The Oldest American Hospital.

After thirty-five years burial from the light, the corner stone of the Pennsylvania hospital at Philadelphia was uncovered the other day. In 1755 some alterations were made in the east wing, and at that time the stone, which is a white marble block, was revealed and the inscription read, after which it was covered up again. Recently Superintendent Hooper read an old history of the early days of the hospital written by Benjamin Franklin. From this he learned the exact location of the corner stone, and set a laborer at work to clear away the dirt. It was laid May 28, 1755. At that time the hospital was some distance from the built up portion of the city, and was reached by a path through the fields. The ground on which the building stands was purchased for £500. The president of the board of managers in 1755 was Joshua Crosby. The hospital is the oldest in the United States.—Ex.

The Cost of Civilization.

The South Wilkesbarre mine horror, in which eight men recently lost their lives, again illustrates the peril at which modern civilization is supplied with its comforts and luxuries. Trains leave tracks, boilers explode, bridges give way, linemen are shocked to death, miners perish by flame or damp, all as incidents to furnishing rapid transportation, adequate lights, warmth and steam power. The giants of the elements are valuable slaves, but when they burst their bonds they wreak a terrible revenge for servitude.—Ex.

Protais, the celebrated military painter, died at the age of 64. He began life as a postoffice clerk, and remained nearly ten years in the administration. His first success was a series of battle pictures of the Crimea; he afterwards followed the French army to Italy, and there gathered the material for another series of pictures, which finally established his reputation.

John Rogers, the sculptor, began life as a clerk in a dry goods store in Boston, and not until he was 3n years old, after he had run a locomotive, worked in a machine shop and been a surveyor, did he produce his first group, the "Slave Auction."—Ex.

She Thought She Could Stand It.

"What's the matter?" asked a department clerk to Gus De Jay. "You look as if something had occurred to make you unhappy."

"Ya-as; wathah."

"What is the trouble?"

"I was holding Miss Kenworth's hand, and I awaked her if she'd object to my imprwinting a kiss upon it."

"And did she?"

"No; she said that it had been stung by a bee and bit by a mosquito, and she guessed it could stand it."—Washington Post.

Wealth Did Him Little Good.

An old man named Thomas Gary died recently at a boarding house in Fort Scott, Kas. No one imagined that he was a person of means, but after his death $27,000 in bills was found concealed in his vest. He had been a farmer, had toiled hard, saved his money and never expended anything even for the rational enjoyments of life. Now strangers are quarreling over the cash which brought its accumulator no pleasure save that of possession.—Ex.

The granddaughter of Charles Dickens, the famous novelist, is named Miss Ethel Dickens. Like her noted ancestor, she is an expert stenographer. By the employment of her skill in that line and at typewriting she is said to be earning an excellent livelihood in London.

FOR HIS HEALTH'S SAKE.—Dear! dear! Little boy, why do you sit on the kerbstone eating those crusts?

Small Boy—I'm doin' it for me health, ma'am. You didn't suppose I was hungry, did ye?—Lippincott's.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT!

Mrs. Mary D. Welch, Teacher of Domestic Economy at State University of Iowa.

"My deliberate judgment is that the oven of the Range, as compared with others, is not only more equally heated in every part—front as well as rear—but as a result of its superior ventilation the food placed therein is better cooked, while retaining a sweeter flavor, and a larger proportion of its best juices. I have found, also, that the consumption of fuel in this Range for a given amount of work, is much less than any other." MRS. MARY D. WELCH

PUBLISHED IN THE WEST

The Volume commenced with New Year. Back numbers furnished subscribers, as their volumes will be complete. Half a year—26 numbers—will make a handsome volume of about 800 pages, and all for $1.50. Or a whole year—52 numbers—for only $2.50. Compare size and number of pages with those of other magazines, then think of getting it matter that you would in any other western magazine, according to price, and that too

Of a Superior Character.

Now is the time to subscribe, that you may have the volume complete, not alone for your own reading but that of your children and future generations.

The Deseret Weekly will be the best current record of Church History in existence, and in that respect will be a valuable acquisition to any home or public library.

The Deseret Weekly is also the best publication to send abroad to Missionaries, Saints or strangers who are investigating the Gospel, because of the discourses and other doctrinal articles contained in it

A volume might be filled with the voluntary commendation of the Deseret Weekly already received, but we prefer to let it speak for itself. Send for a sample copy and judge of its merits.
