EDITORIAL NOTES.

—Father Gavazzi, the Italian Catholic priest, has been lecturing lately at Edinburgh, Scotland.

—The Dominion Government has issued an order forbidding the running of railroad trains in Canada on the Sabbath except by direct order of the Government.

—San Francisco streets are beginning to be troubled with beggars.

—Mr. M. P. Handy, correspondent at New Orleans of the Philadelphia Times, after investigating the Eliza Pinkston case, says, "No body in the neighborhood had heard any political complexion given to the outrage until the story came from New Orleans. Gentlemen with whom I talked are ready to testify that Eliza Pinkston was a rabid democrat, and that they heard her come a republican speaker in open meeting just before the election, in language unfit for publication, after vainly trying to borrow a pistol to shoot him. All attempts to connect politics with this affair fall to the ground, and I say it, after careful investigation, begun with the abhorrence of such an outrage, and the conviction that it was a crime chargeable to the democrats."

—General John S. Phelps, Governor elect of Missouri, is said to be experiencing anew the perversity of woman. He and his wife separated several years ago. Now that he is elected to the State governorship she is determined to share the honors, so she puts in an appearance without any warning, declaring that she has "come to be inaugurated with the Governor."

The general's friends advise him to let the lady have her way. Half the women in Jefferson City pity the poor Governor, and the other half glory in his wife's spirit.

GRANT AND THE TWO PARTIES.

PRESIDENT GRANT is a man whose action may be more safely inferred than the actions of many men. He is not a radical nor a revolutionist against existing authority, and is not in favor of sudden radical changes. He is not of a flighty disposition. He is a man of a stable mind and a doggedly tenacious disposition, inclined to uphold as he finds it the authority which exists and is established. He is an eminent military man and not remarkably great on civil polity. Consequently he inclines to military methods and principles, favoring centralism, obedience to the authority that is, and peace and quietness by those means. If Hayes was in power, Grant would support Hayes; if Tilden was in power, Grant would support Tilden; and in each case would enforce the same to the extent of the authority vested in him.

Being himself a Republican, and the republican party being in power, he naturally supports the Republicans for those reasons, but more especially does he do so for the reason that the Republicans are the existing authority. Hence his hanging to them and their electees and appointees until it shall be demonstrated beyond doubt to him that another party has the power, or which is equivalent to the same, the undeniable legal right to the power and the place. When that demonstration is made, he may be reasonably expected to support the democratic party, their electees and appointees, by the power at his command.

Therefore so long as the Republicans can keep him convinced that they have the electoral vote, he will be likely to support them and their presidential electees, and on the contrary, if the Democrats wish to secure his influence on their side, the readiest way would be to convince him that their presidential electees have the electoral vote.

If they can do this, there is probability of little trouble between them and the present President.

Last Night's Dispatches.

Another Denial.

CHICAGO, 13.—It is asserted positively in republican political circles that a deep-laid plan has been on foot for some time to secure the forcible inauguration of Tilden after the House had decided that he was legally elected. That the recent open letter, signed by some prominent Chicago democrats, and addressed to General Sherman, and which got into print by mistake, was one evidence of this plot; that the scheme originated in Ohio, and committees had been appointed in other States known as committees of safety, whose object was to secure military organizations and make a show of force in the north; that assessments have been levied on wealthy merchants here and elsewhere to carry out the idea, and that the premature publication of some documents and information has frustrated the whole affair. The democrats who notice this charge at all, deny in like positive manner that it contains a germ of truth.

WESTERN.

Australian News.

SAN FRANCISCO, 13.—The following is the Australian news by the City of New York.

The New Zealand Parliament has adjourned, having completed the work of consolidating various provinces in one colony.

New South Wales and New Zealand have not yet agreed regarding the terms of modifying the postal contract with the Pacific Mail Co. No decision is likely to be reached before the meeting of the New South Wales Parliament.

A severe storm passed over the northern part of New Zealand on November 11th, doing considerable damage. One man was killed, and a great number of fires were caused by the lightning. The loss will aggregate half a million sterling.

