

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

Another brilliant social week has been added to the present June annals, the wedding especially having reached almost, if not quite, last week's notable record. Besides these, receptions, card parties and many other home affairs have enlivened the week, while the different school commencement functions have eclipsed in brilliance those of any previous year. The warm weather of the last few days has driven a large part of the population to the resorts for relief and pastime—Saltair, Lagoon and Calaveras having been the scene of innumerable parties. There has also been a considerable exodus to the coast and other further summer resorts, and should the heat continue, it is more than probable that the coming week will see a large number hastening to the mountains and watering places for the comfort of cooler climes.

The week opened with the brilliant wedding of Miss Rae Lichtenstein and Mr. Max Harris on Monday night. The Ladies' Literary club house, where the event took place, was beautifully decorated, the musicians' stand in the reception hall being converted into a floral bower with an embankment of palms and canopy of cut flowers and vines, and the dining room having a charming arrangement of sweet peas, smilax and ferns.

The bridal party entered the room at 6 o'clock, passing through a ribbon aisle to the floral bower where they were met by Rabbi Lowenstein, who performed the marriage ceremony. The party was preceded by the ushers, Marc and Nat Lichtenstein, who were followed by little Joseph Fulop carrying a satin pillow which bore the wedding ring, and after him the groom and his best man, Louis Boukowsky. Immediately after came a little flower girl, gowned in white, Irene Simon, conveying a basket of roses. The mother of the bride and the latter's uncle, Abraham Stern, followed, the lady being gowned in black silk with trimmings of old lace. The maid of honor, Miss Marian Lichtenstein, came next, gowned in blue applique with trimmings of point de spirit, and following came the bride escorted by her father. She wore a beautiful gown of net applique, handsomely trimmed with duchesse lace, and a veil of tulle fastened with a lover's knot of white satin ribbon. Rabbi Lowenstein read the service very impressively, and after the ceremony the party and guests repaired to the dining room where an elaborate dinner of twelve courses was served by Franklin. During the repast congratulatory telegrams were read from absent friends, and the bride and groom were royally toasted. Significantly, the performing of the function of toastmaster, covers were laid for forty.

After the dinner a reception was held a large number being present. Coleman's orchestra dispensed music during the evening, and delicious refreshments were served from small tables in the dining room. The happy couple left at 11 o'clock for an eastern trip, which will last two months, after which they will reside in Salt Lake.

One of the prettiest weddings of the week was that of Miss Almina Mae Taylor and Theodore Nystrom which occurred on Thursday. The marriage was solemnized in the Temple at 11 o'clock. President Joseph F. Smith performed the ceremony and in the evening a charming reception was held at the bride's home 155 West Third South, the relatives and near friends of the bride and groom gathering to extend hearty congratulations and good wishes to the newly wedded pair. The house was artistically decorated with plants and cut flowers, the bride couple standing under a handsome bell of roses and carnations, the gift of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the Fourteenth ward of which the bride has been a most valued member. Festoons of smilax, roses and carnations stretched from the hall to the chandelier forming a pretty floral bower. The bride wore a dainty gown of white organdie with trimmings of Mechlin lace. The bridesmaid, Miss Mina Taylor, was gowned in pink and white. Mr. Joseph Nystrom acted as best man. During the evening refreshments were served in the dining room which was beautifully decorated with pink sweet peas and pink ribbons, and punch was dispensed in the sitting room in which red prevailed as the color scheme.

The bride is the daughter of Bishop George H. Taylor of the Fourteenth ward, and Mrs. Elmina S. Taylor, president of the Y. L. M. I. A. of the Salt Lake Stake, and is one of Utah's most gifted and popular belles. The groom is also well known and liked and is at present acting as manager of the Co-op Wagon and Machine Company in Montpelier, Idaho, where the newly wedded couple will make their home. Both have a host of friends who extend wishes for their future welfare.

One of the pretty weddings of the week was that of Miss Mattie Lambert and Arthur Weeter, which took place on Monday evening, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Lambert. The house was handsomely decorated with palms and vines and flowers, the parlor in which the bridal party stood being especially attractive. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Henry, and the bride was attended by her three sisters, Mr. Thomas Lambert acting as groomsmen. The bride wore a beautiful gown of duchesse satin with trimmings of old lace and pearl passementerie. A veil of Liberty silk was fastened with Cape Jasmine buds, the gift of friends in Texas. Miss Eva Lambert, the maid of honor, wore an exquisite gown of blue organdie, and the bride's maids, Misses Pearl and Tessa Lambert, respectively, in white and pink. Refreshments were served during the evening, the dining room being in charge of Miss Elizabeth Cannon, and the punch bowl of Miss Ada Young. Mr. and Mrs. Weeter left on Tuesday for Park City where they will reside.

Mrs. Mina Cannon gave a brilliant lawn party on Tuesday evening for the benefit of an organ fund for the Sixteenth ward meeting house. The grounds were brilliantly lit and a floor was laid for dancing, an orchestra dispensing music for those who enjoyed this pastime. A large Japanese umbrella placed in a corner of the lawn served as a booth where lemonade was served, and inside in the dining room, strawberries, ice cream and cake regaled those who desired other refreshments.

