NOTICE.

The Home Missionaries and the Bishops of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion are requested to meet in the Social Hall on Saturday, July 9th, 1887, at 7.30 p. m. A full attendance is desired.

ANGUS M. CANNON,
President of Stake.

FRAGMENTS.

"OLD LAVENDER" at the Theatre to-night, the last one of the Harrigan engagement.

A LIBERAL reward is offered elsewhere in this issue for the return of a lady's fan. Read it.

A CHINAMAN was arrested to-day by the police for presenting a forged check at one of the city banks.

THE Salt Lake County Convention of the People's Party meets at 3 p. m. to-morrow in the County Court House.

JAMES BROWN, John Tanner, Henry Conners and Frank Tanner were each fined $15 to-day for stealing a ride on the D. & R. G. W.

HEBER PHELPS was fined $10 and Morton Curtes $5, yesterday afternoon, by Justice Pyper, for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Parson.

THE elections for school trustees will be held on Monday evening. The "Liberals" propose making an effort to carry the Eighth and Twelfth school districts in this city.

READ carefully the provisions of the Constitution for the proposed State of Utah, published in to-days NEWS, as finally adopted by the Constitutional Convention yesterday afternoon.

AT 12, NOON, to-morrow the Representative District conventions of the People's Party will meet in the various districts to nominate candidates for the House of Representatives for the next Legislature.

MR. C. W. CARTER, photographic artist, caught a view of the Fourth of July procession as it passed up East Temple Street, and the spectators that lined that thoroughfare. He presents to the public an excellent picture.

REV. FATHER SEANLAN, the Catholic Bishop of Utah, is expected to arrive from the west this evening. He is to be received with becoming honors by his friends, Held's band having been engaged to be present at the railway depot and provide the music.

Sunday School Union.

The regular meeting of the Sunday School Union, will be held on Tuesday evening, July 12, 1887, being postponed from Monday evening on account of the trustee elections held on that evening.

Celebration at Richfield.

The town of Richfield, Sevier County, with its characteristic vim, enterprise and patriotism, had a big celebration on the Fourth. A correspondent sends us an account of the proceedings of the day, which, however, would read like stale news now, and is not therefore, published.

The "Liberals."

Last evening the "Liberals" of the Fifth Precinct met in the Twelfth District scoolhouse and held a rather inharmonious meeting. The result was that E. D. Hoge was nominated as candidate for Representative from that district, and Thomas Marshall named as the candidate for Councilman that should be selected by the Second and Fifth Precinct.

Logan Temple Lectures.

We have received a copy of a pamphlet of 143 pages, comprising Logan Temple Lectures. It is a series of lectures delivered before the Temple school of science during the years 1885-6. It is a valuable and attractive work, presenting to the student a comprehensive budget of truths, enunciated in clear and correct language. The Utah Journal Company are the publishers. The price of the pamphlet is 50 cents.

A. J. Kershaw Arrested.

Yesterday Andrew J. Kershaw, of Ogden, obtained a pass from Marshal Dyer to visit some friends at the Penitentiary. While out at that institution he was placed under arrest on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, and yesterday afternoon gave bonds in the sum of $2,000 for his appearance before the First District Court at Ogden. Mr. Kershaw once pleaded guilty to a similar offense, and promised to obey the law.

"The Leather Patch."

There was another good-sized house at the Theatre last evening to see the absurdity or rather string of absurdities labeled as above. The audience were hilarious from the rise of the curtain to the going down thereof, and the artists must have felt that they were fully appreciated. There were some more new songs, the best one being "It Showered Again," and the music of the superb orchestra was again a marked feature of the entertainment.

To-night, the last one, the company appear in "Old Lavender," one of Harrigan's early specialties.

From England.

Elder Quincy B. Nicholls, who had charge of the last company of immigrants, resides in Brigham City. We had the pleasure of a call from him last evening. He left home May 31st, 1883, and labored in the London Conference nearly a year when he was transferred to the Sheffield Conference, where he remained until released. He met with fair success in his labors.

