

EVENING NEWS. Tuesday, November 20, 1900.

FRAGMENTS.

Haverly's ministers are booked for November 20 and December 1, at the Theatre.

A brown mare and iron gray colt were stolen the other night from near the Hanauer shelter. The animals are the property of John McKay.

H. A. Leonard, who deserted from Fort Douglas about five years ago, was arrested by Deputy Marshal Frank yesterday afternoon in this city. He was going under the name of Kelly.

The S. S. Wisconsin, from New York, arrived at Queenstown on the 15th inst., at 3 p. m.; time of passage nine days. There were a number of missionaries and visitors from Utah on board.

Yesterday afternoon Major Frank Strick, agent of the department of justice, and his assistant, Howard Perry, special agent, visited the penitentiary to inspect how the United States prisoners were kept. They found everything in as good condition as it could be with the accommodations at hand. They were about town today, with Marshal Dyer, visiting various places of interest.

Fatal Explosion.

Yesterday afternoon a boiler exploded at a smelter near Butte, Montana. Four men were killed and their bodies being horribly mutilated. Two others were terribly injured; three of them will probably die.

Information Wanted.

James Brice, whose address is McDonald, Washington County, Pa., would like to learn the whereabouts of Edward Roberts and Joseph Hack-well, formerly of Elkhart, Va., South Wales. Any person having information respecting these parties is requested to write to Mr. Brice.

Arizona Notes.

A correspondent, "J. P. L.," writes that the Republicans have carried Graham County, Arizona, by a large majority. There are several "Mormon" settlements in that county.

The same writer makes a brief reference to a mail robbery which occurred recently near Bowie. The robbers were Mexicans, and it is reported that they completely destroyed the mail in their search for money.

Death of Edwin Standing.

News reached this city today that Edwin Standing, of Lehi, died at his residence in Lehi, Utah, of pneumonia. This sad intelligence was totally unexpected by his friends here. The event was evidently very sudden. Brother Standing, about a year ago, served a term in the penitentiary under conviction for unlawful cohabitation. Subsequently another similar charge was pleaded against him, but at the investigation, which took place recently at Provo, he was discharged, no evidence having been produced on which to hold him. A number of years ago he performed a mission to the State of Utah, where he was a quiet, unassuming man whose whole heart was in the religion of his choice; he was of unimpeachable honesty and therefore leaves behind him a clear record. His death will be a sad blow to his family, who will have the sympathy of many friends.

News Notes.

Walter Smith, for stealing a rifle from Montana rancher, was sentenced Wednesday, in Helena, to five years in the penitentiary.

Phoenix, A. T., Nov. 17.—Yesterday Colonel J. T. Blum of this valley turned over his Kenworthy estate, worth $20,000, which he had bet on Cleveland's election against a man of Kentucky blood named George Lorin of this city. The stallions one of the finest animals on the coast.

No. Jan., a man of about 50 years, who came to Butte from Pennsylvania about six weeks ago, expecting to find employment, was about to start back home again last Saturday morning on account of ill-health, when he dropped dead in the street.

At Granite, near Butte, M. T., last Friday night, a mine named Harry Rose inflicted serious wounds with a pocket knife upon Walter Banks, his foreman. The latter gave Rose a discharge, and this is said to be the cause of the quarrel. Banks is likely to die. Both were employed at the Bieltville mine.

San Buenaventura, Cal., Nov. 16.—Charles Johnson, a well-known boy, children left here this morning for their home near Eugene, and while crossing the Santa Clara river the carriage was upset by the rapid current, and the two younger children, one aged two years and the other an infant, were drowned. Their bodies were recovered.

Melvin Brown, who robbed the Montana Central train, was sentenced to the penitentiary. While the prisoner was leaving the court room he dealt the deputy sheriff a blow which forced him, after which a struggle ensued. Brown was finally manacled and had to be dragged to jail.