A delightful musical program was rendered the participants being the Sixteenth ward quartet, Ed McLeod, Miss Louie Lewis, Miss Julia Johnson, Miss Connie McAllister, Miss Edna Brown and Bert Margate. Entertainment was successful in every way.

On Monday afternoon Miss Sadie American was the guest of honor at an elaborate reception at the home of Mrs. Simon Bamberger. The rooms were handsomely decorated with cut flowers and plants, and a large number of guests, including the prominent club women of the city, called to meet the distinguished visitor. Mrs. Bamberger was assisted in receiving by Miss Schiller, Mrs. E. Mooney, Mrs. Louis Simon and Miss R. Goldberg. A score of young girls dispensed delicious refreshments, among those who assisted being Misses Helen and Stella Cohn, Helen Bamberger, Reta Kahn, Lizzie Weitz and Irma Simons. Several vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by "The Orphans," a colored quartet, who were stationed in the upper hall, and the entertainment was in every way delightful.

One of the most brilliant weddings of the week was that of Miss Florence Nightingale Cairns and Mr. William G. Patrick, which occurred on Wednesday. The marriage was solemnized at noon in the Salt Lake Temple, and a reception took place in the evening at the home of the bride, 15 B street, the relatives and immediate friends of the couple being present. The house was handsomely decorated with palms and flowers, the drawing room in which the bride couple received being especially artistic. In the dining room roses, carnations and ribbons carried out the pink color scheme, and the library in which punch was served, and the hall were beautifully adorned with flowers.

The scene outside the house was exceedingly picturesque, the grounds being lit with Chinese lanterns, and the bright costumes of the guests adding in the pretty effect. The bride's gown was of dainty white Swiss with trimmings of duchesse lace. She had no attendants.

Miss Cairns is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cairns, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patrick of the Eighteenth ward and is well known in business and musical circles. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick will be at home to their friends at their new home on Sixth street near B.

Among the several pretty weddings which occurred on Wednesday was that of Miss Caroline Edwards and Alexander E. Carr. The ceremony was performed in the afternoon in the

MRS. EGBERT ROBERTS.

Mrs. Egbert Roberts, the subject of this sketch, is well known to Salt Lake people for her active interest in humane and philanthropic enterprises, her time and efforts having been ever at the service of those in need of sympathetic and practical ministry.

Mrs. Roberts was born in Quincy, Ill., her father being Prof. Peirce of the Faculty of the Illinois State University. A few years after her marriage she came to Utah, and has been a resident of this place for the past seventeen years. She has been actively associated with many progressive enterprises, both public and private, during that time, and has filled the position of vice president of the first free kindergarten established here, treasurer of the Red Cross society, and chairman of the Associated Charities for two years. She took an active part in the establishment of the always popular and for a long time successful enterprise known as the "Woman's Exchange," and has done valiant work in founding and trying to make permanent and practically successful the mission of the Rescue Home.

Her good judgment in art matters has been recognized in her choice as judge in the woman's art department in our State fairs, and her executive ability in her election to the position of chairman of the Democratic woman's city campaign four years ago, and her nomination for a seat in the Utah Legislature.

OGDEN SOCIETY.

On Wednesday afternoon the wedding of Miss Flossie Wright and Mr. Alpheus J. Brown took place, the event being one of the most brilliant weddings of the season. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wm. H. Wright, No. 531 Twenty-fourth street. Judge C. F. Minnieton performed. The ceremony, after which a very large reception followed, nearly one hundred and fifty being present. The rooms were beautifully decorated, in the bay window of the parlor an elegant white silk umbrella was hung, covered with green, roses, carnations and other flowers, and it was under this that the ceremony was performed. From the ceiling were hung beautiful chains of smilax and roses, and in the corners of the rooms stood beautiful palms. The parlor curtains were exquisitely decorated with ribbons of smilax and the electric chandeliers were covered with sweet scented flowers. The rooms were darkened and the electric lights turned on, giving a most beautiful appearance. The bride was escorted by her brother, Hon. A. T. Wright, who gave her to the groom, Miss Emma Wright was maid of honor, and Mr. James W. Conkling acted as best man. The bride was dressed in a very elaborate gown of pink brocade silk, with real lace trimmings, and carried a very beautiful bouquet of bride's roses, while the groom was dressed in a conventional black suit. Miss Emma Wright wore an elegant lavender organdie dress, trimmed with lace and ribbon. As the bridal party entered the parlors, an orchestra played sweet strains of wedding music. After the ceremony, delicious refreshments were served by A. L. Fryer in the dining room, which was superbly decorated with flowers and palms. During the entire time the orchestra rendered delightful music. At 7:30 p. m. the wedding party was driven to the Union depot, in beautifully decorated carriages, where a host of friends of the young people had gathered and extended their congratulations and showered them with rice. At 8 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and the bride's mother, Mrs. Wright, boarded the Union Pacific coast bound passenger, and left for the east. They will visit Omaha, and from there will go to Milwaukee, where a sister of Mrs. Wright resides. They expect to be absent about three weeks, when they will return to Ogden, and make this city their home.
