EVENING NEWS.

Monday, - - May 24, 1880

BEAR LAKE STAKE CONFERENCE.

The regular quarterly Conference of the Bear Lake Stake was convened at Paris, Idaho Territory, at 10 a.m., May 8th, 1880.

Present on the stand:—Of the Twelve Apostles, C. C. Rich; of the Presidency of the Stake, Jas. H. Hart and Geo. Osmond; also Bishop J. Pugmire and the Bishops and representatives of the several wards.

After the opening exercises,

President Hart spoke a few words of welcome and encouragement to the saints present, invoked the Spirit of God, that all might feel well and enjoy themselves.

The Bishops and their representatives rendered the reports of their several wards verbally, which showed a very satisfactory condition of the people, temporally and spiritually.

Counselor Osmond spoke of the good health enjoyed by the saints generally; compared the accumulation of wealth and the acquisition of all the good things of the world as an empty bauble to the enjoyment of good health; spoke upon co-operation and strongly exhorted the brethren to its faithful consideration as the foundation of our success.

2 p.m.

After the opening exercises Bishop J. Pugmire counseled the Saints to contend earnestly for the Spirit of God, that they may be fit to receive the blessings in store for the faithful, and upon the duty of tithing.

Apostle C. C. Rich spoke upon the feelings of some of the Saints of moving to a warmer clime, where the winters were not so severe and counseled those intending to remove to obtain recommendations from their Bishops and desired the Bishops to recommend none but those who are willing to obey counsel and live their religion and do their duty; spoke of forbearance in regard to the debts of each other and to not crowd to the wall those of our brethren who are willing but at present not able to liquidate; counseled the brethren to prepare for long winters, by erecting barns, sheds, etc., for the protection of their stock, and said the blame of losing cattle was chiefly due to the fact that they were not properly taken care of and provided for. He intended to live where he was sent, as that is the proper place to live, and those that do this will do well.

President Hart dwelt upon the many judgments which the Saints have escaped by coming out of Babylon and gathering to Zion; spoke of the duty of the Saints, as exemplified by our Savior; quoted Scripture in proof of the blessings that follow obedience, and the maledictions that justly follow disobedience; related the experience of a great many who had ignored counsel and followed their own desires; exhorted the Saints to cultivate brotherly love; spoke of the intended departure of several of the brethren to Arizona and other places, and exhorted them to seek for and obey counsel and act upon it; exhorted to a continuance of the good work on the Temple at Logan; touched briefly of co-operation as being a great duty of the Latter-day Saints.

Sunday, 10 a. m.

After devotional exercises Counselor Osmond related several circumstances in the history of the Church as to the origin and language of the revelations; read the revelation given to President Young at Winter Quarters; spoke of the necessity of carrying out the instructions laid down; compared the true Saint to the one that is only a Saint in name; exhorted the Saints to obedience and co-operation.

Apostle C. C. Rich spoke upon revelation, its object and necessity; said the Church has always been and is now governed by revelation, which is the secret of its good government, and spoke of the signs that should precede the coming of the Son of Man, and the great events that were about to transpire in the near future; of the willingness that ought to be manifested by the Latter-day Saints, even to the laying down of their lives for the gospel's sake; quoted the parable of the ten virgins and compared them to the generation that now lives; also a great many sayings of the Prophet Joseph, all tending to substantiate the truth of the gospel.

2 p. m.

After devotional exercises, the Sacrament was administered, after which Counselor Osmond presented the names of the General and Local authorities of the Church which were unanimously sustained. The statistical report of the Stake for the quarter was read, also a report of the freewill offerings, etc., to the Logan Temple up to March 1st, 1880, which was as follows:

Cache Valley Stake	$116,873,59
Bear Lake Stake	34,910,39
Box Elder Stake	29,423,81
Total	$181,207,59
Trustee in Trust	$36,238,52
Other Sources	356,40
Grand Total	$217,802,51

Elder Samuel Richards spoke upon the attributes of our Savior and the many blessings we enjoy in being recognized as belonging to him, dwelt upon the serious nature of the work we are engaged in, exhorted the Saints to obedience both young and old, discountenanced the various methods adopted to acquire wealth stating that a great many had split upon this rock and left the Church, denounced scepticism in its various forms, and closed by invoking the spirit of God on the Saints.

President Hart, spoke upon the duties of the Saints in general, and counseled them to good works.

The congregation sang, "The spirit of God like a fire is burning."

Benediction by Apostle C. C. Rich.

Adjourned for three months.
