

SCHUMANN-HEINK SINGS TONIGHT

Salt Lakers to Have Privilege Of Hearing Her for the First Time.

INTERVIEW WITH GREAT DIVA.

Talks Interestingly and Entertainingly Of Music and of Her Own Wonderful Career.

Madame Schumann-Heink, the noted contralto, and her husband, Col. William Rapp, Jr., are guests at the Knickerbocker hotel, having arrived late last night, from Denver and Colorado Springs, en route to the coast. They were up most of the night previous watching the great scenic attractions by the clear moonlight, and along the line of the Rio Grande road, and they were very tired on reaching this city and ready to rest.

DELIGHTFULLY DOMESTIC.
Madame Schumann-Heink received a representative of the "News" very pleasantly this afternoon, after a refreshing morning nap, and talked very freely about her experiences and the music profession. She is a devoted woman to meet, entirely domestic and those who call on her, need not anticipate any formal reserve. In fact she is, unconsciously, takes upon herself the role of entertainer if she perceives any appearance of diffidence on the part of those who call on her, so that they cannot help feeling at ease in a short time, and presently become charmed with their hostess.

DO YOU SPEAK DUTCH.
"Sprechen Sie Deutsch?" is the first salutation, as she greets the visitor cordially by the hand, for that language is her native tongue, and though nine years in America, constant recurrence to the German has, in a measure, retarded progress in English. However, she speaks English very well and has no difficulty in making herself understood, as the visitor may reply to her question, "Nur ein bisschen," or "No, Madame, I can not speak German."

Madame Schumann-Heink is an enthusiastic American citizen, having taken out her papers something over a year ago; and while losing no love for her native Austria, she is happy to say that she is American. When the American people, they are so kind, so appreciative—I love the American people," exclaimed the great singer, as she clasped her hands enthusiastically. "I am glad I am an American woman," she then expressed her delight with the great west, and with this city and its broad streets and beautiful climate, and was pleased to make a sojourn here.

ITALIAN TRIP-BEST SCHOOL.
The distinguished visitor was asked as to various schools of singing, and she expressed her opinion that the Italian was the best, as having the most approved method. Their teaching is that there are three registers to the voice, while the French school teaches there is but really one. The Italian is the best, as having the most approved method. Their teaching is that there are three registers to the voice, while the French school teaches there is but really one. The Italian is the best, as having the most approved method. Their teaching is that there are three registers to the voice, while the French school teaches there is but really one.

JUST AS GOOD HERE.
In response to queries about American girls going abroad to sing, Madame Schumann-Heink said there is really no necessity for it. There are just as good instructors in this country as in Europe, and it would be better for girls to remain this side of the water where they can find teachers who will take a personal interest in them. "In Europe," said Madame, "they think Americans are made of money, and are there to be relieved of it. Teachers in Europe have no special regard for American students, and charge prices to them far in excess of what they would charge students from their own countries. When asked what places in the United States are the most advantageous for music students, she replied Boston or Chicago. "I like Boston. The atmosphere there is so refined and polished; the culture there is of a very high order. And then there is the Boston Symphony orchestra. When told that Kubelik placed the Boston Symphony or a pair with the Berlin Philharmonic, Madame gave a scornful smile, and declared the American organization to be far superior to the Berlin Philharmonic. Madame Schumann-Heink has a high opinion of the musical future of this country, as its prospects in this line are steadily advancing and more and more attracting the attention of the old world.

Madame sympathizes with all meritorious young students who are struggling to rise, for she was there herself once, back in her Austrian native land but she found a fine instructor in a lady who carried her through a long course of study, and finally brought her out to where her grand voice was recognized and appreciated.

CONCERT TONIGHT.
Schumann-Heink will appear in concert at the First M. E. church at 8:15 tonight.

ASSISTANT FOR E. BUCKINGHAM

Circular to Issue This Afternoon Announcing Appointment of Northern Pacific Man.

J. M. DAVIS HAS ARRIVED HERE

To Take the Position of Assistant General Superintendent of the Oregon Short Line.

J. M. Davis, who has been division superintendent of the Great Northern at Minot, S. D., arrived in Salt Lake yesterday and this morning was duly installed in the office of E. Buckingham of the Oregon Short Line in the capacity of assistant general superintendent of the Oregon Short Line. This afternoon circulars will be issued announcing the appointment which goes into effect tomorrow. This is a new office and is in line with the announcement made in the Deseret News a few days ago.

