

LIVELY DEBATE ON ATTORNEYS BILL

House of Representatives the Scene of Warm Talk Yesterday.

IT IS A "LAWYER'S MEASURE"

Consequently some of the Lay Legislators Took Umbrage at the Proposition—Complications Exacerbated.

Of the seven bills which came up for final reading yesterday four were passed, two had their fangs drawn and will never go into the book of statutes as powers for good or evil and one, after being subjected to a hot debate, was tabled on the committee on counties. This last was Smith's bill to fix the compensation of attorneys appointed by the court to defend pauper criminals. It is essentially a lawyers' bill, and as its virtues were ably pleaded by several of the legal lights in the House it was only natural that the anti-lawyers should vent their spleen upon it and throw a few stumbling blocks in its way. They did not succeed in killing the bill but they had the satisfaction of putting it back into the committee room grade.

The compensation mentioned in the bill allows defending attorneys $10 for the first day and $5 for succeeding days in misdemeanor cases and runs up to $30 and $10 for murder trials. The proposed act throws the liability for such costs on the county wherein the trial takes place instead of shouldering the State with this burden, and it was over this point that the arrows began to fly.

Mr. Van Horne was the first champion of the merits of the bill. He went into the matter carefully and minutely. He told of a case which he had been appointed to defend in which he had been paid to an expense of $250 instead of receiving any fee for his legal service.

Mr. Cutler had been fretting under the restraint of listening to the praises of a measure to which he was antagonistic. His chance came in the afternoon when Mr. Van Horne's exposition, and he called the attention of the chair to the fact that Mr. Van Horne had exceeded his time limit. His shot fell short through the offer of Messrs. Page, Smith and N. L. Morris of their time to Mr. Van Horne who continued. Mr. Cutler took place in the chair to the fact that Mr. Van Horne had exceeded his time limit. His shot fell short through the offer of Messrs. Page, Smith and N. L. Morris of their time to Mr. Van Horne who continued.

This was too much for Mr. Cutler. He informed the House that in a case in which he had acted for $300 he had been only charged $20 by his counsel.

"Did you win your case?" came from Van Horne.

"Yes, and I had Uncle Sam to fight. He too, the strongest man on earth," he continued, "but he was not on my side, and moved that its enacting clause be stricken out. The chair ruled the motion out of order, as the question before the House was what committee should the bill be referred to."

Mr. Page thought the counties should not be saddled with any additional expense. Mr. Holzner, in favor of the bill, made a thrust at Mr. Cutler, whose remarks he considered as entirely too fresh, and where did he get his license anyway to discipline him (Cutler)? Holzner got back at him by saying that if he were his guardian he would not allow him to make any such ridiculous statements on the floor of the House. After some further debate the bill was referred to the committee on counties.

The bills that passed the House yesterday were House bills 33, 41, and 89, and Senate bill No. 13.

House bill No. 83, by Smith, provides that no special form need be given when an exception is taken for the purpose of making an appeal to the Supreme court. House bill No. 41, by Langton, requires insurance agents to procure certificates of authority from the secretary of State. House bill No. 89, by D. H. Morris, provides the causes of action arising without the State may be tried in the county where the complaint is filed. Senate bill No. 19, by Barnes, limits the liability of banks to 15 per cent of their capital stock and surplus.

House bill 93, by Harmon, providing for the appointment of a State live stock inspector, and No. 9, by Bench, relating to mileage allowed district judges, were killed, the latter because a similar bill had been passed by the Senate.

In addition to new bills reported these two bills were introduced late yesterday.

House bill No. 171, by Kelly, by request, amending the statute requiring three years' service in the national guard for eligibility to a commissioner, and making it the duty of the commander-in-chief to assemble the guard for instruction once a year.

House bill No. 172, by Wells, providing that where a county holds a tax deed to property the property need not be advertised in delinquent's discussion. There was considerable discussion yesterday as to how long the House adjourned for. Mr. Axton was in favor of a Saturday session. Mr. Van Horne talked of morning sessions. It was agreed at any rate that an adjournment could not be taken till Monday without the consent of the Senate. A committee was appointed to confer with a similar committee from the upper house, which, after a lengthy absence brought back word that the Senate had kindly granted its permission for an adjournment of over three days' duration.