Just before leaving England, at a place near Sheffield, Elder Nichols was present at a meeting at which a discussion occurred between one of our missionaries and the notorious Jarman. The latter made an address of a highly sensational character, which greatly excited the audience. For a time a riot seemed imminent. Jarman sought to effect this, and evidently desired that it should result in the killing of the Elders who were present. The missionary who replied to his inflammatory utterances, made such an appeal to the intelligence of his auditors, and showed so plainly from Jarman's own statements what was his real character, that a large portion of the audience, embracing the more respectable and intelligent members of it were won over to the Elders. A second meeting was held, the time being divided between Jarman and the missionary, in which the latter improved another opportunity to nail the falsehoods of the notorious anti-"Mormon" agitator. This discussion has served to awaken a great interest in the work in that section.

CLOSED ITS LABORS.

The Convention Adopts a Constitution and Adjourns.

Yesterday afternoon, the final reading of the Constitution for the proposed State of Utah was completed by the Convention, and at 4:30 the ayes and noes were called for on its final passage. On the roll being called all the delegates present—66 in number—voted "aye." Two others, LeGrand Young, and L. S. Hills, of Salt Lake, Lewis Anderson, of Sanpete, and Robert W. Heybourne, of Iron, were absent. Messrs. Young and Anderson subsequently affixed their signatures with the remainder of the delegates, but Messrs. Hills and Heybourne are out of the city.

After the adoption of the Constitution the following resolution, offered by F. S. Richards, was carried:

"Resolved, that the President and Secretary of this convention address a communication to each of the registration officers in the Territory appointed by the Utah Commission and whose duty it is to post notices of the general election to be held on the first Monday in August, 1887, asking them to include in their notices the statement that the Constitution of the State of Utah will be voted upon at said election; also that similar communications be addressed to each of the county clerks, asking them to post notices of said voting in each precinct on or before the 16th day of July, if the registrars fail to include the desired statement in their notice, and that the judges of elections of the several precincts in the Territory be requested in like manner to receive and count the votes for and against the Constitution."

On motion of O. G. Snow, 5,000 copies of the Constitution were ordered printed for distribution.

A recess was then taken till 8 p. m. and on reassembling the members of the Convention affixed their signatures to the Constitution.

It was decided that when the Convention adjourn it be subject to the call of the President.

At 10 p. m. the Convention adjourned, the President, Hon. John T. Caine, saying, in announcing the vote:

Gentlemen of the Convention:

Before we separate, permit me to congratulate you upon the result of your labors, and upon the unanimity which has characterized your proceedings. We have accomplished the work delegated to us by our constituents. That it has been well done, the Constitution which has been adopted will bear witness. The burning issues in Utah politics have been squarely met, and if the provisions incorporated in the Constitution are received by the nation in the same spirit in which they are presented, the Utah question will soon be eliminated from our national politics and the star of Utah will yet shine forth as the brightest in the galaxy of States. [Applause.] Whatever the result of our labors, we have the satisfaction of knowing that we have done our duty as God has given us to see it. The subject of minority representation and other questions upon which we failed to agree can safely be left to the legislature of the future State, the members of which we hope, will possess the same spirit of liberality which characterized the convention in framing the fundamental law.

Thanking you all for your forbearance and your courtesy to the chair, and wishing you a safe return to your homes, I now declare this convention adjourned subject to the call of its president.

The members of the convention then dispersed.

A WORSHIPING MOB.

Gathered to Abuse, It Listens to Missionaries.

In our issue of June 24th appeared the substance of a communication from Elder Redick R. Allred, now laboring in Mayapple, Alabama, in which was given a copy of a notice calling a meeting at Mayapple for the purpose of raising a mob to drive the "Mormons" out of that section. The notice was signed by a man named J. Cook and others. The meeting was held in pursuance of the call. Elder Allred, his traveling companion Elder H. B. Morris, with a few friends were the first on the ground. A large number of citizens had assembled when J. Cook approached the gathering. When he saw the Elders in the crowd, a sort of fear came over him, and he slunk into a shop near by. Some of the crowd expressed the belief that he would not show his face. Three quarters of an hour passed, and as no leader or speaker came forward, the Elders improved the opportunity to address the crowd, which manifested a willingness to listen. The Elders asked some one to suggest a subject, but as there was no response, they treated upon the principles of American liberty, showing what rights every citizen had, and concluded by warning their listeners of events close at hand, and by testifying to the truth of the Gospel.