Twelve French Communists escaped from Roumania in a steam launch. A war vessel overtook them and captured ten; the other two jumped overboard and were drowned.

FOREIGN.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 13.—The plenipotentiaries seem to be agreed that Bulgaria should be placed under a Christian governor. There has been some discussion on the future condition of Bosnia, but the consideration of the question was adjourned. The Austrian and German plenipotentiaries asking time to refer the subject to their respective governments.

SPAIN.

THE BASQUE PROVINCES QUIET.

MADRID, 13.—Reliable intelligence has been received that the Basque provinces are quiet, although there is a passive resistance to the law abolishing the Fueros. Some of the deputies from those provinces have resigned their seats in the Cortes, but the majority remain, in the hope of conciliation.

GREAT BRITAIN.

SPECIE SHIPMENT—Collision and Loss of Life.

LONDON, 13.—Gold to the amount of £150,000 sterling was withdrawn from the bank yesterday, for New York.

The bark Robt. Kelly came in collision yesterday morning with the bark Huddersfield, off Start Point, near Liverpool. The Huddersfield sank immediately, and fifteen persons on board were drowned. The Robt. Kelly was discovered making water very fast. Her crew abandoned her, and landed at Portland yesterday.

The Conference—Russia's Attitude Supported by Germany and France.

A Berlin correspondent of the Times says the rumor that England has sanctioned, or shown any disposition to sanction, the Russian occupation of Ragusa, is not confirmed in Berlin. The Russians seem to think they might be avoided by the Roumanians occupying Bulgaria and the Russians Serbia. The attitude of Russia at the conference will be supported by Germany and France.

Constructing Bridge With Dismantled Vessels.

A Vienna dispatch to the Daily News says a great activity is reported to prevail at Widdin. The Turks have collected forty dismantled vessels with which to construct a bridge, and four monitors are there. The town is crowded with irregular troops.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 14.—The resolution for printing the President's Louisiana message was discussed in the morning hour, and a long debate ensued on the motion of Thurman to include the memorial of Boggs, Stevenson and McDonald, embracing the democratic committee's report.

The Senate, at 5 p.m., after a lengthy debate, passed the resolution to print 11,850 extra copies of the message of the President and accompanying documents in regard to the Louisiana elections.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 14.—Knetch, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, reported a substitute for McCrary's resolution for counting the electoral vote, providing for a committee of seven, to act in conjunction with a similar Senate committee, and report forthwith a measure for the best accomplishment of the desired end; also another committee of seven to report what are the powers, privileges and duties of the House in the electoral count. The resolution was adopted without debate or division.

The Senate's amendments to last session's postal bill for re-establishment of the fast mail service and franking privilege were rejected as being foreign to this bill.

The House went into committee of the whole on the post office appropriation bill.

Without disposing of the bill, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

EASTERN.

From South Carolina.

NEW YORK, 14.—The World's Columbia special says the democratic legislature will count the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor to-day, and Hampton will be inaugurated afterwards.

The radicals will have but a short session of their legislature, as they proposed to adjourn sine die on the 15th. The session is usually continued until March.

The reported lynching of the colored murderers in Abbeville is untrue. The prisoners are safe in jail. Three of them have committed suicide. Everything is quiet in Columbia.

The election of Corbin as United States Senator, by the bogus legislature was confirmed, to-day, in joint assembly. The democratic Senators did not participate.

The democratic Senators and the Wallace House balloted for United States Senator, to-day, without result.

Hampton, in his inauguration tomorrow, will recommend peace, but, at the same time, will declare that he will maintain everything that is just and right.

Chamberlain has put no general message to his bogus legislature, evidently feeling dissatisfied and unsettled at the present condition of things.

The Pacific Mail Quarrel.

