

HOUSE AGAINST TARIFF REVISION

Chairman Payne, with Tacit Approval of Speaker, Says Will Be No Commission.

BIG DELEGATION URGED ONE.

Comprised Representatives of Many of Largest Manufacturers of The Country.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The present Congress will not appoint a tariff commission. Revision of the tariff will be undertaken next winter in the short term.

These announcements, in substance, were made today by Chairman Payne of the house committee on ways and means, in the presence and with the tacit approval of Speaker Cannon, the occasion being a call upon those legislators by a tariff revision delegation from various parts of the country, comprising representatives of many of the largest manufacturing and industrial concerns in the United States and St. Louis, president of the National Association of Manufacturers; former Gov. N. J. Bachelor of New Hampshire; and H. E. Miller, vice chairman of the tariff committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

THE DELEGATION.

The delegation spent more than an hour representing their case and listening to replies by the two foremost Republican leaders in the house, while they were cordially received, were practically a refusal of all that the delegation had journeyed to Washington to plead for.

In introducing the subject of the appointment of a tariff commission, in line with the Beveridge bill recently offered in the senate, Mr. Van Cleave said the delegation was unanimous in the belief that "the tariff can be best handled by the application of a hard-headed business bill, which would so amend the tariff as to encourage the development of foreign commerce by the producers of the United States without at the same time exposing their goods to the reactionary effects of free trade. He said it was the firm belief of the vast interests represented by the members of the delegation that a wholesome revision of the tariff could be best got by a commission appointed to ascertain the costs of domestic production, the relative profits derivable from home and foreign sales, and all the multitudinous facts appertaining to so complex and important a subject.

WHAT IS WANTED.

"We want," he said, "and we believe we can truthfully state to you at the whole country wants, a sound and rational business consideration of the subject, and we believe, after long and earnest study of the situation, that the suggestion of the appointment of a tariff commission to stand between us and the tariff, and weigh and formulate the mass of technical information we have to offer, and to then present it to Congress in a compact and intelligent shape—embodies the best means of arriving at that result."

Other speakers along these lines, each of whom branched into concrete illustrations of the tariff, by citing the conditions existing in his particular business, were A. H. Saunders, representing the Reciprocity league of Chicago; H. E. Miles, chairman of the tariff committee of the National Association of Manufacturers; N. J. Bachelor of New Hampshire, master of the National Grange; S. H. Cowan, representing the National Live-stock association; and Cattle Raisers' association of Texas; G. A. Standish of Moline, Ill., representing the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle manufacturers; Mr. Metcalf, representing manufacturers of agricultural implements, and J. E. Wilder, representing the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and speaking for the sole leather manufacturers of the country.

CANNON'S VIEW.

Speaker Cannon, interrupting Mr. Metcalf, asked: "Do I understand that you favor on the part of the United States an even tariff with every other country in the world, except that we shall enforce our maximum tariff against such countries as discriminate against our exports—that you favor a minimum and maximum tariff with that application?"

The answer was strongly affirmative.

"Then," said the speaker, "I am glad to hear your medicine, for that is precisely the kind of tariff I believe in myself."

In his general answer to the statements of the delegation, Mr. Cannon spoke in part as follows:

"Let me suggest that should the house pass such a tariff commission bill as you ask for, there is no certainty of what the senate would do. Three senators can, by virtue of their right to an unlimited occupancy of the floor, hold up any measure for as long as two years, without possibility of its becoming a law."

"I fear greatly that your tariff commission would turn itself into a debating school, just as we do with ourselves here in the house, and that there would likely be a majority and a minority report."

The speaker here remarked that what troubled him far more than the problem of tariff revision was the prospect of "the period of liquidation" following 12 years "of such prosperity as the world had not seen in all its history, and he ventured that if the country could have the opportunity to return to its status of six months ago that chance would be hailed and embraced by every man within his hearing as of inestimable worth than any tariff revision that the skill of men could devise. "The national conventions," continued Speaker Cannon, "may determine that the next Congress shall revise the tariff; for it goes without saying that the policies to be conducted by these conventions will be the policies governing the two parties, and if to

BANKS' FINAL Clearance Sale OF Winter Millinery Continues until SATURDAY BANKS' 116 SOUTH MAIN ST.

