GREAT ELECTION ACTIVITY IN RUSSIA

Already it Has Reached an Acute Stage Though Date of Holding is Unknown.

CANDIDATES COME INTO OPEN.

Defections From Constitutional Dem ocrats' Ranks Assuming Character of Split.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.-The pre-election activity has reached an acute stage, although the date of the convecation of the national assembly, or even the date for holding the elections, is unknown. Candidates of various parties are daily coming into the open, and all factions in public life are taking an active interest in the campaign. The only effective boycott of the preparations seems to be that which is due to the apathy of the commercial classes and other conservative and unprogressive elements.

The most eligible members of the Social Democrats, the League of Leagues, and other extremist organizations, in spite of their fulminations against the national assembly, are registering as individuals and intend to exercise the franchise. The main center of political activity at present is Moscow, where the six moderate organizations, following the example of St. Petersburg, have established a political club and are planning to publish a paper under the editorship of Prince Eugene Troubtestoy.

The defections from the ranks of the Constitutional Democrats are now as-suming the character of an open split, suming the character of an open split, with female suffrage and the autonomy of Poland as the two principal points of difference. Among the candidates at Moscow are Prince Galitzin, M. Guchkoff and Dmitri Shipoff, representative of the moderate faction. This faction condemns the putting forward of M. Golovin and M. Kokoshkine, Prof. Meuromiseff and M. Krushevan, editor of the notorious Jew-balting Droug (Friend), and also the announced candidacy of Father Gapon, who has returned to St. Petersburg to push big plans for a moderate labor organization which contemplates the establishment of a newspaper.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About ten years ago my scalp be-came badly affected with sore and itching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, without effect. Saw your Cuticura adver-tisement, and got them at once. Ap-plied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle.

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered dreadfully. In two months, under the skilful treatment of my doctor, con-joined with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I found myself cured. "Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cutieura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithful use of same was as well as ever in two weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness,

RAILROAD RATE BILL DISCUSSED

Perkins of N. Y. Opposes Government Control of Business Enterprises.

AFTER THE STANDARD OIL CO.

Campbell of Kansas Offers Amendment With Intention of Reaching the Trust.

Washington, Jan. 31.-Discussion of the railroad rate bill continued in the house today. Incident to it two speeches, the efforts of Mr. Campbell of Kansos and Mr. Martin of South Dakota, took a wider range and swept the horizon of trust evils generally.

Mr. Bartlett of Georgia, a minority member of the committee reporting the bill, made a two-hours' speech, in which he discussed the legal and constitutional questions involved and ad-vocated the passage of the bill as a proper remedy for an intolerable con-stop waste, build flesh and The first speech in opposition to the bill, which concluded the day's discussion, was made by Mr. Perkins of New York. He based his opposition to government control of rates on an inherent strength and supply nourishment than through ernment control of rates on an inherent aversion to government control of business enterprises. Red tape and fixed conditions, he said, were an inseparable part of government action on any matter.

A bill was passed granting a federal charter to the Carnegle foundation fund for the advancement of teaching. The fund consists of $10,000,000, the income of which is to furnish pensions to retired educators.

With the avowed intention of reach-

With the avowed intention of reaching the Standard Oil company, Mr. Campbell offered an amendment which he will press later, emphasizing the placing of all private car and transportation facilities under the regulation of the interstate commerce commission. He quoted from the testimony of railof the interstate commerce commission. He quoted from the testimony of rail-road officials, showing that the beef packers practically make their own rates; the Standard Oil company had dictated in the same manner; pouitry, fruit and dairy products were subject to the same control. to the same control.

Reverting to the Standard Oil company, Mr. Campbell declared:

"But yesterday they issued a decree to the attorney general and the governor of Missouri that further prosecu-tion of a suit now pending in the court against them must be stopped or they will destroy the value of billions and billions of property within the state of Kansas and the Indian Terri-

"Ye gods!" exclaimed Mr. Campbell, after he read a statement from an offi-cer of the Standard Oil company an-nouncing that if the prosecution in Missouri did not cease the producers of oil in that section would lack facilities to market their product. "The power of monopoly stopping the prosecution of suits pending in the courts by threatening the innocent producers!"
After reciting the Missouri threat Mr.
Campbell read a resolution presented to the New Jersey legislature yesterday directed against the Standard Oil company, and remarked: 'It must have been sad this morning down in Florida under the palms, as he was taking his walk and reading the morning papers, after he pointed to old New Jersey, when Mr. Rockefeller said Et tu, Brute, and tomorrow, as Antony Rogers leans over the prostrate form and picks out the particular slash that was made, he will say, 'And this was the most unkindest cut of ali.'

