CENSURE HEALTH OFFICERS ANTI-COMPULSORY LEAGUE.

Jury Thought that Had the Health Board Been Prompt, Howard's Life Might Have Been Saved.

An inquest over the remains of J. C. Howard, the man who died in the Sullivan house, 263 south Fifth West, Saturday afternoon, apparently from a fired and presently returned with the verdict that the deceased had come to his death from laudanum taken with spicidal intent.

L. F. Harr, Sam Roney and Wil llam La Vielle were the jurors, and after viewing the remains, they returned to Sommer's office, where the inquest was held, Assistant County Attorney Gunter conducting the case.

The first witness was Officer Fitzma rice, who on Saturday about 2 p. m. heard a rumor that a man was dying in the old Sullivan house at 263 south scene, but the man was dead. He had been told that the dead man had been assaulted by a footpad the night before but a short investigation proved the story to be untrue. He had heard fur-ther that the deceased had tried to purchase twonty-five grains of mor-chine at the West Side drug store last Friday, but failed to procure it.

Edward Harrison, the man who discovered Howard, was called next. He was attracted to the room in which Howard was lying by his groans. He thought Howard was drunk and sent at once for the patrol wagon. Martin Wilman saw Howard and sent for a physician, thinking that the man was ill. Dr. McCoy arrived first, and they immediately applied restoratives.
Frank McCauly Dr. McCoy and John
C. Forrester of Colton, Utah, Howard's brother-in-law, were the last witnesses. The first had assisted in reviving Howard and heard him say that he had taken morphine and wanted chloroform and that he lived at 669 north Second West. Dr. McCoy was inclined to think that there were three causes of death, viz: First, opium poisoning; second, exposure to extreme cold, and concussion of the brain, as the dead man had ter identified the dead man, but could cite no cause for his taking his life, to in the following note found on the

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

Against Its Adoption.

Strong Resolutions Adopted-Judge Le Grand Young and Others Express Their Views.

If the local board of health and a faction of the Board of Education imagine the thousands of school children in this city are the helpless victims of lose of laudanum administered by his | their antiquated notions, and that they own hand, was held before Justice Mer. may be branded like sheep without reris Sommer yesterday afternoon. The gard to the wishes and rights of their Jury after examining six witnesses, re- parents, this autocratic idea has received a severe shock.

An anti-compulsory vaccination league has been organized with efficient and enthusiastic officers and it is safe to promise the public in general and the board of health in particular, that from this date they are likely to hear from this organization from time to time directly and indirectly.

The A. O. U. W. hall, 161 Main street, was filled to its utmost capacity on Saturday evening and many late comers were disappointed in being unable to gain admission. At exactly 8 o'clock Mr. N. Y. Schofield rapped for order, and nominated Mr. Thomas Hull for chairman of the meeting. This being seconded and carried unanimously Mr. hull then explained the causes that had led up to the calling of this meeting and outlined the purposes and work of the society.

MR. HULL'S ADDRESS. In responding to the call to the chair,

Mr. Hull said he thanked the assembly for the honor conferred upon him. It is indeed an honor, he said, to be placed the front of a battle for the rights of the people, and against the assump-tions of would-be tyrannical officials and so-called professionals.

Ever since the determination was made apparent by the secretary of the State board of health and the medical society of this city, to compel the vaccination of the school children or ex-clude them from the schools, law or no aw, there has been a growing sentiment that some organized effort should be made to prevent the perpetration of this high-handed outrage; and in response to this sentiment we meet tonight. are here, not for the purpose of listen-ing to arguments in favor of vaccination by self-styled learned physicians or others who refuse to discuss the ques-tion in the public prints, and who denounce all who dare to think for themselves as ignorant and stupid. This is not a meeting called by or for believers solutely to vaccination: particular classes of citizens will conluct and control this meeting.

