THIRTEEN KILLED AND THIRTY INJURED AT CHARKOW.

The Campbell Divorce Suit Concluded, Etc.

The Verdict in The Campbell Divorce Case.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Sir Charles Russell concluded his argument for Lady Colin Campbell in her divorce suit against her husband to-day. The Judge proceeded at once to submit the case to the jury. He said Lord Colin denied his wife's charge of infidelity which depended chiefly on the testimony of Lady Miles. Whatever might be said against Lady Miles by the defense, it must be admitted she was until lately Lord Colin's friend; that she had done all in her power to discourage the bringing of the action against him and that she only took Lady Colin's part when she became convinced that unjust charges were to be brought against that lady. The testimony given by the doctors that Mary Watson was a virgo intacta, did not negative the testimony given by Lady Miles that she saw Lord Colin and the girl in such a position as to warrant the belief that the pair were guilty. Suspicion, however, the Judge said, was insufficient if adultery was not proven as a fact. The jury were bound to find that Lord Colin was innocent.

At the last trial in which Lady Colin secured a decree of separation, it was shown that Lord Colin had given plaintiff a disease in such a manner as to amount to cruelty, which she alleges as the basis of her petition for a separation in the present case. The evidence against Lady Colin depended on what the family servants said. This should be received with suspicion. In regard to the Purfleet incident, the judge said there were so many important examples of mistaken identity that the jury would be compelled to carefully consider whether sufficient evidence had been adduced to establish the statement that the lady who was there with the Duke of Marlborough was Lady Colin. If Neptune Blood's testimony was true, that he saw Lady Colin on that day at home, then the Purfleet story was demolished.

Referring to the allegations concerning Lady Colin's conduct at Leigh Court, the Judge said that they depended again on the stories told by the servants and principally that of Rose Baer.

Her own fellows described her as a chatterer, and she had contradicted herself, and other witnesses had contradicted her on important points. She at first swore that the Duke of Marlborough and Lady Colin occupied the same apartment for an entire week at Leigh Court, and afterwards she testified that the Duke of Marlborough was at Leigh Court only two nights. The Judge declared he believed Rose Baer had invented the story about Lady Colin and the Duke of Marlborough sitting together like lovers on a bench in Paddington Station. Lord Colin's conduct towards his wife while she was in Paris, on the occasion when he telegraphed the Paris police to arrest her and place in the prostitutes' prison, Justice Butts characterized as outrageous, remarking that he never had known of anything more dishonest than Lord Colin's allegation to the Paris officers that his wife was living in open adultery with one of the co-respondents and should be arrested and treated as a common woman of the town. The story told by the man servant O'Neill that he once saw, through the keyhole of the door in the dining room at Cadogan Place, Chief Shaw and Lady Colin in criminal intercourse, the Judge said he could not regard with favor. The jury must consider whether O'Neill's letter to Lady Colin, after his discharge by her, seeking re-appointment was not an attempt at blackmail; and the jury should further consider the question whether Chief Shaw's testimony in denial, as a statement of a distinguished public servant, was not worth as much, if not more, than the statement of such a person as O'Neil. Gen. Butler, the court thought, should have come into court and given testimony as to his innocence, but so long as he chooses to remain away, there was no power in England to make him come. It would, however, the Judge said, be impossible to exaggerate the meanness exhibited by General Butler, if he was innocent, in remaining away from the court, because in so doing, he was deserting Lady Colin. But the Judge told the jury they must not take Butler's absence as evidence of guilt on either his or Lady Colin's part. Replying to the question of a juryman the Judge said that General Butler was beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and that a subpœna could not compel him to attend and testify because, being a correspondent, he was protected by the clause of the law which makes it impossible to ask an incriminating question unless the witness is a voluntary one.

The case was then given to the jury and they retired.

At 10 o'clock they returned with a verdict. They found that Lord Colin Campbell had not committed adultery and that Lady Colin had not committed adultery with any of the co-respondents. The jury added a rider that the conduct of General Butler was unworthy of a gentleman and officer, and had caused the only difficulty which the jury experienced in reaching a decision. The announcement of the verdict was received with applause.

The newspapers, in their comments on the Campbell trial, express the opinion that although the verdict is not satisfactory, the jury could have come to no other conclusion, and that the case shows the necessity of an alteration of the divorce proceedings, in the direction of closed-door trials.

A Chicago dispatch says: The Schufeldt Distillery Company has announced that it has thoroughly disinfected its sheds which were recently occupied by the cattle afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia and will at once fill them with steers or bulls. Watchmen, to be designated by the Live Stock Commission and paid by the distillery company, are to be hired to see that no cattle are removed from the sheds except for slaughter, and then only after having been passed upon by the State Veterinarian. The company agrees to be responsible for any outbreak of contagious disease in the sheds. The company believes, with Dr. Gadsden, that pleuro-pneumonia can only be communicated by the breath of the living animal. It is said the Schufeldt Company has 300 steers from Montana ready to put in the sheds.

