

less there was difficulty on board the ship. At the outset there was some difficulty between Hall and Badlington, but this was settled. There was something very mysterious in Hall's death. I would not like to say that he was killed by one of his men in a mutiny, but it would almost look so. I have never known of any one dying in that region of apoplexy, and Captain Hall certainly did not look like an apoplectic man. I think there is a strong probability that the people on board the Polaris are safe, and that the vessel will be back here by September. The men who deserted the ship probably did so because of Hall's death. He was a brave and resolute man, and started out with a determination to reach the North Pole. It would take him five years to do it. He was one of the pluckiest men I ever saw, and would certainly have stayed two years more to accomplish his purpose if death had spared him, death or murder, I don't know which."

WASHINGTON.—The remains of Chief Justice Chase arrived here early this a.m., accompanied by his relatives and pall bearers, and was conveyed to the supreme court room.

BOSTON.—Over 3,000 people attended the funeral of Oakes Ames, at North Easton to-day. The services were in the form prescribed in the Unitarian Church. Among those present were Vice President Wilson, Senator Boutwell, the Lieutenant Governor of Mass., President of the Senate, speaker of the House of Representatives, several past and present members of the Governor's council, of which Ames was a member, during Governor's Andrews' and Claflins administration. Congressmen Gooch and Butler, ex-Congressmen Alexander H. Rice, General Twitchell and E. H. Rollins, and Governor Gardner, of Mass. The body was taken to the Easton cemetery, and was followed by a long cortege. The workmen in the employ of Oliver Ames & Sons, 400 in number, marched in the procession. Eight of the employees were selected as pall bearers.

YREKA, Cal., 10.—An ambulance containing Lt. Egan, Lt. Green, a sergeant and one discharged soldier, en route for San Francisco, arrived here this forenoon from Gen. Davis's headquarters at the lava beds, and will leave by stage to-morrow. The party left camp at 8 a.m. on Thursday, shortly after the receipt of the news of the escape of the Modocs, and the attack on the lumber train mentioned in yesterday's dispatches. The witty savages illuminated the pinnacles of their lava stronghold with fires for the purpose of deceiving the enemy, and decamped immediately after. The officers are satisfied beyond a doubt, that the Modocs have left the beds and that they are now pushing forward to Goose Lake. This new feature of the campaign has caused General Davis to hold the lava beds as his permanent headquarters. The Indians have only a trifling head start, and are likely to be overtaken within a few days. They cannot move near as fast as the Warm Spring Indians, on account of being hampered with squaws and wounded. All the reports received indicate that they are disheartened and have had a surfeit of fighting. Fifteen warriors have been killed during the war, and several wounded. More than five Indians were killed by the wounded soldiers of Major Thomas' command. Private Benham, of company E., who was buried the other day, said the Indians did not show themselves until they supposed every soldier in the vicinity of Col. Wright's position had been killed, and then the soldiers, with death staring them in the face, fired shot after shot with telling effect. Benham, himself, though shot through both arms and through the body, fired on an Indian who was crawling over a rock to scalp him. Lt. Egan was shot in the left thigh early in the three days' fight, and remained on the field and in command of his company until after nightfall, giving his commands by messengers to the two sergeants who commanded the right and left. The ball was a round one and made a clean hole. The world knows how the gallant Thomas died with his little band of heroes, after refusing to retreat. But the half has not been told of Wright. He was shot through the shoulder and then accidentally shot himself in the hand while capping his revolver, and still he held his command and strove to cheer his soldiers by his example. After this he received his mortal wound and fell, and while his life blood was ebbing away and death stared him in the face, he raised his revolver and fired at the savages. He was reclining on his side and elbow, his revolver was in his hand and aimed, and his eye fixed with a cold, glassy stare on the barrel when he was discovered.

YREKA, 10.—Geo. Campbell, a well known and reliable gentleman, came in from Bogus this evening and reports having seen Bogus Charley and squaw on the Klamath river above where Fenning saw him. He says Charley told him he was in the three days' fight and killed three soldiers and a Warm Spring Indian. He was tired of fighting, and was not going to fight any body, but if the whites wanted to fight any more he was ready. He also said that more Modocs would be along in a few days.

LOS ANGELES, 11.—The Arizona Miner, of the 3rd inst., says that on Sunday, the 27th ult., more than 200 Indians left Date Creek reservation. The removal of all the Indians from Date Creek to the Verde reservation had been determined on and many had refused to go. Their removal was to commence May 1st. James Pie and his band skeddaddled; it is conjectured that they have gone to the Colorado reservation, where some of them have had a residence before. Some of these high toned Apaches say they will fight before they will go to Verde; some of them are sure to break out from any reservation to which they may go, sooner or later. An officer from Fort Whipple informs us that the Indians, to the number of 400 or 500, started quietly on Thursday for the Verde reservation. Lieut. Schuyler, with a detachment of twenty-five men, are escorting the party. Some of James Pie's band have returned and are with the party. About 100 are supposed to be in the mountains, and as Captain McGregor is in that section with his company, the Indians will be likely to see trouble unless they keep quiet.

