FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

There is to be a select ball in the 19th Ward Hall on Friday evening.

Milton Nobles and Company will appear at the Salt Lake Theatre on the 21st.

Frank Tilford, formerly an attorney in this city, has been elected to the State Legislature of Colorado.

What is wanted for Utah is a government without a vote?" This is the expressed sentiment of the "Liberal" party.

The late earthquake shock created considerable terror at Evanston. People rushed out of buildings in great alarm, thinking the end was at hand.

On Saturday a ten-year-old son of Mr. James Ogden, of Kaysville, was accidentally thrown from a horse at that place. His thigh was badly fractured in two places.

There is talk of starting a "Liberal" newspaper in Provo. The Enquirer says the enormous sum of $9 has already be subscribed to set the gigantic enterprise afloat.

Sister Zina D. H. Young, E. B. Wells and Louie Wells, have returned from Heber City, where they attended conference of the Ladies' associations of Wasatch Stake.

It is fortunate that people are no longer expected to remove the glove when shaking hands. It would be very awkward for a lady in a pair of fashionable gloves to be obliged to undress every time she meets a friend.—Ex.

A Johnstown man lost his pocketbook containing $1,500 and rewarded the honest finders with the munificent sum of one dollar. The finders feel very grateful over the fact that they were not charged interest on the money while the pocketbook was in their possession.—Ex.

Joseph Cook, the now notorious preacher, noted for his anti-"Mormon" proclivities, has returned from his trip to the Orient and was in Denver the other day. He is a great believer in Joseph Cook. This is his chief peculiarity, in which he enjoys a conspicuous loneliness.

Two robbers entered the house of Mike Ryan, in Big Hole Valley, Montana, one day last week, covered the three men there with revolvers, tied them up, and then stole $300 from the house. They expected to get a much larger amount that Ryan was to have received from a sale of cattle, but the money had not been paid.

Our esteemed contemporary the Herald offers the following prizes to successful competitors: $50 for the best "New Year's Story," to contain not less than 10,000 words; $25 for the best essay on "The most profitable cereal crop of Utah, showing why it is so," to contain not less than 3,000 words, and 25 for the best essay on "How to keep one cow profitably and satisfactorily," to contain not less than 3,000 words.

On the 27th instant the citizens of Beaver City will elect the following city officials: Mayor; five Councilors; two Justices of the Peace; one Recorder; one Assessor and collector; one Treasurer and one City Marshal. Messrs. S. A. Kenner, J. R. Wilkins and C. C. Woodhouse are appointed by the Utah Commission to act as judges of said election, the first named to act as presiding judge.—Beaver Utonian.

We are informed that an election took place at Pleasant Valley on Tuesday last for Justice of the peace and constable. John Nelson and C. H. Bliss were the People's candidates, and L. Granger and R. McKeechney, the "Liberals." The result was a tie, 10 votes being polled for each candidate, with one blank ballot in the box. That blank ballot did the mischief—or rather prevented the mischief had it been a "Liberal" ballot.—Enquirer.

In the U. S. Commissioner's Court on Wednesday, officer W. Chesley was charged, on complaint of H. W. Wilson, with having murderously assaulted Sanford Colton a day or two previous. It appears that Chesley attempted to arrest Colton for a breach of the peace, and the latter, resisting, was struck on the head by the officer with a pistol. Officer Chesley waived examination and was held over in $300 bonds—Provo Enquirer.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Maginnis Elected. — Maginnis, the Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress from Montana has been elected by a majority of from twelve to fifteen hundred.

Elected.—We learn by private dispatch to Charles H. Bassett Esq., of this city, that his brother C. J. Bassett has been elected from Oneida County on the Democratic ticket, to the Idaho Legislature, by a majority of 200 votes.

Deep Snow—A resident of West Jordan informs us that the late storm deposited two feet of snow on the level in that locality. From Sandy it is reported that the snow lies there to the depth of fourteen inches, according to exact measurement by the rule.

Mail Change.—Owing to the increased growth of western and northern mail, the time of opening the general delivery windows on Sundays has been changed to open from 12.45 to 1.45 p. m., instead of 12.30 to 1.30 p. m., as heretofore.

JNO. T. LYNCH, P. M.

Death of James Watson.—James Watson, of the Sixth Ward died shortly after two o'clock to-day, from the effects of alcoholism. Had it not been for the fearful effects of strong drink, for which the deceased had an apparently uncontrollable appetite, he might have led a life of usefulness, being naturally a man of good disposition and at least average ability. As it was his life was wrecked on the rocks of intemperance.

