

FIGHTING LASTED ALL DAY AND NIGHT

Bloody Battle Raging Some Six Miles North of Yantai Railway Station.

TERRIFIC ARTILLERY DUEL.

Kuropatkin Receives a Temporary Check—Russians Determined To Win.

Mukden, Oct. 12.—A bloody battle is now raging about six miles north of Yantai railway station. The Japanese on Sunday fell back along the whole front, and the Russian advance guards crossed the Schill river about half way between Mukden and Liao Yang, and came within three miles of Yantai, but yesterday the Japanese received strong reinforcements of infantry and artillery, and not only held their positions, but even assumed the offensive.

The fighting lasted the entire day and night. The Japanese directed their artillery fire with great skill, and searched the Russian positions so fiercely that the Russians fell back north of the Schill river, which crosses the railroad seven miles from Yantai. The Russian yesterday (Tuesday) morning resumed their advance once more, crossed the Schill river and engaged the Japanese two miles south of it. A terrific artillery engagement is proceeding along the entire front. The result of the battle is still undecided. The fighting noted is not considered as being of the magnitude of a general engagement such as is expected to come, possibly within a few days, somewhere within a triangle indicated by lines connecting Liao Yang, Yantai and Szechuan. The battle, however, is fought, is expected to be decisive of this year's campaign.

CHECK FOR KUROPATKIN.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—(4.10 a. m.)—Severe fighting north of Yantai, resulting in a temporary check to the Japanese advance guard, of which the Associated Press correspondent at Mukden telegraphed the first news, is not regarded at the war office as indicating a general engagement. The latest official dispatches indicating the disposition of the various corps about the whole army is not yet in line of battle. The present engagement may therefore be regarded as the result of a counter attack which an enterprising foe like the Japanese might be expected to make, but without any calculation to prevent the Russian advance. Gen. Kuropatkin's present superiority in numbers is held here, is to hold longer or later to compel the Japanese to fall back upon their strong positions within the triangle formed by Yantai, Liao Yang and Szechuan.

Everything points to that triangle as being the probable scene of the decisive struggle of this year's campaign. Strategic reasons of the most weighty character render it imperative for the Russians, as well as for the Japanese, to become their chief attention upon the country east of the railway. The Russians are compelled to take this course because the railroad runs northward and hence lines of communication are more vulnerable from the east. The Japanese are influenced by a similar consideration, but the railroad no longer plays a foremost part in their plans. In view of the approaching close of navigation at Yinkow and of the fact that the line at Pitsow is long and cumbersome and liable to interruption, they must consider Feng Wang Cheng and Takushan as the source of supplies during the winter, and with this in view the eastern communications of Liao Yang are of the utmost importance. The Yantai triangle is a strategically situated to protect them. Field Marshal Oyama must therefore hold this triangle at all costs.

The problem confronting Gen. Kuropatkin in the immediate future is the

ON THE SAFETY OF OVER-EATING.

The Rule of Choosing the Lesser of Two Evils Applies to the Way You Eat.

Want to know how a man is to know when he has had enough? The Pilgrim Fathers, I believe, had a quaint saying to the effect that you should always rise from the table (telling as you could) at some hour. But the question is, how much more? Just when to stop? That's the point.

The rule is wrong, because it's no rule at all.

It is likely to lead to the dangerous habit of eating too little.

And eating too little—or digesting too little, which amounts to the same thing—is the cause of nine-tenths of the diseases from which humanity suffers to-day.

What is disease?

It is simply uneven balance between waste and repair.

Some organs lack strength to carry on the special work for which it was created. Where shall it find the strength it lacks? In drugs?

Yes, thousands times, NO!

Better die than become a hopeless drug fiend.

No, in food.

"But," you say, "I eat a plenty of good food every day."

True, dear friend; but you don't digest it.

And food, undigested, is mere poison.

So, to make food do you good, you must take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The great thing about Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is, that their action does not depend upon stimulative drugs.

They cannot create a habit.

