

AWFUL STORM BREAKS ON LAKE

Saltair Beach Enveloped in Raging Waves and Sudden Darkness.

THOUSANDS IN DIRE PERIL.

Water Piles in Mountains Flooding
Pavilion—Pleasure Boat and Passengers Have Thrilling Experience.

For an hour last night one of the worst storms in years raged over Great Salt Lake. Lashed and whipped under a driving gale, America's Dead Sea pulled its waves in a fury that brought terror to over 4,000 pleasure seekers at the Saltair beach resort, and imperiled the lives of a thousand bathers. During that hour of fearsome dread the launch Irene, with 65 passengers on board, buffeted its way against the waves and rolling seas, and only by the skill of its master succeeded in a safe landing. The fury and strength of the storm is told in the carrying away of 300 feet of beach platform. That no fatality resulted is due to the prompt, energetic and in several instances heroic work of the officials and attendants of the beach resort.

The storm, almost unprecedented broke with startling suddenness. It was the veritable thunderbolt from the clear sky. The day was one of sultry heat with cloudless sky until towards sunset the dark clouds with the faint flash of the lightning and the distant rumble of thunder, began to gather. It was all so distant and far away that the pleasure seekers paid little heed, and the bathers continued their sport in the water.

MID WAVES AND DARKNESS.
In an instant, however, the storm loomed, and in the same instant the wind swept across the lake, piling the water into waves that literally hurled the bathers before them. The terror was added to by the sudden darkness, and it was in the agony of fright that the bathers battled to reach the bath-houses.

The majority of those in the water succeeded in reaching the bathhouses, but several found themselves unable to fight the strength of the waves. Some of these were carried by the waves to the shore while others but for the heroic efforts of Ernest Larson, in charge of a launch, and the crew, used for the purpose of caring for the bathers, would have succumbed to the water death.

BATHERS SEEK PAVILION.
Those who reached the bathhouse, safely still found themselves in a precarious condition as the waves were reaching a height that swept them over the flooring of the houses and seemed to threaten the carrying away of the structure. Gathering what clothing they could many of those who had been in the water sought safety in the main pavilion, clad only in their bathing suits.

During the storm the visitors at Saltair huddled themselves in the main pavilion, and looked up at the storm with terror. When it was recalled that the launch Irene was out on the lake with 65 passengers the alarm became general for the safety of those on board, and which increased until the launch little boat was seen coming out of the darkness bearing the waves safely under the guidance of Captain Anderson. As the craft was moored and her passengers began to land on the pier cheer after cheer went out in the air.

STEAMER VISTA BEACHED.
About the only damage resulting from the storm was the beaching of the steamer Vista, and the carrying away of the platform leading from the pavilion to the bank houses used by the employees. When the latter was destroyed one of the employees was on the platform and was thrown into the water. He managed to reach the shore in safety and escaped without injury.

That no one suffered any severe injury or that any fatality resulted is

A STORM INCIDENT.

One of the idiosyncrasies of last evening's hurricane at Saltair, was the hurried exit through the gate to the train, of an unknown man attired in a woman's bathing suit. Before he could be stopped, the stranger had gained the train, and disappeared. On reaching the city, he called a cab and drove home. No one seemed able to identify him, and it is believed he lost his head as well as his clothing in the confusion, grabbed onto the first thing he could find as even suggestive of attire, and got away as best he could. There were over 4,000 people at the lake, of whom 2,200 went into the water.

FIREWORKS FIRE.

Fireworks caused the only fire so far today and the timely alarm only saved the building from much damage. The alarm was turned in by V. J. Young, the proprietor of a roominghouse at 234 West 12th Street, when he saw a fire covered the roof of a building about 1 o'clock this afternoon. The damage amounted to about $20 before the fire department could extinguish the flames.

A few minutes before the blaze was discovered a crowd of boys were playing in the street with roman candles. It is believed that one of the balls of fire ignited the roof.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar-proof vaults of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32-34 Main street, $2.00 per year.

