Last Night's Dispatches. CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON.

The Senate bill authorizing the publication of the edition of the narration of the Potosi expedition was passed.

Verobres presented a petition of the business men of Boston favoring an immediate and unconditional repeal of the specie resumption act.

Beck introduced a bill to authorize the postmaster general to place the mail service on any public highway, street or railroad where ever public service required it.

Kellogg introduced a bill increasing to $200,000 the amount of certain pensioned soldiers and sailors who lost both arms or both feet, or the sight of both eyes in the service of the country.

Morgan called up his resolution touching the relations between the United States and New Mexico and spoke at length in favor thereof.

The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations, and the Senate went into executive session.

When the doors were opened the Senate adjourned.

MOBILE.

WASHINGTON, 15.—After the reading of the Journal, Wood enquired whether the Senate resolution for the final adjournment of the session was not a question of a higher or lower privilege than the pending resolution of Potter.

The speaker, in reply, said that the question of final adjournment was a question of privilege between the two houses.

Wood then called up the resolution of Potter, and the Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, 15.—

The meeting of the republicans this afternoon was to take action concerning the order of business for the session.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

London, 15.—The movement of the Indian troops to Malta will be discussed in the House of Lords on Monday, and Baron Selous will call attention to the question whether such movement is constitutional.

The opposition, however, will not move any resolutions on the subject in the House of Lords.

The Times says: When it is announced beforehand that the leader of the opposition in the lower house will not raise a question of policy, when the principal lawyer of the party of the House of Lords will not throw his objections into the form of resolutions, a mere discussion of the constitutionality of the case would be more suitable for a debating society.

The fact is, the issues of the present crisis have been discussed in the House of Commons, and the government has declared its attitude at this moment.

The ministerial party have accordingly taken steps which leave the next turn of events in other hands.

The statements of Prince Auerberg on Herr Tisza in the Austrian Reichsrath and Hungarian Diet respectively, are well received in Vienna, and have made a favorable impression here.

It is believed that the ministerial party will have a favorable influence on the negotiations at St. Petersburg.

Herr Tisza, in the course of his speech, said that the government had no intention to act against, but rather in concert with Turkey in Bosnia.

The minister could not say in detail what they wanted the money for, but broadly hinted it was necessary to take precautions on the northern, southern and eastern frontiers, and to increase the number of troops, so as to be safe against surprise.

Part of the money has already been used as measure necessary to secure the Carpathian passes are already in hand.

Regarding the state of affairs in Roumania, Tisza said the reports were rather exaggerated, but not groundless.

A Vienna political correspondent says: The Russians are throwing up entrenchments at the Danube, and arming them with Krupp guns.

A torpedo committee has been organized in the Court of Cassation, and is engaged at what points it is advisable to place torpedoes for the protection of the harbor and Calcutta in case of an emergency.

Regarding Count Schouvaloff's mission, or its results, public opinion is divided.

Constantinople telegrams state: That a dispute is caused by the alleged resignation of Schouvaloff.

A St. Petersburg correspondent reports that Count Schouvaloff has had frequent interviews with those directing foreign affairs. He will leave at the end of the week for London.

A Vienna correspondent says: The contradictory accounts of negotiations concerning the surrender of the fortress of the Danube, and the delegation of the money is made to the delegation.
