CLUB GOVERNORS FOR MORE WATER

Unqualified Endorsement Given To Plan of Mayor Morris and The City Council.

THE SUBJECT FULLY DISCUSSED

Argument of Opposition Shown to be Based Largely Upon Supposition And Misinformation.

At a meeting attended last evening, in the Commercial club parlors by over 100 members of the club, a large mudorlty voted with enthusiasm to sustain the action of the board of governors of the club in their endorsement of the plan of the mayor and city council for securing an increased supply of water for Salt Lake City, and the bonding of the city to raise means for carrying out

The meeting lasted until midnight, and was called in response to the request of 10 members of the club for general discussion, as it was held by the signers to the call that as the matter was insufficiently understood, it was best to have the question threshed out in public. Then with a clearer idea gained from the discussions, the voters could act with better judgment in casting their ballots at the coming elec-tion. An important feature of the meeting was the segregation and dis-persal of the Dooly opposition to the scheme, and the manner of the same occasioned much merriment. What seemed to be needed of explanation in particular, were several conditions in the contract that appeared at first ambiguous and likely to leave the city at the mercy of the farmers down the valley; but this was cleared up later in the evening, by explanations from Attys. Ashby Snow and F. S. Richards; in fact, it might be observed, had these two gentlemen spoken earlier in the evening, the meeting might have adjourned long before it did, for they straightened out all misunderstandings and entanglements with very little ef-fort, and left the decks clear for ac-

THE CALL TO ORDER.

Mayor Morris called the meeting to mayor Morris Caned the meeting to order at 8:30 p. m., and George L. Nye was chosen chairman with Fisher Harris as secretary. The business of the evening, was started without delay by Hon, George M. Cannon who moved that the action of the board of governor the along of the city. nors in approving the plan of the city council be approved by the club as a Senator Bamberger thought the motion out of order, as he held that the proper method of procedure would be for the members of the club to discuss situation and make such recomboard of governors.

James Thompson, not a member, ask-ed permission for citizens not members of the club, but taxpayers and interest ed parties, to speak on the subject. Mr Dooly and others opposed this, and the chair ruled, that as long as there was objection, outsiders were barred; and at the same time ruled that Mr. Cannon's motion was in order,

John Dern, Judge Henderson and other members of the club favored the request of Mr. Thompson, but with this understanding that the voting should be done by members of the club only; and this idea finally prevailed in appeal from the position of the chair. Mr. Thompson was called out by news of the death of his brother, but re-turned later to speak. In op-position to Mr. Cannon's motion, Mr. Dale moved that the club as B body oppose the action of the board of governors in supporting the city coun-cil plan of increasing the local water supply. The seconding of this threw the meeting open, and Manager H. G. Whitney of the "News" suggested that some of the 10 objectors to the board of governors' action rise to explain.

Mr. Tibbais said: "I think the objection explains itself. I don't entirely inderstand the situation and am seeking light. I should like to hear some explanation as to how we are to have a od, clear, supply of water for a city of 200,000 to 500,000 inhabitants; and if convinced I shall not hesitate to vote in support of the proposed plan. I have been opposed to bonding the city for one million of dollars, as I don't know how the money is to be spent. are assured that we shall get what we pay for, I am as ready as anyone to support the measure."

HOMER'S ARGUMENT.

Thomas Homer then took the floor, or rather the chairman's table, with a large portfelio of papers, written and printed, and delivered quite an oration. He prefaced by claiming that "The ization in the State of Utah; but the board of governors is not consistent. is not consistent for the club to do something diametrically opposed to what they did two years ago. Personally I am open to conviction. I may change my mind before the end of the of this club brought forward a plan for increasing the water supply of this city. his was a committee of 50 members. This plan covered a whole page of the Tribune. I have that page here. It accounts for every dollar that the committee preposed to spend. Did the city council approve the plan? Well, you council approve the plan? Well, you all know what the city council did. For one item, the council now proposes to build a conduit at a cost of $350,000. This conduit is seven miles long, from Big Cottonwood canyon to Parley's. The Commercial club proposed to build a conduit 10 miles long, at a cost of $175. one, from Blg Cottonwood to the city. The council proposes to build a cement conduit, whereas this club wanted to build a wooden stay-pipe line. It was objected that the latter would only last To years, whereas the cement one would last the Lord knows how long. But the saving in cost would be about $160,000. The interest on this sum at 4 per cent would be $6,400 every year. This sum in 20 years would amount to $192,000, which would more than pay for a new condult at the end of 30 years. And the condult would last 50 years. Besides, this is a progressive age. At the end of 50 years we might not want that conduit, for who knows but what some better means of obtaining water might be found here. I am just saying this to show one reason why we called for this meeting. I have a lot more to say and would like to be heard again." ABOUT WOODEN PIPE.