The Tribune has this about the Pacific Mail quarrel: "The explanation of the difficulty, given by the friends of Vice-President Miller, is to the following effect: They said the contracts furnished the legal means for making an end of the Pacific Mail. A heavy monthly payment is exacted by the Panama Company, which charges the Pacific Mail nearly double the rates exacted from other steamship lines. In addition, the Panama Transit Company, largely owned by a few Pacific Mail directors, charges the Pacific Mail the right to run their steamships between New York and San Francisco, one-half of all the net profits left after the Panama payments. All these representations rest entirely on the statements of Vice President Miller's friends. They also insist that in one of the contracts is a provision that, in case Clyde should cease to be President of the Pacific Mail Co. his steamers are then to be chartered to this Panama and Transit Company. The debt due from the Pacific Mail to the Panama Co. now amounts to nearly $800,000. The present was elected as a reform board. Miller's friends insist that these are queer results of reform, and assert their right to a searching examination only to the Panama bills.

The Times on the Silver Bill.

The Times editorial says, if we could suppose for an instant that the silver bill, which passed the House yesterday, would become a law, we should regard its passage as one of the worst acts the House has done in many years. The bill is expressly framed to lead to the payment of our bonds in silver. It would, if it became law, expose securities to all the doubts and uncertainties which would inevitably shake the confidence of the world in their soundness. It would extend to the national government faith in all the transactions of the country which can provide for the payment of its debts in coin, which has, within a year, undergone changes of more than twenty per cent., cannot be relied on to keep any of its promises. Such an act stamps it as dangerous as a debtor, technically honest perhaps, but capable of robbing his creditors at a monstrous rate, not can the restless demagogues who are pushing this matter flatter the masses that the burden of such a measure will fall on the rich. The rich can defend themselves. They can take their property out of the United States bonds and put it in safer investments, but men and women of small means cannot do so. A depositor in a savings bank, for instance, whose hard-earned money is largely in United States bonds, would suffer heavily and be helpless to avoid it. If the silver bill became a law the bonds of the United States would come back on us from every money market in Europe. Their price would fall in this country accordingly, and the assets of the savings banks would shrink by many millions within six months.

The Lick Estate.

The Lebanon, Penn., Times says James W. Lick was here last Friday. His object is to procure the proper papers for a final settlement of the estate, which is now pending, and has visited all the relatives of the late James Lick in this vicinity, with that view. He was requested by the counsel for the heirs to visit San Francisco, and he would probably leave between the 15th and 20th of this month. The estate is now pending, and a final settlement was now pending.

Schenck and the Emma Mine.

The trial of the five million dollar suit against the directors of the Emma Mine Company was resumed to-day. Edwin M. Stoughton continued his opening address, in which he severely attacked General Schenck at the time of his transaction mentioned in the complaint.

A letter from Mexico, dated Nov. 28th, says, in the fight of Nov. 16th, on a line of the Mexico and Vera Cruz railroad, between the Lerdoists and Revolutionists, which resulted in the overthrow of the Lerdo government, both sides brought into action forces numerically equal as far as can be judged, variously estimated at from 3,000 to 6,000 men each. The Government troops suffered a total defeat with a loss of 2,700 killed and wounded, including General Lerdo, ammunition and equipments. The loss of General Diaz, by killed and wounded, was 1,400.

PHILADELPHIA, 14.—The result of the libel suit of Bruthers & Sons, contractors, against the Evening Bulletin, resulted in a verdict of one cent. They claimed $50,000 damages.

$40,000 Fire.

AUGUSTA, Me., 14.—A fire on Water Street, to-day, destroyed property valued at $40,000, insured $20,000.

Deaths of the House Committee on Commerce.

WASHINGTON, 14.—The House committee on Commerce, to-day, heard the representatives of the various boards of trade in advocacy of legislation for the creation of a department of agriculture and manufactures, to be devoted to the protection and promotion of American trade. Further argument will be heard to-morrow.

The Work Distributed.

The House committee on appropriations made the following distribution of the work remaining on hand: The Legislative, Executive and Judicial bill is assigned to Holman, Waldron and Atkins. The Army to Atkins, Wells and Foster. The Navy to Blount, Hale and Clymer. The Indian to Wells, Foster and Holman. The Military Academy to Clymer, Foster and Blount.
