

PATRIOTS DEMUR AGAINST DEVINE

"None But 'Americans' Need Apply," the Slogan Reiterated At Meeting Last Night.

NO SPOILS FOR OUTSIDERS.

Characteristic Resolutions Presented By Dinniny and Adopted With a Whoop by Pie Hunters.

"None but 'Americans' need apply, even if they are incompetents," was the battle cry shouted at an indignation meeting of "American" party district chairmen, party workers, representatives of the inner circle and the flotsam and jetsam of disgruntled official pie hunters generally last night. The scene of the pronouncing of this ultimatum was Harmonie hall, the occasion being the assembly following the emergency call to protest against the appointment of James Devine as fire chief vice C. T. Vail, removed for the good of the service. The emphasis of the sentiment expressed was that the victor belonged to the spoils and under no circumstances should an appointment be given to anyone who did not work for the party, even if he were the right man for the place, one who might save the city and the taxpayers, if such a thing were possible. The agreement made and entered into between Mayor Bradford and the "inner circle" regarding Devine's appointment was torn to tatters and generally repudiated. The fact that the Tribune endorsed Devine's prospective appointment makes the revolt all the more humorous. The managing editor of the organ of the crooks was present apparently watching the case on behalf of its client. The meeting was called by Joe Spoils Lippman, aided and abetted by Jocund Easy Danner, whose motto always has been "keep off the grass, this pasture is reserved for the spoils." County Chairman McIntyre, he of deep-sea exploration fame, refereed the talkfest and the absent mayor's lone champion was Sandy Fowler, who gallantly broke a lance or two in behalf of his magnified chief.

SOME HEADLINERS.

The meeting was of the usual opera bouffe order. Lippman came loaded to the muzzle with oratory and discharged salutes on the slightest provocation. Patriot Dinniny also was well to the front with a resolution which was adopted in full this morning in the Tribune following a statement by the managing editor in his well known humorous vein that to the victor belonged the spoils, or words to that effect, which was cheered to the echo.

For some unexplained reason Councilmen Davis, O'Donnell and Martin were not present, but the rest of the council was on hand. When the council came in for criticism Tom Black and Mont Ferry made speeches and upheld the result in his selection.

As a result a motion followed that the matter of appointing a new fire chief be held over until the return of Mayor Bradford from California. Resolutions were presented by that section, patriot and legal luminary Atty. Dinniny. These were adopted with a whoop and a committee of 15 will be named to present this important account to Mayor Bradford when he returns and inform him that there had been a misapprehension of facts in regard to the proposed appointment of James Devine as fire chief.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, C. T. Vail, chief of the fire department of this city, has been removed by the mayor with the consent of the city council for the good of the service; and

Whereas, it is reported that the mayor is about to appoint James Devine to said office and to submit his appointment to the city council for confirmation; and

Whereas, said James Devine is not a member of the American party of this state, but on the contrary, is a Republican and the chairman of the Republican Salt Lake City committee; and

Whereas, The American party at the last municipal election, Nov. 5, 1907, polled about 12,000, and within 255 as many votes as both our political adversaries at said election; and

Whereas, Since the inception of party politics in this country, it has been the unbroken and steadfast rule for the political party in power to appoint to office only those of its political faith, which rule has been strictly adhered to in the past in this city, county and state by all parties in power, and such rule would be gladly invoked by both the church Democratic and church Republican parties were either in power in the city government at this time; and

Whereas, Neither the mayor nor the head of any other department of the city government, nor the city council, is responsible to the people of this city for the faithful and the honest management and conduct of its affairs, but the American party is responsible, hence only true and tried members of the American party should be appointed to office. Now,

Therefore, we, the members of the state committee of the American

SIX STORY BUILDING TO BE ERECTED BY THE CHURCH.

The structure to be erected in the immediate future on the corner of South Temple and Richards street, the design of which is here reproduced, will be one of the handsomest and most up-to-date office buildings in the city. It will be six stories and basement, the walls to be of cream colored brick with white sandstone trimmings, floors and roof of re-enforced concrete and the finishings of a high order.

Monson & Schaub of Logan will superintend the construction, the plans submitted by that firm having been accepted by the presiding bishopric, with the sanction of the first president, as the building is to be erected by the Church. Four beautiful sets of plans were submitted, any one of which would have done credit to the corner in question. Some of them, however, ran rather high in price, one being estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. The figures named by Messrs. Monson & Schaub came nearest to the suggestions offered in the solicitations for bids, namely $100,000, and as their plans contained all other requirements, Mr. Monson was notified yesterday afternoon that his firm was the successful competitor.

While Messrs. Monson & Schaub have done much building in northern Utah and southern Idaho, they are no longer in the contracting business. Local contractors will compete for the work, and to Mr. Monson will fall the lot of supervising the structure. Formerly of Richmond, he now makes his home at Logan, but for the next few months will spend most of his time in this city.