They contain no ingredients to "pick-up," "tone-up" your nervous system, or furnish whip energy, by calling out your vital reserve force.

They create new strength, force and energy—out of your food.

If taken sparingly, they will do you no good at all.

So eat to live, and live to eat, with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The cause of our present civilization is exhaustion.

And exhaustion, whether of brain, nerves, physical strength, or vital force, is caused by starvation.

Of two evils, it is better to overeat (and prevent indigestion) than to starve (and prevent indigestion) to the point of danger, the mere thought of which would drive the weak, starving dyspeptic into a panic fit.

Good food, well digested, is the great secret of a healthy existence here on earth, so eat heartily every day of the best food you can get, and regulate the workings of your digestive machinery with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

An result, you will be astonished to find how much more energy and vitality you feel, how much more and better work you can do, how much more pleasure you will get out of life, and how your old enemy, that chronic trouble which has fastened upon your weak spot, wherever it is, will up and away, and ever after leave you in peace, health and content.

There's more truth than poetry in all this.

Try it once.

capture of the fortified heights composing this triangle, where the Japanese will have the advantage of fighting behind breastworks and utilizing their general superiority of the Japanese in mountain operations is conceded. The Russian commander undoubtedly is aware of the difficulties of the task before him, has measured them well and is confident of his ability to overcome them. If Gen. Kuropatkin possessed an army of half a million men he could have a sufficient force to attack the triangle while he moved with the remainder around the eastern and western flanks. This is considered in the best informed circles at the war office to be impracticable with the numbers now composing Gen. Kuropatkin's army, and a frontal advance is the only alternative. Operations, however, are likely to be marked by feints on the right and left. The Japanese probably will make similar movements until both armies become involved in a death struggle.

Russians Are Determined.

Mukden, Oct. 11.—7:45 p.m.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphed as follows: "I have seen a number of the wounded who have been sent back from the front. It is impossible at present to enter into details of the operations on foot, but the men interviewed are in infinitely better spirits than were those who were sent back from the front. Every one is confident, and the men are all anxious to finish the war in order to get back home. None of them, however, has any idea of going home except as victors. We have enough troops, and the one determination of officers and men is to wipe out the Japanese."

ADVANCE ON MUKDEN.

Field Headquarters of the Second Japanese Army, Oct. 10, 9 p. m. via Pusan, Korea, Oct. 12.—The advance on Mukden began this morning. Field Marshal Oyama, learning that the Russians were strengthening their position in their left five miles north of Yantai, ordered the advance. The entire line began the march, the infantry advancing two or three miles, the artillery following. The Russians, observing this movement, opened an artillery duel which continued all day. There was no decisive forward movement of the infantry tonight.

ADVANCE WELCOMED.

Tokio, Oct. 12 (11 a. m.)—Silence has been preserved at headquarters concerning the events around Liao Yang and Mukden. It is popularly reported that the Russian advance and attack are welcomed. Heretofore the Japanese have always been compelled to take the aggressive and openly assault the strongest works. The people believe that now the conditions are reversed, the troops will speedily check the Russian advance. Lieut. Gen. Count Keller's unlucky venture at Motien pass.

HOW BATTLE BEGAN.

Mukden, Oct. 11.—8 a.m.—(Delayed.)—The battle commenced this morning along the line of the railroad with a terrific artillery fire on both sides. The Russian line almost to Yantai is in possession of the Russians. The station itself has been damaged nearly beyond recognition.

The weather is beautiful and the sound of cannonading is audible a distance of 40 miles.

It is impossible to tell how the day's fighting will develop.

The fighting on Monday commenced early in the morning. A bombardment of five hours' duration forced back the Japanese lines along almost the entire front, and opened the way for an infantry attack.

About noon the Japanese began to retire. Their flanks and center were stubbornly defended and the battle increased in intensity, concentrating about the Yantai triangle, where firing continued until darkness fell.

As a net result of the day's events, the Russians drove in the Japanese left, while the right clung to its position, but maintained itself only with difficulty.