It is suggested that we formulate resolutions expressing our opinion upon the question of the hour and our determination to combat to the uttermost every effort to force upon the people ow or in the future, a practice considered by a vast number not only vile, disgusting and filthy but absolutely be that the board of education will not by it to exclude from the schools of this city all children who cannot produce tion. But this is not the end of the matter; for should we escape the present menace to our libertles and to the health of our children, be assured that the determination is still to bring question before the State Legislature at its next session and we must prepare ourselves to meet the issue there. It is therefore suggested that we protonight, before the adjourn of this meeting to commence the organi. zation of an anti-compulsory vaccination society or league, and that, right here and now, all who are opposed to opportunity to join said league in or-fer that we may begin active, systemaand legal opposition to every atmpt to wrest from the people the These, ladies and gentlemen, are the lition I desire to call your attention another phase of the question, of education that in order that said board may legally exclude unvaccinated children from the schools, the local or state board of health must issue direct rders to the board for such action. Judging from the reports of the meet-ing of the board of education held last evening there can be little doubt that the board of health will issue such direct and peremptory orders and, I very much regret to say, it appears very plain that the majority of the board of education seem to be asking for the peremptory mandate in order that they ation. Now the board of education is asking the people to vote next week upon the question of issuing bonds for the continuance of the schools for an extra desire to say for myself, most emphat ally, that under ordinary stances my vote on that question would be first, last and all the time, Yes, for I am and have always been a strong advocate and friends of our or of everything that will advance them and increase the opportunities for the education of our children; but a conok at the matter from another point view, for we cannot afford to increase our taxes when our children are likely to be excluded from particiing to the exclusion of the children from the schools nor will any order be is-sued by the board of health requiring such exclusion until after said ation in the benefits of such taxation. It is stated by some that no action election, but that as soon as the tax-payers have decided on this question, nen active steps will be taken to enrce vaccination of the children or exlude them from the schools. Now, o vote $20,000 worth of bonds and pay therefore, suggested that t is, therefore, suggested that we consider tenight, the advisability of reuiring from the school board, a piedge pass a resolution or attempt to enforce one excluding the children from schools unless they are vaccinated, and that unless such pledge be given, we vote No! on the bond proposition.

A number of speakers will be heard upon these topics, and during the even-n the audience to express themselves. Everything in the nature of abuse avoided and the meeting will be evoted to straight and determined business, pure and simple. The condition which confronts us is one of serions importance and calls for our best thought and most dignified action and calm deliberation and high toned sustained as secretary of the meeting, and on motion of J. H. Parry, the chair appointed a committee on resolutions mittee on permanent organization, the following names were se-lected:

For committee on resolutions—J. H. Parry, Mrs. Lucretia Kimbail, D. H. Tatham, H. J. Walk, J. M. Barlow. Committee on permanent organization -John E. Cox, Scott Anderson, C. S. Booth, Robert Morris, E. G. Holding, L. F. Griffith.

JUDGE LE GRAND YOUNG. The committees having retired to per-form their labors, Judge Le Grand Young was introduced as the first speaker. Mr. Young said he was unalterably, opposed to compulsory vac-cination, and he was glad to go on rec-ord as being with the people in this fight. We do not propose, said Mr.

Young, that those who are merely our servants shall become our mastern. Though he had nothing to say against vaccination itself-for those who want ed, it, but he regarded the attempt to force the practice upon those who ob lected to it, as an abuse of power and he urged the people to resist it. There was no law for compulsory vaccination in Utah and the present move was a step in the right direction to see that none was made. In contending for their rights in this direction Mr. Young assured them of his sympathy and sup-Mr. Young's address was warmly received.

DR. G. W. HARVEY. Dr. G. W. Harvey was then called from the audience and said he preferred to leave this meeting entirely in the hands of those who were responsi-ble for having called it, but he was heartily in accord and sympathy with the movement. He then proceeded to puncture some of the bubble argu-ments of the vaccinators to the evident satisfaction of the audience who ap plauded his remarks. Dr. Harvey sald he opposed vaccination on principle. He did not share those bitter feelings against his medical brethren that some of them entertained toward him and others who had no faith in vaccination and no patience with the flimsy and exploded arguments used to bolster it up CHARLES ELLIS.

Mr. Charles Ellis being invited, came to the platform and apologized for speaking upon such a dirty subject as vaccination. He said smallpox was dirty, but vaccination was worse for it was the result of deliberate intent. He nounced the ridiculous and shameful practice of putting poison in our children to cure them from being healthy, and warned the Board of Education that unless they changed their tactics they would not only fail in their scheme to get vaccination, but like Shylockthey would fall to get their bond. Mr. J. H. Parry, as chairman of the committee on resolutions, then submitted its report as follows:

RESOLUTIONS Ladies and Gentlemen-Your committee on resolutions beg leave to introduce the following resolutions as the sense of this meeting Whereas, The highest medical authority is divided on the question of vaccination, many taking the ground that it is always dangerous, and some times productive of fatal results, and Whereas, The Legislature of Utah has expressed the sentiment of the peaple, by refusing to pass a compulsory

ELDER JAS, T. JACK SPEAKS

Interesting Meeting in the Tabernacle Yesterday-Reautiful Singing of the Harmony Glee Club.

President Angus M. Cannon presided over the services in the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon, which were opened by the singing of the hymn, "From the Mountain Top Appearing." Opening prayer was pronounced by

Elder N. V. Jones. Anthem: "Judge Me, O God."

