

TELEPHONE MEN IN LONG CONFERENCE

Management of Bell Company And Union Still Unable To Agree.

REVIEWING FACTS OF CASE.

Another Meeting Arranged for 3 This Afternoon at Which Terms of Settlement May be Reached.

What A. G. MacKenzie of the Rocky Mountain Bell company styled the second meeting of the telephone historical society was held in the company offices this morning. As a result of the meeting no definite accomplishments are forthcoming. General McNulty when he led the dozen committeemen out of the office at 12:30 o'clock, however, and he said that he hoped for a settlement to result from another session which is to begin at 3 p. m. today.

Mr. MacKenzie who gives out the news and the telephone company's views on the situation, stated that this meeting, like the one of Wednesday, accomplished nothing except to carry forward the general review of the facts in the present trouble.

TERMS NOT DISCUSSED. "We did not take up the matter of talking terms," he said. "All the time was consumed in going over the facts and we cannot exactly tell when the matter of talking a settlement will be taken up."

There were three more people present at the conference today than at that of Wednesday. One of these was President Spaulding of the Utah Federation of Labor, and the other two were President Felgrieve and Vice President Thomas C. Clark of the Montana Federation of Labor.

REVIEW OF FACTS.

No details were given out of the nature of the discussion in today's conference, but it is practically certain that Manager Murray submitted data to the labor leaders showing that the electrical workers have promised one thing, done another, and so acted as to destroy his faith in their ability to act along one line of policy and keep a pledge after making it.

When asked as to the case of Louis Lynn, and whether or not Lynn had precipitated the strike in violation of the union's constitution, Grand President McNulty said that he did not care to discuss Lynn as he was not here to defend himself, and it might look like standing behind him, rather than assuming responsibility for the union's actions.

There was a meeting of the district council of the union after lunch at the Wilson hotel, preceding the second meeting with the company at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE MUSICAL CHAUTAUQUA

Today's mail brought letters to the management of the Musical Chautauqua, which occupies all of next week at Wandamere, from Elmer J. Grant, M. H. Walker, D. C. Dunbar and others in which they state that they will donate cash prizes for the big musical contest of the chautauqua which will occupy Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of next week. Sixty contestants among them several choruses and quartets are to compete for the largest prize offered by the state; Gov. Cutler gave a handsome prize last week.

The Ogden choir, which opens the week on Monday evening next in Whitney Combs' great cantata, assisted by Miss Ballenger, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Fred Graham and Mr. H. S. Ensign, reports much interest in the affair, and will bring it to a close on Wednesday with their special train. People are asked to take early cars to Wandamere so as to avoid the rush which is assured. The reserved seat sale is progressing with very favorable results. The Clayton Music store.

to the checks and the bank reported that no such person as signed had an account there at all. FIGHT AGAINST MAIL ORDER MEN

Meeting at Wilson Hotel of Utah Merchants Is Called for Tomorrow.

There will be a meeting tomorrow morning, at the Wilson hotel, of merchants from this city and various sections of the state, to take some action looking toward united action, in sympathy with other small merchants over the country in the fight against the catalogue houses and big department stores of the larger eastern cities. The status of the situation was set forth in last evening's "News," and shows that the big stores are so cutting into the trade of the smaller dealers throughout the country as to threaten many with financial ruin. Utah tradesmen are to take an active hand in the movement against the big stores.

BROKE INTO DRUG STORE.

Al Cheatham Confesses to Larceny With Two Other Boys.

Last night Police Officer Carlson arrested Al Cheatham, aged 21 years, on suspicion of burglary. Carlson took his prisoner to the city jail and proceeded to "sweet" him, the result being that Cheatham confessed that he broke into May's drug store on Second South and Third East streets Wednesday night and stole $2 in cash and $2 in stamps. Three boxes of cigars were also stolen. In his confession Cheatham implicated the other boys and the officer is now looking for them.

SUCCEEDS PROF. TALMAGE.