"And the beef packers today in Chicago are claiming immunity from prosecution for crimes committed because they admitted their crimes with what they believed to be an implicit understanding that they would not be prosecuted."

Mr. Perkins (N. Y.) took a very pessimistic view of the rate measure.

If the bill answers any useful purpose it will be as a scarecrow," was his assertion. While not claiming the rail-assertion. While not claiming the railroad situation to be ideal, it would be very easy to go from the frying pan into the fire. As to injuring the railroads, he was not alarmed at the bill, because, he said, it is impossible there should be any active supervision of railroad rates under it.

"There are millions of different rates in this country. There are a vast number of people who would be glad to get their rates cheaper; just as there are a vast number of people who are glad to get anything cheaper. Fixing these rates requires the constant action of thousands of trained men. All the wrongs that may be in this system we or thousands of trained men. All the wrongs that may be in this system we are going to have regulated by a tribunal of seven judges, who have in addition an abundance of other work on hand.

"If there was to be an active and effective supervision of railroad rates by the government, instead of seven interstate commerce commissioners, we should have 7,000."

While there was no doubt of frequent instances of mistakes in the management of railroads, Mr. Perkins gave them credit as the pioneer builders of American industries and contrasted to their credit the rates in Europe, which, their credit the rates in Europe, which he said, were one-third higher than ou highest rates.

Pointing out where the specific trouble under the bill will come, Mr. Perkins said it would not be from the claims of shippers, but from the claims of contending localities, in pressing which the interests of business would be subservient to the interests of our be subservient to the interests of our Assenting to the provisions of the bill and regarding no excuse as necessary for uniting with the majority in the report from the committee, Mr. Bartlett of Georgia gave an extensive analysis of the rate problem. The railroads, he said, had appealed

MINERVA CLUB WOMEN WOULD STOP HAZING.

New York, Feb. 1 .- Women of the Mierva club are working to have hazing abolished in colleges. They have obtained indorsement from the presidents of almost all the prominent universities in the country and are now framing a bill making hazing a crime. They hope to have it introduced in Congress at this session. While approving the movement and giving their signatures to the club's resolution, several university heads surgested that the surest way of elim-inating brutality from college life is through gentleness by mothers in the home.

From Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale, this letter of indorsement was received by the club:

"We are very glad to say that physical crueity in the form of hazing has been long ago abolished at Yale by the voluntary action of the students themselves. And under these circumstances it seems hardly necessary to pass any selves. And under these circumstances it seems hardly necessary to pass any vote on the matter, since the passing of a vote to condemn these practises might be construed as indicating that such practises prevailed here."

That the checking of hazing lies with the parents of students is the opinion given in a letter from William Pierce, president of Gambier, the institution attended by Stuart Pierson, who was killed by a train. There was an investigation on the theory that he had been tied to the tracks by students. He said: "The proper remedy lies not in an appeal to college faculties to forbid such practises, for prohibition is often mere-ly a negative and external matter, but in an appeal to the mothers of the land to inculcate humane and gentlemanly to inculcate humane and gentlemanly principles, which shall act as an inward and compelling law upon young men in our institutions. If parents are unable to bring up their sons to a proper horror of cruelty, brutality and tyranny, they can hardly hope that colleg faculties will find it possible to transform the sons grown almost to manhood.

"If the resolutions have any connec-tion with the death of Stuart Pierson at tion with the death of Stuart Pierson at Kenyon college, allow me to say that unhappy accident had nothing what-ever to do with cruel practises or with any form of hazing."

Only one college president admitted that hazing was carried on with the consent of the faculty. David C. Bar-row, dean of the University of Georgia, says:

"At present hazing in this university is restricted to certain horseplay contests between the two younger classes. I know, however, that at any time our students may conclude it is good form to follow the example of other colleges and universities. I am highly gratified that the Minerva club is moving in the direction of a wise and healthy sentiment on a most difficult and important subject."