Pap Tighe was arrested on Saturday. That he knows something about the Goodrich murder, is well known, and the criminal police say that if he cannot be connected with that murder, they will have him tried for assault on Marshal Ducey on election day, and should he escape punishment for that, he will be tried as an accomplice in binding and gagging Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, while their house was robbed, about four months ago.

A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says the administration is unable to understand why Kellogg does not make a requisition for federal troops. As soon as a requisition is made, the President will issue a proclamation in the most positive language, admonishing the citizens of Louisiana to peace, dispersing the McEnery government, proclaiming the Kellogg as the lawful government and announcing the intention of the Executive to sustain Kellogg with the whole military force of the country if necessary. This proclamation is to be accompanied with an order to send all the available troops to report to General Emory at New Orleans. The proclamation will be in such language that will be susceptible of no doubtful meaning.

SAN FRANCISCO, 12.—A courier arrived from Yreka at 9 a.m. to-day, bringing news of a battle with Hasbrouck's command and the Modocs; in which the Indians were repulsed. No particulars yet.

LAVA BEDS, 10, via Yreka, 12.—On the 9th instant an expedition for the recovery of Lieutenant Arthur Cranston, of the 4th artillery, and the men of his command, who were missing in the engagement of April 26, and the men who could not be brought off the field, left camp under the command of Lieutenant Edward Field, of the 4th artillery. The force consisted of batteries A and K of the 4th artillery, and companies E and G of the 12th infantry, under the command of Lieutenants Camp and Kingsbury. The command left camp at 6:30 a.m., and was supported by troops F and K of the 1st cavalry, and a detachment of troop H, of the same regiment, the cavalry being under the command of Captain Joel H. Tremble, of the 1st cavalry. The object of the expedition was frustrated by reason of the advanced state of decomposition in which the bodies were found. The troops, however, buried the bodies on the field where they fell, and headboards were placed at the graves of Lieutenant Cranston and the men who were with him. The bodies of eight men who were left on the field had sagebrush piled over them, which had been fired by the Indians, and they were almost unrecognizable.

Inspector General Hardie started this a.m. for Fort Klamath, Oregon, where he is instructed to learn from the Indian agent the disposition of the Indians in that vicinity. This done, he will return and will proceed on a tour of inspection through the several posts of Oregon, Nevada and Fort Coalville, Idaho.

Acting assistant surgeon B. Semig, of the U. S. A., had his leg amputated yesterday between the ankle and the knee. He has been recommended by all the officers in this command for a commission, with a view of placing him on the retired list.

The Secretary of the Navy has telegraphed to the U. S. Consul at St. Johns, to inform the department of the best means to bring the survivors of the Polaris to this city. If no other conveyance is presented the government will dispatch a steamer to Bay Roberts.

St. LOUIS.—Black Bess, the beautiful mare with which Leo Hudson has been playing "Mazeppa," in different parts of the country, fell from the stage at the Grand Opera House here on Saturday night, falling about fourteen feet, and received injuries from which she died yesterday. Miss Hudson was also badly bruised, but not seriously injured.

FOREIGN.

VIENNA.—There was a wild panic on the bourse to-day caused by the failure of a leading firm, which threw a large amount of stock on the market. So great was the excitement that business became impossible. Speculators have petitioned the Government to order a suspension of transactions for several days, and to adopt measures of relief. During the height of the panic Rothschild & Schey were publicly insulted.

The number of visitors to the Exhibition since the opening, has been from 12,000 to 16,000 daily.

LONDON.—A special to the Standard from Vienna states that a serious difference has arisen between Arch Duke Charles Louis, the Patron, and Baron Schwartz, Superintendent of the Universal Exhibition, in consequence of the backwardness of the arrangements. The Emperor is siding with the Baron. The Archduke Charles has taken umbrage, and has left Vienna.

LONDON.—It is reported that the Spanish minister to Great Britain has made a demand on Earl Granville for the prosecution of the London Carlist committee, which is soliciting funds to aid the cause of Don Carlos.

VIENNA, 10.—The recent crisis on the bourse was local in character and grew out of dissatisfaction in regard to some security placed on the market by the Rothschilds. The military was called out and the bourse closed for three days.

ROME.—During the sitting of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, a crowd numbering 200 persons marched to the Quirinal, making riotous demonstrations on the way, shouting for the complete abolition of religious corporations. The police made a stand against the mob and prevented it from entering the palace.

