TALK OF THE TOWN.

Attend your fast meetings next Thursday.

One drunk in the Police Court today. Fined $5.

The Board of Trade meeting will be held in the Council House this evening.

The Stake Priesthood Meeting convenes in the Assembly Hall on Saturday next.

The Grand Ball by the Knights of Pythias, takes place this evening at the Continental Hotel.

Miss Teenie Smoot and Mrs. Zina Y. Williams were among the arrivals from Provo last night.

A post office has been established at Aurora, Sevier County, with Newman Van Leuven, postmaster.

The Third Ward M. I. A. will meet at 7:30 on Wednesday evening, instead of 7 o'clock, as hitherto.

Somebody has lost a patent key, resembling the ordinary post office key, but somewhat larger. Call and get it.

The Bishopric of the Second Ward occupied the sacramental stand with the Presiding Bishopric yesterday afternoon.

The Tabernacle Choir and instrumental combination still continues to improve. Their music is much appreciated.

Until further notice Sunday evening meetings in the 17th Ward will commence at 6.30 o'clock, instead of at 6, as heretofore.

The trial of P. D. McClanahan, for assault on a sick man, was begun last week in Provo. We have not learned the result.

A small bale was lost on Saturday, between the railroad depot and the Union Pacific Express Office. A reward is offered for the delivery of the bale at said office.

The remains of the late James Clark, a prominent mining man, whose death at Park City was noticed the other evening, were interred yesterday at Mount Olivet.

The Enquirer informs us that the trial of the Spaniard, John Romero, for the killing of Wm. Manning, in Emery County, last May, resulted in a verdict of not guilty. It was proven that Romero acted in self defense.

Brother William Clegg, "the Springville poet," is in town, and will give one of his interesting literary entertainments in the 14th Ward Meeting-house this evening. He will recite several poems written by himself, and invites the public free. The entertainment begins at 7 o'clock.

On Friday night last, the store of E. Tanner & Co., at Milford, was burglarized. The thief crawled through a window, opened the combination drawer and took between $60 and $75 therefrom. A man named Nelson is being hunted by the constable, as the guilty party. So says the Sentinel.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

The State Road Saloons.—It has been stated that the saloons on the State Road, in this county, were running without license. The facts are these, as represented by the Salt Lake County authorities. When a certain petition was presented to them, to restrain the liquor traffic, some time ago, they gave it favorable consideration, but could not then take away licenses they had already issued. They therefore resolved to await the expiration of the licenses then out, before taking active measures towards suppressing the saloons of which so much complaint has been made. The first application for a renewal of license was made to the County Court, to-day, by Henry Buhring. What action was taken, we have not yet learned.

Sad Accident.— The Leader of Friday says that an accident occurred on the 18th, at Richmond, which is related as follows:

"Mr. Charles N. Norris, a native of New Zealand, while engaged with others at work, loading up the gravel train, feeling that it was unsafe to work where he was, remarked to the superintendent of the train to that effect; what the superintendent's reply was we did not learn, but it seems that Mr. Norris resumed his work at picking in the gravel bank, when suddenly the bank gave way, falling on Mr. Norris and burying him up all except his head, which received a severe cut in the back part; his foot was also badly hurt and his arm dislocated, but by the assistance of Dr. Ormsby the limb was replaced. He is not considered in a very dangerous condition, although it is thought that he will not be able to do any more very hard work.

Suggestive.—A good joke is going the rounds at the expense of a certain lady school teacher whose place of business is not over a mile from this office. In her younger days she had been employed to train the budding ideas of South Cottonwood, and a number of these ideas, thinking it the proper thing to do, resolved to present their former teacher with a little souvenir of affection and remembrance. So with beautifully colored silks and wools, they embroidered a motto on a piece of cardboard, adorning it with cupids, doves, bows and arrows, etc., and in due time made the presentation. Encased in an elegant frame, the work has a very pleasing appearance, but the pleasure is increased to boundless delight when the glorious appropriateness of the touching motto "The Last Rose of Summer" is recognized; and still the aforesaid schoolmarm wonders what makes her visitors glance so significantly at the motto and then wink

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The usual Sabbath services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were held in the Assembly Hall, yesterday afternoon. The choir sang as an opening hymn, "Awake ye Saints of God, awake." Prayer by Elder George B. Wallace. The choir sang the sacramental hymn, "He died, the great Redeemer died."