Cook was among the listeners while the Elders were speaking, and when the crowd dispersed he sneaked off alone. We glean these particulars from a letter written by Elder Allred, in which he attributes the wonderful change of spirit in the crowd, to the power of God. It had assembled as a mob, but stayed to worship.

Saw Dust in Trout Streams.

We are asked to state if the law provides any means of preventing the destruction of trout in our mountain streams, by the deposit in the latter of saw dust. In reply it is only necessary to cite section 6 of the Fish and Game Law, which reads as follows:

"Every person who puts into the waters of this Territory any poisonous or explosive substance, or anything that is injurious to fish, or that renders the water unfit for household purposes, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Any act made by law a misdemeanor is punishable by a fine in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both. The procedure to be taken in the case of a person who deposits saw dust in a trout stream, is precisely similar to that in a case of petty larceny, disturbing the peace, or any other misdemeanor. A complaint is sworn to before a magistrate by any person who takes an interest in having the law enforced, and is familiar with the facts; a warrant is issued for the arrest of the offender, and the magistrate tries the case and pronounces judgment. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction of misdemeanors.

Railway Accident.

An extra train on the Northern Pacific, while rounding a sharp curve about a mile from Spokane Falls, Washington Territory, on July 5th, ran into a band of horses. Three animals were struck by the engine and carried some distance out on a trestle, mangling them terribly. Half way across the trestle the engine left the rails, and, after bumping along the ties and tearing them up for some distance, finally plunged off to the rocks below, where it became a total wreck. The caboose and other cars of the train were considerably damaged. Engineer Evans remained at his post till he was thrown out, and when the train stopped he was found between the wheels of the tender and caboose, very severely injured. The fireman jumped off, alighting on the rocks, and was severely injured about the body and hips. The conductor and brakeman escaped uninjured. The accident caused the east bound train to be held three hours, while the wreck was being cleared.

THE BOGUS BAKER FAMILY.

This Imposture Appears in a New York Dime Museum.

NEW YORK, July 2nd, 1887.

Editor Deseret News:

The Morning Journal of the 28th made the announcement that on Sunday last Elder Joshua Baker accompanied by three ex-wives and eight children arrived in this city. That Joshua was a Mormon who had served a term of imprisonment in the Boise Penitentiary for a violation of the Edmunds law. That after serving his time he refused to return to his polygamous practices which incurred the hatred of the Mormon community to such an extent that he was forced to leave.

He now seeks refuge in the Globe Museum, No. 298 Broadway, where he and his wives, legal, borrowed and otherwise, are on exhibition and may be seen for "only one dime."

A bill which is extensively circulated, reads as follows:

"A STUPENDOUS SENSATION!

Joshua Baker and his big Mormon family. The only opportunity to see an entire family of real, genuine Mormons, just from Salt Lake City, Utah.

"Elder Baker now out on bail. He escapes from Utah persecution and the modern land of bondage.

"See his 4 wives and 24 children. Hear the weird secrets of Mormonism.

"Big Mormons, little Mormons, boy Mormons, girl Mormons; in all 29 in one family. The first chance in America to see the Mormons as they really are."

Then there is a large painting on canvass of Baker, his four wives and 24 children just leaving Salt Lake City. Another is a representation of the four wives occupying one bed, and as an evidence of their love and unity, they are pulling each other's hair, while Joshua safely views the fight from the top of a cupboard.

Then there is a long bed which contains all the children. Other smaller paintings are hung near the large ones. One is that of Joseph Smith and Bill Hickman putting an old lady out of the way for knowing too much. They are in a heat together and in the act of drowning the old lady, who appears to be supplicating for mercy. Then there are huge knives from which blood is dripping. They say these are knives used by the Mormons for "blood atonement." The blood is spilled to form a smoking incense.

