USE DUST IN THE CEMENT.

Such is the Charge Made by a Man Who Declares He Knows.

Appropos of the complaints being made to the board of public works that some of the contractors on city paving jobs are slighting their work, and permitting the paving material to be laid half an inch or more thinner than the specifications call for, and that the cement being laid for pavement is not being properly mixed, comes a well authenticated story of glaring fraud upon the part of one of the main bidders on public improvement work in the city.

It is alleged by one who claims he knows what he says to be a fact, that, acting under instructions from one contractor, the men when delivering sacks of "cement" for use in paving contracts secured from the city, instead of delivering the real article, furnished the city with a material that is only half cement, the other half consisting of fine dust, purchased in the northwest part of the city for $3.50 per cubic yard. The fine dust is mixed in with the regular cement. It is claimed, and it is so much the same in color and general appearance that it is difficult to detect, and that deception is being practiced upon the unsuspecting property owners, and most of the city "inspectors" do not know when they see real cement, according to the statement of the gentleman in question. That the entire paving and public improvement question should undergo a thorough overhauling and general reorganization is the opinion of many citizens who are sick and tired of hearing the everlasting sound of graft in connection with city improvements.

GOODS ROADS IN DAVIS.

Next summer the main road from Salt Lake to Ogden will be a state highway in which the state can take pride according to present plans and the likelihood of their being carried to completion before the season of heavy traffic. Davis county has recently purchased two road repair wagons and has now a force of men at work repairing the road through that county. The sum of $5,000 is available for the work and Davis county at least is certain to have a state highway of the first class ready by early summer. What Salt Lake and Weber counties will do with the road through their counties cannot be stated at present, but Mayor Bransford is known to have plans under consideration for the development of the road into good form between the paved district and the city limits north of the Warm Springs.

CHICAGO STORY DENIED.

Church Officials Refute Old Tale Wired From Windy City.

A lurid tale came over the wires from Chicago this morning to the effect that the Church was about to enter the salt field and obtain control of the "salt trust." The purpose of the story is denied strongly at the offices of the first presidency and also by N. W. Clayton, who is named in the dispatch from Chicago as the man at the helm in the transaction. The dispatch was as follows:

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Salt Lake City, the home of the Mormon Church, has heard the rumor that the Mormons are going into the salt business and have sent a representative to Chicago to close a deal for the holding of the salt trust. According to dispatches from the city in Utah, N. W. Clayton, manager of the salt works in Salt Lake, is the man who will negotiate the sale. He is said to have unlimited capital behind him. Joy Morton says that he has never purchased any of the salt properties in which he is interested.

WESTERN PACIFIC OPENS TUESDAY

Salt Lake Division to Begin
Business Under S. V.
Derrah.

WORD COMES FROM FAR EAST

Nevada's Facing Winter Without Sufficient Fuel Brought About Long Delayed Action.

The Western Pacific will open on the tenth of this month. Handling of traffic between Salt Lake and either Shafter or Wells, Nev., will begin on that date. This is unofficial but certain. The announcement is made doubly interesting in that S. V. Derrah, assistant general freight agent of the Rio Grande here is to be put in charge of traffic. Mr. Derrah will retain his office with the Rio Grande and will make his present headquarters here. He is a native of Nevada. When seen this morning Mr. Derrah said he could make no authoritative statement regarding the Western Pacific, but admitted that the Western Pacific will probably open up some time early this month and that he had been appointed to handle the company's traffic. From outside "inside" sources it was learned that the word which will set freight and passenger trains rolling between Nevada and Salt Lake-Oakland line came direct from New York. It was also learned that such a step was intended to be made last fall, but the time appointed, The Rio Grande offices were all agog this morning and every official evidently positive that the Western Pacific line would be carrying on as far as Shafter. Shafter is the junction point of the W. P. and the Nevada Northern which runs north and south through Nevada and is an important link in the chain of railroads that Nevada is facing a fuel famine this fall and winter and the mining and other industries of the state are in a bad way. The outlook is gloomy. The Guggenheim interests which control big mining properties also own the Nevada Northern. In owning mines the Guggenheims face the same shortage which is threatening the entire state. But the Guggenheims held the means of effecting a change—into the Nevada Northern. It will be to Shafter. The Nevada Northern men have met frequently in this city and Denver during the past few months. The opening of the Western Pacific line is to be permanent. Utah fuel being carried direct to the Nevada districts so badly in need of coal.

UTAH MINES READY. In a recent interview given the "News" by A. H. Cowie, president of the Wasatch Store company and president of the Utah coal company said: "The Utah coal mines on the line of the Rio Grande can produce enough fuel for Utah and outside states. It is not a question of quantity, but of quality. The coal is of the best and we will turn out whatever coal is needed if the railroads can transport it. The opening of the Western Pacific line is a great step taken for freight reasons more than passenger reasons, at this time. The Gould line and Nevada Northern have finally got together and come to a deal. Agreements to provide for the best interests of all concerned. The Southern Pacific is said to have all it can do at present and if Nevada wanted more fuel and lots of it some other carrier had to be looked forward to for relief. From the tenth of the month coal will be brought from the Utah mines to Salt Lake. The coal shipped on west over the Western Pacific and carried down into Ely, and other districts over the Nevada Northern.

A semi-weekly or, at the most, a tri-weekly service will be arranged out of this city. Fine big Western Pacific engines have been awaiting this opening of the coal line. The engines have been assembled here, but so far as passenger equipment is concerned it is doubtful whether any is ready. What equipment is necessary will be borrowed from the Rio Grande. Local Goddard officials, as explained, know none of the details of the service contemplated and are awaiting word on many points.

SALT LAKE DIVISION.

The Salt Lake division extends from this city to Ely, a distance of over 200 miles. The order which comes from New York undoubtedly called for the opening of the "Salt Lake division." But the explanation is that the Salt Lake division is the western terminal for the present but Shafter will see a big bulk of traffic turned out for the different districts through the Nevada Northern.

The route followed has been given time and time again. The W. P. tracks connect with the Rio Grande tracks at the west end of the city. The tracks follow the Jordan river, and keeps due east and west for about seven miles, then skirts the southern shore of the lake, crosses the Jordan river, and goes on to Ely. The route is a straight line. The division has been complete for several months. Trains could have been passing back and forth long ago, but the delay was due to the fact that the Nevada Northern was not ready to receive the traffic. The opening is a chapter in the history of the west's growth.

The news that the Western Pacific is opening up, even if partially, only, is news indeed to all the west, for the whole west has been watching progress of its construction with deep interest. The opening is a chapter in the history of the west's growth.