Elder Royal B. Young addressed the congregation. Expressed an earnest desire to speak by the inspiration of the Spirit of God. Esteemed it a grand thing to be able to say that he knew the religion revealed through Joseph Smith was the work of God, and that Joseph was a prophet of God. Described how he knew this. It was because God had revealed it to him individually. Referred to the scriptural incident where the Savior said to Peter, after receiving from him a reply that he was Christ, the Son of the living God: "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar Jona, for flesh and blood hath not revealed this unto you, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say unto you, thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church," etc. The speaker believed, according to the testimony of the Savior, every baptized believer in the true Church is entitled to the revelations of God, and to a personal testimony of the truth of the work in which he is engaged. If he did not have it, it was either because he had not complied with the conditions upon which such testimonies are given, or had lost it after its reception by straying away from God and disobeying His commandments. The strength of one's testimony will be according to his righteousness. He compared the acquiring of a testimony to the growth of the oak which springs from the acorn. Though at first a small and trivial thing, it grows from stage to stage, from development to development, until it becomes a mighty tree, withstands the war of the elements and almost defies the power of man to uproot it from the earth. The speaker bore his testimony to the Gospel and closed his remarks.

President A. M. Cannon was the next speaker. He said it was a pleasure to listen to the testimony of such a person as Brother Young, who could say that he knew God lived and had a work that was progressing in the earth. God has revealed to us the principles of this work, which, if heeded and practiced, will make us wise and mighty in the land. We are the sons and daughters—the representatives of God on earth. Our Father prepared this world for His children, placed them here and gave them certain laws through obedience to which they might eventually return to His presence. Until man transgressed these laws, God never took them from the earth. They are revealed anew in these times for our guidance and salvation. Our temptations are many. It seems as if almost everything that God has forbidden is desired by man. But we must not follow after our own inclinations, nor seek to worship God only in the way which He has revealed, for no other than this is acceptable unto Him. The speaker referred to the dialogue between Jesus and Peter, referred to by the previous speaker, and mentioned some of the various interpretations given to the sentence: "Upon this rock I will build my Church." Some thought Peter was the Rock referred to; this was an error, for if such were the case, the Church of God would be founded upon man. The rock referred to was the Rock of Revelation. God revealed the knowledge of Christ's divinity to Peter, and it was upon this rock or principle of revelation that He built His Church. When the Church of Christ was raised up in this age, the Father and Son revealed themselves to Joseph Smith; afterwards Peter, James and John, John the Baptist and other ancient Saints were revealed to him, and the Holy Ghost administered to him. Such manifestations are always found where the true Church exists, and where divine revelation is not to be found there can be no Church of God. The speaker referred to the gathering of Israel in these days; spoke of how much the Saints had sacrificed in order to come to the land of Zion, and explained why it was they had done so. It was because God had called them, and they left all that they might obey Him; they thought not of death, privations, sufferings and persecution, they wanted to obey the Lord, and were willing to leave the result in His hands. The persecutions of the former-day Saints were spoken of, and the Latter-day Saints were reminded that they must expect such things and not anticipate exemption therefrom; for trials and tribulations had been the lot of the righteous in all ages. The lack of faith in the Church was also touched upon, and the causes described and deprecated. The Saints were urged to be virtuous, temperate, pure in heart, and filled with the spirit of obedience and self-sacrifice. By such things faith is acquired and retained, and no one need expect it unless his life conformed to these sacred rules, for the Spirit of God, which is the power of God, will not dwell with the unclean and the wicked. No matter what our profession or our calling, we cannot receive God's blessings unless we live to deserve them. Many who have borne the priesthood of God and administered in his name will be rejected by Him hereafter, because they are now dishonoring themselves and disgracing the priesthood they hold, and when they say, "Lord, Lord, have we not administered in thy name, and in thy name done many wonderful works?" He will reply, "Depart from me, ye workers of iniquity; I never knew you." The speaker strenuously exhorted all to practice the precepts of their faith, and not only believe the gospel and call themselves Saints, but live according to the gospel's teachings, and be what they profess.

The choir sang the anthem, "Give ear to my word." Benediction by Elder H. S. Eldredge.

Changed Hands.—The Utah and Pleasant Valley Railroad has recently been transferred to other hands. A new company has been organized in New York, who will adopt a more vigorous policy in the conduct of this excellent little railroad than has characterized the management of the former company. De Graff has resigned the presidency and Cochrane the management. C. W. Schofield has assumed the presidency of the new company, and Mr. G. M. Young the management. The former gentleman, it will be remembered, was formerly connected with the company and got into financial difficulties, which has run since, however, overcome and is reputedly a richer man than ever. Mr. Young, the new manager, was formerly the superintendent of the Wasatch and Jordan Valley Railroad.—Enquirer.

Fast Meeting.—The Saints of this Stake of Zion are especially requested to attend the fast meetings in their respective wards on Thursday, March 3d, 1881, as there will be business of much importance presented for their consideration.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR,
By instruction of the Presidency.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvelous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in the throat and lung disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. 1 dsw
