A PRETTY GIRL'S ADVENTURE.

AN OLD GENTLEMAN, A POLICEMAN, AND A CONDUCTOR VERY ANGRY.

A very pretty girl, attired in a long seal dolman and carrying an alligator skin bag with initials in silver on the outside, stood at Vesey street and Broadway yesterday afternoon waiting for the Sixth avenue car. A youth of about 21 or 22 years was also awaiting the car, and he occasionally glanced at the pretty girl, who turned indignantly away from him. When the car stopped the youth stood at the back step to assist the maiden to enter, but she wheeled about when she noticed his gallant intention and went in the front door. The youth smiled languidly, entered the car, and sat down opposite the pretty girl, at the front window, whereupon she angrily turned and looked out at the horses.

The conductor observed this pantomime, and regarded the youth with a scowl. When he began to collect fares at the front end the young lady got out her purse, while the youth was feeling in his pocket, and paid her transportation fee. The youth handed the conductor a dime, without noticing that the pretty girl had paid, and said: "Two." The conductor handed him back 5 cents, with an ugly glance, and the girl looked harder at the horses than ever, whereat the youth smiled with a great deal of amusement. An old gentleman got into the car and sat down near the girl, and the conductor kept his eye upon the youth. Other passengers entered and a policeman stood on the platform with the conductor.

Presently the old gentleman noticed that the youth kept his eyes upon the pretty girl, and smiled whenever she dared to turn her glance away from the window, and that her eyes fairly blazed with anger as she turned from him. The conductor spoke to the policeman and policeman, conductor, old gentleman and all the rest of the passengers began to glare at the youth. The old gentleman was first to interfere.

"What do you mean, sir," he said, "by annoying this young lady in that outrageous manner?"

The youth stopped smiling and said softly: "If it isn't too much trouble, I'd be very much obliged if you'd mind your own business."

"You young puppy," roared the old gentleman. "I'll see to you! I'll see to you! I'll see if young ladies are to be publicly insulted by such ruffians as you are! I'll make an example of you!"

"Oh, don't; please don't do anything!" said the pretty girl, imploringly. "Please, don't make a scene!"

"My dear young lady," said the old gentleman, gallantly, you shall not be embarrassed, I assure you, but I have daughters myself, and it is a duty I owe to the public to make an example of this scamp. Conductor!"

The conductor advanced very willingly into the car, followed by the policeman, and all the passengers gazed at the youth who only smiled more broadly than ever.

"Put this little puppy off the car," said the old gentleman to the conductor.

The conductor rang the bell, and said to the youth: "Come, now get of the kyar!"

"What for?" asked the youth.

"Fer mashin'," replied the conductor. "Come, now! start, or I'll throw yer off!"

"If you touch me," said the youth very quietly, "I'll break your thick head."

The policeman had been anxiously awaiting his opportunity, and now saw his chance.

"Well, you won't break my head," he remarked, taking out his club, and elbowing the conductor, the old gentleman and the excited passengers aside, while a crowd collected in the street and looked in the car window.

"Stop! stop!" screamed the pretty girl, throwing herself between the youth and the officer. "Ah please, please don't hurt him. He's my brother!"

"What!" shouted the policeman in a tone of disgust.

"What!" echoed the conductor, the old gentleman, the driver and the rest of the passengers.

"Yes, she's my sister," asserted the youth, seating himself beside her. "you're all a pack of infernal idiots," he added.

"I don't believe it," the old gentleman said after a breathless pause. "What were you treating each other in that manner for if you are brother and sister?"

"She's a little mad because I wouldn't take her to the circus this afternoon, that's all," replied the youth.

"And I'm—I'm awfully ashamed of it, too," said the pretty girl, beginning to cry. "And I think you're an awfully stupid old thing to make such a fuss," she added, passionately, to the old gentleman.

"Perhaps," suggested the youth to the conductor, who, with the policeman, still gazed speechlessly upon them: "perhaps, as you've stopped about a dozen cars behind you, if you should ring that bell and start that procession, the funeral may get up to Eleventh street in the course of the afternoon."

The conductor, utterly crushed, rang the bell. The policeman looked foolish. The old gentleman seemed hopelessly cast down, and the other passengers have not ceased yet to congratulate themselves that they did not get an opportunity to take part in the controversy.—New York Times.

THE FORESTS AND RAINFALLS.

In the report of the State survey for 1883, just published, is a table of the mean annual rainfall at various points in the State, covering long periods of time. This table shows that the rainfall has not decreased during the last half century, but, if anything, is a little greater now than it was 50 years ago. The destruction of the forests has not had the effect of lessening the amount of precipitation in any degree. What effect it has had, however, may easily be seen. As the report says: The water which falls on a given hydrographic basin either runs off into its streams, sinks into the ground, or passes into the air by evaporation. That which is absorbed by the ground, and not afterward evaporated, sooner or later finds its way into the water channels and is utilized; but that part which escapes by evaporation is far greater than is ordinarily supposed.

Forests act on the rainfall in two ways. They prevent the rapid evaporation of the water which has fallen and so preserve a great proportion of that which in their absence would pass off into the air; and they prevent the water from running off suddenly in a torrent, as it does in bare countries, retarding and regulating its flow.

