to vote and to scratch the ticket as much as they chose. JUDGE C. W. BENNETT said he was never backward in coming forward in so good a cause as this. The controversy as to what we should do is passed. On the one side is a "Mormon," and on the other is a Gentile ticket, and you are asked which you will support. It is "Mormon," and on the other is a Gentile ticket, and you are asked which you will support. It is too late to discuss the manner in which four Gentiles came to be named on the "Mormon" ticket. All the talk about trade, a boom and business interests does very well to fill the banker's vaults, but it should not in-fluence men of brains and hearts. He believed that the four Gentiles on the I fusion ticket would lavor putting down polygamy if money questions receiving profit and emolu-ment from existing conditions, which they were anxious to perpetuate

Governor—If it is untrue I will with-draw it, but I am responsible for the taste of my remarks. The Governor, turning from the chair to the audience, declared that be mere figure heads. He maintained certain geatlemen who opposed the fusion had made money out of the ex-isting state of affairs here, that peace was not to their pecunlary interest, and that in the contests that had been forced on the "Mormons" they had been paid "Mormon" gold. Mr. Merritt and Mr. Bennett. This was carrying the war into Af-rica and produced a pronounced sen-sation. Mr. Merritt stood up and began speaking, but the Governor in-terrupted him by a king him if he had not been paid large fees by the "Mer-mons." He answered affirmatively, but insisted that, as he had been called as a witness, he must be allowed to tell the whole truth. He then pro-ceeded to explain that the money he had received was in payment for his legal services, making special refer-ence to the office cases in which the Governor's right to appoint certain necessity of organization, and full vote, and claimed that the Liberals lacked only 400 of equaling the registration of Governor's right to appoint certain Governor's right to appoint certain officers was contested. The money had been paid to him by the chairman of the central committee of the Peo-ple's party, but he had never received a dollar from the "Mormon" Church. He added that he deemed it his duty to defend a client charged with crime, and would even the testimony was all in the court made a brief summary of the examin-ation and stated that while the defend-ant had perhaps been imprudent in some of his actions, he believed he was guilty of no intentional wrong-and would accordingly dismiss the case. Continuing his speech the Governor said that he was an attorney himself, and considered it perfectly legitimate to take fees as the gentlemen had done and would himself have done the same under similar circumstances. A New Periodical.

This afterneon we received the first number of a new addition to Utah periodical literature under the title of the Utah Agriculturist and Stock Journal, published by the Utah Agricultural Company. It is printed at the Star office, the proprietors of that establishment being the owners of the periodical. It is all that could be desired in point of typographical neatness. We have not yet examined its contents, but they are devoted to giving information appropriate to the title of the journal.

Mr. Lindsay's Benefit.

The complimentary benefit tendered Mr. John S. Lindsay came off last night to a house that would have been much fuller could the excellence of the entertainment have been known in advance. The audience, judging from past experience, were hardly prepared for the decided improvement manifested in the character of the support, the superior grouping in the leading characters and the general smoothness with which the play was carried through. Mr. Lindsay's "Tell" is a character better adapted for him than any we have seen him assume, and it is not too much to say that some of the heroic passages of the play were rendered with a force that effectually thrilled his auditors;

this was notably the case in the shooting scene. The Orion Gice Club sang It is Ordered, That all persons interested in the estate of the said Thomas Con-deceased, be and appear before the Proba Court, in and for the County of Sait Lab at the Court room of said Court, in t beautifully "Come Where the Lillies Bloom" and were raptuously and deservedly applauded.
