WIRED FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, 25.—The decision of Chief Justice Senor, of Wyoming, was received with great satisfaction at the Land Office. This decision, as stated in a dispatch from Cheyenne, effects very materially the stock-raising interests in several of the Western States and Territories. When Commissioner McFarland was shown the dispatch to day, he said he was very much pleased to have the position of the office judicially sustained. They had insisted that the practice of enclosing public lands was unlawful and injurious, but their power ended when they called the attention of the Department of Justice to the facts in each case. This they had been doing for a year or more. He was glad to see that the action taken by the Department of Justice upon these representations had resulted in a decision for the government. "The interests involved," said Judge McFarland, "are enormous, and Chief Justice Senor is to be commended for his courage and uprightness. Probably the larger part of the public domain, suitable for grazing, is illegally fenced in. Certainly there are millions upon millions of acres so enclosed. The object in fencing is not so much to keep the owner's cattle in as to keep other people's cattle out. Thus a company will stretch a fence on either side of a stream for miles, thereby keeping a monopoly of the water. If other stock raisers try to break through and get a supply, there is trouble at once. Moreover, if a legitimate settler comes into these enclosed lands he does so at his peril. The stock people are strong and rich, and among their employees are desperate men, who have no regard for life or law. This decision will be of immense service to poor and law abiding settlers. It gives all an equal right to herd cattle on the public domain, and does away with usurpation. Cattle men will undoubtedly appeal and fight the case to the last, but the precedent now obtained will be of great advantage to the government.

The court martial which tried Captain John A. Cress of the ordnance department at San Antonio for neglect of duty in exceeding the amount appropriated for the erection of military barracks at that post, recommended his acquittal.

The National Republican prints an abstract of Sawyer's brief in the case of Supervising Architect Hill. The latter's brief is a succinct history of the investigation, and a statement of the points involved, viewed from the Hill standpoint, about his agreements, the exposition of the granite contract, and the explanation of the contract system in vogue in the Architect's office. He goes into the granite feature with much particularity, and lays his respects to Congressman Murch in a decidedly pointed manner. The witnesses Murch, Heinnetz and others are arraigned for selfish misrepresentation and preversion, and the Commission is asked to disregard the testimony of these gentlemen in making up their report. He treats of the contracts for heating apparatus exclusively, not touching on any other point. He quotes liberally from the printed testimony, and draws conclusions therefrom to establish the innocence of his client of complicity in any scheme to swindle the Government through collusion with the Supervising Architect.

Mr. Coleman, in his brief, after stating that the Secretary of the Treasury who set the investigation on foot, did nothing to aid or assist but on the contrary did all in his power to hinder, delay and embarrass it, he reviews the granite contracts for the Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Hartford buildings, and shows that of $800,000 paid out on the recommendation of Architect Hill, the latter appointed Newton to approve the work; that the expert so appointed approved the work; that on his (Hill's) report the bill was paid in full; that Newton then resigned and entered the employ of the firm at an increased compensation; that the work inspected was shown by the testimony Messrs. Woodman and King, of Chicago, not to have been according to specifications. We propose, says Coleman, to be very minute in examining the testimony on this part of the case, because some witnesses have committed willful acts of corruption and perjury; and while I am willing in the trial of a case to have almost everything from opposite counsel, and when the trial is over to forget and forgive, I never did, I never will sit down under the attempt to swear men out of court by the evidence of a perjured witness. The committee may look at the matter as they choose; they may do with it as they choose; this question as to whether or not this heating apparatus which was inspected by this young man complies with specifications is a question which, no matter how this committee may determine in regard to it, I propose to press the investigation elsewhere, so there will be no doubts in the minds of anyone whether one witness for the defence has committed perjury. In conclusion, Coleman asserts that he has proved conspiracy in spite of the opposition of the Treasury department. He thanks the members of the Commission personally for their courteous treatment.

The Republican says the brief is decidedly spicy in its tone, and reads like a political as well as a criminal indictment of the Architect's ring.

The chief clerk of the War Department has transmitted to the Indian Bureau the following communication from Gen. Crook:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF ARIZONA, August, 7, 1883.

Adjutant General of the United States Army:

Dear Sir:—Referring to a communication from your office of July 19th, transmitting copies of correspondence from Governor Challacock and the Minister from Mexico, and the Secretary to me in the Sierra Madres, I have the honor to state that I am in full sympathy with the Governor of Terrahas in the ultimate end sought; that is, the welfare and security of property in both countries. Though the Chiricahua prisoners are guilty of many and repeated acts of hostility and outrage, but in Mexico and the United States they are now prisoners, and surrendered with the understanding that their past misdeeds would not be punished, provided they behaved themselves in the future. To attempt to punish those who are on the San Carlos reservation as prisoners, would be an act of perfidy and bad faith; and would unquestionably not only prevent the return to the agency of Chiricahuas left in the Sierra Madres, but would precipitate an Indian war, which would be more serious in its results upon the interests of the two countries, than any which has preceded it, inasmuch as both countries are rapidly developing and new industries constantly being inaugurated, all of which offer new facilities for plunder and destruction. It would be almost as impossible to exterminate the Chiricahuas in their mountain homes, as the wolves and coyotes, with whom they share the possession of the Sierra Madres; and so long as any of them survive, so long would the carnival of death and depredation continue. I believe firmly that exact acquiescence by our government in the terms upon which these Indians understood them, and are to be allowed to live upon the San Carlos reservation, appears to be the only possible means of protecting the lives of the people of Sonora and Chihuahua, as well as our own country; and I am as firmly convinced that if the present pioneers are treated with good faith, not only will the renegades now in the mountains return, but also that neither country will hereafter have any reason to complain of depredations and outrages from them.

