DESPERATE SUICIDE

"Jacob Gibson, son of Jacob and Jane E. Brush, was born in Chester County, Pennsylvania, January 1st, 1814. I heard the first Gospel ser-mon in Philadelphia, preached by Elder Sidney Rigdon and B. Win-chester in the fall of 1839. I was baptled on September 8th, 1840, by Elder Orson Hyde. Shortly after-ward I was ordained a Deacon, by B. Winchester, afterwards a Priest, then an Elder, by Elder J. M. Grant. Gathered to Nauvoo with a large company in the spring of 1844. with rheumatism, from which he was occasionally confined to his room. He was well liked among his fellow boarders, on account of his kindly demeanor and good natured affable address.

Yesterday, he stated that he felt somewhat better, saying, before be retired at night, that he felt no pain, but was somewhat stiff. This morning, the chamber maid went to his room twice, for the purpose of putting it in order. She knocked but neither time received any answer. She communicated this fact to the porter, who also tried to gain ad mittance, with a similar result. Procuring a step-ladder he climbed up and looke1 over the
