AMERICAN. Guiteau's Trial Continued. WASHINGTON, 24.—To the jury: The juror, counsel has said you are kings, implying that you may override law and evidence in grasping at almost any result, and ignoring the solid structure of the evidence of guilt. You are not kings, and the man who told you so was only a man in 60,000,000, who could or would recommend Guiteau for justice.

nominated as Presidents at the time. Mr. Porter—This man told you in his speech, last Saturday, that Garfield might have died from any other cause than the one which was upon orange peel and received injury of that kind. He might have died from a rat snake whose fangs might have pierced his heart. We at an orange peel or a rattlesnake that made Arthur President?