Increased Assessments for Public Service Corporations.

The amounts of the assessments against public service corporations in Salt Lake county as made by the state board of equalization, have been filed with County Auditor Frank Heglin-botham. The assessments will now be apportioned among the various districts, which will require two weeks of hard work by the staff of the auditor's office. Following are the figures of the assessments, with comparative tables for 1907:

MAJOR MAY WILL COMMAND.

Continued illness of Colonel Scott Prevents His Participation.

Ten companies of the Twenty-first infantry, stationed at Fort Logan, near Denver, will join the Fifteenth infantry, at Fort Logan, where the latter regiment will make a halt on route to Wyoming and march north with it. The Fifteenth will have 15 quartermaster's wagons, carrying all the tentage, kitchen outfit and commissary, and there will also be a machine gun detachment. Maj. Willis T. May is slated to command the regiment, as Colonel Scott is incapacitated by continued illness, and Lieut.-Col. Williams is to be detached for a staff position.

EVENING WITH STEPHENS.

Twentieth Ward Choir Will Sing Local Composer's Songs.

The Twentieth ward choir will give another of their evenings with home composers at the ward meetinghouse tomorrow, 6:30 p. m. They have already done honor to C. J. Thomas, J. G. Fones, Joe J. Daynes and George Careless, and on this occasion Prof. Evan Stephens and his compositions will form the subject of the program. Mr. Stephens will deliver a lecture on music, which will be presented, interpreted and succeeded by selections by the choir from his extensive repertoire. A general invitation is extended.

TWO INDICTMENTS ARE IN PROSPECT

Beginning of the End Appears in Federal Inquiry Into Bank Robbery.

PERJURY MAY BE CHARGED.

Pinkertons Appear to Have Much to Tell Grand Jury—May File Report Next Tuesday.

That the Pinkerton investigation continued so ruthlessly since the discovery that a robbery had occurred in the Utah National bank is at last grinding out the definite proof before the grand jury, is the opinion of many who are close in touch with its work. The jury is expected to report Monday or Tuesday, and to bring in at least two indictments, one of them possibly for perjury as well as complicity in the stealing of funds. J. N. London of the Pinkerton forces spent the interim between the recess taken in May and the reconvening of the jury last week, working on the case, and he has been closeted with the jury for several days. From the personnel of the witnesses examined yesterday, it would seem that every phase of the case is still an open one, but the fact that the witnesses were mostly paid off as soon as they appeared, indicates also that the extended investigation is completed.

The matter of who wrote a letter to a former bank employee and received shortly after the robbery was discovered, has been largely under consideration for the past few days, and it is probable that H. Kytko, the San Francisco handwriting expert, testified on this point. To determine whether any of the money was spent in the stock exchange, a number of brokers were called from New York and it is understood that the question asked them concerned largely the spendings of one whose affairs have been investigated before. The letter was sent from Ogden, on the left or a note book, and was signed "T." It said the writer had left for San Francisco. Mr. Adams turned it at once over to Mr. McCormick, from whom it was given to the Pinkertons, and has been published as a part of Mr. Adams' statement. At that time all of the employees in the bank were asked for their pocket note books, but none was found to correspond with the torn leaf. Friends of Mr. Adams expressed the belief that the letter was written by someone involved in the robbery, and sent to him so that it would arrive after he had resigned, as his resignation had been expected, and would thus fall into the hands of the Pinkerton investigators, serving to throw suspicion his way.

The letter has remained from the first as one of the most important documents of the case, ranking in importance with a conversation in which one of those suspected asked a friend what he would do if he had $50,000, the conversation being followed by many explanations of just what was meant by it all of these explanations having proven to be made without grounds on which to base them.

The general belief expressed today that the jury has determined upon indictments, has created a great feeling of relief through the Utah National employees, who have been under a constant strain, and at times under direct suspicion, for the evidence had led in its turn to almost every employee, since the original discovery of the theft in the early part of January.

DIAMOND ROBBERY SUPPRESSED

Police Keep Quiet About Mrs. E. E. Young's Losses.

Another case of robbery, and one suppressed by the police, came to light last evening when it leaked out that thieves had robbed the Andrus residence, 140 west Second South, and had stolen $1,300 worth of jewelry and diamonds from Mrs. E. E. Young, who conducts the place. The robbery occurred Tuesday night and among the articles taken were a diamond sunburst, four diamond rings and a gold watch. Mrs. Young stated that she left the house for some time on Tuesday and when she returned found everything apparently as she left. On going to her jewelry case, however, she was shocked to find the articles missing. She reported the theft to the police but they have been unable to secure any clue.
