

FRAGMENTS.

The "Married Mashed" at the Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

T. E. Taylor, Esq., went north this morning, destined for Logan.

Quite a large party of Japanese gentlemen are in the city, taking in the principal sights.

The dedication services of the Logan Temple will commence at half past 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Elder John Nicholson was a north-bound passenger by this morning's train. His projected point is Logan.

GRUBBER, the great singer, sailed from New York per S. S. Venezia for Rio, on the 10th inst., bound for Genoa.

WATERMASTER WILDER, Supervisor Livingston and his men, are working like beavers against the floods south of us.

"BARON RUDOLPH" at the Opera House on Monday night. The only appearance of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Knight.

A little girl had her collar bone broken, in the Fourth Ward, last evening; she was run against and knocked down by a boy playing at base ball.

A concert will be given in the Social Hall at an early day, for the benefit of Elder William Wilber, who is soon to start on a mission to the East Indies.

DAVIS, the recaptured convict, will have a hearing before Commissioner (Christie) on Monday, for stealing a Winchester rifle, at the time he escaped last October, from the guard at the Penitentiary.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Minstrels.—Don't forget the Minstrels, at the Theatre to-morrow afternoon and night. The Gypsies are so well known already that any extended comment is unnecessary. Their brilliant and successful engagement here a few weeks ago, is sufficient basis for a prediction that their coming visit will be equally as gratifying to them and enjoyable to the public at large.

Fuller's Hill.—The fine weather of the past few days has caused Fuller's Hill to present a lively appearance, being dotted over with young folks and old folks getting fresh air and shaking off the lethargy of winter. Besides the many private families who have had their spring meeting there, the Tenth Ward and a portion of the Sixteenth Ward used the Hill lively yesterday. To-day quite a number of Fifteenth Warders were there, and next week the Hill is already engaged for three days.

Artistic Work.—Last evening we were shown one of the most beautiful floor-rugs we have ever seen. It is three feet six inches long by two feet three inches wide. The design consists of a centre-piece composed of an immense bouquet in a basket, surrounded by an oval floral border, there being also some appropriate ornamental work on each corner of the rug. The flowers, especially those of the bouquet, are raised. The colors are harmonious throughout, the whole comprising "a thing of beauty," the work, which is in the Berlin wool, being done with exquisite skill. It is the product of the artistic hands and brain of Sister Elizabeth Hawkins Wilcox, and the rug is a free-will offering to the Logan Temple by the Sisters of the 21st Ward. Sister Wilcox left for Logan this morning, taking the rug with her.

Third District Court.—Proceedings before Chief Justice Hunter on Friday, May 10, 1884:

James McGregor vs. Joseph Walker; default and decree of foreclosure on People etc., vs. Fred Hopt, etc.; fine for extending time for filing bill of exceptions having passed, court refused to extend time further.

People etc., vs. Conrad Staley, grand larceny; application set aside default allowed and forfeiture set aside.

Union Mining Co. vs. John Gillchrist et al.; settled and dismissed.

People etc., vs. Alex S. Hill, embezzlement; Arthur Brown associated with prosecution. Prosecution moved for a continuance of case on affidavit filed; argued and refused. Empaneling of jury. Verdict exhausted and special venire of ten names issued. Made returnable at 10 a.m. on Saturday. Court adjourned.

John B. Gough.—The Philadelphia Press says: "The magnificent auditorium of the Philadelphia Academy of Music was so crowded last evening and so densely packed that Mr. Gough was compelled while coming to the stage to actually force a passage through the throng. Every few moments as the point of some joke would make its way through, a billow of infectious merriment, starting in humorous waves at his feet, would surge along through the crowd, increasing in force and then diminishing until it died away in echoing ripples of laughter in the upper tiers."

Mr. Gough is without doubt the most popular and successful lecturer on the platform. No man in the English language can tell a story with such humor, and in his transitions from gay to grave he has been described by the English press as the electrical orator. There is no doubt that in one of his lectures he can cause more tears to flow and produce more laughter than any sensational drama on the stage. He lectures in the Salt Lake Theatre on the 23rd inst.

Sudden Death.—The rumor became current this morning that Mr. Ed. H. Murphy of the well known firm of Auger & Murphy, had suddenly died from heart disease. Reports were conflicting, one saying that he fell dead in the street, just as he was starting for his place of business, another that he died in his bed. The facts in the matter, so far as could be learned, are as follows:

About 20 minutes to 10 o'clock, Mrs. Murphy went into the room where her husband was sleeping, to ask him if he would like to have a cup of tea before arising. She approached the bed and called him but he did not stir, and at another moment the dreadful truth flashed upon her. How long he had been dead is not known, but the fatal event must have occurred some time between the hour when Mrs. Murphy arose, and the time at which she went in to wake him. His death was caused by heart disease. He was seen upon the street several days before he died. The deceased, was a native of Ireland, but has been in America since he was a boy. He has lived in this city for the last twelve years or more, having married here, and leaves a wife and six children. He was of a genial nature, and among his friends very popular. He belonged to the orders of Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias. Our deepest condolence goes out to the bereaved family.

