Contract Let for Construction of New Waterworks Reservoir To Wheelwright Co.

HEARINGS IN DISTRICT COURT.

Government Publications for Library—Jury List—Judge Rolapp and Family Go to Europe.

Ogden, April 19.—The city council at its regular session last night disposed of an unusually heavy grind of business. Several petitions passed by the Ogden City Improvement league and the directors of the Weber club during the past week requesting the council to reconsider its former action and appropriate an additional amount to the $3,600 already allowed the board of park commissioners for city improvements, were read. Each of the resolutions was ordered filed with the exception of those from the league. Councilman Dickson requested that they be referred to the proper committees for reports, but his amendment was voted down.

From the action of the council, considerable improvements in sidewalks and paving will be made in Ogden in the next few weeks. The city engineer was instructed to advertise notices of intention to create a sidewalk district on Grant avenue and Thirty-first, which will include several other thoroughfares in the same localities. Also to advertise notices of intention to create a sidewalk district on Royal avenue. The engineer reported that he had carefully examined the two petitions regarding the paving of Washington avenue between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth train for the trip. The party will leave early Wednesday morning and return about 5 o'clock in the evening.

District Judge J. A. Howell, in receipt of a letter from Senator George Sutherland informing him that the Carnegie free library of Ogden had been made one of the government depositories for free publications.