JAP COLUMN WITHDRAWING.

Mukden, Oct. 11.—(Delayed.)—The aggressive movement of Gen. Kuropatkin's army is causing the Japanese column on the northeast to withdraw, concentrating at the Yantai coal mines.

Russian scouting parties came into contact with the Japanese. Monday morning they captured 100 head of cattle. The retreat of the Japanese was so hurried that they abandoned their field telegraph and telephone lines.

The Russian soldiers are in the best of spirits and advance to battle singing.

Lord Milner Resigns.

London, Oct. 11, 4 p. m.—Lord Milner has resigned the high commissioner of South Africa on account of ill-health, brought about by the prolonged strain in the Transvaal, with the situation, which is daily becoming more and more difficult, owing to the financial and racial troubles of the country.

BRYAN'S WHIRLWIND TOUR

Recalls His Two Presidential Campaigns.

Wellsville, Mo., Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan's whirlwind tour today recalled his two presidential campaigns. He addressed large crowds at Macon, Monticello, Centralia, Mexico and Montgomery City, and left for St. Louis tonight. In his addresses he exhorted his hearers to vote for Folk for governor.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan, who stopped here tonight on his way to Illinois, spoke to a large crowd at the West End coliseum.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 12.—William J. Bryan arrived here from St. Louis at 11 o'clock this morning. When the train pulled into the station Mr. Bryan was asleep, and he was not disturbed. The Pullman was placed on a side track. Tomorrow morning the car will be attached to the special train which will carry Mr. Bryan and party on a tour of Indiana. State Chairman William H. O'Brien of Indianapolis is here to meet Mr. Bryan.

The Chatanooga in Commission.

New York, Oct. 12.—The protected cruiser Chatanooga has been put into commission at the New York navy yard. It will be several weeks before she is ready for actual service. Alexander A. Sharp, Jr., will command the vessel.

KUROPATKIN IS NOT BLUFFING.

Japanese Minister to St. James Deprecates Ridicule English Heaping on Russians.

EXPECTS A DECISIVE BATTLE.

Cause of Change of Plan is Believed To Be Due to Pressure from St. Petersburg.

London, Oct. 11.—The British government is closely watching to discern the cause and effect of Gen. Kuropatkin's forward movement. Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, conveyed such information as he possessed to Foreign Minister Lansdowne on Monday. Baron Hayashi deprecates the ridicule that is being showered by the English press on Gen. Kuropatkin's proclamation.

"Even the assumption of an initiative," said the Japanese minister, "must benefit the Russian forces. I have no more belief that Gen. Kuropatkin's move is a bluff than I believe that Marquis Oyama's lack of aggressiveness is due to an attempt to lure Kuropatkin into a trap. The situation really seems quite simple. Oyama, adopting the most cautious method, has been fortifying, step by step, and never advancing unless he was able to reassure the absolute safety of a decisive battle. He must have had enough difficulty in bringing up sufficient supplies and ammunition for his large army, which were depleted greatly at the battle of Liao Yang. If he had been ready, he would doubtless have taken that advantage which belongs in all warfare to the aggressor, and attacked Kuropatkin at Mukden."

"It is a point in Kuropatkin's favor that he was ready. About a week from now there should be a decisive battle, and it is likely to occur at Liao Yang or on the Taishan river. Skirmishes will take place meanwhile, but unless I am very much mistaken the Japanese will not make a determined stand until Kuropatkin reaches the scene of his recent defeat. Our lines of communication and our supplies and ammunition could scarcely have reached perfection to any point north of Liao Yang. It does not matter whether Kuropatkin has assumed the offensive upon orders from St. Petersburg or by his own device. He has taken a tremendous risk, and it is not for me to say whether he was justified or not. It is all very well to say that the Russian commander leaves his communication open to attack; but only a very large force can adequately disturb such lines as Kuropatkin possesses. I would not be surprised if Kuropatkin, instead of continuing a frontal advance, should launch the whole of his army against Gen. Kuropatkin's flanking force. It would be a bold stroke and precipitate a great struggle, but the Russians are not accustomed to mountain fighting, and would be handicapped, even though superior in numbers. Whatever happens—whether Kuropatkin is allowed to march comparatively unopposed to the Taishan river, where Oyama has been fortifying, or whether he diverts his army in an endeavor to crush Kuropatkin—the result of the present phase of the Manchurian campaign means much, and perhaps is almost as vital to one side as to the other."

