MISS BERKLEY'S FUNERAL. Estimable Lady Laid to Her Final Rest Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Clara Berkley was held yesterday afternoon from the late home. Those who assembled to attest their love for the deceased were in such large numbers the house was inadequate to accommodate them. Miss Berkley's life was one of devotion to what she deemed the right and of self sacrifice for the good of others. She spent most of her life as an invalid, but her spirit remained strong and whole-some, preserving undiminished that brightness of intellect and richness of humor that was so characteristic in her Eulogies were spoken by Pastors Brown of the First Baptist church, and Barnett of the East Side Baptist aurch

If the present plans of President E.

Salt Lake the Center.

In confirmation of the story published In the "News" some time ago to the ef-fect that Salt Lake was destined to become the central point for the operation of the Harriman lines the New York Commercial Advertiser says: "It is believed that Salt Lake is to be the central point for all shop work of the Harriman lines, and the understanding is that a plant is to be established there at an eventual cost of $1, 500,600. Nearly all the ground necessary for the site has been acquired. The shops of the Union Pacific at Green River have been closed, and it is thought that those in Wyoming will be dealt with in the same way. The men employed at the first named point have been given work in other shops.

The party left for the East this morning. President Burt was in the party as far as Granger when his car was cut out and he pro ceeded on to Kemmerer and Portland.

SAN DIEGO HARBOR.

Los Angeles Herald Calls it a Salt Lake Nightmare.

The Lost Angeles Herald has the following to say regarding the rumor that the Oregon Short Line is heading for San Diego and not for Los Angeles:

"Now we have a novel solution of the mystery relative to the race of the Oregon Short Line toward southern California, A Salt Lake newspaper kindly explains the matter, although the nature of the disclosure is suggestive of San Diego's inspiration. We are told that 'the Oregon Short Line has not the slightest idea of going to San Pedro; on the contrary, the survey runs down to San Diego along the fieth parallel.

'I' may readily be supposed, as stated in the news by way of Salt Lake, that 'the city of San Diego is ready and willing to extend every induce-ment to the Oregon Short Line or any other road to enter that city.' But it is feazed that San Diego will be obliged to pin its hope of another road the old and reliable project for a Southern Pacific connection at Yuma Why a road seeking a coast outlet should needlessly traverse a hundred miles of desert is somthing that the news from Salt Lake fails to disclose.

The Oregon Short Line is part of the same general system to which the Southern Pacific railway belongs. It would not be surprising. therefore, the ultimate purpose should turn out to be a short cut to Mojave and a junction there with the Southern Pa-cific. That would be in accordance, we believe, with the plan of the late Collis P. Huntington. But the idea of trailing a railway line from Salt Laks through trackless desert away down to San Diego is either a San Diego midsummer dream or a Salt Lake nightmare."

The crowds which have been present The crowds which have been present every evening at the Salt Palace dur-ing the past week testify to the popu-larity of the resort under the manage-ment of M. E. Mulvey. This week the usual bicycle races, living pictures and burlesque and vaudeville in the theater will be the attractions. ······

Clifford and Romanie, the "two Harrys," at Calder's Park, are giving a sensational and daring act. A ladder. 100 feet long and eighteen inches wide, has been built at an angle of 45 grees from the flag pole on the vaude-ville theater into the water. Mounted on a bicycle, either one of the team ride down this narrow platform, the ride ending in a plunge into the lake. A large crowd witnessed the feat last evening, but the act was somewhat marred by the ladder breaking and precipitating Romaine into the water 35 feet below. The wheel was badly injured, but the rider fortunately escaped with only a severe shaking. Prof. Hamilton also gave a very successful balloon ascension, both attractions be-ing witnessed by one of the largest