We do not mean any new Gospel that has been concocted by the cunning device of men, but the pure original Gospel. We do not go out into the world to deceive, but we carry the Bible with us, and show the people in the honesty of our hearts, the true Gospel. We show the people that the Gospel had been restored with all its power. Elder Jack said he had seen the power of the Lord made manifest; he had seen the sick healed, and the Young men go out into the world in a crude state, but the Lord takes hold of them, and although they are only able to say a few words when they first enter the field, they become pow erful and able to stand before the earned divines of the day. The power of the Lord was greatly manifested in the Southwestern States. The Latterday Saints teach that God is a tangi ble reality, not a being without body, parts or passions, and we will be resur-rected with our bodies. The Christian vorld almost universally believe that the resurrection brings all in the grace of God, and do not understand they are individually responsible for their acts; that there are requirements made of them which they will have to

One of the most vital things for the world to understand is repentance, and the Elders are trying to do this not only by precept, but by example. It is often said to a Latter-day Saint by people in the world that if it were not for their religion the Latter-day Saints would be the best people in the world; they do not understand that it is the religion of the Latter-day Saints which makes them better, and if it were not for that religion they would be on the same level as the other people of the

The Saints in the world are oftimes more faithful in their duties than the

It was the wish of the speaker that the Saints in Zion will not permit the Saints abroad to out do them in obed-ience to the laws of the Gospel. The trouble that is now abroad and in Congress was opening the way for the Gospel: it was opening the doors of the homes of the intelligent and afflu.

ent, who are anxious to hear about the Latter-day Saints. earnest hope that the Elders when they return to their homes may continue in the path of righteousness and teach the Gospel by their example and maintain their integrity forever Elder John M. Knight was called to the stand. It was his good pleasure to work with Elder Black in the missionary field, and he had a pleasure that he had not experienced in any other work in this life. He desired to remain falthful and pure, and teach the Gospel by example all his life. To ll-lustrate the power of example, the speaker related an incident an infidel was converted to the Word of family.

in the 17th chapter of St. John, the Savior, in his prayer, states that it Jesus Christ whom He sent, and in anothr place where He says that no one knows the Father or the those to whom they are revealed. This is evidence that revelation is just as necessary today as at any former time If any one doubts any law of the Gospel let he or she live it and they will learn that it is true. The speaker closed with an earnest testimony of the the audience with its most beautiful rendition of the "martyr of the Arena" ed by Willard Christopherson. President George Q. Cannon was the last speaker. "What is there that is more delightful than to hear men testify of the principles of righteousness and of the existence of God President Cannon was very much impressed with the remarks of the preceding speakers If the Apostles of old were to come and preach the Gospel, they would have preached it, as it was taught by former speakers. The doctri preached by the Apostles were and repentance and baptism and the same blessings as had been taught this afternoon. One thing is very gratify ing, that no matter enemies revile us and persecute us wa ormer day Saints, and the experies of the Latter-day Saints and the form er day Saints, were similar and in this we have consolation. What was ther in the testimony of Joseph Smith tha What was ther so much hatred should be aroused lar to that of the ancient Apostles and Prophets, what was there in their eachings to create so much hatred? They taught the truth and the world could not stand it, and Satan was de termined not to tolerate it. day, the Saints were driven from their homes in the East, and every feeling of animosity possible was engendered n the public mind. What have done to arouse this antinathy? great bulk of the people are striving to live lives of honor and purity. In this building the Gospel is being taught every Sabbath. Jesus Christ is up as a model, and the people taught that if they do not follow will not gain eternal life. The result is that the Latter-day Saints have a higher conception of purity than any people in the world. "It is such that in some circles, in the world, the young man who has attained to manhood without losing his virtue is looked upor as unmanly. Those who practice these things in into the dark and deny the faith, and in this manner God is purifying His Church. In this manner the Latter-day Saints are being cleansed. They grieve over the fall of men, but it is setter to cut them off than to permit them to remain among us. The Lat-ter-day Salats live on a higher moral plain than any other people in the vorld, and those who are most active in the warfare against the Saints are those who profess to be following Gol. All this opposition has causes, but if they are traced down it will be learned that the causes are false. Every orime possible was charged against Joseph Smith. It is not to be supposed that true followers of Christ will persecute, for it is contrary to the spirit of God. But this opposition ought not to damp-en the arder of the Saints or slacken their zeal. It is the great last contest which is now being waged. Men have thought that this work would be ex-tinguished, but we will go forth from one triumph to another, and the work will go forth for the Lord has spoken