(Signed) GEO. CROOK.

Brigadier General Commanding.

A copy of this communication has also been furnished the Department of State.

The first appointment of the Treasury Department under the civil service rules was made to day. The vacancy was in the National Bank redemption agency of the Treasurer's office. The Civil Service Commission certified the names of five ladies to the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, who elected that of Miss Mary F. Hoyt, of Connecticut, the first on the list.

The Internal Revenue Bureau today received from the collector for the Fourth District of Texas a schedule of a hundred claims for rebate on tobacco, etc., amounting to about $80,000. The schedules are all in with the exception of one district of Virginia, the Second Tennessee, Second Minnesota, Seventh Indiana, and the District of Colorado.

Up to the close of business to-day, called bonds had been redeemed at the Treasury as follows: Under the 115th call, $16,050,300; 116th, 13,209,-300; 117th, $25,050,700; 118th, $15,-787,000; 119th, $14,611,100; 120th, $14,787,450; 121st, $6,918,100.

Depravity and Disaster.

ST. LOUIS, 25.—Macon, Missouri, special: Geo. Stewart shot and killed Walter Tracy yesterday. The murder grew out of the refusal on Tracy's part to live with Stewart's sister, whom Stewart compelled Tracy to marry a few weeks ago, Stewart's sister having alleged seduction. Stewart escaped.

John B. Sweeney, who is suspected of being implicated in the Vinita train robbery, was arrested at Missouri City by the sheriff of Clay County. Sweeney was visiting some relatives when captured.

Special from Gallatin to Post-Dispatch: The Frank James trial was resumed at 8 o'clock this morning. The first witness called was Dick Liddell. Objected that he was a felon. Argument followed, then recess.

On reassembling shortly after 2 o'clock the court was called to order, and the Judge announced his decision. After reviewing the authorities, he stated that the evidence of the witnesses was admissable. Defence then objected that the paper purporting to be a pardon was only a copy. The state proposed to put witness on his voire dire. Answering the prosecutor's questions, witness said he was sent to the penitentiary from Vernon county in 1874; had a pardon, and tore it up the day after he got it.

The jury was brought in, and the examination proceeded.

Witness said, I am 31 years old; was raised in Jackson County. There was a band known as the "James Boys." I became a member four years ago last fall, and shortly afterwards left the State, going to Tennessee. In July, 1880, I went to Nashville with Jesse James; found Frank James and family and Jesse's family there; stayed nearly a year. Bill Ryan and Jim Cummings came there. Frank took a house in Nashville and lived there, at 314 Fatherland street. In March, 1881, Frank, Jesse and myself left there. Bill Ryan got captured. We got a scare and lit out. Went to Hite's place and stayed a few days, then went to a nephew of Hite's and afterwards came back there. Arrangements to commit the robbery were made by Jesse and Frank James and Wood Hite, to come out to Missouri and take an express train somewhere up here. This was in May, 1881. Jesse and I came to Kearney in May, 1881, and rode to Mrs. Samuel's farm. Frank arrived a week later. Found Clarence Hite there, and Wood came afterward. About a week later four of us started on horseback. We met at Ford's farm, near Richmond, and started out from there, but afterwards went back. Several days after we started out again; were to meet Wood Hite at Gallatin. We rode most of the night, stopping next day and night with a Dutch farmer. Proceeding, we came close to Gallatin. Jesse was then taken sick and we all went back, the party scattering. Frank and I went to Ford's. A week later we started again, traveling apart, and met the others near Winston. We left our horses and went to town after dark. Jesse and Frank, Wood and myself were to capture the engineer, and the others to take the baggage car. Wood and I got on the tender. When we got out a little ways the train stopped and we heard shooting. We stopped several times to scare the engineer. He stopped the train, and we made him move the train on. The engineer pulled the throttle and jumped off. We did not know how to stop the train, and Frank came through and stopped it. Wood and I got off the engine and went back, and we all left the train. Jesse and Frank said they thought they had killed a couple of men. Jesse said he was pretty sure he had killed one, and Frank said a man had peeped in and he shot at the man, who fell off the train. We got seven or eight hundred dollars in all. The money was in packages. We rode all night after the robbery, and stopped in a pasture about daylight and divided the money. We went from there to the Fords, where we stayed about a week.

The cross-examination of Liddell was postponed until Monday.

Governor Crittenden was called and testified that Dick Liddell told him Frank James said to Jesse he would not have gone if he had known there was to be any killing.

After the Governor's testimony court adjourned until Monday. This has been decidedly the most important day of the trial. The rulings of the court were all favorable to the prosecution.