GEORGE W. VALLERY SUCCEEDS RIDGEWAY

Aggressive Head of Colorado Midland
Steps in Executive Office of Denver & Rio Grande.

The appointment of George W. Vallery to be general manager of the Denver & Rio Grande system, as announced in today's dispatches from Denver, is peculiarly pleasant news to Mr. Vallery's many friends in Salt Lake and Ogden. He succeeds a good man in Mr. Ridgway, but it is a case of one good man stepping into the shoes of another. Mr. Vallery will be remembered by old timers, as the energetic agent in Salt Lake, 25 years ago, of the Burlington & Missouri River in Nebraska, whose hustling abilities at the time for business for the "Q" lines, marked him as sure of being slated for promotion when the time came.

When the general agent at Denver died, Mr. Vallery was appointed to that position over the heads of many men. The new man "made good," and his powers were increased with the growth of the road. He was subsequently asked to step higher up, into the operating field, when he was appointed general manager of the Colorado Midland by George W. Ristine, receiver.

Mr. Vallery made good here also, and later was prominently mentioned as general manager of the Colorado Southern and other roads. The appointment as general manager of the Denver & Rio Grande, while not expected, is considered as a most worthy one by President Schickels, and a competent and entirely satisfactory administration of his new office, is confidently expected. Mr. Vallery often visits this city, and his wife is the daughter of W. L. Packard, the veteran wool commission man, and old time citizen.

BUSINESS AND REALTY

Manager Morton of the Thompson-Starrett Construction company is expecting new plans for the Newhouse hotel to arrive early in the week, and that construction may begin at the earliest possible moment.

R. A. Given, manager of the Glencoe Stone company of Wyoming, is in the city superintending the shipment of stone. It is being used in the Administration building and also in the L. D. S. U. gymnasium. Mr. Given stated that somebody had started the report that the supply of stone was about exhausted and declared emphatically that the report is untrue. "There is an abundance of the stone," said he, "and we can get all that is wanted and as rapidly as needed."

DRUNKARD CAUSES DISASTROUS FIRE

Saturday's Blaze in Nampa Results in the Loss of $250,000.

PROMPT AID FROM BOISE.

Citizens Respond With Heroism and Save Much Property—Buildings Dynamited.

(Special to the "News.")

Nampa, July 5.—Nampa had a fire Saturday night, which will entail a loss of at least $250,000. It was started at about 2:30 p. m. by a drunken man going into a cigar store on the corner nearest the Short Line depot, buying a cigar and after lighting it, he picked up a spin wheel and, lighting it, threw it among the fire crackers which were in the store, setting off all the fireworks that were there. It was only a matter of two or three minutes before the whole interior of the place was a mass of flames. They spread very rapidly, and the whole corner, which was built of wood, was soon sending flames skyward, burning at a terrific rate.

The fire department was called out quickly, but on account of the extensive improvements which are being made in the town at present, the water supply was in a poor condition and an adequate supply of water could not be obtained.

A moderate wind was blowing from the north, which drove the flames directly toward the other buildings of the block, and in half an hour one-fourth of the whole block was a solid mass of flames. The flames continued gaining headway and finally several buildings were dynamited in the hope that the fire could be stopped; but it was too late. The flames leaped over the buildings and finally made it easier for the flames to eat them up.

WILLING HANDS AID.

In the meantime, practically all of the inhabitants of the town had gathered and hundreds of willing hands were assisting the merchants in removing their goods from the stores. The streets were soon piled up with thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise. The flames continued to gain headway even burning a great many of the goods which had been piled in the streets near the buildings and could not be got out of the way. The Boise fire department which had early been notified, responded at once. A train supplied by the Oregon Short Line made the run from Boise to Nampa in 21 minutes. On their arrival, however, the whole block of buildings was practically a solid mass of flames. Water for the fire engine was obtained from the O. L. L. water tank and other four streams were soon playing upon the Hickey building at one corner of the block. It being found necessary to work on this building to keep the flames from spreading to the Dewey hotel, Park building and the building in which the Citizens' State bank is located. These three buildings occupy the opposite corners of the block, and are immediately adjacent to the one burning.

