Both are under age, and when they first applied for a license were refused for that cause and for the further reason that the father of the girl had been to the office before them and objected strenuously to the match. The girl's mother was won over and finally the father yielded, and all seemed smooth sailing, until it was discovered that the boy's consent of his father had not been properly witnessed. Fault was found with a second paper signed by the groom's father, and delay after delay occurred until yesterday when so weeks past have been struggling far as parents' consent was concerned everything was in order, but when the youth appeared at the office of the county cierk the girl was not with him, a fatal omission in the eyes of the law, and a wait until today followed. state. The author is Horace H. Cummings. B. S., a well known educator, for many years identified with the University of Utah and now superintendent of schools conducted under the suspices of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The volume consists of 180 pages, and is composed of 153 chapters. It or grades one, two and three, and is designed not to be placed in the hands designed not to be placed in the hands of the pupils but for the teachers. The other books are in course of preparation by the same author, to be used as text books.

The primary nature study book is profusely illustrated, and is gotten up in a manner that can scarcely full to interest the child in the very beginning of its study. The work is graded profusely illustrated, and is gotten up in a manner that can scarcely fail to interest the child in the very beginning of its study. The work is graded carefully, so that the various topics will not be repeated to the same children year after year, since each grade is provided with a full year's work, adapted as well as possitis to the age of the pupils, and different from the work given in subsequent grades. This feature gives new work continually and adds much to the interest and value of the series.

Prof. Cummings was formerly in charge of the nature study work in the State Normal school of the University of Utah. Written entlines of work in the grades were prepared by him each month and hectographed for the use of each teacher in the school. Soon requests were made for the leafests from clawbere in the state, and when the National Educational association met in Los Angeles in 1999, copies exhibited there drew the Utah text book commission, held in the spring of 1908, Mr. Cummings was requested to compile his lessons and embody them in a book, to be ued as a text-book in the public schools of the state.

The first contest against applications for segregations of large tracts of desert lands, for private development and ontrol has been started in the office of the state land board during the past week; and while the state legis-lature is in session, so that the am-origuity of the present laws in reference to the manner of procedure in securing these grants of land under the United States law, known as the Carey law, may be corrected before the legislature adjourns. Although V. C. The desire of Mr. Ward and Mr. McRoberts was to finally overthrow the other applicants so that their own applications could be submitted later on when they shall have completed the many thousands of dollars' worth of detail preparatory work which they tried to show the state land board was necessary to have been made and verified as well by suitable at-fidavits which they claimed that no one at this time could dare to take the risk of swearing to. In

They suggested that the numerous prosecutions for land frauds in Oregon, where Mr. Ward had operated some years ago, were a sufficient warning to land grabbers to go slowly and surely. Mr. Ward backed his statements by showing numerous photographs.

ly. Mr. Ward backed his statements by showing numerous photographs taken by himself and maps showing just where those photographs were taken, which were offered as proof that it would be risky for the state land board to become a party to the present proposed plan by sending any one of its members into the United States land office to swear to the papers that must be substantiated by his oath. This is the first time the state board

This is the first time the state board has had its attention called to the ambiguity of the wording of the present state law in reference to such matters, and they were profuse in their thanks especially to Mr. McRoberts for his efforts in pointing out to them the pitfalls in the statutes. The board was referred to the laws of Idaho on this subject and they voted to send at once to the secretary of state of Idaho, a request for a copy of their recent laws with a view of having Utah laws suitably amended and for their protection in the meantime they voted to indefinitely postpone further consideration of the various applications. As these were for items of 116,000 acres up to 400,000 acres each, the state board will in the future make most exhaustive investigation before binding the state as a party to such vast enterprises.

TO HEAD OFF AGITATION. It was decided to report to the board that the merchants of New York appeal to the merchants the board that the merchants of New York appeal to the merchants and manufacturers of all the other states to co-operate with them in impressing upon the people of California the unwisdom of persistent discrimination "against the people of Japan, which has shown its title to the respect of the world at large, that has proved itself to be a great factor in civilizing and progressive influences of the world nd whose trade is of importance to this country."

The committee strongly deprecated

the agitation in California and ex-pressed the fear that its continuance will seriously affect the amicable relaons between Japan and the United States. At the conference which was composed of the committee and others interested in the Japanese trade were representatives of the General Electric company, Kuhn, Leob & Co., A. A. Van Tyn company, the National Citybank, the China and Japan company and Mulier, MacLean & Co.

It was pointed out the while Japan sells us $30,000,000 more goods annually than we sell Japan, it is also true that the $69,000,000 worth of goods which she sells us consists almost entirely of raw materials not produced in this country, such as tea and raw manufactured articles, the products of our factories and workshops.

The committee feels that while the autonomy of the states should be zealously guarded, no state should disregard the fact that international treaties constitute the highest law, nor should they attempt to nullify such treaties or do that which would injure all the states and the Union.

The recommendations of this committee will be presented to the board at the next meeting.