The Democrats should be entrusted the power we know the tariff will be revised, and if with the Republicans remain the majority we know the power to revise will be in the next Congress vested. But let me ask you frankly: In this present time of financial depression and liquidation, how far, in the hands of a partisan commission, would a tariff investigation progress toward accomplishment?"

PAYNE TALKS.

He then gave way to Representative Payne. Mr. Payne made his position clear at once by appealing to the delegation to see the wisdom of the appointment of a "necessarily partisan tariff commission as proposed in the Beveridge bill, 'at the heels of a financial panic and on the eve of a presidential campaign.' " "You would not ask a committee of Congress to undertake a tariff revision at such a time," he said, "yet how much more disturbing it would be to have a commission holding public hearings on the tariff at this time."

"My position is that when it shall be best for the interests of the American people to undertake a revision of the tariff, it will be when I shall favor a revision; and I should urge a minimum and maximum tariff coupled with the existing law empowering the United States to make trade agreements with other countries; and I would follow France, Germany and Russia in the provision that the minimum tariff should afford a fair protection to home products."

"I think the signs of the times are that next winter this Congress will undertake a revision of the tariff. Shall we get our working information in the first hand from the producers themselves, or shall we content ourselves with getting it second hand from a body of men appointed as a tariff investigation commission? From what I have seen of the formation of tariff bills, I should by all means seek it at first hand. You cannot convince me, gentlemen, of the wisdom of appointing such a commission at this session."

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Men students in the psychology class of Prof. William Waugh of the University of Chicago, have petitioned their professor to forbid the wearing of picture hats by girls in the classroom. They assert the forests of veils and plumes interrupt their gaze upon the professor and cause them to flunk.

On Monday the professor sent out flunk notices to more than three-fourths of the men in the class, and the petition was their response.

Prof. Waugh said the matter would be taken to President Harry Pratt Johnson.

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB.

Organized in Chicago as Rival to Theaters and Music Halls.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A rival of the Sunday theaters, music halls and saloons in the downtown district has entered of Sunday evening resort in the city. It is the Chicago Sunday evening club, organized by business and professional men who have guaranteed an expenditure of more than $5,000 for the coming year to provide a place where strangers in Chicago and Chicago's down town hotels can gather on Sunday evenings for religious services in preference to the attractions that cater only to pleasure.

Orchestra hall has been leased by the club for the Sunday evenings of the remainder of this season and all of next season, beginning with October and ending with July. The first service will be on Feb. 16.

The services will be strictly undenominational. Both Protestant and Catholic clergymen, in addition to public men from Chicago and elsewhere, will appear on the platform.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Memphis, Tenn., says: While watching a play in which his father, the late Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, famous confederate cavalry leader, was portrayed as "chief of the Ku Klux Klan," Capt. William Forrest, an ex-confederate soldier, was the victim of a paralytic stroke last night at the Lyceum theater. He was removed to his residence, where at midnight physicians said he was in a critical condition. Sons in Washington and St. Louis have been summoned.

FALL OF FRANCO.

Officially Denied It Was Due to French Or English Intervention.

Paris, Feb. 4.—An official note was published here today denying the allegation made in a German newspaper and elsewhere that the fall of Premier Franco from power was due to the intervention of either France or Great Britain. "It is usually untrue," the statement declares, "that either Spain or Italy intend to intervene to bring about peace in Portugal. The powers will respect the rights of Portugal to guard herself with her own internal affairs."

HOME MIXTURE RELIEVES MANY

The "Vegetable Prescription" Filled Many Times in Two Weeks. Says Druggist.

SHAKE INGREDIENTS IN BOTTLE.

No Sufferer of Kidney or Bladder Troubles or Rheumatism Should Leave the Mixture Untried.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each meat and again at bedtime. There is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. Three is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.