Altogether it is a blood and thunder outfit, and appears to draw a considerable number of people, who never spent their dimes and received so little in return. I plead guilty of being so reckless as to spend ten cents, but I certainly should have seen the show at any price out of curiosity.

When I entered the hall where the great Mogul was to be seen, the question arose will he recognize me? If not I could question him upon certain subjects.

After he had concluded his task of "watering" his numerous family, which he did from a tin bucket, I approached the stand or elevated platform upon which himself, wives and several children sat, and asked him if he was Elder Baker, the Mormon Polygamist from Utah.

"I am sir," said he.

"Well, Mr. Baker," said I, "you have quite a family. Are these all your wives?"

"All of them but the one sitting near the piano," said Joshua. She had evidently been borrowed for the occasion.

"Do you still live with these women, Elder Baker?"

"Oh! no, not now," said Joshua, assuming a meekness of expression that would defy any long-faced minister.

"Do you believe in the principles as taught by the Latter-day Saints or Mormons?"

"Well, not all of them. I consider that they teach false doctrines as other sects do."

"What is your belief as to the principle of polygamy, taught and practiced among the Mormons?"

"I believed in that principle when I was a Methodist, years before I joined the Mormon Church." (I didn't think to ask him if he practiced it then.)

"Do you think the Edmunds law will eventually accomplish the desired effect of stamping out the practice of the principle of polygamy in the Mormon Church?"

"Not by any means, for when a people believe in a certain principle of religion no amount of persecution can or will change that belief."

On the platform where he sat and before him were some pamphlets, entitled "Mormonism, its birth, development and maturity," with an account of polygamy, as taught and practiced by the "Mormons" of Utah; by Karl N. Ransof. Now I had an idea who Karl was, but being of an inquisitive turn of mind, concluded to know. A few questions to Baker and I found my supposition to be a correct one. He informed me that Ransof had lived among the Mormons since he was 14 years of age, had traveled among them a great deal in the capacity of a sewing machine agent. That he is a Danishman and his home is Bear Lake County. In observing the name closely (Karl N. Ransof) I find in it the exact number of letters and the correct ones to spell the name of the Bear Lake sewing machine agent Frank Larsen, alias Elder Nelson alias Karl N. Ransof.

I am of the opinion that Larsen is the advance agent of the show. I met him here on the 17th, when he informed me that Baker & Co. were on exhibition at Detroit. That they were not making much out of the business, it being the wrong season of the year.

I suggested to Frank the propriety of feeding Joshua and the women pretty well that they might be in good condition for the coming winter.

Wishing Mr. Baker good day, I told him I hoped he would pardon the many questions I had asked him, but it was the first time we ever had a Mormon polygamous family on exhibition, and having heard so much concerning that people, I was anxious to learn something concerning them.

He was very cautious throughout and thanking him for the information which he had given me, I left the scene.

This is another of the schemes to make money and down "Mormonism," but I can say truthfully that from the tone of the press in relation to the "show," the great majority of the people are disgusted with it.

Yours truly,

J. E. HART.

Another Arrest.

On Wednesday last George Morris, of the Seventeenth Ward, was arrested on a charge of unlawful cohabitation. He was taken before Commissioner Norrell, the proceedings in whose court were very brief, resulting in the binding over of the defendant in the sum of $1,500. An earlier notice of this arrest has been inadvertently omitted.

Arizona.

Brother Christopher I. Kempe writes from Erastus, Apache County, Arizona, June 27th. He speaks cheerfully of the prospects of the settlers there, and says they have plenty of water. He states that the present leading officials of the Territory are men of character and respectability, and take an impartial course in conducting governmental affairs and enforcing the laws. He adds that the officials who three years ago, were active in pushing an unjust crusade against "Mormon" settlers in that section, are to-day either fugitives from justice, in prison, or "dead broke."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

June Fires.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Commercial Bulletin says: The June fire record shows the largest fire loss of any June on record excepting 1877, the month of the great fire at St. John, N. B. The total is $[illegible]82,100, and is larger than the average June fires for ten years previous to 1886 by nearly $4,000,000.