LONDON.—At a republican convention held in Birmingham to-day, a letter from John Bright was read, discountenancing republican agitation, and emphatically declaring that the writer had no sympathy with those who sought to uproot the British monarchy.

LONDON, 12.—A special dispatch to the London Times reports that the Russian picket party, under command of a colonel, of the advance guard of General Kuffman's column, were surprised by some Bokhars horsemen, and all put to death by impalement; three officers and a few men were captured by the Kirghes between the Orsk and Kasalinsk.

MADRID.—The preliminary elections for the Constituent Cortes began in this city yesterday. The number of votes cast on the first day was 32,525. The voting continues to-day. A large majority for a federal republic is assured. The vote cast by other parties was insignificant. Although there is much excitement the election has, so far, been peaceful.

The Prince of Wales will leave for Pesth to-morrow, accompanied by Prince Arthur.

CAN'T DO IT BY ARGUMENT.—M. S., in the Massachusetts Ploughman, says—

The history of the Mormons is very interesting from the time they left Palmyra, N. Y., to the present time. They have some able preachers and elders, and are zealous and indefatigable. They are heavy on an argument, and know well how to handle their opponents. I have heard several public discussions, and they generally get the last word. Rev. Dr. Newman got the worst in his argument with one of their Elders at Salt Lake; he will not attempt to put them down with words or argument.

WAITING FOR SPIKES.—Had there been sufficient spikes on hand the Coalville and Echo narrow gauge railroad would have been completed to the Wasatch coal mine, about seven miles beyond the first named place, last night. The company ran out of spikes, however, and the work will be suspended till a supply arrives, and they are on the way.

Mr. George Nebeker has contracted with the balance of the stockholders of the Wasatch coal mine to run the latter for three years, and it is presumable that he, as well as the owners of other coal beds, will contrive, when the railroad is in working order, to supply Salt Lake with coal at cheap rates. If they do so they have heavy advantages for securing for the Weber District the great bulk of the coal trade of this city and vicinity, the mines of that district being so much closer than any other known or developed coal beds.

With railroad communication opened with this extensive coal region, there is but small prospect of coal dealers again making such a "fat" thing of a Salt Lake coal famine as they did last winter.

A good plan for coal dealers to adopt would be for them to contract, especially during the winter months, with establishments and families, to supply the coal needed by the latter parties monthly. This plan presents advantages to both dealers and consumers, in that the former would thus secure a large amount of legitimate custom that he could depend upon, while the latter would not be under the necessity of laying in a large quantity of coal at once, thus preventing the loss of a large percentage by slackage. Besides, dealers could supply coal in this way at car load prices.

CHEESE-MAKING.

Statement of Mr. John Pack, submitted to the Desert Agricultural and Manufacturing Society.

I have twenty-five cows. Do not feed any grain or roots. Average yield per cow for the season, one hundred pounds. I get the night's milk in pans, and in the morning take off the cream. I warm the milk for the reception of the rennet in Wm. Ralph's Oneida cheese vat; heat the milk to 84 degrees; test the same by a thermometer. I salt and dry the rennet before using; prepare them for use by soaking in strong brine. I separate the whey from the curd by gradual heat; raise the temperature to 100 degrees; time consumed in scalding, about five hours. I use about four ounces of salt to ten pounds of curd; use English Annato for coloring the curd, adding it before putting in the rennet; put the curd to press cold. Apply about five tons pressure for twenty-four hours; average weight of cheese, fifty pounds. I bandage the cheese after five hours pressure; keep them in a well ventilated room. I apply whey oil warm to the cheese while curing, turning them once in twenty-four hours; use a screw press. I feed the whey to hogs. I keep a dairy account; average income per cow last year, including the calf, was about twenty-five dollars.

DIED.

At Peekville, Iowa, April 26th, of consumption, aged 27, JULIA E. daughter of Homer Duncan, Esq., Cedar City, formerly of Salt Lake City, Utah.

A rosy morn; a cloudless sky

At noon, the lightning sped

And one proud heart, its faults, its good,
Meets earth's uncounted dead,

Pays all its dues, reaps full reward

For all of life and youth,

And though a stranger's grave is filled,
Her friends doubt not her Truth.

NO DECEPTION.—There is no deception in Dr. Price's Special Flavorings and Cream Baking Powder. His bottles of flavorings hold one-half more than others sold for the same size, and every flavor is true to its name, made from select fruits and aromatics and cheaper, as it is only necessary to use a small quantity to obtain each peculiar flavor; natural and delicate. His Celery Flavor is excellent for gravies and meats, his Ginger Flavor for gingerbread, gingersnaps and anything in which ginger is used will be found elegant. Try them, Ladies, and we warrant that you will be pleased. d144