Senator Bamberger gently hinted that Mr. Homer had plagarized his eulogy on the Commercial club from Fisher Harris, and expressed regret that the conduit question had come up. "What the club did two years ago," he said "was done with good intentions, but the plan fell through, and instead of a wooden pipe line lasting 50 years, ow-It would not just 50 months, unless kept wet all over all of the time. There is not a wooden pipe in the state today er thing. The only difference of opinion is as to the water.' CITY ENGINEER SNOW, City Engineer George A. Snow then took the floor and made a long state-ment. He said "The club is not called discuss the location of the conduit, as that is something the engineers will have to decide. As to the criticism of he Real Estate association, it is well known that it is important to have a conduit for a water system as high up as possible. The association has criticized the position of the conduit. We have got to have it as high up on the east bench as we can. It would be pos-sible with the fail of water that could be obtained by the scheme to install a power plant. From that the city could get 300 to 350 horsepower. The sewage would have to be elevated 30 feet, and the plant could be used for that purpose. But whether it were used to ip water or to pump sewage, such a pumping plant would be a valuable as-set for the city. But that is incidental. The item of $100,000 for improving the pipe system in the city is also neces-sary. The pipes in the city would have to be altered. With so much more we-With so much more water coming in, the system would have be enlarged.

Unless we are prepared to bring wafrom the Duchesne, only the waters in the neighboring canyons are available. The city owns 80 per cent of the water that comes into the Jordan." Mr. Snow strongly advocated the Spring ofeck proposition as a good one for the city to adopt, as there is a supply of 14,000,000 gallons of fine water there He called atention to the fact that the city would get the farmers' water from Big Cottonwood all the year round vhile the city was supplying water from the lake to the farmers almost entirely between April 15 and Oct. 15. the lake water being 25 per cent more in volume than what was secured from the creek. "Then the farmers are apprehensive," he said, "of the city from its being a corporation against which they could not expect to fight successfully, and so demanded special safe-guards in the contract. They damand that if they do not get their lake water as per contract they will get their can-yon water back. At the same time, from the nature of things, it would be practically impossible to forfait the contract to the farmers, as there plenty of canyon water. It is possible to supply the water to the farmers as agreed, and the trade is as absolutely a purchase as if the money were paid. The big supply of water in Utah lake may be made to supply the place of money." In referring to the conduit question again, Mr. Snow held that a high line conduit would be worth more than the $10,000 extra required to con-struct higher up, as it could ultimately take in Fort Douglas and Capitol hill. ABOUT POWER

There was some discussion over the reference to the horse power suggested by the city engineer, and its benefit to the city, when Councilman Fern-strom showed that existing franchises only gave the city 30 horse power. which was utilized entirely in the city and county building, and leave to string wire on certain lines of poles.

Mr. Bierer was inclined to believe that the contract with the farmers would be unfair to the city. "The measurements," said he, "are taken June 15, then on July 15. In June the water is at its highest point, and that is used as a basis for calculating. On that calculation the city would have to furnish the farmers with water during the next 30 days and in the time when the water in the creek is gradually di-minishing. The city will be called upon to furnish the maximum amount of water in the creek and 25 per cent be-

MR. HALLORAN EXCEPTS.

W. J. Halloran rose to take exceptions to statements made that there would be no danger of the contracts ever being forfeited; and this brought out from the city engineer that it rue the contract was susceptible to modification, and that the farmers were amenable to reason, and Mr. Snow again remarked, "If we ever take possession the farmers will never get it back again." In response to questions, Mr. Snow called upon State Engineer Doremus to explain as to measurements, and the latter said:

"The measurement at either time is immaterial. The city must figure on the low-water stage of the creek. In fact, it is a low-water proposition altogether. There is always a maximum amount that the farmers can use. They cannot use more than their canals would hold. If figures were made on the basis suggested by Mr. Bierer, the their canals would contain. Besides, there is no difference in the catchment areas of Big Cottonwood and that of Utah lake. There will always be enough water in Utah lake to correspond with that in Big Cottonwood creek. If a certain amount of snow and rain falls in the Big Cottonwood watershed, there will be a corresponding amount in the Utah lake watershed. If there is any doubt as to the supply from Utah lake, we can rest assured that when Utah lake falls there will be no Big Cottonwood." Failure in the past has been due to the appliances, and there is not such another reservoir in the region as Utah lake, for there is any amount of water

OTHER TALKS.

James Thompson, the real estate man, advocated water meters and canyon reservoirs. But his remarks did not eem to carry much weight.

Rulon 8. Wells made an eloquent address in favor of local development, but was opposed to water meters. His speech was one of the best of the night and was loudly applauded.

Atty. F. S. Richards gave a very lucid explanation of the contract and its arings on the situation, showing there has been much misapprehension, and that there is really no occasion for fear. He said that the farmers were open to conviction and could be reasoned with; also, that such of the provisions of the contract as were not acceptable to the city could without difficulty be amended so as to be ac-reptable to both parties. The present status is only one of options, and the contract does not ratify those. Ashby Snow, counsel for the farmers, closed the evening, with a clear statement bearing out Mr. Richards' remarks, and explained the farmers' side of the situation so that it was at once apeuchre the city, but to deal on the square. After a few brief remarks by Stephen Love stating that this discus-sion had broken the back of the opposition, the question was put to the meeting and the board of governors was sustained in their action by a large and enthusiastic majority, hardly a dozen voices being against the motion to