Dr. F. J. Pack Selected to Fill Chair of Geology at University.

Dr. Fred James Pack, a Utah boy who has secured his education partly at home and partly at Columbia university in New York, is to succeed Dr. Jas. E. Talmage as Deseret professor of geology, at the University of Utah. The Salt Lake Literary and Scientific society, which endowed the chair of geology in 1894, set aside a fund of $60,000 for its maintenance. This fund has been kept intact, but its income has been spent in supporting the chair. This society has now nominated Mr. Pack for the position, and the board of regents, it is expected, will concur in the appointment. Mr. Pack resides at Woods Cross, in Davis county, and he began his educational studies at the L. D. S. university, from which he went to the U. of U. and finally attended Columbia, where he secured a degree of A. M. in 1905, and the degree of Ph. D. in 1906. He is now teaching at the B. Y. college in Logan.

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSSES.

Session at University Most Successful in History of Institution.

The state university summer school closed today, after the largest attendance and in general after the most successful experience in the history of the school. The registration reached as high as 320 students and the advanced courses have proven more popular than the elementary. Many of the pupils were regular college students making up back work, or working ahead of their courses of study. Quite a range of country was represented.

Well, what would you think of a man who went around in the summer time with a Chinchilla overcoat on?

He'd be just about as bad as the man who didn't buy one of these head coolers in straw.

TWO PRISONERS FILE PETITIONS

Joseph Jepperson and Richard Duncan Seek Release Under Habeas Corpus Writ.

AVER ILLEGAL COMMITMENT.

Were Sentenced to Two Years When Court Was Not Legally in Session Is the Claim.

Joseph Jepperson and Richard Duncan, two prisoners at the state prison, filed petitions in the district court today for release under writs of habeas corpus. The men were sentenced to the state prison by Judge Greenwood at Beaver City on Jan. 5, 1907, for a term of two years for burglary in the first degree. They claim that the sentence and commitment were illegal for the reason that the court was not legally in session on that date and hence they are unlawfully held in prison.

Under the law the judges of the district court are required to fix the dates of their terms of court in each county for the following year and file the same with the secretary of state each December. In December of last year Judge Greenwood filed his calendar, showing that the first regular term of court for Beaver county would be held on Jan. 24, 1907. However, he issued an order to the clerk of the court for a special session of court on Jan. 5 for the arraignment of prisoners and setting cases for trial.

On that date the two men were arraigned and pleaded guilty, and each was sentenced to two years. They now claim that their commitment was illegal, and that they are unlawfully deprived of their liberty. Warden Pratt will be required to bring the men into court at an early date and show his authority for holding them as prisoners.

MINING COMPANY TO REFUND CASH

Mt. Nebo Concern Forced by Court to Cancel Sale of Stock To Marie L. Anderson.

Judge Lewis today rendered a judgment in favor of plaintiff in the case of Marie L. Anderson against Mt. Nebo Mining company and H. M. Short for the sum of $1,000 and interest. The action was brought to recover the $1,000 which plaintiff paid for 4,000 shares of stock in defendant company upon the alleged false representation of Short. After she discovered that the representations as to the value of the stock were untrue she offered the stock to the defendants for cancellation and demanded her money back, but defendants refused to comply with her request. The court now finds in her favor and orders the return of the money and the cancellation of the stock.

JUDGMENT FOR MRS. DUNFORD.

Judgment in another mining suit was also rendered by Judge Lewis today. In the case of Eliza Snow Dunford against the Morrison Mining company, the court rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff for $720.35. That amount was found to be due plaintiff on a claim of Eliza E. Snow for money advanced the company and for services rendered. The claim was assigned to plaintiff and judgment is accordingly rendered in her favor.

EUREKA NEWS.

Sheriff Will Go to Deep Creek to Investigate Mrs. Kilcoski's Death.

