

LECTURE ON UTAH DOWNS PREJUDICE

Prof. John P. Meakin Entertaining Large Audiences in The East.

THE NEW ENGLAND STATES.

Discloses the Beautiful Handiwork of Nature—Something For Westerners to See and Enjoy.

Editor Deseret News:
Cleveland, Ohio, May 28.—Since my last letter, I have traveled many miles, conversed with scores of people, gave my lecture on "Utah" before several large audiences, besides entertaining nearly every evening in the homes of new and old friends. I wish that I could accomplish more than I do, in the brief space of each day, for my friends would then read more of my experiences and wanderings in the east.

Before turning my face westward I went to Norwich, Conn. I visited with the Hon. James M. Parker and his scholarly wife in their palatial home in one of the most picturesque valleys in the state of Connecticut. Just a few miles from the city.
At this season of the year all nature smiles with beauty all around. She has put on her spring coat of varied colors, which covers every nook and corner, hill and dale. I grow more interested every day in the beauties of our country. People should see the world and its magnificent wonders.
They would become more generous, more charitable and broader minded.
I have looked in wonderment at the handiwork of both God and man in the east. While the westerners are urging the easterners to see the wonders of the west, the easterners should urge the westerners to see some of the wonders of the east.

IN NEW ENGLAND.

In the New England states and in Ohio as I have beheld the beautiful valleys, beautiful lakes, the forests of elms and maples, the waving grasses and beautiful flowers and have listened to the music of the birds and the song of the brook, as I have watched the great rivers join their forces and roll on towards the sea, I exclaimed with the poet:
"Great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world
With the wonderful waters around you curled,
With the wonderful grass upon your breast World you are grandly and beautifully dressed."

Then as I would ride into a little town and see dilapidated human beings and see their narrow souls, realize their bigotry and unkindness to their fellow men, the words of Dr. Watts forced themselves upon my mind, and I said, Oh, my country, "Where every prospect pleases And only man is vile." Exterpate low selfishness and bigotry from the minds of men and we will not then live in a semi hell but to the contrary in the full realization of a heaven on earth. Heaven is within us and about us, if we were only civilized high enough to see it, experience it, and enjoy it.

I returned to New York for a couple of days from Norwich, and bade my friends good by.
I left them midst the whirl and business of New York life and as I crossed the Hudson river, the tall spires and the sky scraping roofs of New York, were scarcely seen through a tear.

WORK IN BUFFALO.

Buffalo was my next stop, thriving, clean, up-to-date, on the ex, but not "at a break-neck speed." Buffalo is a fraternal city. The people are hospitable, courteous. I met many of them and I enjoyed my visit beyond expression in words.
In all the towns and cities I have visited I have dispelled the clouds of ignorance as to our state and its people, by the sunlight of truth.
The prejudice is amazing, in many instances vile, murderous.
There are a score of men and women clothed in the robes of Christianity, continually going up and down as tale bearers about Utah and the "Mormons," but withal, some of the people are doing some thinking for themselves, and surely are long.

"We shall know each other better When the mists have rolled away."

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

I came here, and like at other places, it is a task to tear myself away, requests from personal friends and from "Mormon" friends keep a coming for me to visit their town or city. On Sunday evening, May 13, I spoke to a fair sized audience in the Pythian Temple. The night was one of the stormiest of the springtime. It rained in torrents which was detrimental to outmeeting, but I have had engagements all along the line and I have removed some of the mists that befog the minds of the people.

I have had the pleasure of meeting some of the best and brainiest people in the east. I must not forget to mention a dear old lady here, who has two sisters in Utah and whose doors are always swung wide open for Utahans.
Mrs. H. E. Harrison, her heart overflows with kindness and many a wanderer from his mountain home finds a haven of rest under her hospitable roof.
During my visit, our conversation drifted to home and loved ones both in Utah and in far off England. She had read the romance of Mrs. Meakin and my life published in Cleveland Plain Dealer last September, and was anxious to know more. I found that the good lady came from Winwick, 10 miles from Ramsay, my birthplace in old England.
She had listened when a girl to my father, and also to Robert W. Wolcott, my wife's father, preach in Bedfordshire 50 years ago.
In imagination she wandered back and so did I, to the babbling brooks of childhood, and we lived the old days over again.
Tom Moore sang a sweet song when he wrote:
"When time, who steals pur year away, Shall steal our pleasures too,
The memory of the past will stay And half its joys renew."

A reception was tendered me at this lady's beautiful home at 279 W. 4th avenue. The evening will ever linger like sweet chimes in memory's treasury of the human mind.
Beside a goodly number of strangers, all the Utah sophomores were present, and in closing, "we" sang the song of Home, Sweet Home, the song that reached our hearts.

SHARON CENTER, O.

By a pressing invitation from C. M.
Johnson and other citizens, I went to Sharon Center and gave my lecture in the town hall on Sunday, May 20.
The hall was filled with the leading people of Medina county.
One of the ministers was broadminded enough to announce the meeting from the pulpit. The gentleman was a Luth-erian and his action was appreciated.
It came like a ray of light from a dark and clouded sky.
C. M. Johnson, an old and highly respected citizen, was the chairman, and he was not afraid to act.
It had been noised about among the country people that my lecture was in favor of the "Mormons." Why the very idea of such a thing was enough to cause a commotion, it being the first time a square deal was ever given the "Mormons."

In opening I assured the people that many speakers and thinkers had been, unwelcome guests but in after years, it had been proven that they were right in their labors, said in opening: Miss Susan B. Anthony at her last public meeting, was pelted by the audience with roses, and at the close of her lecture she stood knee deep in beautiful flowers. The lady was overcome by such loving enthusiasm, and with tears running down her cheeks she turned to the chairman and said:
"My dear, what a difference, what a change, how beautiful this is; why, don't you know, 60 years ago in this same town, the audience pelted me with eggs, and I give the same story today as I did then."

SIXTY YEARS' WORK.

Yes, ladies and gentlemen! It took 60 years to break down the barriers of bigotry and change conditions from knee deep in eggs to knee deep in roses.
I neither fear the eggs nor expect the flowers. All I ask is a respectful hearing. You may draw your own conclusions. I have given you my story.
The meeting was one of my best and most successful during my eastern tour.
The people are anxious to learn the truth, they have never heard any good of Utah and the "Mormons." It is unpopular, and clamor without knowledge is rampant, but some are beginning to realize that they have been hornswog-gled by people who ought to have known better and done better.
I have entertained over 100 of the people in talks on Utah and "Mormons" and in song and story, at the country home of the prince of men, Cyrus M.
Johnson.

I am now a welcome guest at Sharon Center, O., and so will any honest Utah man or woman be, should they pass that way.

"The mob, its wrath, its ail, Learn gently to despise.
At first they excommunicate, At length they canonize."
With good will to everybody, I am, Yours fraternally,
JOHN P. MEAKIN.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH OF GOOD.

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain," says A. H. Thompson, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few days later the brick-bat-like substance and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good." Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney or bladder disease.

HELEN GOULD CHURCH FOR THE COMANCHES.

The church which Miss Helen M. Gould helped to build for the Comanche Indians, was dedicated recently. It is a fine, rolling tract of prairie land, near Chattanooga, Okla., and is the source of much pride to the Indians. Rev. J. L. Lectus, a Presbyterian clergyman, pastor of the church, and for him the Indians are pparagonage.