No fears are expressed in Japanese or British military circles that Field Marshal Oyama, after carefully entrenching Liao Yang, will not be able to hold the position that he captured. A curious divergence of opinion exists, however, between Japanese and British authorities as to the purpose of the Russian Baltic fleet. Japanese diplomatic and special naval representatives in Europe have consistently believed that Russia never seriously intended dispatching the ships of the Baltic fleet to the far east. The British admiralty, with perhaps equally good information, is now convinced that the Baltic fleet is going to the seat of war, though leading British officers frankly state that they are unable to see what the ships can accomplish.

CAUSE OF CHANGE OF PLAN.

London, Oct. 12.—The English papers this morning are still discussing what they regard as Gen. Kuropatkin's inexplicable change of plan of campaign, and with the increasing conviction that now is shared by most of the European critics that it is due to pressure from St. Petersburg.

The situation will be still more complicated by the extraordinary statement sent by Bennett Burleigh from Shanghai to the Daily Telegraph today should turn out to be correct. Mr. Burleigh says it is believed Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will return or be recalled to the attack.

to Japan, ostensibly because the army is going into winter quarters, and that Gen. Nodzu will take over the command.

"It is now well known among the better classes of Japan," Mr. Burleigh adds, "that it was Nodzu who saved the situation at the battle of Liao Yang. Oyama and the headquarters had actually ordered a retreat when Nodzu vigorously protested against such a step and begged them to make another desperate effort, the more directly co-operating with Oku's right. To Nodzu, therefore, is due the sole credit of averting a disastrous retreat which he was able to bring off by sending in and almost sacrificing the entire 30 regiments of the second division."

According to Mr. Burleigh the Japanese still have no intention of proceeding much further north than Mukden, and will only under exceptional circumstances attack the Russians this season. Mr. Burleigh concludes:

"Gen. Nishi, commander of the Japanese second division, will become governor of Manchuria."

"The recall of Oyama is almost inconceivable. It is Oyama's war plan, and carried out by him, and his recall would be a sign that Japan, her emperor and ministers were suffering from an acute attack of nerves and had begun to doubt themselves."

MASS. REP. CLUB.

Address by Senators Foraker and Lodge and Gen. Bates.

Boston, Oct. 11.—United States Senators Foraker of Ohio and Lodge of Massachusetts, and Gov. John L. Bates spoke tonight at the dinner of the Republican club of Massachusetts, held in Symphony hall.

Referring to the two presidential candidates Senator Foraker said before the people made a man president they want to know his views on public questions. He thought Judge Parker's declaration in regard to the gold standard a great compliment to the Republican party but that in all other respects he was in line with his own party. In contrast he said, President Roosevelt had written and spoken upon every public question in which the people are interested since the landing of the Mayflower.

Senator Foraker devoted much of his speech to a discussion of the Philippine question, claiming that the acquisition of the islands was not a transaction standing by itself, but that it was part and parcel of the wise, patriotic American policy conceived and entered upon by the administration of McKinley and carried on by President Roosevelt. Senator Lodge discussed national issues and Gov. Bates confined his address to state issues.

Trouble Over Rump Convention.

Carson, Nev., Oct. 11.—The attorneys who filed a petition with the supreme court asking for a writ of prohibition against the secretary of state and the 14 county clerks to prevent them from printing the names of the nominees of the "rump" convention on the ticket under the head of "Silver party" nominations withdrew their petition today for the reason that the time was too short to serve the defendants, and have the case tried without absolutely disfranchising the voters of the ticket in Nevada, and in that case a special election would cost over $30,000.

