EVENING NEWS.

DEATH AND LIFE OF T. W. WHITAKER. William Whitaker were held at Centreville, Davis County, Utah, on Friday, pril 30th, 1886, at 10 a. m.

The corpse was taken to the meeting house, where were assembled not only beople of the whole village, but many also from Ogden, Salt Lake and Boundful, irrespective of creed, sect or party. It was the largest funeral ever neid in that place, showing beyond a doubt, that the acts and character of the deceased had been such as to call the deceased had been such as to call forth the sympathies, command the rewhom he was acquainted.

When sixteen years of age, his mother died, and home lost its charms for him; but the counsels he received at the knees of his mother were as seed sown in fich soil, and as he matured they grew stronger, ever inspiring him with a zeal in favor of the right, which was one of his characteristics through life.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous takes related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he syent under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands. For four-teen years he followed this vocation, becoming inured to all the hardships incidental thereto, and circumnavigated the globel three times, going so far north as to be in darkness five months. In his travels he became conversant with seven languages.

It was when he was about 30 years of age that the great resources of Callifornia became known, and he located there, determined to make that region his home, and commenced work as a joiner and builder. While there he first heard the Gospel, and being open to conviction, was baptized on the 12th of August, 1849, by Seth Lincoln. He was ordained an Elder on the 16th of September of the same year, and soon afterwards sent on a mission to Tahiti.

In his journal he says: "In consewith seven languages. In his journal he says: "In conse-nence of my having a knowledge of he Tahitian language I was sent to the Tantian language I was sent to those islands in company with Brother Grouard and others, where we stayed nearly two years preaching to the natives, with but little success, as the French government had possession of these islands and were strendously opposed to anything but Catholicism. He had been there but a short time when he constructed houses for Apostles G. C. Rich and Amasa Lyman, the considered he was on a mission while so engaged, and labored without wages. In the year 1856, he was sent by Apostle C. C. Rich to Salt Lake valley, to look after the interests of the latter's family and to manage his larms.

On the 4th of Sept., 1868, he married a Miss Elizabeth Mills, and ten years inter a Miss Hannah Waddoups, both of whom have proved devoted wives, kind mothers and honorable women in

The principles of truth continued to develop in his mind, and the kingdom of God—its intellectual, spiritual and moral advancement to be his first and highest daty. He was chosen clerk of Teachers' and Seventies' quorums, which offices he held for twenty years.

In 1876 he was called by the voice of the Priesthood to be the Superintendent of the Centreville Sunday school, which office he filed with honor until he was called to labor away from home, when he resigned his On the 3rd of August, 1884, he was ordamed a High Friest.

having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith forothers who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to During all his life his counsels were never to have doctors except in case of never to have doctors except in case of a broken limb or the like; and while on his death bed, when asked if a doctor should be called in, said: "If through the power of faith in the holy Priest-hood the Lord will not heal me, doctors can do no good; thy will, O Father, and not mine be done."

He leaves a family of twenty-two to mourn his absence. He had just returned from the Temple, where he opened the Gospel doors to spirits which for centuries have been closed; and his time had truly come, for faith enough was exercised to raise any man if it were the will of God it should be so. He had been unwell of flate, and on Tuesday morning, April 27th, came to this city on business, which he had only partly completed when he was stricken with cramp in his stomach. He continued to grow worse, but through only partly completed when he was stricken with cramp in his stomach. He continued to grow worse, but through the power of the Priesthood the faith was so great that once he raised up and exclaimed. 'Brethren, I feel well enough to go home; praise my heavenly Father.' But God had called him and angels were waiting to accompany his spirit to the spirit world, for he looked toward heaven and said, "What! did I hear you say for me to come? Did I hear you say you wanted me to labor on the other side? Father, use me for what thou seest fit; Thy will and not mine be done." The pains were so excruclating and the sufferings so great that large drops of sweat rolled down his chilly face. The people around could not stand to see him in such agony and, unknown to him, the skilful services of Dr. Ellis R. Shipp were called into requisition and morphine was injected to ease his pains, but death had fastened his iron hold upon his system, and at 7.40 a.m. on Wednesday, April 28, 1886, he was relieved from his sufferings.

of sickness he suffered such as but few mortal men ever have.

His greatest desire was that his family should be one, that they would heed the counsels he had given to them, live their religion and observe the dictates and whispering of that still small voice, so that in the eternal worlds, after the resurrection, they would all meet as one.

He died praising his Maker, and glorifying His holy name.—Com.
