While Weilbrenner talked rationally to the officers last night it seems evi-dent from his conversation today that he is demented. He said that he had received a telegraphic communication from the president directing him to call at Sagamore Hill. Weilbrenner's buggy was taken to a local livery barn. When asked what had become of the rig, Wellbrenner replied:

"Oh, the president has taken care of it. That's all right."

A DANGEROUS LUNATIC.

Weilbrenner is regarded by those who had seen him to be a dangerous lunatic. At Syosset it is learned that the man is the son of a truck farmer, and is one of three boys. He has two sisters. The family is respectable and is held in general esteem.

In general esteem. Wellbrenner, several years ago, had a nervous attack which rendered him mentally helpless, for a day or two, but his family supposed that he had been quite restored by medical treatment. Since then he had manifested no symptoms of mental aberration. He had no socialistic or anarchistic tendencies so far as known, never having been terested in questions of that kind. In-He was employed daily on his father's

Asked why he went to Saga-more Hill, he replted:

HIS PURPOSE.

"I went to see the president about his daughter, Allee." "Had you an engagement with the president?"

Yes.

"How was that engagement made?" "I talked with the president last hight," replied Wellbrenner. "How did you talk with him?"

"Oh. I just talked." "A sort of wireless talk, was it?" "Yes, that is it, a wireless talk." "Why did you want to see the pres ident about Mas Allee?"

"I wanted to marry her." "Did you ever see Miss Roosevelt?" "Yes, I saw her night before last." "Where did you see her?" "At my house." "Did she go over there?" "Yes, she came in a red automo-le."
