Sheridan, Wyo., Dec. 19 .- After being out twenty hours, the jury in the Field murder case returned a verdict of not guilty. James Field and "Bob" Ramsey, a sheepherder who had been employed by Field, quarreled over money matters while coming to town from Field's ranch one day last month. The men settled their differences, but after reaching town Ramsey is said to have become intoxicated. Meeting Field again that night he is alleged to have rulled a gun on Field and fired sev-eral shots. Field pulled his own pistol and shot the herder dead. Field then dedicating our new meeting house, which is the prefitest edifice of its kind returned to his ranch with some medicine he had procured for his family and returning to Sheridan the next morning n Utah. It is indeed a credit to the gave himself up. The body of Ramsey laid in the street all night. The tragedy occurred in a dark spot in the rear of the main street and no one witnessed the killing. Field has lived in this section for twenty years and has always borne a good reputation.