A Terrible Scourge.

SHEBOYGAN, Mich., July 8.—Captain Halleck, of the fishing tug Messenger, which arrived there yesterday, reports a terrible scourge raging on Cockburn Island, Lake Huron. The disease broke out last week and from Friday to Tuesday nine deaths had occurred and the mortality was seemingly on the increase. The disease is supposed to be diphtheria. There is no doctor on this island and the inhabitants are fleeing for their lives.

A BAD-LOOKING CASE.

H. H. Barton Accused of Violating the Edmunds Law.

Last night, Hyrum H. Barton, formerly of this city, was arrested in Ogden on a charge of unlawful cohabitation with Mrs. Barton and Laura Berry. The examination was commenced at 2 p.m. to-day before Commissioner Norrell.

Bishop O.F. Whitney was called as a witness, and testified that it had been rumored that Mr. Barton had divorced his first wife and married Miss Berry. His action in the matter, is reputed, was contrary to the Church discipline, and for this he had been summoned before the Bishop's counsel for an investigation. No conclusion had as yet been reached. The reports were to the effect that the defendant had divorced his wife, and married Miss Berry. He moved away pending the examination of the case, and it had not been disposed of. Witness saw defendant and Mrs. Barton together on July 4th; they were in a buggy watching the procession. The defendant had never applied to the Bishop for a recommend, or talked with him about taking a plural wife. Miss Berry had applied for a recommend to go to the Temple; this was about two years ago; the recommend was not granted.

Mrs. Georgina Barton testified that she had been married to defendant in 1880; was divorced from him in 1885; she made the application for divorce; they had quarrelled several times; the trouble was about Miss Berry; after the divorce defendant boarded in the house where witness lived; they ceased living together as husband and wife some time before the divorce was granted; the defendant had called at witness' house recently, but had not lived there; he contributed to her support; she was not now his wife, nor was she treated as such; the divorce was not intended for a sham, but that was the fact.

Miss Laura Berry was called and testified that she had lived at Ogden. Before the fall of 1886, she lived in Salt Lake City; she left home in the spring of 1886; she was married, or thought she was, to Mr. Barton about two years ago; she did not know the date or the place; did not know whose house it was; it was in the evening; she went to a house with Barton, and a young man whom Barton got, married them; she did not now think it was a marriage, but thought it was then; she never lived with him after three weeks after the marriage; her baby was about ten months old.

Mr. Peters—Where were you when the child was born?

Miss Berry—I refuse to answer the place. It was in Salt Lake, but not at anybody's house. I was alone. Nobody knew anything about me. Barton never did anything toward my support.

The examination was in progress when we went to press.

In this issue we insert a correspondence from James E. Hart, in which he gives details of a visit he made to the bogus "Mormon" family now located in a New York dime museum. We have already exposed the fraud with which Larson, Stoddard and Baker are connected, the whole concern being an unmitigated imposition upon the public. It will be in orde now to dismiss the subject as not meriting any further notice. The class that would be deceived by such a transparent ten cent show are not to be commended as the possessors of either discernment or intelligence.

In making this announcement, the Lake Park Resort Company respectfully assure the public that its preparatory efforts of last year to give it the first conveniences for Bathing in Great Salt Lake worthy of patronage ever offered, have for this season been GREATLY ENLARGED AND IMPROVED upon, and that the general attractions of the Resort will continue to be added to in whatever manner careful efforts in ascertaining the requirements of a discriminating public may suggest.

The exceedingly liberal patronage bestowed upon the Resort in the unfinished state of its appointments last season clearly indicated the popular demand for and appreciation of better accommodations than had ever before been given for Lake Bathing, and this season finished appointments and delightful accessories will be so profusely offered as will maintain for this resort the leading position at once accorded it by the public from its original opening.

The MUSIC for this season will be of the highest degree of excellence and under the directorships of Professors Krouse, of this city, and Koenigsberg of Denver. The full Band of Musicians has been selected with the closest discrimination. Concerts in the Grand Pavilion. The patronage of the public is respectfully invited.