Since the above was in type we have learned that his death occurred at 10 a. m. He was aged 39 years. The funeral notice will be published to-morrow.

JOSEPH COOK.

THE REVEREND BOSTONIAN'S SECOND VISIT.

Mr. Joseph Cook, of Boston, lectures to-night at the Presbyterian Church on the subject: "Does Death End All?" To-morrow night a public meeting will be arranged for him, in some suitable place, at which the reverend gentleman assisted by local speakers will have an opportunity of venting his views on "Mormonism," and at which resolutions expressive of the same will be passed.

As a prelude to this latter event, we learn that a meeting was held last evening at the residence of Rev. R. G. McNielsen, where some thirty persons, representing the "business interests" and various professions of the city, placed themselves at the service of the Bostonian orator for the purpose of giving him "accurate information" bearing on the "social, educational, political and moral welfare of the Territory, as that welfare is affected by Mormonism." At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cook for his patriotic interest in the Utah question.

This will show the public about what may be expected from Mr. Cook. That he was similarly imposed upon on the occasion of his former visit, was very evident from the tenor of his anti-Mormon discourse delivered at the time in this city—a discourse so egotistical and self-glorious that it disgusted even the Gentiles who could not exactly see the consistency of Mr. Cook's assumptions of "facts," gathered by staying in Utah over night, when a sojourn of a dozen or fifteen years had failed to apprise them of the same matters and methods of the "Mormon" question, solution which he so promptly set forth. But it was hoped he had learned better than to be so hoodwinked again.

We thought we could promise our readers something fresh and interesting on the occasion of this visit, but we are disappointed, as we are certain will be to who waste time in attending what will simply be a "Liberal" meeting, with Mr. Joseph Cook on the pedestal of worship, fawned upon and flattered by these "free-born" serfs, in lieu of his "white-plumed" Michigan Governor Murray. A wise man who comes from the "hub" of the universe, to allow himself to be the wastebasket and what-not of a little gang of sore-heads, carpet-baggers and would-be plunderers, need not be expected to furnish anything very brilliant or very original.

SMITH'S MOTOR.

HOW AN INGENUOUS HOME INVENTION IS WORKING.

Our readers will remember some time ago an article appearing in this paper relating to a water motor invented by Brother John Smith, of Brigham City, Box Elder County, with the representation made by Mr. L. K. Adams, of the Idaho Mining and Development Company, concerning it. We have received from Brother Smith a note, enclosing another from Mr. A. Adams, whereby it is evident that our fellow laborer's invention is a practical success. Brother Smith says:

It will be remembered that a stream of water had to be lifted 25 feet high, and now being lifted to four inches deep, running rapidly through an inclined flume two feet wide, the practical result is even better than I had hoped for.

For the success achieved I am profoundly thankful to God and my friends for their assistance and encouragement I have received from them.

Following is a copy of Mr. Adams' letter to the inventor:

LETTER RAPIDS, MINIDOKO P. O., Idaho, May 11th 1884.

Job Smith, Esq.:

Dear Sir, yours received; would say in reply that the wheel is doing all we expected. The river has risen nine inches at the wheel, and two feet at the foot of the rapids. It gives three to four inches in depth in the flume, which is two feet wide. Every one who sees the operation is much pleased with it. Still there are imperfections that can be remedied, such as iron paddle-bolts instead of plain oak instead of plain batons on paddles, iron lugs instead of oak; although the oak ones do well. The eighteen inch drivers are not large enough for the twelve inch paddles. It is cut so deep that they strike the hub and set screws which should not be, but all these imperfections can be remedied. I think it is in time bound to revolutionize this valley, and make it blossom as the rose." Respectfully Yours, L. K. ADAMS.

The Braden-Kelly Debate.—We have received from Mr. Clark Braden, of Wilber, Nebraska, what purports to be the prospectus of the "Braden-Kelly debate" (about to be published) on "Mormonism," which is said to have taken place in Kirland, Ohio, in February and March, 1884, between the said Mr. Braden, who claims to be a well-known author, lecturer and debater, and E. L. Kelly, selected by the Josephite Mormons to represent them in the discussion. The prospectus boasts of having utterly demolished the position of his Josephite opponent, and proved all sorts of things to the detriment of "Mormonism" and its founders.

