

NEWS OF THE WEST.

Imitating the Books of Chinese From America to China.

LAW AND ORDERS EXQUISITE.

A short news item from Lady B. of the Queen's Guard—Lady B. was killed—Her husband was a member of the Royal Guards.

Opening Day! Davis was sentenced to a year in jail Tuesday evening on a charge of manslaughter. Davis, a member of the "Bill" Green gang, was tried and convicted on a charge. He got the maximum sentence of one year—in full.

A lady whose name could not be learned was severely injured when she was run over by a team of horses near Calais, Colo., Tuesday morning. She was struck while crossing the road near the same place where last week a team of horses ran over a woman who was walking across the road. The lady was taken to a hospital and died shortly after her accident.

Main Post, the Chinaman under investigation, paid $1,000 into the U.S. Treasury, Cal., treasury and collected from the post office a hundred and fifty dollars, and prepared for shipment to China the bodies of 100 persons who had been buried in the local cemetery, before removing forty more bodies.

Post, alias Gen. Morris, alias Chas. Morris, who he wanted by the hands, Cal., authorities for the theft of horses and tell-tale, and who was elected to the Legislature. And that was the last year when he escaped from the Humboldt county jail at Calais, where he was captured near Calais, Colo., Tuesday. He was found to be a man of means, and he paid his debts and wound up the shanty.

A boy about ten years old, Michael August, was slain in the back and consequently wounded by John Frates, Tuesday at Oakdale, Calif. The two were engaged in a fight. The young boy slipped deeply into the boy's body and serious results may follow. Frates' little boy and young Amiral were playing in a vacant lot near the town dwelling when they heard a noise. They looked up and saw the two boys and knew passed between them. Frates, the father, and, becoming enraged, called all the boys to do their duty. They did so and young Amiral started to run away. Frates, however, followed him and hit him in the head with a rock. The sharp stone caught in his eye.

The officer made on October 3, 1895, is the singular result at Sacramento, Cal., for it relates to the charges against James H. Crocker, of Salt Lake, and his reference to allowing the names of H. H. Crocker & Co., and of the Central Pacific company, whereby no case was dismissed, has been upheld and set aside, and order is so far as to allow the case to be made through his carelessness and mistakes. This means that the members of the board of superintendence will be compelled to pay the railroad company $100,000 for the construction of a bridge across the Sacramento River for paying Crocker & Co. a sum of money for an advertising expense.

W. H. Russell owns a ranch which covers the banks of Bear Lorraine Creek. On the ranch are raised a number of head of horses and cattle, and a large lot of chickens, ducks and geese. Up the creek toward this town of Haynes, there is a brewery owned and run by Mr. John Bookham, and he brews beer in the winter months. In fact of throwing their refuse material over their leavings in the creek. The water, it is said, changed color, and the quality was also altered to such an extent that Russell's horses and cattle were visibly affected. They were running drunkenly, and their backs reared about with injury after partaking of the rippling waters of stream. At last Mr. Russell realized that by using the milk from his cows and feeding them to the horses, they could not understand how best could hurt water and they did. Russell has now grown weary of living with the master and has sold his outfit to the superior contractor, and is trying to get fairly a price from throwing their mass into the water of the creek.

Every woman would travel all the way from New York to California just to look at a husband who left her, but that is what Mrs. Benjamin Pender, of Salt Lake City, did on Jan. 20, Tuesday, did. Mrs. Pender is 52 years old. Her home is in Central New York. She married Benjamin Pender about four years ago at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., she is about 15 years old. She came to Salt Lake City recently two years, and one day Benjamin left her and took his way westward. He has lost all trace of him self recently. Then she heard that he was living in San Francisco. Worse than that, she heard that he had married again, and then she resolved to meet her last, if necessary, to see him. She came bringing with her a sum of estate in New York, saving that she had given all of her husband, who was believed to be a confirmed drunkard. She found Pender and him she told her story, and begged his services in finding his estranged spouse. Oliver York, a local attorney, and his brother, who is a lawyer, to see that his son was brought back to his family. Benjamin did not believe that his wife was worth $2,000 million of thanks. Now when the attorney told him a boy wanted to see him, he said, "What's driving the boy crazy and demanding to see my son?" His son, who had been a drifter until the past six months, had come to shake hands with him. When he did so and said, "You have followed me here to see another mother," "Don't you and your wife," said she, "have a right to follow your son?"

"I am with my wife once, but you don't know," he declared, and turned his back and went away.

"But you don't know," she retorted, "that I am the old boy, and the old man." In this meantime she had learned that her husband had not married again, and that he can go back to New York satisfied, "he said, "I have found Benjamin and his estranged wife, but if he had been married again, hard, saying nothing, but she would not be in America, and having him and his estranged wife that he had not married another woman she had started back to New York."

are usually signs that a woman has more time to do than all her time and strength are utilized in doing heavy work; that she doesn't use GOLD DUST WASHING POWDER. If you do not use this soap, clean, her heavy work would be so lightened that the little children could be helped.