FIRE IS CHECKED.

The Nampa fire department and the Boise fire department worked heroically, together with hundreds of volunteers, to check the fire at this point and succeeded in doing so. At one time it looked as though the buildings on the opposite sides of the street, including the magnificent Dewey Palace hotel, were doomed to the flames, but the wind shifted, and the fire was checked. The heat, however, was so intense that nearly all of the plate glass windows in the buildings on the opposite side of the streets from the fire, were broken.

A great many of the leading firms of Nampa lost practically all they had. A great deal of the loss will be covered by insurance, but just how much it is impossible to say at present, among the firms who were burned out were: The Roberts Dry Goods company; Lee-son Furniture company; Robb clothing store; V. T. Elver, clothing; Dunnick Brothers, the Grand hotel; A. Pickett, books and stationery; E. B. Racer, real estate; Walling & Walling, real estate dealers; several saloons, restaurants and smaller firms were entirely burned out. C. R. Hickey and the Bank of Nampa were practically burned out.

A SEVERE BLOW.

The blow is a very severe one, as the town has been making very extensive municipal improvements this spring and summer, and now just as they are near completion, the burning of one of the main business blocks will cast a gloom over the town. There is no doubt, however, that the enterprising citizens of the community will at once proceed to rebuild and establish their business on a better basis in the course of a very short time.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar-proof vaults of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32-34 Main street, $2.00 per year.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Theater"—"Polly of the Circus." Frederick Thompson's big New York production, holds forth at the theater tonight, with the turn for the better in the weather, Manager Pyper looks for good business.

Grand—in place of "In Mizzioura" at the Grand last night, a new bill held the boards at the Grand. Don Mack, with Mr. Willard Mack as the central figure. It was the same old story—a big audience, disappointment, announcement from the stage, the audience regrets, etc., dismissal, and the handling back of a goodly sum of money which no doubt would have come in suits and handkerchiefs. Mack was the present time. But Mr. Mack was in one of his perennial "moods," and just before the curtain went up, gave it as his ultimatum that without a drink he would not go upon the stage. Miss Blanche Douglas, who came all the way from Washington state to take part in the play, sat her foot down and said if Mr. Mack took his drink, she would not appear. The gallant Mack held out, and there was no performance. With this last exhibition, it ought to occur to Mr. Mack or his guardians, that there are such things as limits to public patience, and that there are pastures for the plow, and the pleasure of his society.

DISCOVERY OF LAKE CHAMPLAIN

International Celebration of the Great Historic Event Begins
At Crown Point, N. Y.

CANADA AND ENGLAND JOIN IN

States of New York and Vermont
Arranged the Series of Exercises
That Will Occupy a Week.

Port Henry, N. Y., July 5.—With the crumbling ruins of Fort Amherst and Frederick, forming a historic setting, the first of a series of events celebrating the three-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain by the famous French explorer, navigator and colonizer, Samuel de Champlain, occurred today at Crown Point, where Champlain, with his Canadian Indian allies of the Huron and Algonquin tribes first met the Iroquois in battle.

The celebration was arranged jointly between the states of New York and Vermont and will continue throughout the week with the president, the governor of New York and the governor of Vermont, with those of the states and the federal government in the exercises commemorative of the historic making struggles throughout the Champlain valley.

H. Wallace Knapp of Morrishead, the New York commissioner, which will be the chief representative of Canada and England, joining with those of the states and the federal government in the exercises commemorative of the historic making struggles throughout the Champlain valley.

The speakers were Gov. Hughes, ex-Mayor Seth Low of New York and Judge Albert C. Barnes of Chicago. The Indian drama "Hiawatha," which formed a picturesque part of the day's program, was produced by 150 Indians—descendants of the Algonquins and Iroquois who participated in Champlain's battle under the direction of L. O. Armstrong, of Montreal, on a small island constructed on barges. The island, which is several hundred feet in length, depicts among other scenic effects, a stockade, the point of the battle by the besieging bands of Indians, who reached the beach in canoes.