We are sorry to call in question the word of so respectable an authority as this "well-known author, lecturer and debater" (whose name and fame we never heard of before) but we must candidly confess that we have serious doubts that he did anything of the kind which he claims to have done. We have no space to enter into the list of many glaring inconsistencies in his list of claims, which have been annihilated over and over again, but will say that we do not believe that he or any other individual of his ilk has it in his power to gain any such "glorious victory." Next to a genuine "Mormon," a Josephite debater, of any intelligence at all, as long as he confines himself to truth in his invectives against any of the countless sophistries of spurious "Christianity."

Opera House.—The Shakespearean revival at the Opera House last evening did not draw out so large an audience as the performance merited, but all who attended are unanimous in praise of the way in which "Romeo and Juliet" was presented. It is not the least popular of the great bard's works, but it contains a wealth of truth that remains beautiful and immortal as long as the English language lasts or poetry awakens admiration in the human mind.

Mr. Bandmann as "Mercutio" was excellent, as it was known he would be; Miss Ternay as "Romeo" was charming, and so was Miss Bonadelle the feminine title role. The support throughout was good. This evening Shakespeare's sublime masterpiece "Hamlet," in which Mr. Bandmann has won illustrious encomiums, will be presented, and should be witnessed by a crowded house.

"Water, Water Everywhere!"—Washouts are reported on the Utah Eastern, between Park City and Coalville. Several bridges have gone, and the grade of the track in places has been swept from under the rails. The bridge at Coalville is so badly disabled that coal transportation from the mines has stopped. The citizens of Heber are working hard to keep their farms from being flooded by Provo River. Weber Canon is impassable for team or near Devil's Gate, the wagon road being washed away.

Returned Missionary.—Elder C. M. Donelson, who returned from a mission to the States, gives the following report of his travels and labors: "I left Salt Lake City, Aug. 1st, 1883, stayed in Colorado about five weeks, found most of the people very bitter against 'Mormons' and did not want to hear anything in their favor; but before leaving them I believe I succeeded in making some friends who were willing to investigate. From there I went to Alexandria, Nebraska, and stopped a short time, and found there a similar feeling. I had an uncle there who had usually been very bitter, and at first did not want to hear anything about the 'Mormons,' but I talked to them and let him read some of our books and left some copies of the DESERET NEWS, selecting those with the best sermons in, and I see by letters received since, that the seed has taken root and they are now beginning to inquire about the Gospel."

From there I went to Iowa (Cass, Sioux and Woodbury Counties) where I also found the people very bitter against us, but staying between two and three months, I visited a great many and believe I succeeded in making friends of a great many. I next went to Illinois, where I remained some time, and my experience was repeated, but my friends were afraid to open a house for public meetings on account of the 'Mormons' being so unpopular. Still many would come two or three miles at night, and talk till 12 and 1 o'clock, and become very much interested.

I left and went to Ohio, where I met with one J. D. Haines, in Cincinnati; he had read some of our books. I spent several pleasant evenings with him and others. I received a letter from him a few days ago, saying that if nothing happened to prevent, he would be here by the first of June, to become one of our people. From Ohio I went to Chattanooga, Tenn., and was there a short time, but did not feel well while there. I returned to Cincinnati, where I was during the height of the floods. I accompanied B. B. Roberts as far as Oden, Ill., and from there went to Coles County, where I had promised to spend some time. I was there and after waiting two weeks hoping to get better, but taking another severe cold and feeling so much worse, I thought it was wisdom for me to return home. I have been mostly confined to the house some three weeks."

Another Conviction.—The case against John H. Freeman, in the District Court, terminated last evening with the conviction of the defendant, who was indicted for obtaining property by false pretenses. The case was brought by District Attorney Dickson, the defense being represented by A. Miner, Esq. Sentence will be passed on May 24th. The offense charged in the indictment was to the effect that John H. Freeman, on the 15th day of June, 1883, falsely represented himself and pretended to be the owner of a brick yard in the First Ward, and 7,000 of brick, and by means of such false pretenses he obtained from Thos. Jenkins a horse valued at $100, with intent to defraud and cheat the owner thereof. He was found guilty by jury trial.

This great remedy was discovered by an eminent English physician of great experience, and who has never lost a patient to whom this medicine was administered. Britannia is not a lotion; no external application can permanently cure rheumatism, which is a disease of the blood. Britannia is prepared with the greatest skill, and a teaspoonful being taken in a wineglass of cold water immediately finds its way to the blood, where it corrects the poisonous causing element, removes it immediately by purifying the life-giving fluid, and gradually builds up the entire system. Persons who have used this valuable preparation in Utah, testify that nothing ever helped them as Britannia has done. Many references to Salt Lake City and elsewhere can be given.