Galen's Name Omitted.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 11.—A special to the Miner from Helena says: While Secy. of State Hayes was preparing his copy for the official ballot this morning, the discovery was made that the name of Albert J. Galen, Republican candidate for attorney-general, had been left off the certificate filed with the voters of the ticket. As the time for filing nominations expired last Saturday, it is doubtful if Galen's name can be placed on the ballot. He will institute mandamus proceedings in the supreme court. The Republican party are a loss to explain the omission of Mr. Galen's name from the ticket, other than that it is an unintentional blunder on the part of some one.

Union Teamsters Sentenced.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 11.—Eight of the nine union teamsters who were convicted in the superior court last spring on the charge of conspiracy in bringing about a teamster's strike here, were today sentenced to three months each in the county jail. Orrin J. Stockford, a fifth man, has defaulted. This sentence ends one of the most notable cases brought before the Connecticut courts growing out of a labor strike. After a jury had found all nine men guilty an appeal to secure a new trial was taken to the supreme court. The finding was adverse to them. The state attorney consented to let the men work throughout the summer so that they could provide for their families.

CHLOROFORMED PASSENGERS

Then J. C. Rumsey Robbed Them Of Money and Jewelry.

Sedalia, Mo., Oct. 11.—James C. Rumsey, alias Frank Jackson, alias "Chick Jess," aged 23 years, was arrested today, charged with robbing the passengers of the Pullman car "Anna-dale," which he entered at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas station in this county last night. Rumsey had been chloroformed the dozen passengers in the car, robbed them of their money and jewelry, and when the train reached Franklin Junction he jumped from the car window and escaped with his booty.

He returned here today and was arrested while attempting to pawn some of the stolen goods. Money and valuables aggregating several hundred dollars were recovered from an express office, which Rumsey had consigned them to Frank Jackson, Chicago.

Rumsey, who was faultlessly attired, made a detailed confession after his arrest. Among other things, he admitted having deserted from the Twenty-eighth United States Infantry at San Francisco a few weeks ago.

He says that he is wanted in both San Francisco and Chicago.

KAISER AND THE VATICAN.

Emperor Trying to Bring Latter Into the Dreihund.

London, Oct. 12.—The Times' Rome correspondent on authority that he is inclined to regard as accurate, says: "Emperor William has conceived and is attempting to execute a master stroke of policy by bringing into the orbit of the Dreihund the vatican, hitherto its most persistent foe, thus bringing within measurable distance the realization of the emperor's life-long dream of a revival of the Holy Roman empire, in fact, if not in name, under Hohenzollern leadership."

Bulgarians Assassinate Greeks.

Athens, Oct. 11.—The following semi-official statement has been issued: "Hardly a day passes without assassinations of Greeks by Bulgarians being reported from Macedonia. This Sunday in the village of Brote, near Monastir, an orthodox priest was murdered while he was celebrating mass, and his wife was burned alive in her home. A Greek notable was also assassinated in the church. The object of these crimes is to terrorize Greeks into declaring themselves to be members of the Bulgarian committee, thereby seeking to make the Bulgarian element predominant."

COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT.

Taken in the Act of Making Spurious Coin.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 11.—United States Secret Service Agent Bell of this city and other officials today descended upon a counterfeiter's cabin in the woods nine miles west of Tacoma and captured H. N. Stone virtually in the act of manufacturing spurious United States half dollars, quarters and dimes. One of the most elaborate outfits ever captured in the northwest was seized, together with the molds, which were discovered in a stove, where they had been placed to dry only a few minutes before.

Stone confessed his guilt when confronted with the evidence, but maintained that he was only "experimenting" and had not actually put any of the counterfeit money into circulation. The cabin in which he conducted his operations is located in a dense swamp, entirely removed from human habitation. It is conceded that it would hardly have been discovered had not the secret service officers secured a clue.