St. Helena, Cal., Nov. 17.—John Burke, a section hand on the Napa Valley Railroad, fell into a well on the farm of Peter Cook, near Calistoga, last night, and was drowned. Nothing was known of the accident until morning. Cook's son, however, went to the well for water and caught up a man's hat. Investigation disclosed the body of the deceased, and the remains were brought to the surface. It is supposed that Burke was trying to get into the wine cellar and in wandering around in the darkness fell into the well.

Redwood City, Cal., Nov. 16.—An unknown man of medium size, aged about 30 years, with light complexion and brown hair, was killed by a train passing that place. The body was found this morning. He was evidently riding on the breakfast, and fell off. There were no means of identification, except a blue shirt, blue overalls and cardigan jacket. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death from being run over by the cars.

La Grande, Or., Nov. 10.—John Wells, father of Lester H. Wells of East Portland, an old pioneer of this city and valley, was thrown from a wagon and killed by a horse while bringing a load of wood down the mountain to town with a four-horse team. The team, when the horse came entangled in the harness of the leaders, and the team broke in, the wagon went over the side of the mountain, and John Wells was killed. He was a well-known and highly respected citizen throughout the county. He has many relatives in Portland.

Virginia, Ky., Nov. 10.—Last night Harry Symonds was thrown from a buckboard in Lower Gold Hill, while rounding a turn in a road with a team of runaway mules. He was hurled to the ground with his head, fracturing his skull and producing concussion of the brain, which resulted fatally this morning. The deceased was superintendent of the Government Bank in Camp, Lyon County, where he has resided for many years, engaged in prospecting, and was interested in making an ore development which promised to reward him for his years of toil. He was a native of Covington, England, aged 65 years.

Some of the Chicago papers have decided along to the fact. One of them, in speaking of Ex-Mayor Carter Harrison, who recently returned from a tour around the world, speaks of him as the great "chole froter."

IN THE COURTS.

"Mormons" Being Chawed into the Penitentiary.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

Proceedings today before Judge Sanford.

United States vs. T. P. Lewis, et al.; timber sale; continued to Nov. 30.

Jones vs. George Denton; suit for $300 damages for unlawful detention of stock; trial in progress.

Wm. Olmstead vs. Louisa Olmstead; decree of divorce allowed plaintiff.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT—PROVO.

In Judge Judd's division of the First District Court, Nov. 19 has been characterized by the bar as a "judgment day." This was owing to the number of sentences—twenty-three—set for that day. Most of the defendants were "Mormons," and the offenses with which they were charged were mainly the same, namely, because of the practice of plural marriage. In some instances, the offense of unlawful cohabitation was added a charge of adultery; in the first case the plural wife being recognized as the legal wife of the defendant, and in the other case being looked upon as no wife, in order that the alleged offense might be proven. The majority of the defendants were in a position that they would not make a respectable prisoner rather to suffer imprisonment than to violate their consciences. A few, however, preferred to go to prison.

Hans Nielsen, charged with unlawful cohabitation, was the first called to the bar, and was asked by the judge if he had any statement to make. Mr. Thurnman spoke for the defendant, saying that for a year past he had not lived with either of his wives. Mr. Evans added that the reason he could not live with his first wife was that he had married a second; that he had deeded all his property to his wives; that he had married his second wife in 1894. The court stated that the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

Randolph H. Stewart, for unlawful cohabitation and adultery, the court recognized as "the man with three wives and twenty-seven children." The judge said he would be a martyr for a light sentence. The sentence was not so light, however, for the judge gave him seven months in the penitentiary.

Erick Erickson, called for unlawful cohabitation, said his circumstances were such that he had no money and had no money to pay the fine. He was sentenced to three months in the penitentiary.

Wm. Brathwaite, up for unlawful cohabitation and adultery, came forward and stated that since his arrest he had lived with his first wife; that he was a poor man; that he had no money to pay the fine. The court sentenced him to three months in the penitentiary.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.

John P. Dorius, charged with unlawful cohabitation and adultery, was called. He had two wives. Mr. Thurnman said each case ought to be on its own merits. The judge said the law is reformatory and imposed upon the defendant three months imprisonment and a fine of $100 and costs.