THE DALTON MURDER.

BEAVER, Utah,
December 17, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

As I presume you have been posted as to the circumstances of the murder of our beloved brother Edward Dalton, Jr., of Parowan, by Deputy Marshal William Tompson, I need not repeat them. In the first place everybody who knows anything of law, knows that an officer has no right to kill a man charged with a misdemeanor, although he may be escaping from said officer, much less a man who had not been examined or tried, and whom the law holds to be innocent until proven guilty. The extent of the offense of which Brother Dalton was charged was six months' imprisonment and $300 fine. Still he must be shot down by a man clothed with a little brief authority, simply because he did not bow down to his dictum. There is not a shadow of law to sustain the murderous deed. As well might a policeman of your city shoot a man who had been boisterous, thereby disturbing the peace of the community and trying to evade arrest. In fact, the case would be more aggravated, for everyone knows that to disturb the peace is wrong, whilst the man killed was merely indicted on a charge of having obeyed the dictates of his conscience in living with his wives, whom it is understood he married before the passage of the ex post facto Edmunds law.

That the case is clearly one of wilful murder, to my mind, does not admit of a reasonable doubt. Now as to this "Mormon" apostate and deputy U. S. marshal, nothing need be said about him where his character is known. His and Gleason's raids upon the premises of citizens of Greenville, in this county, are still fresh in the minds of the citizens of that place and the public. It will also be remembered that this same man, then a guard, but now a deputy marshal, deserted his post a few years ago and thereby permitted the convicted murderer, the notorious Ben Tasker, to make his escape. George Tracy was placed at the north and front of the Court House and Thompson at the south and rear, the only possible places of escape. The night was a little cold and Tracy built a fire, while Thompson, better known as "Bill Thompson," left his post to warm at Tracy's fire. During his absence he murderer made his escape through the rear of the building, where "Bill" should have been on the lookout. A little of that vigilance he has recently been using towards his once "Mormon" brethren would have held the notorious Tasker for the atonement of his crimes and saved the suspicion that there was money in the job.

Cannot our government, the best on earth, find better material to execute its mandates? If not, its cause must be exceedingly degrading, or we are drifting to Anarchy and ruin as fast and as surely as the sun rises and sets. Will the law for once be enforced against the assassins of a Latter-day Saint? We shall see.

DANIEL TYLER.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A WORD FROM DETROIT.

DETROIT HOUSE OF CORRECTION,
Michigan, Dec. 12th, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

Please allow me through your columns to address a few lines to my beloved brethren and fellow prisoners, for conscience sake, brethren, sisters and friends in Zion, the priesthood generally, and good and kind friends everywhere.

Thousands of miles away makes us feel keenly our position and appreciate an opportunity to communicate our feelings to our fellow sufferers. Feeling keenly the sufferiegs of our wives and children, thus deprived of husbands, fathers and protectors, we join in solemn prayer constantly for their welfare and ask the blessing of God upon our brethren and sisters in Zion who in any manner aid in encouraging and materially helping the (for a time) widows and fatherless, that we can say like our Savior did, I lay in prison, "And ye visited me; I was naked, and ye clothed me; hungry and ye gave me to eat; what ye did to my family ye did to me."

Your brethren have not been deserted by the spirit of God, even in this far off location. Friendly feelings are exhibited towards the servants of God, by which our stay here is made comparatively easy, and through our humble and faithful prayers much prejudice is being removed from the minds of honorable men and women which we always pray may bear fruit in the Lord's own time.

Our Arizona brethren broke the ice and laid a foundation on which we are doing our best to build a structure that some day may become a pleasant abode for the Holy Spirit to occupy. I am satisfied that our imprisonment preaches louder than any sermon we might deliver, as through our daily actions we as a people will be more understood and our sincerity of conviction will be more and more established among the honorable on the earth; and this fact gives us happiness to perform our duties and invoke the blessings of God upon our humble efforts and count it a blessing to be a co-worker in the establishment of God's kingdom in the last days.

It is only a matter of time until we shall be allowed to serve God according to the dictates of our own conscience and according to the spirit of the glorious Constitution of our country; as near as I can learn this is the sentiment with all the Elders here and thanks to the officers' kindness we enjoy more liberty and privileges than we expected when first entering this institution. Sweet as liberty is we do not feel like murmuring over our position, but say, "Father, thy will be done," looking with pleasure to the day when we can meet our families and friends. The Elders are enjoying good health so far as I can see. With friendship and love to all, I am

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y.

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest—is the only true middle-link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

THE GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodations is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

ALL EXPRESS TRAINS between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of comfortable DAY COACHES, magnificent PULLMAN PALACE PARLOR and SLEEPING CARS, elegant DINING CARS providing excellent meals, and —between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE

Is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of interior Dakota are reached via Watertown.

A short desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points.

All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly attention.