A Good Jubilee. — The Sunday School Jubilee of the Twenty-first Ward, held last evening, was a pleasing success. The meeting-house was crowded to excess, many being compelled to leave for want of room. The pupils, under the direction of Superintendent W. D. Owen, rendered a variety of exercises with gratifying and commendable efficiency. Elder A. N. McFarland, just returned from a mission to Scotland, was warmly received. He addressed the company in a very interesting manner, giving a relation of incidents connected with his missionary labors abroad. A few appropriate closing remarks were made by Bishop Burt.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The regular Sunday services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were held in the Assembly Hall, on Sunday, commencing at 2 p. m.

The choir sang:

All praise to our redeeming Lord
Who joins us by His grace.

Prayer by Elder A. H. Raleigh.

The choir sang:

O, My Father, Thou that dwellest
In The high and glorious place.

The sacrament was administered by the Priesthood of the Seventh Ward.

Apostle Heber J. Grant was the first speaker. Without the Spirit of God it was impossible for any Elder to edify the Saints. He had realized the necessity of that divine aid within the last two years. His desire had always been to know the will of the Lord and to do it. He testified that in performing his duties he had great satisfaction, while there was no pleasure in neglecting anything of that nature. He specially exhorted the young to faithfulness. He had felt the difference of spirit existing among the Saints and those who were not connected with the Church. He referred to the crusade against the Latter-day Saints, and illustrated its unconstitutionality by stating that his mother had been disfranchised, although she had never broken any law, his father having died on Dec. 1, 1856, and there was no law against plural marriage until 1862. He advised the youth of the community to stand up in word and deed in the defence of human freedom. The charges against the Latter-day Saints, to the effect that they were immoral were false. His parents practiced patriarchal marriage, and he owed his earthly existence to that institution. He had always been taught to be truthful, honest and virtuous. The arguments made against the Saints were in the form of abuse and slander. Parties who opposed the institutions of this community had expressed the horrible sentiment of pleasure to see young people visiting drinking saloons and places of bad repute, as these were indications that they were breaking away from the influence of the "Mormon" Priesthood. The young people should study the principles of the Gospel as taught by the Latter-day Saints and obtain a testimony of their truth from the Lord and they would never depart from the path of rectitude unless they committed sin, causing them to lose the good Spirit of God.

President John Taylor addressed the congregation. The object of the Saints coming together in a congregational capacity was to be instructed in the law of the Lord, in doctrine and principle. The principles were of a personal nature to a great extent. It was proper we should know the position we occupied, our relationship to our Heavenly Father, each other and the people of the world generally, also the object of our existence. At various times God gave to men communications, which they were enjoined to teach to the people. The records of these matters were before us. The Bible, we had been taught, was true; the Book of Mormon, we had been taught through the Prophet Joseph Smith, was true. The speaker remembered when an Elder first taught him the Gospel. He said he believed in Apostles, Prophets, etc., in spiritual gifts, and the ordinances of the Gospel as taught by Jesus and His ancient servants whom He authorized. He believed in faith, repentance, baptism by immersion, for the remission of sins, and the laying on of hands for the reception of the Holy Ghost. He stated that if the same results did not follow obedience to these principles then as anciently it would be right to set him down as an impostor. The speaker thought this was fair, so he obeyed and received a testimony, so he knew for himself that the doctrine was of God. He (the speaker) had in turn preached the same doctrine, and others had preached, and the same results had followed, as the congregation were witnesses. No other men in the world excepting the Elders of the Church dared stand before the people and promise them the Holy Ghost should they obey. This was our position and we rejoiced, because God gave certainty, the Holy Priesthood and gifts to this people. We had a commission to declare these things to the world, which we could not ignore. The Elders had, in prosecuting this labor traveled hundreds of thousands of miles. These things caused the Saints to rejoice and have confidence.