D. & R. T. APPOINTMENT.
T. B. Purves, Jr., is now Supt. of Motive Power and Cars.

Two circulars were received here today from headquarters of the Denver & Rio Grande at Denver. One announced the appointment of T. B. Purves, Jr., as superintendent of motive power and cars departments, with other acts forth the appointment of J. D. Kenworthy as assistant general freight and passenger agent at Pueblo along the lines previously set forth in the "News."

GETTING READY FOR TRUCK.

Saratoga & Encampment Railway Requires 70,000 Ties at Once.

(Special to the "News.")
Saratoga, Wyo., Dec. 31.—Seventy thousand ties will be used in the construction of the Saratoga & Encampment railway from Walcott to this city, work upon which is now under way. The distance from Walcott to Saratoga is 20 miles, and the grade has been completed for most of the way. Over 100 teams are now engaged in hauling ties to the grade. It is expected that the track laying will begin shortly after the first of the year.

PERJURY CHARGES.

Nevada Railroad Men Are to Face the Music Shortly.

The Reno Evening Gazette says: When Judge Murphy decided in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Nevada vs. the Carson & Colorado Railroad company at Hawthorne last Friday, Atty. C. E. Mack of this city asked that Judge Murphy impose a grand jury to investigate the reports made by Alanzo Tripp, formerly president of the Tonopah railroad; J. F. Hedden, general superintendent of the Tonopah Railroad company, and J. W. Willcutt of the Carson & Colorado railroad, stating that these three men had sworn falsely in swearing to the statements rendered by them to the grand jury. The three men when the grand jury was impeached and that a thorough investigation should be ordered. Judge Murphy stated that he would soon retire from office and for that reason refused to impeach the grand jury. Judge Mack says, however, that as soon as Judge Landon takes office he will again appear for Esmeralda county and ask that a grand jury be impeached and that the reports made by Tripp, Hedden and Willcutt be investigated.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

The Rio Grande announces that the People limited will be resumed about May 1.

L. M. Walden of the Salt Lake Route ticket offices at Riverside, Cal., is here spending the holidays.

The Rio Grande Western will run a special train for the State Teachers' convention at Ogden on Wednesday.

Holiday rates of one fare for the round trip are again in effect today with plenty of takers. Tickets are good returning Jan. 7.

The Tonopah & Goldfield railroad has issued a statement showing that up to June 30 the net earnings were nearly half a million dollars.

A folder giving complete information regarding 1907 Pacific coast excursions, is being distributed by the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Chas. S. Roberts, chief dispatcher for the O. S. L. at Evanston, has resigned his position on account of sickness and gone to the Hot Springs, where he will recuperate after which he expects to return and take up the "first trick" again. The position of chief is now held by D. P. Kase, a former Evanstonian, but lately of Green River, Wyo.

THEFT OF A CHECK CAUSES TROUBLE

Attorneys Daly and Newton Accused of "Peculiar" Actions.

OLSEN MAKES AFFIDAVIT.

Assistant City Attorney Promptly Takes Steps to Have Man Arrested On Charge of Perjury.

Asst. City Atty. P. J. Daly this morning called at the office of County Atty. Christensen and asked that a complaint be issued against Peter Olsen charging him with perjury and the county attorney now has the matter under consideration. This is the latest development in a mysterious theft of a check from Olsen early Christmas morning in which a mulatto woman is charged by Olsen with the offense. The check was on an Ogden bank and called for $24. It is now claimed that the check was endorsed but that the bank officials at Ogden claim that the endorsement of Olsen's name was a forgery and the check is now in the hands of the National Bank of the Republic of this city.

DALY IMPLICATED.
According to an affidavit made by Olsen before Deputy Sheriff Parley White, it is contended that Olsen went to Asst. City Atty. Daly to see about a prosecution and the recovery of the check and that the latter told him that it would cost him $100 to get the check back. In this manner Mr. Daly is implicated by Olsen and he now proposes to prosecute Olsen for perjury when he used Daly's name in connection with the matter.

