LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

BENEFIT.—On next Tuesday evening Miss Adams, our talented and accomplished home actress will have her benefit. The play is not yet announced, but all who are acquainted with the young lady's theatrical history, the study and care she bestows upon her characters, and her past performances for the public on the Salt Lake boards will feel assured that the evening's entertainment will be well worth seeing.

FIND in the published list of names of Missionaries for Sweden Jens Holmberg, which is an error. Johan or John, of Salt Lake City, was intended. E. SNOW.

"PHIL."—We have met during the last few days many individuals, who had considerable to say about their luck in drawing prizes, and among the number our sanctified-looking theatrical comedian "Phil," who has been very lucky at certain stages of his life in drawing at one time, according to his own words (which are ever truthful and pious) against a thousand odds, he drew a handcar from Salt Lake City to the Missouri river. Is there any one outside of "Mormondom," ecclesiastically inclined who has beat that drawing?

RECEIVED.—We have received a communication from Mr. S. W. Woolley and J. R. Clark, in relation to the accident that occurred at the Point of the Mountain, west, notices of which appeared in our issues of the 6th and 7th inst. Having received a letter on the same subject from Mr. Alma H. Hale, which appears in another column, the publications of Messrs. Woolley and Clark's letter would only be a repetition.

FINED.—T. C. Brown was fined $7.50 this morning for being drunk.

OBITUARIES AND OBITUARY.—The funeral services of William L. Price took place at Sixth Ward School-house yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. On the stand were Elder Geo. Q. Cannon, Bishops E. D. Woolley, W. Hickenlooper and J. Proctor. A large concourse of relatives and friends assembled together, when Elder Geo. Q. Cannon delivered an impressive and instructive address. After the service was concluded, the members of the Deseret Typographical Union, en masse, marched in procession, following the corpse, and with thirteen carriages containing the acquaintances of the deceased, proceeded to the cemetery, where the mortal remains were interred.

William L. Price was born at Ellesmere, Shropshire, England, in the year 1827; was educated and immigrated to Utah in 1852, and commenced to work in the DESERET NEWS Office in the Fall of the same year, and has continued, with slight interruptions, in the employ up to the Fall of 1868. Some three years since his health showed symptoms of decay, caused by over-exposure on a trip through the northern part of the Territory; and he has been prostrated by sickness several times since. In the early part of last Fall he was severely attacked by bronchitis and other diseases, which have confined him to his bed until the evening of the 8th inst., when he had to succumb to King Death, and left this stage of existence calmly and peacefully.

His prominence in the early settlement of this city made him many acquaintances, and his memory will live in the respects of a large number of our citizens for a long time.

At a special meeting of the Deseret Typographical Union, April 9, 1860, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the members of the Deseret Typographical Union, deplored the loss of one of the oldest representatives of the Fraternity in this Territory, hereby tender their heartfelt sympathy and condolence to the bereaved wife.

The melancholy occurrence that has taken from her a life's partner, has bereft her of a valued friend and brother, who by his humanity, straightforward conduct and cheerful life, gained many personal friends, who, conscious of their loss, are devoted to the hour of his death.

Poetry.—Conference now is over, the people all gone home; and as usual heretofore, our Local has to come; Up the street and down the street, and all around the town; Hunting for some pleasant news to make the people frown; What on earth are we coming to, will no one have a fight? Our local column only says that everything is right; No dead dogs lay around the street, no hogs at large do run; No chickens scratching in the yard, nothing to have fun with. The "Deseret" outfit in the City Hall is a fine looking outfit. The jury's verdict in the course, and all hands are agreed. Co-operation goes along buying everybody out. The horses all are looking weak, though pretending they are stout. The little "hoppers" don't hatch out, as fast as people thought. The thieves have either all refrained, or none of them are caught. The Corporation feels very bad, to see the greenbacks fail. The town of Corinne in the north, has got the world by the tail. Our bucket head has got so fat, the people all look sick; Just throw a stick against the wall if you want to see it stick! Saw J. M. Simmons looking fine, under the Revere, who kindly gave our fainting soul a glass of champagne. The only business lively now, is that of being wed. The world "wagon" the "Mormons" live, the Devil is not dead.

We have had a call from Mr. Addis, General Agent for McCormick's Reapers and Mowers. He is anxious to establish a permanent agency for the sale of these machines in this territory. Mr. Addis claims many advantages for them.

The Reaper is adapted for and does work well in any condition of grain and ground, and will answer excellently, through its well proportioned size and weight, in the territory where machines are subjected to the strain of irrigating ditches. The McCormicks have such confidence in their machines that they have a standing proposition before the public to give a full guarantee for any machine to be placed alongside of and tested with any other machine in the country, on this condition. The farmers have the use of both machines to choose from, and the machine which comes first will be paid for according to the market the one rejects. The objection to the old machine was that it had too heavy a draft; so remedy this they have built a light one, and it is equal to the old. Two good horses the old machine still stands unrivaled.