Special Correspondence. Eureka, July 19.—Gus J. Henfield, the sheriff of Juab county, will go to Deep Creek next week to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Kilcoski, whose body was found about three weeks ago in the bottom of the shaft at the Emma mine at Fish Springs. A brother of the woman came from the east to have the remains properly buried and also to look after the property which Mrs. Kilcoski owned in that section. Upon his return to Nephi he gave it out that there was something mysterious surrounding the death of his sister, and that he thought that she had been the victim of foul play, and upon hearing his story the sheriff has decided to make the trip to Fish Springs, which is in the extreme western part of the county and near the Nevada line. Mrs. Kilcoski had been a resident of that section for many years, where she operated a boardinghouse and saloon. She was also engaged in mining and owned the Emma mine and other valuable properties. As near as can be learned, she had been in the habit of making trips to the mine in her employ. It was her custom to inspect the underground workings of the mine daily, and she may have met with an accident which caused her death.

Frank Lundy has been taken to Nephi to await trial. He is charged with grand larceny. On the morning of July 13 Lundy tried to steal a watch and chain from the pocket of William Staufferberg in the Uncle Sam saloon. He was caught in the act by some of the employees of the place, and his arrest followed.

Henry, the 12-year-old son of Thomas Pratt met with an accident Tuesday in which he broke his left leg between the knee and the thigh. He was on a wagon along with an older brother when one of the single trees fell down, causing the horses to frighten and the wagon was overturned on the boy.

The annual ward conference of the L. D. S. will be held here next Sunday, in the meetinghouse. Stake President J. S. Page and his counselors, Henry Gardner of Spanish Fork and Hyrum Lemmon of Payson, will be present. There will be special music rendered by the Durfee sisters. All of the ward officers will be presented for the sustaining vote of the people.

Aug. 8, 9 and 10 are the dates set for the second teachers' convention, which will be held in Eureka.

A baby girl arrived on Tuesday to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Suggs.

OLD SAMPLER IS VALUABLE RELIC

Idaho State Historical Society Has Bit of Interesting Needle-Work.

FROM MORMON PIONEER DAYS.

Was Embroidered by Catherine Williams in 1839 When She Was Ten Years Old.

The State Historical society is constantly receiving gifts which are of value from many handcrafts. One of the recent gifts probably has a highly interesting history if it could be traced back to its source, says the Idaho Daily Statesman.

It is an old sampler of exquisite workmanship and was found in the attic of one of the old homes of Blackfoot by the present tenant, Mrs. Sill, when she moved into the house some 20 years ago. Mrs. Byrd Trego of that city, seeing the sampler realized that it would be a valuable acquisition to the historical society and she readily obtained Mrs. Sill's consent to forward the same to Mrs. Carter for the society.

The sampler is embroidered in cross-stitch on hand woven linen, now yellow with age. The design is vividly original and the color harmony as well as the execution is of real artistic merit.

The religious trend of mind of the time is reflected by the verses in the center of the sampler:

"Jesus permit Thy gracious name to stand
As the first efforts of Thy daughter's hand.
Engage her tender heart to early
With Thy dear children let her share
A part,
And write Thy name Thyself upon her heart."

"Teach me to feel another's woe
To hide the faults I see,
That mercy I to others show
That mercy show to me."

It is signed "Catherine Williams, sampler made in the year of our Lord the tenth year of her age."

At the top of the sampler is a lover's knot beneath which is a beehive surrounded by bees. Surrounding the beehive is a wreath of grapes, both fruit and leaves being beautifully worked in the natural colors. Directly beneath the verses are two daisy birds of the quainter design and under them the same lover's knot. Surrounding the whole design is another conventionalized wreath of strawberries, the fruit now showing a faded rose color. A special interest is taken in the design from the fact that the beehive at the top indicates that the little embroiderer probably belonged to one of the very early Mormon families who moved west after the sampler was made, as Blackfoot was settled in the early days by the Mormons who drifted there from Utah.