The reason why the Saints had gathered was because that after they embraced the Gospel the Spirit inspired them to flock together to build up Zion, that they might not be fed with opinions, but with knowledge and understanding, by the pastors which God should appoint for them. The charges that the Saints were wicked should not be a matter of astonishment, as persecution, in many instances unto death, had been the lot of the righteous in every age, including the Savior himself. The Saints of all ages had come up out of much tribulation. The speaker did not feel disturbed about the efforts of men who were opposed to the Saints. He felt to glorify God, who reigned, and would continue to reign. Let the wicked take their course and the Saints theirs. We had no abuse for those who lied about and slandered us. Let them lie and slander. That was their business not ours. Judgment would overtake them. About forty years ago the war of the Rebellion had been manifested to him, and the sight filled him with horror and pity. Did he feel like abusing the people? He did not. The end was not yet. There were things more terrible still that he knew would come upon the earth as the Lord lived, should the people tear down the bulwarks of liberty, and trample the sacred rights of men under foot. The nations were in the hands of God, who turned and overturned, according to His own pleasure. It was not for us to injure anybody, but to make friends with God, by living our religion. If we had wronged our neighbors in any way we should make it right. The heads of families should put themselves right and then put their families right. Family worship should be established in every household, and all feelings that are not right that had existed between Saints should be dispelled, that every wrong might be rectified. Selfishness should be set aside. Those who were not in a position to feel at peace with God and all mankind should get into that situation, getting rid of all hypocrisy and deception. The speaker powerfully exhorted parents to look after their children, seeing that they were properly taught and kept aloof from corrupting influences that the wicked were seeking to thrust upon them.

The choir sang:

Praise the Lord all ye nations.

Benediction by Counselor D. H. Wells.

Two More.—Two more men have been arrested over stealing the overcoat from Mr. Lipman's establishment. One of them, named Brown, offered the article to a second hand store keeper. Brown belongs to an organized band of vagrants now infesting this city.

From Wales.—We had the pleasure of a call to-day from Elder Moroni J. Thomas, of the 19th Ward, who has returned from Wales, where he had been laboring as a missionary for a couple of years. He had the satisfaction of being the means of adding some new members to the Church during his ministry, and took great pleasure in his labors. He presided over the Welsh Conference from April last until his departure for home. He reports the work in Wales as progressing fairly.

Returned from England. — On Saturday afternoon we had the pleasure of meeting Elder Charles F. Wilcox, who left this city for England, on a mission, Sept. 14th, 1880, and returned on Friday last. He first labored in the London Conference, where he met with gratifying success, having baptized about forty new members. After spending a year and a half in that field he was appointed to labor in the Sheffield Conference, where he was equally successful. During the last two months of his stay in England, Elder Wilcox presided over the Sheffield Conference, having succeeded Elder Charles Cooper in that position. He states that his mission, notwithstanding the hardships it occasionally entailed, was the happiest portion of his life. He saw many exhibitions of the power of God, and returns with increased faith in the divine character of the work with which he is identified.

Death of Andrew S. Johnson.—It will be observed by a notice published elsewhere, that Elder Andrew S. Johnson died at one o'clock this morning, November 13th, at his residence in the 14th Ward, after a lingering illness, from consumption.

Deceased was born June 15th, 1853, near the spot where he died. He was the son of Joseph W. and Lovina Woods Johnson. Having resided here from his infancy, he was well known to a large circle of friends, who unitedly testify to his many sterling qualities. He was a devoted member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and in January, 1877, he left this city on a mission to the Southern States, where he labored faithfully for one year and eight months. After his return he was appointed a Home Missionary of this Stake in which position he labored diligently as long as his health would permit. He was faithful to the end, and struggled against the encroachments of the destroyer until within a few hours of his demise, when he remarked to his relatives and friends that he was "going home."

Missionaries Returned. — This morning we were pleased to receive a visit from Elders Geo. Stringfellow and R. H. Stringfellow, both of whom returned from missions to England on Friday last, the former having charge of the last company of immigrants. When Elder Geo. Stringfellow reached Liverpool, two years ago, he was appointed to labor in the London Conference, where he remained, operating successfully for seven months. He was then placed to preside over the Nottingham Conference. In that field he, aided by the Elders laboring under his direction, attained marked success, about two hundred members being added to the Church during the eighteen months of his ministry in that part of England. He returns in good health and spirits.

Elder R. H. Stringfellow left this city October 12th, 1880. He labored in the London Conference for about eighteen months, mostly in the Sussex District, which is rather a hard field. He worked assiduously and was the means of adding thirteen new members to the Church. He next was appointed to the Nottingham Conference where he labored with great pleasure, and during his seven months' ministry there baptized thirteen new members included in the two hundred before named.

LOST FAITH IN PHYSICIANS.

Why is it that so many persons use proprietary medicines, or patent medicines, as they are commonly called? It is because people lose faith in their physicians? Well, this is, no doubt, frequently the case. There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by "Scovill's Sarsparilla or Blood & Liver Syrup" for all diseases of the blood, when they had been given over by their physicians. It is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public, and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it should be more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions made by incompetent physicians. Take "Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup" for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is endorsed by leading professional men as well as by eminent physicians and others. Try it. d s & w.