The trip to Ogden to inspect the deaf and dumb institute will be made next Friday, March 1.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Society of the Sons of the Revolution Elects Officers.

The Society of the Sons of the Revolution held its annual meeting this morning in the parlors of the Kenyon. The principal business of the meeting was to elect officers. The following men were chosen to the positions: For president, Hoyt Sherman succeeding Geo. L. Nye; for vice-president, John C. Cannon; for secretary, Dr. H. E. O'Brien; for treasurer, Eugene Gaylord; registrar, Dr. Whitney; chaplain, Dr. Ewing; historian, D. H. Gray. The managers of the society for the coming year are: Dr. Wright, Mr. Bogue, Mr. Nye, Mr. Stephens and L. H. Farnsworth. The reports of the retiring officers were read and the condition of the society is very satisfactory. It is out of debt and has money in the treasury. Seven new members were admitted during the year. The society contributed a medal and second prize to be presented to the two students whose patriotic essays are decided to be the best at the contest at the High School this evening. These two medals are very handsome and are of gold decorated with the colors of the society.

LEGAL OPINION.

Attorney General Bredon yesterday handed down an opinion to Superintendent of schools A. C. Nelson. It is in answer to an inquiry whether the amendment to the constitution voted on at the last election relating to the taxing of city property in cities of the first and second class is self-executing. The attorney general holds that it is self-executing and needs no further legislation to put it in force.

AUERBACH CONTROVERSY.

It Was Further Aired in Chambers Before Judge Hall.

As per previous arrangement between Judge Hall and counsel, the hearing in the matter of the confirmation of the sale of the Frederick H. Auersbach estate's one-half interest in the Auersbach gold goods business, was had before Judge Hall in his chambers today. It will be remembered that the sale was advertised and later took place on the second of this month. Mr. R. G. Wilson bid something over $2,000 more than S. H. Auersbach, the surviving partner. The latter, however, when the confirmation came on in the probate court later on raised his bid to $50,000, and as the sale was regular, Mr. Wilson insisted that his bid be approved by the court. Today R. G. Wilson, H. J. Wallace, Isadore Meyer, the latter two executors of the estate, and S. H. Auersbach, were sworn, examined and testified as to the value of the estate's interest, the sale, etc., after which on written briefs, Judge Hall took the case under advisement.

BOTH PATS IN TROUBLE.

Two Ex-Convicts Engage in a Mix-up and Are Thrown in Jail.

Pat O'Connor attacked Pat Daly with a knife, and both are arrested by Officer Milner.

A lively mix-up in which two men are wounded with a pocket knife, and an officer narrowly escapes being stabbed in the breast, occurred in the Owl saloon on Commercial street last night. The man who did the cutting is Pat O'Connor, an ex-convict; the men who are cut are Pat Daly, also an ex-convict, and Barney Exline, the genius of the Owl. The officer who took part in the melee is acting Sgt. Milner. O'Connor and Daly are locked up in the city jail, the former on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, while the latter is being held as a witness in the case.

O'Connor and Daly had been released from the State prison but a few hours, where they have been serving terms for burglary. It appeared to them that the only way to fittingly celebrate their freedom was to get gloriously drunk, and with that idea firmly fixed in their minds they proceeded to celebrate.

By the time they had taken about all they could possibly carry. The drinks were ordered and a row ensued as to who should pay for the stuff. A few choice epithets were exchanged and O'Connor made a run for his companion, Exline, who was standing near and interfered, finally hustling O'Connor out of the place. The belligerent "ex-convict" soon returned, however, and made an offer of a knife to Exline. The time was armed with a knife and there was a fight. Exline, in the way, either saw the flash of steel and tried to jump out of the way. The knife ripped his coat open and inflicted a slight wound in his side. O'Connor's hand was raised to strike another blow when Exline seized him, but before he had received a cut in the wrist. The bad man struggled free from Exline and tore around the saloon like mad, brandishing his knife. Everybody in the place, and it is not unlikely that he would have indulged in a little more cutting had not Sgt. Milner put in an appearance at that particular moment.