A series of accurate observations in the Cochituate basin, says the Rochester Union, shows that the amount of rainfall lost by evaporation and percolation has increased 55 per cent. in the last 22 years. Partial statistics from the basins of other streams are equally significant. All go to show the extreme importance of preserving forests as the natural conservators and regulators of rainfall.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

A BREAD RECIPE.

For the benefit of the numerous readers of your paper, I send you an account of the manner of bread-making as practiced by my cook for nearly ten years. The bread so made I have eaten ever since 1876, and find it the sweetest and most palatable bread I have ever tasted. It is made as follows. Take a tin pail or earthen pitcher holding half a gallon; put in one teaspoonful of sugar heaped up, one-quarter teaspoonful of fine salt, one quarter teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda, or sal soda will answer if no other is at hand; on these pour one pint of boiling water; when this has cooled so as not to scald the flour, add flour enough to make a rather stiff batter. This must be beaten up well for at least five minutes. Place the pitcher or pail in a larger pail containing hot water, as hot as you can bear your hand in, but not scalding, and put it some where on the stove or other convenient place to keep hot; in six or eight hours it will have risen to the top of the pail. Make a sponge with hot water, add the yeast made above, keep sponge hot, and in one hour it will be ready to knead and mould into loaves, which if kept hot will rise quickly, and can be baked as ordinary bread. Keep everything hot if you desire success, but not so hot as to scald. My apparatus is on the blue kettle principle, and kept hot by jacketing the outside pail with felt, and applying a small "Evening Star," night lamp under it. A tablespoonful of oil lasts all night. Set the yeast at 10 p. m., and it will be ready at 5 or 6 next morning. Brown bread made as above is excellent, and white bread is as white as snow.

MAKING HER DO HER DUTY.—Minks—Yes, my boy, I am going to Salt Lake City to live.

Finks—But you don't expect to become a Mormon, do you?

Minks—Certainly not; but don't tell Mrs. Minks I said so. You see, I have a special object in settling where a man can have as many wives as he wants, though of course, I will never have but one.

Finks—A special object?

Minks—Yes; I never can get Mrs. Minks to keep my buttons sewed on, but I think there will be no trouble about that after we settle in Salt Lake City.

Finks—Why not?

Minks—When the buttons are off I will just gently hint to Mrs. Minks that she needs more help, and they will go on in a jiffy.—Philadelphia Call.

AN ANECDOTE OF TENNYSON.—It is related concerning Mr. or rather Lord, Tennyson that he had just gone to live near Blackdown and one night he lost his way while rambling about. A woman standing at the door of a cottage did her best to set him right, and in doing so described one corner of his own house, saying, "You will see it as you turn the corner by a clump of yew trees. Some one's come to live there from Lunnon. They say he's a queer 'un. He's an actor, or does writin' or summat o' that sort; but he's a queer 'un, 'e is. He goes about more like a beggar than anythin' else." "Oh," said Tennyson, "have you seen him?" "No, I can't say as I've se n 'un; but that's what I hear. He goes about just for all like a beggar.—Exchange.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS and DISORDERED LIVER.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Exaltation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work, and are a perfect

THOSE WOMEN FOLK.

How Hard-Headed Men Estimate Some Things which they don't Understand.

Anybody who has led a domestic life knows how common such things as the backache, and pains in the chest, are among the women who do the work. Often—and perhaps generally—the distresses are borne without much complaint. The women get about, and the machinery of the house goes on. Beyond this, those coarse grained animals whom New England women call "the men folks," seldom look. So long as their wives or daughters are not actually in bed, under the doctor's care, the average thick-skinned husband and father gives the subject no attention. At the same time the poor household drudges—who deserve a better fate—creep around, broom or utensils in hand, up stairs down stairs and out-of-doors, doing that woman's work which "is never done." Losses of loved wives and fair girls—losses whose suddenness and unexpectedness astonish those wooden-pated husbands and fathers—fall, seemingly out of a clear sky, and form the logical sequel to the story of neglect.

Now, you men who stand at the heads of ten thousand such homes, allow us to drop a word in your respective ears. If these women of yours are worth having, they are worth saving. That back-ache—that pain in the chest! What are they but indications of some organic trouble of the kidneys, the heart, or the lungs? End it at once by the application of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER. It will soothe that nervous distress, drive away that pain, banish that dull, weary back-ache, give new strength to the body and fresh hope to the heart. No other plasters will do this. The Benson's Plaster, however, is not made to sell—but to heal. It is a remedy which never yet broke its promise—and never will. Your druggist has it. But before paying your 25 cents and pulling the plaster in your pocket, look for the word CAPCINE cut in the middle.

Seabury & Johnson, pharmaceutical Chemists, New York.

PRICKLY ASH

BITTERS

The majority of the ills of the human body arise from a derangement of the Liver, affecting both the stomach and bowels. In order to effect a cure, it is necessary to remove the cause. Irregular and sluggish action of the Bowels, Headache, Sickness at the Stomach, Pain in the Back and Loins, etc., indicate that the Liver is at fault, and that nature requires assistance to enable this organ to throw off impurities.

Prickly Ash Bitters are specially compounded for this purpose. They are mild in their action and effective as a cure; are pleasant to the taste and taken easily by both children and adults. Taken according to directions, they are a safe and pleasant cure for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Habitual Constipation, Diseased Kidneys, etc., etc. As a Blood Purifier they are superior to any other medicine, cleansing the system thoroughly, and imparting new life and energy to the invalid. It is a medicine and not an intoxicating beverage.