The sampler has a local interest attached to it in that two of the granddaughters of this same Catherine Williams are residents of Boise.

Mrs. A. H. Bonner, one of the early residents of Boise, who now resides in New York city, but who still retains a deep interest in everything pertaining to the city, has presented the society with a valuable relic in the shape of a piece of wool from two of the 12 trunks planted by Alexander Hamilton in 1802 in front of his home, "The Grange," and which he named after the 13 original states. Mrs. Bonner writes: "All the trunks of them now is six dead trunks with 'for sale' signs on them. The Grange was the home of the statesman at the time of his duel with Aaron Burr."

OFFICIALS GO TO INSPECT BRANCH

Harriman in Hurry to Get Line Into Teton Valley, Idaho.

W. H. Bancroft, vice president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line; Chief Engineer Wm. Ashton; Thomas R. Cutler, George T. Odell, James Salisbury and Spencer Clawson will compose a party of railroad and sugar company officials which leaves this evening for Sugar City to inspect the route proposed for the branch into Teton valley. Several days will be consumed in going over the route and surrounding territory. The branch is the built in response to demands made continuously by the sugar factories and sugar beet farmers in and around Teton valley and Sugar City. The sugar beet raising and sugar making are growing to be Idaho's most important industries and the railroads are finding that the yearly products along this line necessitate bigger shipping facilities each succeeding year.

An interesting point in connection with the proposed construction of a line into Teton valley came to light some time ago. It was explained in the "News." Robert Forrester, Gould's geological expert, has been in Teton valley. It was learned, exporting the immense coal deposits in that region. As this information reached the ears of the Harriman people the various undertakings proposed for Teton valley began to assume immediate definite shape. While very little is being said about the race between Harriman and Gould in this particular portion of Idaho, it is known that Harriman has a pretense to retain his hold of the field as quickly as possible. In order to reach into Teton valley, Gould would have to build from Salt Lake, while Harriman already has a number of lines operating throughout the state on the north. Should Gould attempt to invade Idaho, which he now Harriman's exclusive field, the west would be treated to one of the prettiest battles railroad kings ever fought. While the activity shown by Gould in sending his engineering experts up into the state can not but suggest invasion, it is not generally believed he would try to go into Harriman's country under so many disadvantages. The building of the Western Pacific is now occupying his time and attention also. Rumor is base and should anything develop, the railroad world will be ready for it.

RAILROAD NEWS.

A car of Christian Endeavor league members returning east from the convention at Seattle, reached this city today. The trip will be resumed this afternoon over the Rio Grande.

Two special trains carrying 27 officers and 575 enlisted men of the Seventh cavalry, U. S. A., from the islands, will pass through Salt Lake this evening en route to Fort Riley, Kansas. The trains will be transferred from the S. P. to the D. & R. G. at Ogden. The trains are carrying 200,000 pounds of baggage.

W. H. Bancroft, vice president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line; J. S. Wells, manager of the Utah Light & Railway company; Supt. O. G. Honnold of the same company, and

L. L. Dargon, assistant engineer of the O. S. L., compose a party which is today visiting power plants and transmission stations of the street car company. Extensive alterations and changes are being planned for the plants and stations in Bingham canyon, and the scene of these proposed improvements was visited this morning.

James Morton, a civil engineer, is said to have completed survey for a cutoff on the main line of the Union Pacific between Robinson and Point of Rocks. The track is 23.7 miles long between Rawlins and Green River and it is proposed to reduce it to 20 miles. This scheme will be one of the heaviest pieces of work undertaken since the Sherman hill cutoff and tunnel were built at a cost of several millions to save a half mile.

Denver is hoping that the Western Pacific will have its general headquarters in that city. As the W. P. is a Gould enterprise and a sister road to the Rio Grande this seems reasonable but the officials will not discuss the matter at the present time. General offices for the western division are to be located in Salt Lake, according to the writers of Colorado's capitol.
