

with the principal, and this sum shall be returned at the end of the session to such persons as have fulfilled the conditions of membership, and those not above the legal school age. In all other cases it shall be applied on account of tuition.

Third—The school shall be opened on the first Monday evening in December, at some suitable place designated by the board, and continue twenty-four weeks. The school shall not be open on Saturday or Sunday evenings, the evenings of legal holidays, or the evenings before Christmas or New Year's day.

Fourth—They shall be divided into such grades as the committee on school work and the superintendent of schools shall find most convenient for instruction and the most rapid advancement.

Fifth—The studies to be pursued shall be reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, United States history, civics, bookkeeping and drawing.

Sixth—Each student may choose such of said studies as he desires, provided he is prepared for them, and limit his course to what he can pursue successfully.

Seventh—Each pupil will be required to furnish all needed text books and stationery; provided that the board shall furnish these articles to any deserving pupil who cannot furnish them himself. All articles furnished by the board shall be the property of the board, and shall be returned to the principal on withdrawal of membership.

Eighth—The books used in pursuing each subject shall be uniform and of the kind authorized by the committee on school work.

Ninth—Punctuality and regular attendance, quiet and orderly conduct, respectful deportment toward teachers in charge, and, in general, a manifest desire to profit by the advantage afforded by the school shall be considered conditions of membership. Violation of any of these conditions will cause the prompt exclusion of the pupil so offending.

Tenth—The indulgence in tobacco and all other offensive habits are strictly forbidden while in attendance at the school.

Twelfth—Teachers shall be chosen with especial reference to their ability to impart practical instruction in such manner as will assure the most rapid advancement consistent with a thorough comprehension of the subject. Except in cases of necessity teachers in the day school will not be employed in the night school.

THROUGH THE SUPERINTENDENCY.

The committee on teachers submitted the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas, instances have occurred of teachers and principals applying for an increase of salary and for other purposes, to committees of this board, it is hereby

Resolved, That the proper source to which teachers may apply for such and other purposes is to the city superintendent, or failing in obtaining the relief there, to the board through the superintendency.

JANITORS.

The committee on furniture and supplies reported having engaged James Cope as janitor of the additional room in the Second ward at $10 per month. The committee also recommended an increase in the salary of the janitor of the Twenty-third district to $20 per month.

COLBATH'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. George M. Downey was unanimously elected to fill the place made vacant on the board by the resignation of Mr. Colbath.

TO PREPARE ESTIMATES.

On motion of Mr. Pike, the committees of the board were instructed to prepare estimates of the amounts needed for their respective departments for the school year beginning July 1, 1892, and ending June 30, 1893, and report to the board for its action at an early meeting, that the finance committee may be able to report the tax to be levied to raise the necessary revenue.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

HENRY CLEWS, in his report for the week ending November 14, 1891, says that the recent bank failures in Berlin and the rumored financial dangers in Paris have affected both London and New York stock markets. It was found, however, that these reports were exaggerated, and the markets are resuming their normal condition.

At present there is unquestionably a healthy confidence at the bottom of the market, sufficient to protect prices against important drops; but conditions are not right for active buying. The failure of the Maverick bank through speculative alliances caused a temporary disturbance of the rates for call money. At the same time, this event, coming so closely after the developments in the Keystone bank of Pennsylvania, and the large defalcation in a New Orleans bank, has shaken public confidence in the official system of bank examinations. This infidelity in bank management may occasion some trouble in the money markets in the future.

Distrust in European finances prevails. The receipts of gold from Europe have abated, but the abatement is said to be temporary. Argentine finances do not improve. The news from Brazil is discouraging. Chile has a very hazy outlook. All these influences affect European money markets. The situation is still further complicated by the strained attitude of European nations towards each other. However, it is thought that this uncertainty in Europe helps American securities. But so long as there is only apprehension, favorable conditions cannot continue for the United States.

Prudent watchers here are therefore continually straining their eyes to detect a rising cloud in the Eastern horizon, and they cannot be diverted from their nervous outlook so long as they know how much storm material is fermenting below the financial and political horizon.

Rev. A. G. Strandell, a well-known Swedish clergyman of Svedvi, Vestmanland, died at the advanced age of 85 years. He had been a rector of the parish of Svedvi all the time since 1862.

OBITUARY.

LEWIS—John Bristow Lewis was the son of John and Sarah King Lewis, was born on the 24th of April, 1797, at Christchurch, Hampshire, England; baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints April 22nd, 1849; re-baptized in Salt Lake City November 4th, 1856; received his endowments and was ordained to the High Priesthood March 4th, 1874, by Heber C. Kimball. He embarked to America in 1852, and arrived in Salt Lake City after a long journey over the plains with a handcart company. He was a man of large posterity, being father of 114 children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, combined. He was 94 years, 7 months and 5 days of age. He died Thursday morning, November 19, 1891, at 9:30, of old age. He was a man of upright character, integrity and honesty, and died in full faith of the Gospel.

The funeral service will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, at the Twentieth ward meeting house. Friends invited.—[COM.]
