty-four, six days a week.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1728. It has been issued every week for the past one hundred and eighty years, save only when the British army held Philadelphia and patriotic printers went temporarily into exile.

By paid-up, cash circulation we mean that a million people every week pay cash for THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. Our subscribers are not bribed to read it by the inducements of premiums, prizes, cut-rates, free copies; nor do we hold to the policy of once-a-subscriberalways-a-subscriber and continue to send the magazine after the subscription has expired.

Baron Gamp, leader of the Free Con-servatives, said: "We are satisfied with the crisis. We had not expected and we did not desire any other. We were glad Prince von Euclow should continue as chancellor. "What has been gained in the last few days is that the emperor in the fu-ture will not discuss policies so freely with persons who, while declaring friendship for Germany, really only do us harm, because they interpret, the emperor's views and intentions in their own way".

Is this solution not a parliamentary victory over the mon-arch's personal policy? The whole par-liament, excepting the Socialists, do-sired Prince von Buelow to remain as chancellor. If he had left this office it would have been a defeet for us it would have been a defeat for us. Parliament has had its way." Count von Kanitz, leader of the Conservatives, said: "We do not wish the retirement of Chancellor von Buelow. Any other solu-tion of the crisis would have been unsatisfactory to us. The whole parlia-ment should be pleased that Chancellor Following Chancellor von Buelow, Following Chancellor von Buelow, Herr Sydow, secretary of the imperial treasury, in a four hours' speech in the reichstag explained and defended the government's ten financial bills. He argued that Germany was well able to note 2020 000 000 more second argued that Germany was well able to raise $125,000,000 new revenue if re-quired. The national, state and mu-nicipal debts of Germany, he said, ag-gregate $6.250,000,000, which is not an excessive burden, considering the national wealth. Secy. Sydow appealed to the patriot-ism of the public to adopt the bills in their entirety. The development of the their entirety. The development of the German empire and the German peo-ple, he declared, stands at the crossing of the roads. The people must either assume the burden of taxation if they wish to occupy the position to which their civilization entitles them, or the empire must take the downward path.

JOSIE MARINIS MAKES CHARGES AGAINST RUSSI

Reno, Nev., Nov. 19.—William Russi, in company with Josie Marinis, daughter of a candy man who has a store at 522 Broadway street, San Francisco, was arrested here today by Detective Cleary of San Francisco on complaint of the girl's father. Two men who visited the room shortly af-ter Russi's arrest were also held. Marinis accuses Russi of putting a drug in an oyster cocktall at the store, getting the girl to drink it, and then, while she was stupid, forcing her to elope with him. The girl says Russi, who represented himself as a wealthly Nevada man, promised to take her to Truckee and marry her; that on arriving there he put her off with the excuse that he was unable to secure a license, and that a few days ago they came to Reno. Here she says Russi began to bring men and women of inmoral character to visit her. She was kept under convisit her. She was kept under con-stant surveillance by him or his friends, Russi is in jail with a va-grancy charge against him. He will make no statement other than to say he believes the girl's father will kill him if given a chance. Miss Marinis will leave tonight for San Francisco with her father.