Late in the day there was a dress parade of the Tenth regiment, followed by the gubernatorial party left for Ticonderoga, which will be the scene of tomorrow's observances. Wednesday at Plattsburgh, Thursday Burlington, Vermont, will be the center of interest, and Friday the exercises will be held at Isle la Motte, at the northern end of the lake. At each of these places Indian pageants will be presented, the floating island having been so constructed that it can be towed from place to place on the lake.

FOURTH OF JULY CASUALTIES LESS

Independence Day Celebration
Attended With Fewer Accidents Than Usual.

TOTAL DEATHS IS NINETEEN.

Injured Number 427—Fire Loss $60,- 000—One of Worst Cases Occurred in Louisville.

Chicago, July 5.—Statistics compiled by the Tribune regarding the Fourth of July casualties throughout the country, indicate a much smaller list of fatalities and injuries than in any preceding year. The figures procured after the first day of celebration are: Dead, 19; by fireworks and resulting fires, 3; by cannon, 1; by fire arms, 3; by gunpowder, 2; by toy pistols, 10; injured, 427; by fireworks, 186; by cannon, 51; by firearms, 52; by gunpowder, 53; by torpedoes, 8; by toy pistols, 58; by bomb cases, 9; by run-ways, 14; fire loss $49,200.

In Chicago one man was killed and there were scores of injuries and small fires. Louisville, Ky., July 5.—The unavoidable distinction of having made the most notable sacrifice to patriotism by reason of Independence day celebration this year will probably fall to Louisville through the death at Seymour, Ind., early today, of Arthur Granville Langham, former president of the Prudential Life Assurance society. Mr. Langham never recovered from the effects of having had his right hand shattered by the explosion of a cannon cracker late last night. He was one of a party of fashionable Louisville folk who were spending the week-end at the home at Seymour of John J. Peter, Mr. Langham's brother-in-law. A cannon cracker thrown lighted upon the lawn failed to explode and Mr. Langham took it in his hand and re-lighted it. The cracker burst in his grasp, tearing the hand rightfully. He was operated on at once but never regained consciousness.

Mr. Langham was a member of the insurance firm of Barbee & Castleman of Louisville. He assumed national financial prominence in 1908 by gaining control of the Prudential, then a point of difference between Gov. Hughes and Insurance Commissioner Otto Kelsey of New York. Later he was elected president.

Mr. Langham was the uncle of the Baroness Speck von Sternburg, widow of the former German ambassador to the United States, and of the Countess de Fairmount, wife of the naval attaché of the French embassy at Washington. His widow, formerly Miss Stella Peter of New York, is at present with Baroness von Sternburg in Europe.

DUEL TO DEATH IN SILVER CITY

Two Austrians Fight With Knives
In Marx Boarding House.

REAL CAUSE IS NOT KNOWN.

Stories of the Affair Differ, Though
Dispute Over Card Game Is Said
To Have Started Row.

(Special to the "News.")

Silver City, July 5.—In a fight over a card game here today Adolph Linowitz and John Abramovitch, fought each other to death with knives. The bloody battle took place in the Marx boardinghouse and after the affray was over, the place had the appearance of an abattoir. On the table, chairs and floors where the men fought out their bitter duel to death were heavy stains. The clothing of the victims about their shoulders was almost literally hacked to pieces. So fierce was the combat that many of the articles in the place were broken.

The affair, as near as can be learned, took place shortly before noon today. The men had been together for several hours, it is said. From this point on the stories as to the real cause of the trouble vary. It is understood that the trouble arose over a card game. The men failed to come to an understanding as to the value of certain cards and plays and bitter words ensued. Before any of the people in the house were aware of the trouble both men were close to death.

Another story of the trouble is that Linowitz quarreled with Abramovitch over the latter's children. On account of the people being Austrians it is hard to ascertain the true state of affairs.

MARSHAL IN CHARGE.

As soon as Marshal Otto Witbeck learned of the affair, he hastened to the boarding house and took charge. By grasping the hand rightfully. He was operated on at once but never regained consciousness.