The theft was committed in the Union block at 48 east First street, where Olsen met the mulatto woman who asked him to buy her a drink. He says that he and the woman went in a wine-room, where the drink was served. He then noticed that his pocketbook was gone from his inside coat pocket. When he told the woman about it she said that the pocketbook was in his hip pocket. He found it there, but when he went up to the bar and examined its contents he found the check was gone. He then went back to the wine-room, but the woman had also disappeared.

NEWTON WANTED $100.

Soon after the robbery Olsen said that he met Atty. William Newton, who had been told that he would get his check back for him by daylight if Olsen would give him $100. Newton then drew up the contract and Olsen signed it. It developed later that S. W. O'Brien, cashier of the check, claims for Olsen in the Wilson bar and Sears' name appears on the check with Olsen's. O'Brien says he saw Olsen at the police station and after being closely questioned was released.

The affidavit made out by Olsen is as follows:

State of Utah, County of Salt Lake—ss.
Peter Olsen, first being duly sworn, deposes and says: "I live in a rooming house in the corner of Commercial and First South streets in Salt Lake City. On the night of Dec. 25 or the morning of Dec. 27 I was robbed of $24 dollars in a saloon on First South street. Shortly after the robbery I talked with William Newton, who said he would get the check back for me if I would pay him $100 out of it. Newton said to me, 'I can get that check from the woman who stole it from you by daylight.' Newton wrote down something on a piece of paper. It was so dark on the street that I could not see what was on the paper. Newton said that it was my promise to pay him $100 when he Newton, got back my stolen check for me. He showed me where to write my name and wrote it down for me. He said he would take the check to the police station with a policeman and went upstairs to see City Atty. P. J. Daly. I told him about the check. He said, 'I don't know.' I went up against it. You will have to come down.' I had told him that I wanted my $200 back. When he said 'You will have to come down' I understood that he meant that I would have to give up some money to get it back. I said that I would pay $50 to get it back. He said, 'You will have to come down.' You come back at 10 o'clock in the morning and I think I would have the money for you. Afterward I was advised by Detective Sheriff Axel H. Steele not to accept anything but the full amount of $200. I did not return to Daly's office. I make this statement of my own free will and accord and have been offered any inducements of any kind or influenced in any respect by any one.

PETER OLSEN.
Sworn and subscribed to by me this 27th day of December, 1906.
(Seal) J. PARLEY WHITE, Notary Public.

CHASE DEFENDS DALY.
Mr. Daly's version of the interview with Olsen is borne out by Detective Chase who was working on the case and who was present when Olsen came to him to talk with Daly. Mr. Chase makes a lengthy statement in defense of Daly.

This statement completely exonerates Mr. Daly and he proposes to make Olsen sweat for attempting to besmirch his character and standing at the bar. Attorney William Newton declared that his attention with Olsen was strictly straight and that he took the case as a civil action with the intention of trying to get the check back from Olsen and the latter agreed to pay him $100 when he succeeded in the matter. As yet the mulatto woman has not been found and no arrests have been made in connection with the affair.

W. P. READ RESIGNS.
Gen. Supt. of Street Railway Retires From Service Tonight.

W. P. Read, who has for the last 17 years filled the position of general superintendent of the street railway service of the various companies, which have been operated in this city during the above term of years, has resigned his resignation taking effect today, and he will devote himself to business affairs elsewhere. Mr. Read has been a faithful and hard working official and has given what may be the best years of his life to street railway service in this city, and his many friends and former business associates wish him the best of good fortune in whatever field of activity he may be called.

NEW YEAR'S CARS.
Last Car Will Leave at 1:30 Tomorrow Morning.

The new schedule of the street railway goes into effect tomorrow morning when the cars will run according to schedule printed in a recent number of the "News." The long run cars will be operated by the present card, cars leaving Main street at 12:30 and 1:30 a. m., to accommodate those who wish to see the new schedule of the street railway service of the Utah Light & Railway company which will leave the fair grounds at 6:30 a. m. instead of 6:45 as in the past. This will enable people living at that terminus to reach the center of the city in time to catch the 7 o'clock train. It is also announced that the Sixth street track is to be doubled at the earliest possible moment.

The active management of the street railway lines will be for the present in the hands of J. P. L. Moore, assistant to the president, with O. P. Arnold, Jr., remaining in his present position as superintendent.