Nothing daunted at the sight of a blue coat, O'Connor made a lunge at the officer, but the latter was too quick and the next thing O'Connor knew—he didn't know anything. He awoke this morning to find himself in the drunk house—a place where he has oft been before.

Daly appears to be very indignant over his arrest, and when informed that he was being held as a witness, he declared that he cut himself, and that in any event he would not testify against O'Connor. But he is being held just the same.

SALE OF THE SUNSHINE MINE

Was Approved by Judge Morse Last Evening.

A SMALL PAYMENT MADE.

New Bill to Be Built—Balance is to Be Paid from Profits of Mining.

With the approval of Judge C. W. Morse sitting in chambers, the sale of the Sunshine property is an accomplished fact. The decision was reached about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and while there has been considerable dickering as to the terms, the purchase price remains the same. The proposition is very favorable for the purchasing side and also for the shareholders, providing the new owners are able to reduce the ore profitably. Under the terms of the contract each shareholder is to receive $1 per share for his holdings. A small payment of $5,000 is required of the purchasing crowd, who bid themselves to build a mill and make improvements from time to time, which, when completed, will represent a cost of $50,000. As soon as the mill is put in operation, the new owners are to keep 50 per cent of the net receipts until the improvements are paid for, the other 50 per cent of the profits being applied on the company's debt. As soon as the new owners pay themselves for the mill they are to turn over 75 per cent of the profits until the whole property is paid for.

In spite of past experience, no doubt is felt that the proposition will be a paying one. Mr. George Moore, who formerly represented the Consolidated Kansas City Smelting & Refining company, is known to many months on the reduction of the Sunshine ores, and his ability as a chemist and metallurgist is a strong guarantee that it will be a success. The sale, it would seem, being a success, for under the contract the payments to the shareholders depend upon the "profits made." Hence, it is reasonable to conclude that if the new owners should slip down, which hardly seems likely, the contract would not be binding and the property would revert to the present owners.

CLEARING TITLE.

Deeds Given Farnsworth and Snyder for that Purpose.

For the purpose of clearing title to the property of the Dalton & Lark Gold, Silver and Lead Mining company, a quit-claim deed was filed for record yesterday afternoon conveying from Jeremiah Schenck and wife to Philo T. Farnsworth and Willard F. Snyder the separate and twenty-four mining claims in West Mountain district. Another quit-claim deed was also recorded conveying to Mr. Farnsworth from A. Hanauer, E. W. Nash, et al., 21 of the mining claims mentioned above. The consideration in each case is stated to be $1.

Struck a Big Blow.

Residents of Mt. Nebo are all smiles over the strike of a large subterranean flow of water in the canyon about four miles southeast of Goshen, says the Payson Office. The water was encountered thirty feet in a tunnel run in the side of the mountain, after drilling through several inches of solid rock, and will supply a stream, so it is said, half the size of the Payson creek at the present time. Day and night shifts are being pushed on the tunnel which will be continued a distance of 100 feet or more with the view of increasing the stream.

MINING NOTES.

Final payment will be made on the Dixie property tomorrow.

Manager Thomas Weir of the Ajax went out to that proposition today.

A two-cent assessment has been levied by the Midland Mining company.

A contract has been let for 50 feet of work on the Glendora of Park Valley.

Prof. O. A. Palmer is expected home from Sodaville, Nev., about the first of the month.

Victor M. Clement, the well known expert, is expected back from Mexico March 1st.

Manager Duncan of the Overland expects to increase the force at the mine right away.

M. Taylor and others are talking of starting work on the Washakie property.

Receiver Moon of the Dalsey has purchased the North End claim from George Romney et al. of this City. The price paid is said to have been $15,000.

In his annual report Manager P. T. Farnsworth of the Horn Silver will urge the exploration of some virgin ground in the company's Pisco possessions.

Some of the solid business men of the city deplore the actions of some of the brokers who work the curb on afternoons in order to scalp. They say it tends to keep money out of stocks.

Butte Miner: At the Smokehouse lode the 400 level has been reached, a station cut, and crosscutting is in progress toward the south. The ground contains a hard character and a good deal of water is encountered, but no ore of any value has been found in the crosscut so far.
